Champ Clark Active Chapter Now Joint Initiation With J. L. Sullivan Chapter

On March 18, 1950, the formal reactivation of Champ Clark Chapter at Washington University, St. Louis, Missouri, became a reality when Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edmonds presented to the newly initiated group the charter. The original Champ Clark Charter was issued on May, 1922 and remained an active chapter until before the war, when, due to the lack of students at the school, became inactive. The charter was presented at the banquet held in the Crystal Room of the Hotel Jefferson in downtown St. Louis.

The reactivation of Champ Clark Chapter is a result of the hard work of William Bret and his fellow brothers at John L. Sullivan Chapter at St. Louis University, the St. Louis Alumni Chapter and National Field Representative Rae. Informal rush parties had previously been held. On the evening of February 9, 1950, the St. Louis Alumni Chapter entertained men from the first-year class of Washington University School of Law at a rush party held at the law offices of Eilers & Schaumberg with Ray Eilers (Clark Chapter) as host.

Joe McClain Speaker

Assistant Dean Don A. Fischer (Clark Chapter) of the School of Engineering at Washington University, presided over the meeting which was attended by about 25 rushers and alumni. Guest speakers for the evening were Brother Buckley, President of the St. Louis Bar Association, Brother Joe McClain (Fish Chapter), General Counsel for the Wabash Railroad and a former Dean of the Washington University Law School, and Brother William Bret, Justice of John L. Sullivan Chapter at St. Louis University.

Enthusiasm for reactivation of the chapter was manifested by the fact that on the following day the rushers planned another rush party which was held on the 17th day of February, again at the offices of Brother Eilers. At this party 13 men were pledged by the officers of the John L. Sullivan Chapter. To this group additional men were pledged so that at the time of the formal reactivation on March 18th there were 16 actives in the chapter. The only new initiate who will graduate in June is Penrose C. Martindale, the present Justice of Clark Chapter.

Weekly Luncheon

The pledge group had held weekly luncheons the first of which was held on March 7, 1950, at Town Hall, Clayton, Missouri, at which Dean Wayne L. Townsend (Martin Chapter) and Professor Lindsey R. Jeanblanc (Magruder Chapter) were guests. At this initial luncheon meeting a policy was adopted that

HAY CHAPTER INITIATION

The reactivation of Hay Chapter at Western Reserve University School of Law at Cleveland, Ohio, will become a fact with the presentation of the charter to the reactivated group by Supreme Treasurer Anthony P. Savarese on May 12, 1950.

The initiation ceremonies will be held in the Cuyahoga County Court of Appeals, New Court House, Cleveland, Ohio, at 5:00 p.m. daylight saving time, to be followed by a banquet honoring the new initiates at the Cleveland Athletic Club at 7:00 p.m. The initiating team will be made up of Past Justices of Hay Chapter under the leadership of James Broz. Brother Broz is president of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter.

Judge Savarese Presents Charter

Supreme Treasurer Savarese, a Surrogate of Queens County, New York, will present the charter to the reactivated group. Brother Thomas Burke, Mayor of Cleveland, will be one of the principal speakers at the banquet. Plans are being made to have Gilliam Doolittle and Paul Knight, charter members of Hay Chapter, in attendance at the banquet.

Invitations have been extended to Supreme Court Justice and Brother Harold H. Burton and Senator and Brother Robert A. Taft to attend the initiation and banquet.

The reactivation of Hay Chapter was accomplished on a pledge status when 16 first and second year law students were pledged at a Dinner Meeting held on March 6th under the auspices of the Cleveland Alumni Chapter.

James L. Broz

Guest speakers at this Dinner included James L. Broz, Prof. Robert Charles Benson (Lurton Chapter); Prof. Edgar I. King (Green Chapter) and Novak N. Marku, Canton, Ohio attorney who was a Hay Chapter pledge at the time of the chapter's wartime demise and who is now seeking initiation by the reactivated chapter. This pledge group conducted additional rushing activities so that on May 12th, 27 men will be initiated into the Fraternity.

Total enrollment in the Western Reserve University School of Law numbers approximately 300 students. The Dean and the faculty were under the general belief that the reactivation of Hay Chapter would be for the general benefit of the school and fraternity system.

Those members desiring to attend this banquet should make their reservation with Brother James Broz, 126 City Hall, Cleveland, Ohio.

28TH BIENNIAL CONVENTION

The 28th Biennial Convention will be held August 31 through September 2, 1950, at French Lick Springs Hotel, French Lick Springs, Indiana.

This site was selected by the Supreme Executive Board for the holding of the 1950 Convention. Attending this Convention will be delegates from 70 active chapters throughout the United States and 30 alumni chapters. In addition to the official delegates, it is estimated that more than a hundred visitors will be in attendance. As the courtesy of the floor is usually extended to visitors to the Convention they will be heard on all matters under discussion.

The Convention will be called to order by Supreme Justice Edmonds on the morning of August 31, to be followed by the appointment of committees and report of Supreme Officers. After three days of attention to business the Convention will close with a traditional banquet on Saturday evening, September 2nd. A person of National importance will address the members assembled.

Brantley Chapter Installed

On April 21, 1950, the Theodore Brantley Chapter was installed at the University of Montana with the initiation of 33 students attending the university.

Supreme Justice Edmonds officiated at the initiation ceremonies held in the Missoula County Court House. He was assisted by an initiating team from Kent Chapter at the University of Idaho. A delegation of students from Kent Chapter journeyed to Missoula to welcome into the folds of Phi Alpha Delta their brothers in the neighboring state.

The initiation was followed that evening by a banquet at the Montmartre Cafe in downtown Missoula. Chief Justice Hugh R. Adair (Green Chapter) of the Supreme Court of the State of Montana attended this banquet having journeyed from Helena to welcome the new chapter into Phi Alpha Delta. Supreme Justice Edmonds welcomed the new initiates into the Fraternity on behalf of the Supreme Executive Board.

Dean C. W. Leaphart, of the University, together with other members of the faculty, attended the banquet.

The petition for this new chapter of Phi Alpha Delta was submitted to the Supreme Executive Board for approval. They selected Theodore Brantley as the name for their Chapter. He was Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Montana from 1899 until 1922. He was one of the foremost jurists of the State of Montana.

National Field Representative Matthew Rae visited Montana University in February of this year and, through his efforts and the efforts of Denton E. McGinty, a transfer student from the University of Colorado where he was a member of Gunter Chapter, a petitioning group was formed. School approval was secured and the establishment of the new chapter was under way.

The installation of this new chapter was held in the early Spring so that it could be represented at the 1950 convention.

70TH CHAPTER

McKinley Chapter at Ohio State University will be reactivated on May 23, 1950, with the initiation of 25 students in attendance at Ohio State.

The original charter was granted on April 23, 1921 and remained active until before World War II when it became inactive. The reactivation of this chapter is attributable to the hard work of National Field Representative Rae and Brother Byron Ford, of Columbus, Ohio. All plans for the initiation and banquet are under the supervision of Brother Ford. The initiation will be held in the late afternoon of the 25th at the Federal District Court Room in Columbus, Ohio, to be followed that evening by a banquet at the Southern Hotel.

Supreme Justice Edmonds will present the charter to the reactivated group. National Field Representative Rae, Executive Secretary Gray and other members of the Supreme Executive Board will be in attendance at the initiation and banquet.

The officers of the new group are Joseph Ducey, Justice, and John Kelley, Clerk. James L. Barker, a member of Phi Alpha Delta, who transferred to Ohio State University, has also assisted in this reactivation.

Hotel Rates

Convention rates will apply to delegates attending the Convention even though they arrive prior to the opening of the Convention or remain thereafter. These rates are $10.00 per day, per person, in a double room or $12.00 per day in a single room. Members desiring to attend this Convention should fill out the form provided in this issue of "The Reporter" and send the same directly to the hotel. Reservations are being handled directly by the hotel but all members are requested to verify their reservations by sending a confirmation form to the Executive Office.

All active and alumni chapters have been sent forms from the Executive Office notifying them of their status with the Executive Office and whether they are in good standing or not. Only delegates from chapters in good standing will be seated at the Convention.

The National pays the reasonable and necessary expenses of but one delegate from each chapter. These expenses are first class railroad fare, upper berth rates, subsistence of $3.50 per day while traveling to and from the Convention, and a hotel allowance of $40.00. The National Chapter does not pay the expenses of delegates from alumni chapters.

Each chapter is entitled to have seated 2 delegates and 2 alternate delegates. Each Alumni Chapter is entitled to one delegate and one alternate delegate. Delegates from active chapters must have at least 6 months additional law school work following the convention.

Convention Site

French Lick Springs Hotel is located in Southern Indiana, approximately 50 miles from Louisville, Kentucky. The facilities available at this hotel are ideal for a convention. It has over 600 rooms, numerous meeting rooms and convention halls. In addition to facilities for meeting purposes, it has many recreational facilities including but not limited to horseback riding, 2 golf courses, 2 swimming pools, bowling alleys, skeet shooting range, mineral baths and an attractive cocktail lounge for indoor exercises.

Vinson Chapter at the University of Louisville and Clay Chapter, at the University of Kentucky, are the host chapters for this convention.

Message From the Supreme Justice

The 28th Biennial Convention of Phi Alpha Delta will convene at French Lick Springs on August 31st. During the more than two years since we met at Los Angeles, the fraternity has made great strides. We are today much larger in both chapters and in members than we were at our last meeting. Necessarily, our growth has placed large responsibilities upon the organization, and the convention will provide an opportunity for its officers to report upon its accomplishments.

We are expecting to have 70 active chapters by the time of the convention. Each of these chapters represents a vital part of Phi Alpha Delta; each of them has a responsibility for carrying on our organization in the most helpful and constructive way. I hope that each chapter will be represented by more than one delegate. We need the good thinking and enthusiasm of a representative group of the earnest young men of our organization who are preparing themselves for the legal profession.

The past two years have seen the reestablishment of alumni chapters in many cities. The members of these groups cherish the memories of their law school days and appreciate what Phi Alpha Delta has done for them since they entered the practice of law. The fraternity needs their help also; it will benefit by their judgment upon the questions which will be submitted to the convention for determination.

For these reasons, I urge that each alumni chapter select one or more delegates to represent it at our convention. Many of these chapters are not far from French Lick Springs. The young men of the active chapters will welcome the opportunity to become acquainted with their seniors in the fraternity. All of us who are some years away from law school days will find many satisfactions in associating with those who are now carrying on the traditions of Phi Alpha Delta in our alma maters.

Because our convention this year will not be in a large city it will be more or less in the nature of a family party in which we can have some rare good times between business sessions. The social side of our meetings will not be neglected; there will be plenty of time for meeting old friends and getting acquainted with our brothers from various parts of the country. We are a wide-spread group in many ways, and for that reason, among others, Phi Alpha Delta rests on a firm foundation.

I look forward to the next convention as the best one in all of Phi Alpha Delta's fine history and hope to see a great many of my brothers there.

Supreme Executive Board to Meet

The Supreme Executive Board will meet June 3 and 4 in Chicago, Illinois.

This meeting is called by the Supreme Justice with the consent of the Supreme Executive Board for the purpose of laying plans for the 1950 Convention and to determine other matters properly brought before the Board.

Any member or chapter desiring the Supreme Executive Board to act on any proposal should see that this is in the hands of the Executive Secretary not later than May 15th.

It is planned while the Supreme Executive Board is in Chicago, it will meet with the officers of the Chicago Alumni Chapter and also with the officers of the active chapters in and around Chicago.

Chicago Honors Attorney General

The Chicago Alumni Chapter, at its April Meeting, scheduled for April 27, 1950, at the Union League Club, Chicago, Illinois, will have as their guest of honor Brother Ivan A. Elliott, the Attorney-General of the State of Illinois.

Also in attendance at this Dinner Meeting will be Brother Robert E. Eardley, First Assistant Attorney General, and the following members of the Attorney General Staff: Thomas P. Grant, Assistant in Charge of Inheritance Tax, William C. Wines and Robert J. Burdett, of the Appeals Section.

Arrangements for this Dinner Meeting are being made under the supervision of Alumni Chapter Justice Richard Loewe and Anthony A. Di Grazia.

DETROIT ALUMNI

The Detroit Alumni Chapter held its annual get-together to honor graduating seniors from Campbell Chapter at the University of Michigan on April 25, 1950, in Detroit.

Supreme Vice-Justice Bert Taylor came from Kansas City to attend the reunion. Approximately 35 seniors from Campbell Chapter journeyed from Ann Arbor to be present at this dinner held in their honor.

The Detroit Alumni Chapter annually holds a dinner in honor of the graduating seniors so as to introduce the seniors to practicing attorneys in the City of Detroit and to discuss with them their opportunities in that city.

Campbell Chapter, throughout the past semester, has invited prominent attorneys in the City of Detroit and the State of Michigan to address them. Some of the prominent speakers present the past semesters were Abe Zwerdling, Labor Law Attorney from Detroit, Doctor Lemoyne Snyder, one of the leaders of the "Court of Last Resort," Stephen J. Ross, Attorney-General of the State of Michigan, and Douglas Reading, Prosecuting Attorney.

More Chapter Installed

The Sir Thomas More Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta was granted its charter by Supreme Justice Edmonds on March 30, 1950.

This new chapter is located at Creighton University in Omaha, Nebraska. National Field Representative Rae gathered together a group of students at this university and interested them in forming a petitioning group for a chapter of Phi Alpha Delta. He was ably assisted by C. Glenn Lewis, of that City, who for many years has been active in Phi Alpha Delta affairs. Brother Lewis is an instructor at Omaha University teaching Business and Commercial Law.

Rev. Paul L. Gregg, S. J., Regent of Creighton's Law School and an Alumnus of Taft Chapter, and Dean James Doyle, were contacted and authority was given for expansion at this Law School.

The 25 men initiated into More Chapter were honored at a banquet that evening. Attending the banquet, presided over by Toastmaster and newly initiated James Diesing, were Dean James Doyle, Father Charles K. Hayden, S. J., Creighton Dean of Men and Moderator of the Inter-Fraternity Council, and More Chapter Charter members, Professors Winsor Moore and Harry Cohen. Also, in attendance at this banquet were Brothers C. Glenn Lewis, of Hammond Chapter and District Justice Jay Kyle who introduced the visitors from the other seven District Chapters.

Gregg Addresses Banquet

Brother and Reverend Paul L. Gregg gave a fine sketch of the life of Sir Thomas More, and Supreme Justice Edmonds addressed the new initiates. He told the law students at Creighton that there is "perhaps a little more opportunity" to serve in the legal profession than ever before. Specialists are needed in taxation, labor, administration, business and government.

"But you must have imagination, willingness to press forward to new horizons in order to be a success in your profession," he added.

Kyle Attended

District Justice Jay Kyle had called a meeting of a Steering Committee of District 7. Accordingly, delegates from Benson, Benton, Cole, Garland, Green, Hammond and Reese Chapters were in Omaha for this meeting and attended the initiation and banquet.

Brother Kyle addressed the new initiates and welcomed them into the Fraternity and into District 7 activities.

The new officers of More Chapter were installed by Judge Edmonds who presented the Chapters' Charter. They are: Henry Bristowe, Justice; John Burke, Vice-Justice; Gerry Nelson, Treasurer; Don Morbach, Clerk; Timothy Sullivan, Marshal.

This chapter selected as its charter name Sir Thomas More who was famous in English history and in the courts of England at the time human rights as opposed to king's authority was uppermost in the controversy. Sir Thomas More was headed for his failure to submit to the Crown's wishes as against the rights of his clients.

Hon. John M. Conway Speaks At Chicago Irish Luncheon

Sure and begorra it was a day for the Irish when the Chicago Alumni Chapter bedecked itself in green, gathered up its shielies, and turned out 100 strong to hear a message from the olde countrie itself as presented by the Honorable John M. Conway, Irish Consul in Chicago, at the annual Chicago Alumni Chapter Lenten Luncheon held in the Chicago Room of the Hotel LaSalle on Tuesday, March 21.

Just to make sure that this was an "all green meeting," Orangemen were requested to use the side entrance only, and the speaker was introduced by the Honorable John P. McGoorty, past Justice of the Chicago Alumni Chapter and Past President of the Chicago Irish Fellowship Club. In introducing Mr. Conway, Judge McGoorty briefly related the history of Irish American friendship and the comradeship which was born out of our individual national struggles for freedom.

St. Patrick the Missionary

Consul Conway brought to the Chapter the greetings of the government and people of Ireland, and related the story of St. Patrick, showing how the teachings of St. Patrick have gone down through the ages and how they may once again be called upon to save the world. Mr. Conway related how St. Patrick came as a missionary to a pagan land to start a Catholic Mission, and how Ireland was converted to Christianity in thirty peaceful years as compared with the two centuries of bloodshed which elapsed before Rome had been converted. This comparison, Mr. Conway pointed out, is a startling illustration of the difference between corrupt urbanism like that of the decaying Roman empire and primitive paganism or barbarian tribes.

Telling the story of Ireland, Mr. Conway pointed out that Ireland had one of the greatest and most glorious civilizations in history before its conquest. He stated that Ireland gave Britain its arts and letters which formed the basis for the first true British civilization. The Irish civilization existed in a land which held the greatest respect for the rights of man, where bloodshed and torture were unknown, and where there existed no race antagonism, class hatred, or fanaticism. At the time of its conquest, he said, Ireland fought for its freedom as vital to its civilized growth.

Today's generation in Ireland, Mr. Conway said, has regained control of its own affairs, and is rebuilding its society along the lines of the Christian and Roman genius as a renewed great Christian Commonwealth. In closing his speech, Mr. Conway stated that Ireland today is studying the trend of a world in which governments are negating Christian ideals, and that Ireland is preparing itself for the day when it may once again have to send its missionaries out to rebuild a world which has destroyed itself. Ireland, he said, knows that only the Christian way of life is successful, that only Christian ideals can save democracy. Irishmen today are carrying these Christian ideals to all corners of the world.

Loewe Presides

Opening the luncheon program Chapter Justice Richard Loewe called the Chapter to order and read the group the editorial in support of Past Chapter Justice Rupert Bippus for Republican nominee for Cook County assessor which had appeared in the March 16 issue of the Chicago Daily News, following which he presented to Brother Bippus, on behalf of the Chapter, the Past Justice Plaque for his service and loyalty as Chapter Justice in 1949. The plaque consists of the shield and coat-of-arms handsomely mounted on a polished wooden shield and bearing a small bronze plate inscribed to

"Brother Rupert Bippus, Justice, 1949, from the Chicago Alumni Chapter." In thanking the Chapter for this unexpected token of their appreciation, Brother Bippus praised the work of the officers who had served with him, "without whom I could not have carried on the work of the Chapter," stating that, "I wish I could take this lovely plaque and carve it into several small pieces, giving to each of the officers and members who assisted me a piece, since it does not rightfully belong to me but to all those who helped me carry on the Chicago Alumni Chapter."

Speaker's Table

Prominent officers and past officers of the fraternity occupied seats at the speakers' table and included among them, besides Justice Richard Loewe, Judge McGoorty, and Consul Conway, were Barratt O'Hara, Past Chapter Justice; William Lunn, Past Chapter Justice; Paul Manning, District 6 Justice; Anthony A. DiGrazia, Chapter Clerk; Tom Yates, Chapter Treasurer; Phil Corboy, Chapter Marshall; John P. Burita, Chapter Vice-Justice; and Matthew S. (Sandy) Rae, National Field Representative.

Since March is the month for the Irish, and on St. Patrick's Day who isn't Irish, arrangements for the luncheon were placed in the capable hands of Anthony "O'Ryan" DiGrazia (Irish Pro-tem). Included among the guests at the luncheon were representatives of each of the Active Chapters in the Chicago area.

Supreme Court Judge Becomes Honorary Phi Alpha Delta

On Law Day, Saturday, April 29th, at 4 o'clock p.m., Judge Roscoe P. Conkling, of the Supreme Court of Missouri, was initiated as an honorary member of John D. Lawson Chapter, Phi Alpha Delta. The initiation took place at the Tiger Hotel in Columbia, Missouri, and was followed by a reception for alumni and active members.

Judge Conkling was graduated from the Missouri University Law School in 1912. He began practice in Kansas City, and after the death of his father, then Prosecuting Attorney of Jackson County, was appointed to fill the unexpired term. He practiced law in Kansas City for many years and then went to St. Joseph, where he became one of the leaders of the bar in northwest Missouri, being at one time President of the Buchanan County Bar Association.

He was appointed Judge of the Missouri Supreme Court under the nonpartisan court plan January 1, 1947, and, at the general election in November, 1948, was retained in office by the voters under the nonpartisan court plan.

A member of the Missouri Bar Association, American Bar Association, and the American Judicature Society, Judge Conkling has impressed the Bench and Bar of this State with his abilities, and is now rated as one of the ablest jurists our Supreme Court has ever had. John D. Lawson Chapter is proud to welcome Judge Conkling as an honorary member.

Young Lawyers

Should They Join Large or Small Firm?

One of the burning questions that confronts the young lawyer—whether to begin practice with a large law firm or small one, was the subject of a panel discussion before the Loyola Law School of Los Angeles at a recent meeting.

Participants in the panel were Attorneys Irving Walker and Graham Sterling.

Monetary compensation, the speakers agreed, should be no criterion for making the choice. Large law firms, it was noted, often afford more security, but less opportunity for financial reward.

Sterling, a partner in the leading Los Angeles law firm of O'Melveny and Myers, said that stability and security are the advantages of the large law firm, and that the young lawyer is afforded a greater opportunity to enter into an executive business capacity. He minimized considerations of nepotism and inter-office politics as a disadvantage. The necessity for a large law firm to maintain its vitality negates such considerations, he declared. On the other hand, Sterling said lack of seniority and lack of close client relationship are disadvantages of the large firm.

Attorney Walker, formerly with Loeb, Walker, and Loeb, of Los Angeles, declared however, that the best specialist in law is one with a general background, and said the small law firm best provides this. He saw no disadvantage in lack of security because he felt that the independence of the lawyer is fortified by the necessity of taking on all comers.

Both speakers were of the opinion that the best opportunity for the young lawyers are to be found in the small towns with large growth potential, in association with older established lawyers. The disadvantages of the small town they conceded, were local politics and social stratas, which develop in such towns.

Taft Chapter Student Elected President Hague Students

Charles T. Vetter, Jr., third year student at the Georgetown University School of Law in Washington, D.C., and Treasurer of Taft Chapter, is the first American student ever to have been elected to the presidency of the student body at the Academy of International Law of The Hague, the honor having been conferred upon him during the past summer.

Brother Vetter was one of 300 "Auditors" from 35 countries who attended five weeks of lectures by foremost lecturers in Public and Private International Law at the Hague during the summer of 1949 under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for World Peace. The "Auditors" are students chosen to attend the special course at the Hague, and include lawyers, judges, professors and students from throughout the world. During the course, the students are members of an organization known as the "Association of Auditors and Ancient Auditors" of the Academy. This association elected Brother Vetter to its presidency during the past summer term, making the first time in the 25 year history of the association that its members have chosen an American to be their leader.

Now returned to his legal studies at Georgetown University, Brother Vetter expresses the highest admiration for the work being done by the Carnegie Endowment through the Academy of International Law of the Hague.

JUSTICE McDONOUGH ADDRESSES SALT LAKE MEMBERS

An inaugural banquet was held by the Student and Alumni Chapters of the Sutherland Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta Saturday evening, February 11, in the White Maple Room of the Newhouse Hotel. More than 60 student and alumni members attended the banquet where Associate Justice of the Utah Supreme Court, Roger I. McDonough, was the principal speaker. Justice McDonough, one of the most active members of the Alumni Chapter, spoke on "The Problems of the Neophyte Lawyer."

P.A.D. Picnic Features Moot Court

Alumni and active members of Ford Chapter Phi Alpha Delta Legal Fraternity of Loyola University School of Law attended an all day picnic at the Playa Del Rey Campus of Loyola University on Sunday, March 26.

Highlighting the days events was a Moot Court Trial presided over by Superior Court Judge Jesse Frampton, head of the local Alumni Chapter of P.A.D. William Tevis and James Blackstock represented the Plaintiff while William Hannon and Hoyt Hughes conducted a successful defense. The trial was organized by Will Jennings.

Following the trial members, alumni, wives, sweethearts and friends participated in various recreational activities including baseball, touch football, golf and softball.

Since considerable interest was manifested by those present plans are underway to make the Moot Trial and picnic an annual event.

The inaugural event was inspired by a suggestion from Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edmonds during the time that he visited the Sutherland Chapter of the University of Utah last November at the fall initiation banquet. Justice Edmonds believed that the fraternal tie between the alumnus and student members of Phi Alpha Delta should be strengthened to the fullest degree. Following the suggestion, the members of the Sutherland Alumni Chapter extended an invitation to sponsor the new pledges of the Student Chapter.

The banquet met with success and due to the rich benefit that both the students and alumni felt they derived from the social contact, future banquets are planned with the purpose in mind of better acquainting the student with the practical problems to be faced in the practice of law and to prevent staidness and complacency that practicing lawyers may after a time develop.

Many in Attendance

An impressive array of legal dignitaries were in attendance at the banquet. Besides Justice McDonough, members of the University of Utah College of Law Faculty attended. Professors Edgar Bodenheimer, Francis V. Flaska and Herbert M. Schiller offered suggestions as to the effectuating of the professional purposes of Phi Alpha Delta. Prominent state officials, J. Lambert Gibson, assistant to the Attorney General and ex-professor Otto A. Weisley, chairman of the State Industrial Commission rounded out the prominent alumni present.

Students especially honored at the banquet were the students who were pledged and those who were initiated the preceeding afternoon in the Utah Supreme Court Chambers. The new pledges are: Joseph Andreason, Richard Blackhurst, Edward Caldwell, Vannoy Christopher, D. Martin Cook, James Green, Calvin Gould, Allen Henderson, Bruce Jenkins, Wallace Lauchnor, Warren O'Gara, Carl Roberts, Lowell W. Robbins, Clayton Simmons, Robert Snow, Birge Stewart, Carl Stephenson, Max Whittier.

Clay Chapter Reports Pres. of U. of K. Initiated

Henry Clay Chapter opened its 1949 scholastic year with the pledging of 13 men, all of whom were initiated in the stately chambers of the Kentucky Court of Appeals in Frankfort, December 8, 1949. The new initiates are: Donald Kent Floyd, Charles Speed Gray, Sam Cooper Hill, Harold Streets, Boyd Taylor, Letcher T. White, Robert Hodges, Allen Wood, Arloe Mayne, Hollis Edmonds, Thomas Osborne, Edwin D. Rice, and Bernard O'Laughlin. Immediately following the impressive initiation ceremony, a banquet was held in honor of the new members at the Southern Hotel. The principle speakers were Hal Williams, Assistant Attorney General of Kentucky, and George Glenn Hatcher, Secretary of State of Kentucky. Other guests were Kentucky Court of Appeals Judges Cammack, Clay, Helm, Stanley, and Knight.

Brother Sandy Rae, National Field Representative, visited the Henry Clay Chapter and regenerated within us the initiative which is necessary for the successful advancement of the ideals of Phi Alpha Delta and the legal profession.

The second semester of the academic year started off with a party for the Freshmen eligible for pledging. The party was held at the Cardinal Lodge in Lexington and was an apparent success as fifteen of the better men were pledged. They are Fred J. Coplin, Joseph D. Currence, James A. Dixon, Guy Duerson, Jr., John Duncan, William V. Fishback, Ben Forman, Richard J. Getty, Robert L. Gullette, Goodloe MacDowell, Andrew J. Palmer, Shelly T. Riherd, Joseph L. Schoepf, David B. Whites, Jr., and Donald W. Woods, Jr.

On April 26, 1950, we will hold a joint initiation ceremony with Vinson Chapter of the University of Louisville in the Court of Appeals chambers in Frankfort. The highlight of the event will be the honorary initiation of Dr. Herman L. Donovan, president of the University of Kentucky. Dr. Donovan is one of the outstanding educators of our time, and has served on Education Committees of both President Roosevelt and President Truman.

Henry Clay and Vinson Chapters will act as co-hosts in the forthcoming National Convention to be held at French Licks, Indiana, on August 30, 31 and September 1, 1950. Already both Chapters have met and made tentative plans for this big event in the history of the Chapters.

On the local scene, Phi Alpha Delta does not believe in all work and no play. The Chapter has incorporated a new program in the agenda whereby the members are to have monthly social parties, the married students bringing their wives and the less fortunate members bringing their faithful girl friends. On special occasions, dances will be held to lighten the toil of the members. Another social feature is the monthly luncheon held in the Blue Grass Room of the beautiful Student Union Building, when an outstanding speaker is chosen from legal or related fields to address the members. In general, Henry Clay Chapter is seeking to make it possible for the members to graduate as educated lawyers, both socially and mentally.

Henry Clay Chapter's practice of selecting only the better qualified men continues to pay premium dividends. This is shown by the fact that seven men of our Chapter have been appointed to the Kentucky Law Journal staff. They are: Fred Charles, past Jus-

DIRECTORY

The Directory has gone to press and all changes and corrections given to the Executive Office after April 1, 1950 unfortunately cannot be made.

The Directory should be off the press and in the hands of all members by the middle of June. The Directory is being sent to all members who are in good standing with the Executive Office at no charge. This Directory can be purchased for $5.00 plus postage and tax. Members paying their Annual Dues will receive their copy. The Annual Dues are $2.50 and they were due and payable on November 1, 1949.

The Directory contains a pocket in the back thereof so that it can be supplemented from year to year and be brought up to date. It is the plan of our Supreme Executive Board that a new edition of the Directory will be published every 5 years.

So that you will be properly listed in the Directory be sure that your Executive Office receives changes of address or changes in position. Send your announcement cards to the Executive Office.

Hamill Chapter

Installation of officers for the Spring term preceded a dinner at the Club Martinique on February 24. Presiding over the installation ceremonies was Mr. Edward F. New, active Indianapolis alumnus. Guest speakers included Judge Ralph Hamill of the Marion County Superior Court and Leroy K. New. The new officers include Wm. T. Sharp, Justice; Keith L. Andrews, Vice-Justice; Richard L. Turley, Clerk; Anthony P. Bayt, Treasurer; Robert J. Fink, Marshall and Joseph P. Sullivan, Editor-Historian.

On March 13, a very successful pledge party was held in the Law School lounge. Mr. Mathew S. (Sandy) Rae, National Field Representative spoke to the prospective pledges. We were again honored to have Judge Hamill and Mr. Leroy New as our guests. All active members were presented with a complete form book on domestic relations recently compiled by the Indianapolis and State Bar Associations. The form books, containing all of the forms now in use in activities relating to domestic relations problems and other pertinent information, were the gifts of Judge Hamill.

Directory

The annual chapter project of compiling and distributing a student directory has been completed. These directories are the only ones available to the students and have been very well received each year. They are published immediately after the beginning of each Spring semester.

Brother James A. Colvin will represent the school in the annual Inter-Campus Appellate Competition. Final arguments are to take place on the Bloomington campus in May. This is the second successive year that the school has been represented by a PAD in the competition which began four years ago.

Plans for a Bar Examination refresher course are going forward under the direction of the alumni members and are expected to begin in the near future. When ready, it will be the only refresher course offered here for the purpose of assisting those who anticipate taking the Bar examinations.

Some people just can't utilize their time and ability. Then there are other people. Take Brother Gregory Potvin for instance. Greg "I-always-call-him-Greg" finishing his last semester Idaho's Kent Chapter. Not only is Greg finishing his alst semester of law school and preparing for an Idaho State Bar Exam in April, but he also is now serving a term as Vice-President of the Ninth Circuit of the American Law Student Association.

In addition to his activities as a law student, Greg has been very active throughout his college career, and, for that matter, his whole life seems rather eventful. Interrupted by only three years in Uncle's Armed Forces, Greg received his pre-legal training at Andover, Columbia and Idaho. At the University of Idaho, Greg was Homecoming Chairman in 1948, and in that same year he produced the Annual Pep Band Show.

Justice Jackson Addresses Taft Chapt.

On March 10, 1950, Taft Chapter (George Washington University) held its pledging ceremonies at the Willard Hotel at which 25 men were pledged. Upon receipt of their pledge pin these men were told of their opportunities to participate in the aims and ideals of Phi Alpha Delta. After the ceremony Associate Justice Joseph R. Jackson, of the Court of Custom and Patent Appeals, gave to the pledges and members guides to the successful practice of law before the courts. Following the address refreshments were served.

Taft Chapter also reports that 9 men from their Chapter took the District of Columbia Bar Examination held in December and all passed. These men were Paul M. Craig, member of the Law Journal Staff, William J. Cronin, Robert S. Drinan, member of the Law Journal Staff, Edward Kehoe, James E. Markham, Jr., John W. Nairn, Norman J. O'Malley, Clarke S. Fauver, and A. Stuard Young, Jr. Both of the last named men were on the Law Journal Editorial Board.

aries claim Potvin as a member: Blue Key and Alpha Phi Omega.

At the present time, Brother Potvin is President of the Young Democrats of the Moscow (Idaho) Area.

Don't let it be thought Potvin's chief interest is activity. On the contrary, it is his family, his wife and a daughter, Sally. Even Dachshunds, Schnapps and Heinrich claim some of his interest.

At Idaho, Potvin has always taken an active part in Kent Chapter affairs. As a matter of fact, he even served a term as an officer of the chapter. As he attains the status of an alumnus, we feel certain that Gregory Potvin will be a credit to the fraternity at large. His greatest asset, in our opinion, is his ability to utilize spare time.

John L. Sullivan Chapter Initiation

On March 18, at the Crystal Room of Hotel Jefferson, in St. Louis, Missouri, John L. Sullivan Chapter held a formal initiation of pledges. Inducted as brothers of P.A.D., at this ceremony were thirty-four students of the Day and Night Divisions of St. Louis University Law School. Bro. William N. Bret, Jr., Justice of John L. Sullivan Chapter, presided at the initiation ceremony, assisted by officers and members of the Chapter.

At the same initiation ceremony, seventeen students of the Washington University Law School were enrolled as brothers in the Fraternity, in the Champ Clark Chapter, which was reactivated, as part of the program on this occasion.

At the banquet which followed the initiation, Supreme Justice Edmonds presented the original charter of Champ Clark Chapter to the newly elected officers of the reactivated Chapter.

The election and installation of the officers of Champ Clark Chapter was the last item of business of the program.

Supreme Justice Edmonds was the principal speaker at the banquet, choosing as his topic a discussion of P.A.D.'s aims in aiding the Law Schools in furthering the practical education of the student.

Many members of the St. Louis Alumni Chapter were present for the initiation and banquet. Dean FitzSimmons of St. Louis U. Law School, and Dean Townsend of Washington U. Law School were guests at the banquet. Justice Bret, of John L. Sullivan Chapter did a very workman-like job as toastmaster.

Legislators Meet

PAD members of the California Legislature met with their local practicing brothers in Sacramento, California, during the session of the California Legislature.

This meeting was held on March 7, 1950 at the University Club at Sacramento, California. The meeting was arranged by Brother Ken McGilvery, a Sacramento attorney, and Beach Vasey, Secretary to Governor Warren.

As a guest of the Fraternity, A. M. Mull, Jr., President of the California State Bar and a Sacramento attorney, attended and addressed the assembled group.

This meeting was attended by 15 local PAD's and 10 members of the Assembly. As the Supreme Court of the State of California was sitting in Sacramento at the time, Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edmonds, attended and addressed the group on his observation of the activities of Phi Alpha Delta in the chapters that he had visited throughout the country.

McDowell Attends

Supreme Secretary McDowell, of Los Angeles, reported on the L. A. Alumni Chapter plans for PAD functions during the California State Bar Convention which will be held in Los Angeles in October.

Brother B. F. Van Dyke, appointed to the District Court of Appeals on January 31, 1950, and who had just two weeks before, on February 23, 1950, taken his oath of office, was present. He stated that as he was a new Justice of the 3rd Appellate District of the Court of Appeals, he had not been instructed in the proper thing that a Justice should say at such meetings so he declined to make a formal address, other than to state that he was happy to again be with his brothers in PAD.

As a result of this meeting, plans are going forward for the formation of a Sacramento Alumni Chapter.

Fletcher's Family Adds Twenty-Four New Brothers

Fletcher Chapter under the leadership and guidance of James Altman, Justice; Jack Admire, Vice Justice; Jack Bissell, Clerk; Mandell Glicksberg, Treasurer; and C. F. (Red) Bennett, Marshall has had a busy Spring semester with many activities and functions.

Following a successful rush period, Fletcher Chapter was increased by twenty-four new brothers. The traditional "Smoker" and Stag Banquet highlighted the rushing activities of the Spring rush season. Many outstanding personalities and P.A.D. brothers attended the affairs. To carry proudly the honor of being a brother in P.A.D. the following were initiated March 20, 1950:

Israel Abraham, Robert M. Bonwit, Carl D. Dawson, Jack E. De Vane, Charles H. Dittmar, John P. Geneau, Allan G. Gimbel, Melvin N. Greenberg, Warren D. Hamann, William E. Hayes, Thomas L. Henderson, Joe E. Hodges, Robert T. Holt, J. B. Hopkins, Lawrence D. Howell, Samuel Hyman, John H. Leonard, David H. Levin, Benjamin F. Overton, Gillis Edward Powell, Richard L. Randle, Charles D. Stewart, Richard T. Stierer, and William B. Watson, Jr.

Annual Junt to Supreme Court

March 10 marked the annual trip to Florida's Supreme Court where brothers and pledges had the privilege of hearing the real "stuff," and were hosts at a luncheon for the Justices of the Supreme Court. Among those attending the luncheon were: Chief Justice Adams, Justice Terrell, Justice Chapman, Justice Thomas, Justice Brown (now retired), former-Governor Caldwell, and the Honorable Guyte McCord, Clerk of the Supreme Court and Secretary of State Board of Bar Examiners. After a few brief and enlightening remarks from each of the guests, the group returned to the Supreme Court for the afternoon session. The trip was profitable and good will spread in P.A.D.'s traditional manner.

Annual Banquet Dance Held

Gainesville's Country Club was the setting of Fletcher's Annual Banquet Dance held March 17, St. Patrick's Day. The food was excellent, the ladies beautiful, the drinks plentiful, the dancing optional, and a good time was had by all. Many professors and barristers attended and the atmosphere was warm with P.A.D.'s usual friendliness.

NOTES FROM FULLER CHAPTER

Franklyn K. Norris, Justice of Fuller, will be married on April 16 to Catherine Elizabeth Hager of Beardstown, Illinois. She is the lovely daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hager of that city.

Members of Fuller who maintain the position of chairman on several Junior Bar Association Committees include John Lavery and Ed Dubinski for the Housing Committee, Charles Jennings for the Publicity Committee, and Frank Karaba for the Placement Committee. John A. Stocker was chairman of the Directory Committee and appointed Brothers Carl Bagge and Roland Tipword as members of his staff.

The intra-mural program bogged down somewhat during the winter term. In basketball the sports chairman, Paul Potter, was able to rustle up only five pledges on short notice and we lost a close game to Phi Delta Phi. No reserves were available for the game. In the next encounter out, the actives and pledges were there in full force and won handily from Tau Rho Epsilon. Final exams disrupted the remaining schedule.

President of Georgia Bar Addresses District 10 Conclave

FISH CHAPTER HOST

Alexander A. Lawrence, prominent Savannah, Ga., attorney and President of the Georgia Bar Association, delivered the principal address following a banquet at the Hotel Lanier, Macon, Georgia, completing the Second Annual District 10 Conclave. Mr. Lawrence, in addition to being a highly successful attorney, is also a noted historian in the State of Georgia and is the author of a biography entitled "James Moore Wayen," Southern Unionist."

Mr. Lawrence's speech was of a very entertaining nature and centered on the probable situation of the South had the War between the States been won by the Southern forces. Mr. Lawrence outlined the possible industrialization and development of the South and the subsequent consequences by exploring the "ifs" of certain segments of American history.

He began his address by supposing a different outcome of the Battle of Gettysburg. The resulting events following that battle, as revealed by him, depicted the forces of the Confederacy as the dominant power with the ultimate result of the Union forces being defeated and a southern man being designated as President of the "United States of the Confederacy." The latter portion of Mr. Lawrence's speech was devoted to a very interesting and highly entertaining satirical expose of the War Between the States using the South as the controlling force. Mr. Lawrence, being an authority on Georgia and Southern history, proved to be a very entertaining speaker in this respect.

Edmonds Attends

Honored guest at the conclave was Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edmonds. Justice Edmonds as honored speaker at the banquet emphasized the importance and the benefits of such conclaves. He also mentioned the improvements that he had noticed in the South during his various trips to this section of the country. Justice Edmonds expressed his delight in seeing the large number of delegates from the various chapters in attendance at the conclave.

The conclave opened Friday evening, March 31, with an informal reception for the arriving delegates. Next day, April 1, the business forums were called to order by District Justice C. Cloud Morgan, Macon attorney, at 10:00 following the registration of guests and delegates at 9:00. Delegates from 9 active chapters were registered for the conclave.

Following the call to order of the morning session Fish Chapter initiated the discussions with rushing as the topic first to be considered. Following this forum discussion, Keener and Brewer chapters led discussions on alumni relationships and chapter finances respectively. The meeting then adjourned for a luncheon.

Jones Addresses Luncheon Group

Mr. C. Baxter Jones, prominent Macon attorney and alumnus of Calhoun Chapter of Yale, was the principal speaker at the luncheon. Mr. Jones delivered an address based on the recent United States Supreme Court decision in the case of Wong Yang Sung v. McGrath, 70 S. Ct. 445. In his address Mr. Jones emphasized the importance of the field of administrative law. He related the changing factors and policies of government that affected such decisions of the high court.

During the afternoon sessions chapter projects, conclave financing, and chapter administration were discussed by Morgan, Fletcher and Rasco, and Stephens and Lamar chapters respectively. The various delegates outlined the problems they had in connection with the various topics and open discussions with possible solutions followed.

In regard to rushing, the talks centered around the grade requirements and the different methods of contacting the incoming freshmen. Some chapters represented told of their smokers, others combined with smokers and other forms of informal parties, the "big brother" system whereby an active would assume the responsibility of meeting and conferring with some particular incoming freshman. Of the interfraternity agreements relating to rushing plans, the chapters having those, mentioned the difficulties of same when there are more than two fraternities on campus, thus opening the way for coalitions to defeat the purpose of the remaining. Most chapters expressed the fact that they did not carry on rushing of pre-legal students. Chapters were generally in accord as to the types and nature of parties, smokers, etc.

Alumni Relationship

Discussing alumni relationships, the chapters expressed generally their failure to establish an efficient program of alumni relations. This was due to several factors among which were the lack of a substantial number of alumni in some localities and the lack of time of the alumni in general. Supreme Vice-Justice Tom Henderson gave to the group at this point several reasons as to why alumni relations are not up to par. He mentioned the fact that the average young lawyer upon graduation is concerned with the task of getting his practice established, paying for his library, obtaining and advising clients, and in general making a living for himself. Consequently, his time and finances are very limited. Mr. Henderson said that on the average, it would be from 5 to 10 years after graduation before the alumni would be able to do anything of a substantial nature for the local chapters.

Supreme Justice Edmonds made the suggestion that the local chapters invite 2 or 3 of the alumni to attend their meetings, parties, functions, etc., and acquaint them with the work of the active chapters in order to stimulate the interest of the alumni. He also told the group of the various practices employed in some of the larger cities whereby the alumni chapters have definite gathering places and in some instances have set aside certain tables in dining establishments for the actives and alumni to gather and thereby meet with each other and further promote fraternal relations. The majority of the chapters represented outlined generally their respective activities of luncheons, dinners, parties, etc., that tended to promote and foster alumni relations.

Chapter Finances

Speaking of chapter finances, most of the delegates designated they had employed the assessment principle to take care of expenses. One suggestion was made to let the alumni chapter either pay dues to the local or to contribute a certain amount towards financing the local. Another chapter told of the system they employed whereby a tentative social calendar was submitted at the beginning of the semester or quarter and assessments to cover that were levied accordingly.

Most chapters represented had established some project that they undertook to carry on. These projects consisted of lending libraries for indigent students, making outlines, and field trips. The trips were usually made to the various state supreme courts, the federal district courts, and sometimes to the capitol to meet the various state officials. Several chapters had set up faculty rating systems. Others had sponsored moot trials. One chapter had established the practice of giving a bond to the student author of the best law review article. One project mentioned that is of benefit to incoming students to the law school is that of an information booklet giving pertinent data and information on the school and activities.

Conclave Financing

Justice Edmonds suggested to the conclave a plan of conclave financing that was employed in some of the other districts with excellent results, which was to the effect of letting the chapters within the district submit to the host chapter prior to the conclave a certain amount. This greatly reduced the registration fee where so employed and consequently allowed the delegates to get by with a minimum of expense he said. The group then passed a resolution to allow each chapter delegate to propose such assessment to be payable on a certain date and based on the membership of the chapter at that particular date.

During the discussions on chapter administration, the group submitted their ideas on elections, committees, ways of increasing attendance at meetings, selection of speakers, etc. One chapter outlined their plan whereby a committee was appointed to assist each individual officer in the administration of his office. Each delegation told of and discussed their ways and methods of selecting officers and the different terms of office used throughout the district. The feasibility of letting seniors only serve in the major offices and newer students in the lesser offices was discussed from the standpoint of giving the student all the experience possible before he assumes a major office.

The discussions proved to be very helpful to the delegates. A great interest in fraternity affairs was evidenced throughout the entire conclave. Various problems directly affecting the various delegates and chapters were discussed and approached from different angles to allow each delegate to determine what was or would be best to his own particular group and locality.

Miami Next Site

The Time and Place Committee met and after submitting their proposals to the conclave, the delegates selected Miami, Florida, as the location of the next conclave with Rasco Chapter, University of Miami as the host chapter.

The conclave adopted a resolution expressing the appreciation of the delegates for the efforts of Fish Chapter, Walter F. George School of Law, Mercer University, in serving as host chapter and assuring its success. Chapters in attendance at the conclave included Fish Chapter, Mercer University; Brewer Chapter, Stetson University; Fletcher Chapter, University of Florida; Keener Chapter, Emory University; Lamar Chapter, University of Mississippi; Morgan Chapter, University of Alabama; Pinckney Chapter, University of South Carolina; Rasco Chapter, University of Miami; and Stephens Chapter, University of Georgia.

Santa Claus

Towards the very end of every year, people the world over, including lawyers and law students, appear to assimilate a new outward glistening; they hasten to make that extra-warm handshake, and a friendlier than ever "Good morning." But so soon after the Great Day of Christmas is past, the mechanized and hurly-burly complications of the work-a-day world again take over the reins of life, and the fraternal and kind thoughts of yesterday are far behind. As many have so truly said, "Christmas spirit comes once a year, but only for a day."

Then there are those also who point an accusing finger at the modern lawyer, and proclaim that he is the greatest shirker of them all, interested only in collecting high fees and shutting out the needs of humanity.

Not dismayed, the Ross Chapter of the PAD, decided that it was due time that those not in the "know" discover that lawyers do have a heart, even from the time of their conception into the profession. Early in Fall of 1949, under the unerring guidance of the presiding Justice, the groundwork was laid, and the Members determined that in this Christmas season, the combined Chapter should strive to make it more than joyful to those who sit closest to the throne of God—the little children.

Gifts

Plans were made to give useful gifts of all types of serviceable clothing and wearing apparel. This was the first time many of the children had received clothes of their very own with new labels in them. A celebration was planned for the children, including a series of games, food and surprises. In conjunction with the happy times, the Chapter Members were to have a celebration too, all to join in with the infectious happiness of the kids.

The day that was set arrived—December 17, 1949. Twenty-two youngsters from the Episcopal Home for Children were greeted by the friendly and happy faces of the Chapters Members and their escorts. Having decided that the best way to the heart is through the stomach, the little ones were fed first.

The events planned went off like clock-work, with the adults participating and having as much fun as the children. Then came the big surprise of the evening—Santa Claus in his sleigh with a bag full of gifts. Subsequent inquiry indicated that Santa would like to come back again next year. When the last gift was made, the children closed their joyous day with prayers and hymns.

Dinner-Dance Followed

The dinner-dance that followed for the Chapter Members resulted in an acclaimed success, with the happiness demonstrated by the children apparently carrying over throughout the entire evening. Each person of the one hundred and fifty-eight Members, Alumnae, and Professors present seemed inwardly to feel that they had done more this time to promote "peace on earth and good will toward men" than ever before. Conservative praise declared it to be the greatest and happiest activity ever attended.

So overwhelming and encompassing was the enthusiasm of the Chapter afterwards, that a resolution was made to make the celebration for the children an annual event and establish a most laudable tradition. Response in the alumnae showed the brotherhood which they hold with the actives.

KANSAS STATE BAR

The Wichita Alumni Chapter is holding an open house at the time of the Kansas State Bar meeting.

The State Bar will meet in Wichita on May 25, 26 and 27, PAD members throughout the State who will be attending this meeting are urged to contact PAD headquarters at the Lassen Hotel and plan to attend the open house.

Club Rooms or a Fraternity House

(Report of a speech given by Delegate Gibson (M. Sullivan Chapter) at District 1 and 2 Conclave, Fresno, California, on March 11, 1950.)

The topic for discussion, at this time, is that of establishing club rooms or a fraternity house. Because of the nature of such a project, the establishing of same could only be hoped for in the larger areas, such as San Francisco and Los Angeles, where we have a concentration of law schools that could possibly go in together. Therefore our discussion will be limited to their possible establishment in those concentrated areas.

This topic need not be considered in the disjunctive, since a fraternity house would, more probably than not, include some sort of club or recreation rooms. We can therefore confine our discussion to the matter of a fraternity house alone, but this limitation is in no way mandatory and a discussion of the entire topic is desired.

During the last few weeks, I have discussed this topic with some of my brothers in Sullivan Chapter and for the most part have received negative arguments. The principal negative arguments have been:

1. A legal fraternity such as ours has no need for a fraternity house.

2. Such a project would be too expensive to finance.

But, by looking only to these negative arguments, no progress can ever result; we shall always be content with the status quo, because generally all first steps are clothed with risks and doubts of success. Then, before a definite conclusion is reached as to whether a fraternity house should or should not be established, the affirmative arguments should be heard—to weigh with the negative arguments proposed by my brothers.

Benefit by Establishment

It is my objective today to set out some of the constructive arguments for the establishment of a fraternity house for Phi Alpha Delta. Certainly a fraternity such as ours will be benefited by its establishment. Sullivan Chapter has approximately two meetings a month, and assuming that more than one law school would combine to promote the house, it can reasonably be assumed that 4 or 5 meetings a month will be accommodated. It will provide more adequate facilities for studying than those provided by many of the living quarters now being occupied by students. It will provide a meeting ground where actives and alumni may meet. It will add prestige to our organization.

Also, if properly run, will be a financial saving for many students who are now living in boarding houses, renting rooms and eating out. Therefore, we see that the establishing of a fraternity house will not only benefit the individual Chapters, as such, but even more will benefit the members who occupy same as living accommodations. Such a project is financially workable.

Before even considering the establishing of a fraternity house it must be proven that it can be financially self-supporting. Knowing the financial condition of Sullivan Chapter, such a project could never be supported by the individual Chapter's treasury. Also, even if it could, it would not be equitable because most of the members would not be taking advantage of all the benefits that could be enjoyed therefrom in the nature of living facilities.

Living Costs

Now, how much does it cost a student per month to live, that is, for room and board? For use in this discussion, let us take an arbitrary figure of $75.00. It seems to me that it would not be too difficult to get 20 members who are boarding out and who would be happy to live in a fraternity house, for the benefits that I have previously outlined, better study facilities, better food, better living accommodations and at a financial saving. Twenty members would bring in, at $75, $1500.00 per month and I think this would be an adequate sum to solve the financial problem.

In addition, the individual members also might be assessed a $1.00 fee per year to help defray expenses of the club room. We see then, that there would be a great benefit to be derived from having a fraternity house and that such a project is financially workable.

Keep in mind, brothers, when discussing this topic, that progress is not made by standing still, and this is one area that Phi Alpha Delta can move ahead.

Judge Savarese Addresses Wilson Banquet

Initiation ceremonies for 48 pledges on April 21 climaxed the most eventful year in the recent history of Woodrow Wilson Chapter at Cornell. Following the formal ceremonies, the chapter held its first post-war initiation banquet, with 85 of the 100 active members and pledges in attendance.

Highlight of the banquet was an address by the Hon. Anthony P. Savarese, Surrogate of Queens County, N.Y., and Supreme Treasurer of Phi Alpha Delta. After discussing briefly the aims and principles of P.A.D., Judge Savarese devoted most of his talk to probate practice in New York.

He noted the post-war resurgence of Woodrow Wilson Chapter and praised its members for their return to preeminence in Eastern law fraternity circles. Judge Savarese made special mention of the chapter's emphasis on academic and extra-curricular activities, balanced with a monthly program of lectures, study clinics and social events. "Your outstanding success during the recent rushing period, when 62 first-year were pledged, is proof that your activities have something to offer the students of Cornell Law School," he told the banquet guests.

Faculty Attend

Judge Savarese's address was preceded by a humorous talk by Brother Prof. Lyman P. Wilson, faculty advisor to Woodrow Wilson Chapter. Another brother on the Cornell Law School faculty, Prof. Rudolf B. Schlesinger, served as toastmaster.

Prof. Schlesinger announced that Felix Liebmann, second-year member of Woodrow Wilson Chapter, had just been elected editor-in-chief of the Cornell Law Quarterly. Liebmann is the first P.A.D. member since World War II to achieve this honor, although five members of the chapter's graduating class are currently on the Quarterly's board of editors.

Another highlight of the banquet was the presentation by Norman L. Hess, newly-installed justice of the Cornell chapter, of a past justice's key to Emlyn Griffith, retiring justice. He paid tribute to Griffith's leadership in the last 12 months and pointed to Woodrow Wilson Chapter's "impressive growth, quantitatively and qualitatively," during the administration of the outgoing officers.

Initiation

Conducting the afternoon initiation ceremonies, held in the Ithaca Masonic Temple, were Justice Hess and the other new officers: A. Edward Hook, first vice-justice; John B. Friendrich, second vice-justice; William F. Banks, clerk; Curtis L. Lyman, treasurer; and Robert M. Johnson, marshal.

In the words of Judge Savarese, "the initiation ceremonies and banquet were most impressive—eloquent proof that Woodrow Wilson has a great tradition and, with its present membership, greater promise for the future."

become that the local Chapter of Delta Theta Phi attempting to hold a dance in an adjoining hall gave up in despair and joined the PAD's in their hilarity which rocked the Maryland Hotel, not at all unaccustomed to such goings-on, to its very foundations.

By the time the evening had ended better than 100 couples had packed themselves into the parlor designed to hold about thirty couples for the party which, according to Chapter Justice Tom Dee, was supposed to have been a small stag party for members only but which just "grew, and grew, and grew." Although it is a definitely ascertained fact that the faculty

Loyola Faculty Suffers At Webster's St. Pat Party

Irishmen or not, the Loyola University of Chicago Law School faculty landed smack in the middle of the frying pan at the St. Patrick's day party thrown in the Maryland Hotel in Chicago by Webster Chapter on the evening of Friday, March 17.

The party started innocently enough, with all concerned including the faculty enjoying themselves highly in paying homage to the patron Saint of the Irish, but things went slightly askew in a deliberately hilarious sort of way around about 10:00 p.m. when the more talented brethren present indulged in a faculty skit prepared with malice aforethought to represent the faculty in its most unlikely light. Theme of the skit was the opening number, a chorus chanted in cadence by the "faculty" to the military direction of the "dean" entitled "They Shall Not Pass." From there on, things got more and more hilarious as the students warmed to their pleasant task of lampooning the faculty (a task made somewhat less hazardous by the obvious merriment of the victims present.) In fact, so riotously successful did the program

Districts 2 & 3 Hold Conclave

WITHOUT FEAR OR TREMBLING

At the banquet terminating District 2 and 3 Conclave held at the California Hotel in Fresno, California, on March 11, 1950, Associate Professor Mark Hanna, of Fresno State College, addressed the 80 delegates and alumni attending. His talk was taken from the title of his book "Public Speaking Without Fear and Trembling."

Professor Hanna stated that if you talk about love, money or human interest you will be able to get your point over to your audience. "People are interested in money even though they can't take it with them, but they want a lot to say goodbye to." He said to dress up your subject and make it interesting; throw a lot of hamburger in. Points were given to the assembled guests on how to make your talk to the jury interesting.

The banquet culminated the Conclave which was called to order at 9:30 a.m. by District Justice J. Albert Hutchinson, of MARK HANNA, Professor Fresno State College addressing Districts 2 and 3 Conclave at Fresno, California.

District 2. This Conclave was a joint one held with the chapters in District 1 composing, Holmes (Stanford), M. Sullivan (University of San Francisco), Temple (Hastings), and Field (University of California), and the chapters in District 2 composing Ross (University of Southern California), Ford (Loyola (Loyola University)), and Knox (University of Arizona). Knox Chapter did not have any delegates at this Convention.

The Morning Session was taken up with the appointment of a Steering Committee and Round Table discussions on rushing techniques, fraternity fundamentals, social programs and pledging and initiation.

Mayor Welcomes

An adjournment was had at noon at which time the Steering Committee met preceding the luncheon. A luncheon was held attended by PAD's practicing in Fresno. Mayor Dunn, of the City of Fresno, was present at the luncheon and extended a welcome to the delegates.

The afternoon session was presided over by District Justice Henry C. Rohr of District 2. District Justice Rohr is also Chairman of the National Placement Committee and he gave a report on the progress that the National Placement Committee had been making. Thereafter, a discussion panel was held covering finances, national conventions, extra-curricular activities, relationship to the alumni, placement, and coordination with law school activities. The Steering Committee gave its report in the afternoon and voted overwhelmingly to have the Conclave an annual affair. A method of financing by chapter assessments to a district fund was passed by the delegates.

Fresno Alumni

This Conclave was headed up by Chalmers E. Lones, Jr., Ross Chapter, who is a Trust Officer with the Security-First National Bank of Fresno. A group of Fresno Alumni gathered together, informally, and made plans for the holding of the Conclave. Much effort was put in by these men and, as a result, they decided to form an alumni chapter as a permanent organization for Fresno.

The first meeting of this informal group was held during the Conclave and Benton B. Hackett was elected Justice. Oliver M. Jamison, Vice-Justice, and Max Hayden, Secretary-Treasurer. This group is going to prepare a formal petition to submit to the Supreme Executive Board for the granting of a charter to the present alumni.

Supreme Justice Attended

Supreme Justice Edmonds met with the delegates in an afternoon session at which time an open discussion with the National Officers was held. Supreme Justice Edmonds also briefly addressed the members and alumni attending the banquet.

Supreme Secretary A. A. McDowell, and Executive Secretary Gray also attended this Conclave.

The Steering Committee and the delegates adopted a resolution thanking the Fresno Alumni for all of the time and effort they had put in to show the delegates a good time while they were in Fresno.

The Steering Committee elected as its Chairman Bob Borgen (Temple Chapter), and Bill Jelkel (Ross Chapter), Vice-Chairman, and Eugene Freeland (Temple Chapter), as Treasurer. To finance the next convention the delegates elected to assess each chapter a dollar per man in their chapter as that chapter existed on March 30, 1950, the assessment to be paid to the Treasurer by the Fall term of 1950.

Representing the Fresno Superior Court, Brother Edward Kellas, a Judge of that Court, attended the banquet and extended a welcome to the delegates assembled.

WILLIAMS CHAPTER

At its annual winter initiation ceremonies, Williams Chapter, at the University of Oregon Law School, initiated 5 new members who are: Chris R. Marthaller, Don H. Sanders, Robert E. Jones, Quintin B. Estell and Kenneth A. Poole. Brother Robert M. McGuire, prominent Portland Alumnus, gave the keynote address which was based on his experiences as a Judge during the course of the War Crimes Trials in Germany.

James P. Harrang, Justice of Williams Chapter, and Ted Goodwin, a Phi Delta Phi, were the winners in the "Oral Arguments." This activity is designed to give the students experience in presenting and arguing a case before the Supreme Court of Oregon. The eliminations carry over a two year period, and the winners receive a trophy award. This year the award was a new set of the Oregon Code.

Williams Chapter has also instituted a by-weekly luncheon held jointly with the Eugene-Springfield alumni. At each meeting a student reviews a recent case for group discussion, and thereafter the alumni comment and discuss the case with the students.

Three local PAD judges have attended these meetings and have lent a great deal of interest to the discussions.

New officers for Williams chapter were elected at the last regular business meeting and they are: Justice, James P. Harrang; Vice-Justice, Don G. Griswold; Clerk, Kenneth A. Poole; Treasurer, Verne Gleaves, and Marshal, Don Sanders.

MORE CHAPTER PLEDGE CALLS HIS SHOTS

Donald Knowles, pledged to More Chapter at Creighton University, Omaha, Nebraska, is known in the basketball world as "Pinky." He is called the fabulous round ball magician of the Creighton Hilltop. At the completion of this year's season of basketball at Creighton University Pinky also completed his competition which began in 1942, when he was a Freshman but eligible for varsity play under wartime regulation. Pinky appeared in 25 games for the Creighton University crew that advanced to the National Invitational Tourney in New York City.

That season's team won 19 games and lost only two. One loss was to the Great Lakes, and the "Lakers" named Knowles on their all-opponent team.

After the 1942 campaign Pinky went into the Navy and came back to Creighton for the 1946-47 campaign. As a Sophomore Pinky dropped in 252 points.

His top game of a great season was against the Oklahoma Aggies. He took 10 shots and made 9 of them.

Law School studies have now taken all of Pinky's time and if his dexterity in the court room is as great as on the basketball court, the practicing attorneys should look out for More's cage immortal.

finally managed to depart despite sides aching from laughter, at this writing it is still unknown whether the party finally broke up, or whether it is still going on.

WALKER WITH JUSTICE VINSON

Daniel Walker, member of Melville W. Fuller chapter, Phi Alpha Delta, and January 1950 graduate of Northwestern University Law School, has been appointed a law clerk to Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, United States Supreme Court, his assignment beginning this summer.

Walker, a native of San Diego, California, has been working in Springfield, Illinois, with the Commission on Reorganization of State Government since graduation. A graduate of the United States Naval Academy, Walker was Editor-in-Chief of the Illinois Law Review at Northwestern. During the war he was a gunnery officer on the U.S.S. Compton, and Asst. Engineering Officer on the U.S.S. E. F. Larson.

He instituted the initial National Law Review Conference held at Northwestern during Oc-

John L. Sullivan Chapter Opens Moot Court Competition

John L. Sullivan Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta and Bakewell Senate of Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity have arranged the first of a projected annual moot court series. The award in the competition will be the "James E. Higgins Trial Court Trophy," named in honor of the senior member of the St. Louis U. Law School faculty. The winning fraternity will keep possession of the trophy for one year, and the name of the winning fraternity will be inscribed on the trophy, with the date of the trial.

This first trial will be a civil action, in which the plaintiff accuses the defendant of assault and battery in an altercation over the alleged theft of an overcoat. Two students neutral to the participating chapters have been selected as parties. They will be represented by members of the chapters.

The dispute in question was staged in Prof. Higgins's Torts II class, and neutral Freshmen of the Law School will serve as witnesses during the trial. The trial will be held in April, in a courtroom of the Circuit Court of St. Louis, with a Circuit Judge presiding. A jury will be selected from the students of St. Louis University School of Commerce and Finance.

Jay Chapter Has Busy Season

On March 3, 1950, at the residence of Professor Emeritus Hector G. Spaulding, one of the campus sponsors of John Jay Chapter, a Spring Rushing Smoker was held. This Smoker resulted in the pledging of the following eight students at a formal pledging ceremony held March 15, 1950. The new pledges are: Daniel D'Antino, Eugene G. Horsky, Ralph Pastoriza, Ray Poston, William Reid, John C. Ryan, William D. Soltow, Dr. Charles W. Whitmore.

Brother George Whitney was elected Vice-President of the George Washington Law School Student Bar Association. He was initiated into Phi Alpha Delta on November 19, 1949 and is the sole representative of the evening students on the Student Bar Association Board.

John Jay Chapter held its Spring initiation on April 15, at the Hotel Burlington, in Washington, D. C. The speaker of the evening was Kenneth Parkinson, Past Secretary of the D. C. Bar Association, a member of the International Military Tribunal, where he served as Associate Counsel on the Prosecution Staff, and Past District Justice of P.A.D. He spoke extemporaneously and extremely interestingly of his experiences in the past-war trials in Japan.

At this meeting the officers elected for the coming year were installed with District Justice Robert Freer officiating. The new officers are Justice, Stanley C. Dalton, Jr.; Vice-Justice, Alfred A. Tillman; Treasurer, Donald Roylance; Clerk, Barry Freer, and Marshal, George W. Whitney. Barry Freer, the newly elected Clerk, is the son of District Justice Robert Freer.

tober 20-22, 1949. This was the first of a now annual get together for law review editors and fifty-two law reviews were represented. He was also awarded the Wigmore Key for the graduating member who has done most to uphold the traditions and reputation of the School. In addition, Dan was one of the members of Northwestern's winning Moot Court Team in 1949 that won the State of Illinois championship in competition with other law schools here.

"THE LAWYER— Public Citizen No. 1"

(An address delivered by District Justice ROBERT E. FREER, District 12, at a Smoker held by Watson Chapter and Pittsburgh alumni at the University Club, in Pittsburgh, on February 21, 1950. Brother Freer, formerly was Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.)

The lawyer for decades has played a stellar role in the play of dynamic forces, giving shape to America's way of life. The University, too, has had top billing on this stage. Such was the identity of direction that it was written in the stars that one day the students of the Law School of the University of Pittsburgh and the active and alumni members of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity would join in honoring the lawyer as a citizen.

The prime goal of each is to promote better citizenship and better social institutions. High on this agenda is an interest in the progress of the legal profession. Being a member of that profession I will stick to my last.

I pass quickly over the many things concerning the lawyer that our friends and neighbors take for granted. For instance, the legally trained almost invariably are active and articulate participants in the economic and social life of town and country. Likely having served with distinction in one or both of the global conflicts, Mr. Average Lawyer, a civilian again, gives his time to charitable enterprises and religious affairs; and he exercises conscientiously his right to the ballot. He is part and parcel of a mature, vigilant and enlightened electorate. His debates, altercations and contentions, whether expressed in the courtroom, on the stump around the hustings or in the town meeting, help mold public opinion. Any school child knows that from one Esquire's clashes in the courtroom with his brother Esquire on the opposite side of a case, many of our basic truths have evolved, as translated by another brother-lawyer—His Honor on the bench.

The Cultural Side of Lawyers

We have our cultural side, too. Noah Webster, one of those who later "agitated for the calling together of the Constitutional Convention," compiled his first speller, forerunner of the dictionary, as a means for supplementing his income as a lawyer. Boswell, of Samuel Johnson fame, began the practice of law in Edinburgh as heir to a 10-mile manorial estate, predicting a brilliant future for himself. William Howard Taft, to name a more recent lawyer whose accomplishments, besides teaching me Federal Procedure in University of Cincinnati law school, are too numerous to mention, wrote a very fine book entitled "The Chief Executive."

Still reflecting on the obvious, the economic facts of life may make legal services peculiarly available to the so-called "entrenched interests." Yet traditionally there have always been those ready to afford advocacy to the so-called "underdog," testimony to our eternal vigilance in preserving our country's institutions. Of the fifty-five signers of the Declaration of Independence, drafted largely by 33-year-old lawyer Thomas Jefferson, twenty-six were lawyers, and among the 550 members of the French National Convention convening after the fall of the Bastille, 350 were lawyers. These undoubtedly represent the greatest efforts of all time to correlate abstract justice and the law. Their technique has been used since, but never before had men the faith or the ingenuity to direct pleas to so vast a jury. Those appeals were to the conscience of the world.

The legally trained are indispensable to a society where the welfare of the individual is paramount. Law is the only reasoned adjustment to human relations. It is the expression of the best aspirations of humanity. How different is the march of the political philosophy which seeks to challenge our own. Its grotesque and brutish pattern is now familiar. First there is the campaign of false propaganda, then terrorism followed by rigged elections, jailing of the opposition, and, finally, after execution of one or more of the leaders, there emerges the old familiar government by men rather than by law based upon principles and ideals of justice.

Law Fraternities and Bar Associations

Every lawyer can contribute to maintain the high standards which the public has come to expect. All of us need an outlet broader than our day's work. Participation in the activities of Law Fraternities and of Local, State and National bar associations affords friendly association and a medium for the exchange of ideas. Especially, the fraternity and the local bar association affords a channel in which to blow off steam. Such exchanges of ideas can go far toward divesting us of that characteristic which Mr. Justice Holmes attributed to judges and which Mr. Justice Douglas said lawyers incline to as well, by being "more likely to hate at sight any analysis to which they are not accustomed, and which disturbs repose of mind, than to fall in love with novelties."

Rugged Individualists

Traditionally, lawyers are rugged individualists. They are schooled to back their own decisions and to foster and depend on their own initiative. This may account for the fact that the percentage of participation in association activities is much lower in the law than for the other professions, medicine, for instance. Many of those not participating in organized activities, nevertheless, have acquiesced in, and contributed to, these advances.

The lawyer's role as officer of the court is important in the administration of justice. The degree of freedom individuals must renounce in our complex society is decided by democratic processes. The lawyer, however, expressly undertakes to forego more than other segments of our citizenry. Essentially the trust thereby imposed is that he will do his part toward conducting actions in an orderly manner and free from political, racial and religious animosities, to the end that causes be tried and decided on their true merits.

A Product of Democracy

Peter, the Great, as a 17th Century visitor to London, was amazed at the number of lawyers at Westminster Hall. Reports have it that he said there were but two lawyers in all his dominions, and that he had made up his mind to have one hanged when he got home. A past president of the Colorado Bar Association, no doubt, was relying on other and more recent evidence when he said, "The lawyer is the product of democracy. When dictators seize power, they liquidate the lawyers. They want no lawyers to be in the way by asserting the rights of citizens." Rightly called the "soldiers of our civil life" the contribution of the legally trained to the maintenance of democratic institutions has been enormous. This influence has been important abroad as well. Past president Lashley of the American Bar Association three years ago made a trip to France, Italy and Germany to tender the understanding and aid of American lawyers to their brothers overseas, upon whom Europe must depend for preservation of these ideals.

The Older Warriors

There persists among lawyers of my age the same fond and fatherly interest which the elders of my law school days displayed toward me and my contemporaries, as just prior to World War No. 1, we were completing the academic phase of this indoctrination course we call the study of law. The more mature braves delight in reminding newcomers that, unlike the ceremony of great dignity by which young American Indians of proved worth were accorded the status of the Brave and forever after shared in the responsibility of tribal councils, no magic transformation occurs through survival of the trial by ordeal inherent in bar examinations. Possibly, older warriors already may have reminded some of you that the young lawyer's prime function is to grow older, and that, like the law, he is but a process, and not the completed product. Additional testimony is that of an English barrister, rich in maturity, achievement, and clientele, who observed that, when young, he lost cases he should have won, and, when older, he won cases he should have lost; and summed it up by indicating that, thus, on the average, justice had been done.

Bar Admission Standards

The legally trained are keenly aware of the ethical responsibility which the public trust imposes. Hence, the continuous sharpening and refinement in the selection process among candidates for a career in law has more than kept pace with the raising of standards in the other professions. Though advocates were a standing order in England prior to 1255, and barristers as early as 1291, they were the creation of custom, not statute. Early in the 15th Century, Parliament provided that none but "good and virtuous" men, "learned, and of good fame," should be examined, sworn and registered as attorneys, and that any such found in default thereafter "shall forswear the court." The substance of this British statute had its origin in French and Roman law but it came to the New World as part and parcel of the Common Law which served as the foundation of our American Law.

The number of lawyers in the States at the close of the Revolution has been variously estimated at from 300 to 700, by the middle 1880's the profession numbered 70,000 strong. Efforts of the profession itself, through the bar associations and the law schools, in gradually revising upward our standards have met with general public approval. In a very real sense the graduates of today's law schools have the requisite technical training to admit them to this finest profession in the land. Significant, too, has been the contribution of the law fraternities in the undergraduate training of our legal rookies.

Public Confidence and Respect

As to the shape of things to come, I believe that increased public confidence and respect will inure to our legal institutions, provided we lawyers steer our course on the beacon of our duty as officers of the court, avoiding the shoals of crass commercialism, a commercialism so aptly illustrated by a humorous comment made several years ago at the American Bar Association meeting in Cleveland by my British barrister friend, Member of Parliament, and former Counselor of the British Embassy in Washington, Brigadier John Foster. He had for his topic the subject, "The Barrister in Parliament" and he stated that there were not many of them in Parliament, perhaps because, too often, too many people passing the Inns of Court, on a warm day, might have overheard one barrister, in conference with another, say, "What, settle the case and see the estate frittered away among the beneficiaries?"

One contemporary problem is as old as jurisprudence itself. Justice delayed is Justice denied; but summary judgment is no panacea. The 20th Century practitioner and his clients are the beneficiaries of substantial progress that has been made in the direction of speedy trial or hearing, on the one hand, and the full protection of the rights of litigants, on the other. Especially is this being achieved through increased emphasis on opportunity for pretrial conferences and settlements. The availability of the former is encouraged also by the Administrative Procedure Act of 1946. The Act, I believe, is a landmark in the evolution of federal administrative law. As you know, it deals comprehensively with all phases of the administrative processes, including separation of prosecuting and deciding functions, evidence, rule making, appeal, and public information.

The Administrative Procedure Act

In the field of administrative law, certain sections of the Administrative Procedure Act tend toward bridging the gap between the general practitioner and the specialist in practice before many federal agencies. Its influence likely will spread to state agencies. International law is still a frontier, but the future of all law well may depend upon how well that frontier is fortified and defended against the opposing ideology of force. Despite the oft told story of a 19th Century Commissioner of Patents who resigned because everything possible of invention had been patented, that field remains bright, and far-reaching changes have been made in the field of trade-mark law.

Further on the subject of things to come, I believe that lawyers will continue to enjoy the abundant life, the greatest blessings of which are as abstract as the ideals of their jealous mistress, the law. Rich in fellowship, too, are lawyers, as Shakespeare observed centuries ago:

"And do as adversaries do in law

Strive mightily, but eat and drink as friends."

Far from being a thing separate and apart, the bar, as a matter of fact, is a splendid index to public virtue. Corruption of its standards inevitably would effect the whole body politic. I shall conclude with a reference to our trust, so well spelled out by former Chief Justice Hughes, with whom I once had the honor to cross legal swords, when he described, as follows, democracy's stake in the bar:

"With a sound, courageous, and independent bar, a foe of demagoguery but a friend to rational improvement, vindicating its expert leadership by intelligent conception of the interests of the community, and by its zeal for the better administration of justice which is its especial cares, democracy will not essay its tasks in vain."

North Carolina Chapt. Plan Spring Banquet

On March 4, 1950 District Justice Bob Freer met with officers and members of Ruffin (North Carolina), Rutledge (Duke), and Timberlanke (Wake Forest) for luncheon at The Duchess Restaurant in Durham, N.C. Attending were Larry Dooley, Bob Page, Bob Gardner, Rutledge Chapter; Dick Bailey, Mc Watkins, Timberlake Chapter; Vincent Spracklin, W. S. (Sandy) Harris, Ruffin Chapter; and Wally McCown, Rutledge Alumni.

The principal topic for discussion after Brother Freer's introductory remarks was the annual spring banquet sponsored by the three Chapters. Realizing that the function last year with Supreme Justice Edmonds attending was the highlight of the year for the North Carolina brothers, all members were anxious to insure the success of the program this year. Plans were tentatively made to hold the banquet in Raleigh on Friday, April 14, 1950. Brother Freer agreed to invite as speaker a prominent Washington Alumni Brother.

National Convention

The chapters agreed also to elect the delegates for the National Convention at an early date which would enable our North Carolina brothers to present proposals to other chapters in the District for consideration before the convention. Such a policy, it was agreed, would certainly strengthen the ties between the local chapters and enable us to present a united position on problems peculiar to our District.

It was also agreed by the chapters to continue our efforts toward forming a North Carolina alumni chapter by contacting our alumni individually and soliciting their support of the local chapters on professional projects.

Freer Visits Timberlanke

After the meeting Brother Freer visited the chapter house at Wake Forest and met many of the brothers there. We all look with pride at this chapter house since it enables the brothers there to work more closely on all matters of fraternal business.

A member of each of the three chapters will meet with Wally McCown, Rutledge Alumni, on Friday, March 17, 1950 to consolidate final plans for the spring banquet.

Clark Honors Clark

The Tom C. Clark Chapter, at the University of Texas, honored Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of the United States Supreme Court on April 13, 1950, with a reception in the Mural Room of the Stephen F. Austin Hotel. Brother Justice Clark was in Austin to attend the one day institute held by the University of Texas Law School. This institute was held in the memory of Ira Polk Hildebrand, late Dean of the School of Law.

An invitation was extended to all alumni of the Tom C. Clark Chapter to attend this reception, as well as the members of the Law School Faculty, including the faculty sponsor of the Chapter, Brother Gray Thorn.

Brother Price Daniel, Attorney-General of Texas, attended. Brother Justice Hickman, Chief Justice of the Texas Supreme Court, was unable to attend and sent his regrets.

AUG. 31, 1950

Phi Alpha Delta Man Acquitted!

A jury composed largely of sociology majors from the University of North Dakota took but a few minutes to establish the innocence of Brother Wes Sando to a charge of first degree murder. Sando was brought to trial for the slaying of Professor Robert Ford before a class of shocked and unsuspecting freshmen. Defense counsel Wes Christopherson proved to the satisfaction of the jury that the defendant was so mentally irresponsible at the time of the shooting as to be incapable of knowing the nature of his act.

With the exception of a few unrehearsed but humorous demonstrations, the trial was conducted in a professional manner and was an effective, practical means of familiarization with North Dakota criminal procedure. Corliss Chapter plans to make a similar undertaking an annual event. It must be fairly conceded, even by the prosecuting attorney, Brother Paul Buehler, that the verdict was just inasmuch as the prosecutor retained as his advisor the alleged decedent.

Movies To Be Used

The mock trial also pointed out the need for practical experience in interrogation of witnesses. To correct this apparent deficiency in legal training, Corliss Chapter plans to stage simple tort scenes of which movies will be made. The movies will then be exhibited to groups of witnesses who will be examined by chapter members under simulated trial conditions.

A committee is now working on the movie production and expects to present films for the Chapter's use in the very near future. Corliss Chapter wishes to acknowledge its thanks to Campbell Chapter at the University of Michigan School of Law for its original idea and for its advice in their attempt to profit by a similar program.

Warner Banquet

The entire membership of the Law School spent a pleasant evening recently at a banquet given by the Junior Bar Association of the University of North Dakota in honor of Attorney-General Wallace E. Warner. Upon his election to that office in the state government, Warner inaugurated the practice of appointing the outstanding senior of each graduating law class as a special assistant attorney-general for the term of one year. Corliss Chapter cooperated with the Junior Bar Association in staging the event, which was arranged by Brother Paul Asheim, who as King of the Law School is ex officio the president of the Junior Bar.

Another highly successful activity sponsored by this Chapter recently was a smoker to which all members of the freshman class were invited. The best entertainers on the campus presented a program, and a guest speaker gave an interesting talk, the only academic diversion of the evening. The members of the freshman class were obviously impressed by the affair, as they have been with all the Chapter's activities this year. This fact was best evidenced by the success the Chapter enjoyed in selecting new members in the highly competitive freshman selections of Phi Alpha Delta and our competing legal fraternity. Corliss Chapter selected thirteen men whose scholarship was exemplary and whose participation was eagerly sought by both groups.

This pledge group was initiated March 24th in the County Court Rooms at Grand Forks. The new initiates—Harold Anderson, Norbert Auer, Douglas Bratt, Tony Hornstein, James Pratt, Thomas Rodgers, John Shaft, Paul Thonn, James Olson, Robert Fridland, Harris Kenner, Herman Elsen, and Bernard Reek—were honored at a banquet following the initiation ceremony.

DWIGHT GREEN WELL RECEIVED BY FULLER CHAPTER MARCH 4

DWIGHT GREEN ADDRESSES FULLER CHAPTER. On March 4th, a mass initiation of pledges was held at the Cook County Court Building in Chicago. The ceremonies were performed in Judge Waugh's chambers. Judge Waugh is one of the distinguished alumni of Phi Alpha Delta in the city. Schools who were officially represented at the initiation proceedings and who participated therein included De Paul University, Kent College, the University of Illinois, the University of Michigan, Northwestern University, and Valparaiso University. Ex-Governor Green gave an informal talk to the new actives of the fraternity. Green was the former Republican governor of Illinois. The meeting then adjourned to the Harrison Room at 1 N. LaSalle for a full scale banquet in honor of the new initiates.

The Chapter was particularly gratified by the splendid turnout of alumni members who came many miles in response to invitations to participate in the program. Short, but interesting and practical talks were given by many alumni, all of whom have excellent practices, and this informal part of the program was particularly pleasing to the Chapter membership. Especially recognized was Brother Harold Shaft, father of initiate John Shaft.

The principal speaker was Dr. George A. Abbott, one of the leading toxicologists in the Northwest, who narrated his many experiences before the court, where he has often appeared as an expert witness in poison homicides.

The new officers of Corliss Chapter are Weston Christopherson, Justice; Kenneth Olson, Vice-Justice; Paul Buehler, Clerk; Tom Benson, Treasurer; and Donald Anderson, Marshal. Christopherson accepts the helm of Corliss Chapter from Clair Ghylin, graduating senior, whose election to the Order of the Coif has just been announced.

LAW DAY AT EMORY UNIVERSITY

The law school students at Emory University will celebrate their first Law Day on May 5, 1950. Straw hats, black string bow ties and carrying walking canes will be the fashion of the day—even for coeds!

The day is being planned not just for the students but for the alumni as well. Social events and more serious events will vie for the attention of those who attend the all day affair. A number of dignitaries in fields of law and politics will be present. Mr. Thurman Arnold, past member of the Justice department, will be the main speaker.

PAD'S figure in planning Emory Law Day on May 5. They are (on the left) Rutherford Friday, circuit vice-president of the American Law Students Association and chairman of the Law Day Committee; (on the right) Grady Dickey, student body president, with Dean William M. Hepburn (center).

SECRETARY HULL INITIATED

Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, was initiated on Saturday, March 25, 1950, as honorary member of the Cordell Hull Chapter of the Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity. His initiation into that Chapter of the fraternity which bears his name was conducted by H. N. Osborne, Justice. Howard Witt, Clifford E. Maness, Robert W. Earls, John P. Reed, William Gruggett, Millard Oakley, Lonnie Henderson and Thomas F. Ingram, Clerk, made the trip from Lebanon, Tennessee where they are students of Cumberland University, which is the Alma Mater of Mr. Hull and the location of the Cordell Hull Chapter.

The greetings and welcome of the National Fraternity's Supreme Executive Board and of its Supreme Justice, Judge Douglas L. Edmonds of the California Supreme Court were extended to Mr. Hull by Past Supreme Justice Frank Ludwick and District Justice Robert E. Freer, both Washington attorneys.

A great amount of credit for the plans of this first law day must go to Rutherford Friday, law student from Dallas, N. C., and chairman of the Law Day Committee. Mr. Friday is vice-president of the Fifth Circuit of the American Law Students Association and is a very active member of Keener Chapter of PAD at Emory. No small honors, however, should go to Dean William H. Hepburn and Grady Dickey, student body president and PAD member. Cooperation in planning Law Day has been excellent and the schedule of events shows promise of good work.

Opening event of the day will be the final arguments in the Case Club competition which has been going on all the school year. Three Georgia judges will render a decision as to the best team in the final arguments. Among the remaining events of the day—too numerous to list—will be a much anticipated moot trial of the law faculty. Convictions are expected. Two social events will bring the day to an end. Smokers will be given by the legal fraternities. Following this, there will be a dance at the Standard Club on Roxboro Road, Atlanta.

Pittsburgh Alumni & Watson Chapter Meet

Over 125 members of Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter, members of Watson Chapter (University of Pittsburgh), and rushees of the Watson Chapter gathered for a Rush-Smoker on the evening of February 21, 1950, in the Alumni Room of Pittsburgh's University Club.

Highlight of the evening was a speech, "Lawyer—Public Citizen No. 1," delivered by Robert E. Freer, District Justice of District 12 of P.A.D. District Justice Freer is former Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission and is now engaged in private practice in Washington, D.C.

The main speaker was introduced by Edward Tait, Vice-Justice of Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter. Brother Tait is a Past Justice of Watson Chapter and is a member of the Trust Department of Peoples-First National Bank & Trust Company in Pittsburgh.

Justice Cannon Presides

The alumni portion of the program was in charge of Daniel W. Cannon, Justice of the Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter, who introduced a number of the outstanding alumni present, among them being:

James Gray, past Justice of Watson Chapter, Past Justice of Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter, and former member of the national governing body of P.A.D.; Owen B. McManus, Assistant District Attorney of Allegheny County; Alvin J. Porsche, Assistant City Solicitor of the City of Pittsburgh; Ray L. Scheib, Treasurer of Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter; and Richard W. Harman, Clerk of the alumni chapter.

Justice Cannon conveyed the regrets of those alumni unable to attend, including Fred G. Weir, member of City Council of the City of Pittsburgh; Robert C. Downie, President of Peoples-First National Bank & Trust Company, Pittsburgh; Benjamin L. Rawlins, Assistant General Solicitor of United States Steel Corporation; and L. L. Lewis, Secretary and General Attorney of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation.

Dean Nutting

The active chapter program was carried out under the supervision of Dennis Harrington, Justice of Watson Chapter. Julius Lorenzi, Treasurer of Watson Chapter, handled arrangements. Justice Harrington introduced Dr. Charles B. Nutting, Dean of the University of Pittsburgh Law School, who spoke on the value of law school fraternities.

Speaker arrangements were accomplished by William J. Copeland, District Justice of District 9 of P.A.D. District Justice Copeland is Past Justice of Watson Chapter, Past Justice of Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter, and is an Assistant Trust Officer of Peoples-First National Bank & Trust Company.

District Justice Freer's highly appropriate address was extremely well-received. Watson Chapter's rushing season subsequently turned out to be quite successful and it was the consensus of those who had been present that the Rush-Smoker had contributed greatly to its success.

IS PAD THE ONLY ONE?

Tom C. Clark Chapter, at the University of Texas, reports that the run-off election for President of the University Bar Association was held April 21st at the Law School. The new President, George E. Gilkerson, is a member of Phi Alpha Delta. The runner-up, Connell Ashley, is a member of Phi Alpha Delta. The retiring President of the Bar Association, Jay Howell, is a member of Phi Alpha Delta.

Clark Chapter reports: "Yes, there are other fraternities in the Law School."

Keener Chapter, Emory University

Fall & Winter Qtrs.

Keener Chapter usually has two functions each quarter that are outstanding because they are purposeful and traditional. The first function is always stag so that the chapter can meet the incoming law students and other non-fraternity men on an informal basis. Toward the end of the quarter comes the "dress-up" affair where formality usually exists, but informally so.

In the Fall Quarter of '49, a successful stag party brought the pledging of Eugene Anheir, George W. Channel, James Dixon, Hugh L. Gauntt, Henry A. Keever, Bart Riley, Curtis V. Tillman, Andrew Tice. Likewise, the smoker of the Winter Quarter resulted in pledging Tom Allgood, Paul Busick, Milton McClure, Marvin Nodvin, Robert S. Whitelaw. The stag parties shall not, however, outdo the other parties of these quarters. In the Fall Quarter it was a semi-formal dance at the American Legion Post No. 1. Everyone had a good time, including the several faculty members with wives and dates — who served as chaperones. Then, came the Winter Quarter. The Naval Air Station Officers Club was the place for the occasion of a satisfying meal and an evening of good dancing. A number of the chapter took the latter occasion as a special celebration of the results of the bar exam.

Hosts Seniors

Conviviality is not the only purpose of Keener chapter. Yet, as a matter of fact, the two remaining functions of the Winter and Fall quarters bordered deeply on conviviality. At least that was the keynote when the chapter was host to the graduating seniors of the Fall Quarter. Mammy's Shanty banquet room was filled to capacity. The occasion was a very special one, for the chapter had its national Supreme Justice present — Associate Justice Douglas Edmonds of the California Supreme Court. Georgia's Chief Justice W. H. Duckworth, a friend of Justice Edmonds for several years, was present and saw that Justice Edmonds received a real introduction to the group.

The Senior luncheon is a tradition of long standing. Again at the end of the Winter Quarter the chapter was host to the seniors. This graduating group included two "Portias" — Miss Millicent Pierce and Miss Marina Capitan. The speaker, an outstanding favorite of Keener chapter, was Professor Stubbs, past member of the Emory faculty of political science.

Among the many things of the last two quarters that Keener chapter is happy about is that the student body elected Grady L. Dickey, from Savannah, Georgia as President; Hugh Futrell as Secretary; Gordon Lawless and Howard Jarrett as student body representatives to the Student Council. Also, the newly-organized "case club" was put under the guidance of Robert Harris, a PAD of several quarters. In the other direction, the chapter has something to look forward to. Law Day — a day of much celebration is coming up in May, and it promises to be a thoroughly enjoyable affair.

Temple Law School Honors PAD's at Annual Banquet

A faculty member and three senior student members of Roberts Chapter at the Temple University School of Law were honored for outstanding contributions to the Temple Law Quarterly at the annual Temple Law Senior banquet held on Wednesday, April 26, at the Officers' Club of the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Dr. Lester B. Orfield, professor of law, was presented with a scroll for outstanding contributions to the Temple Law Quarterly and senior students Robert Tredinnick, Trieste Capriotti, and William Klaus were honored for their outstanding articles in the Quarterly. The Roberts Chapter senior students shared half of the Law Alumni Association's annual $100 prize.

Robert Tredinnick, Roberts Chapter Clerk during the past year, took first prize in the annual competition for his article entitled "Mob Violence as Delimiting Free Speech." Second prizes went to Trieste Capriotti for his paper on the "Doctrine of Cujus Est Dare Est Disponere" and to William Klaus, newly-elected Chapter Treasurer, for his study of the "Test of Infringement in the Trade-Mark Act of 1946."

Student winners were selected by a board of judges composed of Bertram K. Wolfe, chairman of the faculty Advisory Committee to the Quarterly; Harold B. Stone, representing the Law Alumni Association, and Dr. Orfield, faculty representative.

Chicago Daily News Backs Rupert Bippus

The Chicago Daily News in its editorial column entitled "As We See It . . ." on Thursday, March 16, came out "For Rupert Bippus" as candidate for the Republican nomination for assessor of Cook County, Illinois.

In backing the candidacy of Rupert Bippus (Blackstone Chapter), past Justice of the Chicago Alumni Chapter, the Daily News editorial paid tribute to Brother Bippus' long and distinguished career as an attorney and public official. The editorial stated:

"In slating Rupert Bippus as its candidate for nomination for assessor of Cook County, the Republican county committee made an excellent choice. Mr. Bippus has practiced law in Chicago since 1913 and is experienced and highly regarded as a public official.

"He served as an assistant city attorney and park board attorney, was state commissioner of securities from 1930 to 1933. From 1942 to 1946 he was advisor to the state treasurer on state finance, banking and investment of state funds and, during part of this period, was counselor for the secretary of state.

"In these responsible positions, he served under both Republican and Democratic administrations and received commendation from both for valuable service.

"His principal Republican opponent for the nomination is William J. Kiley, past state commander of Amvets, also an attorney. Mr. Kiley has qualities that should assure him a future in public life should he continue his interest in that field.

Specializing Experience

"The assessor's office, however, calls for specialized experience and proven administrative ability. Mr. Kiley does not have the experience, and his administrative abilities in public office remain unproved.

"On the other hand, Mr. Bippus is exceptionally qualified in both respects. In view of these qualifications, he should be nominated."

Past Justice

Brother Bippus has been an extremely active PAD in Chicago since his initiation as a law student, and he has served the Chicago Alumni Chapter as a committee chairman and officer in varying capacities for many years. He was the Justice of the Chicago Alumni Chapter last year, and during his tenure of office he inaugurated the annual Alumni Chapter Lenten Luncheon in honor of the Irish, a program which has proved to be one of the most popular and successful of the Alumni Chapter's activities. For his long and faithful service to the Fraternity, the Chicago Alumni Chapter this year paid tribute to him at the Annual Lenten Luncheon held in the Chicago Room of the Hotel LaSalle on March 21 by presenting him with a Phi Alpha Delta coat-of-arms plaque bearing an inscription to him as Justice of the Chapter in 1949.

Atlanta Alumni Chapter Now Being Formed

At a Dinner Meeting held on April 17, 1950, in Atlanta, Ga., a group of PAD Alumni passed a resolution to form an Alumni Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta to be known as the Atlanta Alumni Chapter. Brother King D. Cleveland, 3200 Peachtree Road, N.E., of that city, was elected Chairman of the committee to form this chapter. The alumni in the City of Atlanta are busy preparing a petition to be submitted to the Supreme Executive Board for the granting of a charter. All alumni residing in or doing business near the City of Atlanta should contact Brother Cleveland for the purpose of becoming charter members of the new chapter.

KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR

To many of us Mexico means Spanish language, the Hat Dance, and sleepy peons. Mexico has an area of 758,000 square miles and a population in 1943 of 21,000,000. It consists, largely, of a plateau of 8,000 ft. average elevation bordered on the east, west and south by mountains. Coastal lowlands extend along the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific Ocean, and the Yucatan peninsula in the southeast is a vast, lowland plain. The climate is generally dry with temperatures ranging from cool to hot. The southern part of the plateau region has a temperate, dry winter climate with merges into tropical in the southeast and Yucatan peninsula. The three largest cities in Mexico are Mexico City, Guatimala and Monterrey. Mexico City has a million and a half people as residents.

In 1046, official estimates indicated that 35 per cent of the adult population of Mexico was literate. In 1941 there were over 23,000 primary schools with a total enrollment of 2,037,000. Mexico has 13 universities.

Federal Union

Under the Constitution of 1917, Mexico is a federal union of 28 states with three territories in the federal district. The Congress is Bicameral with a Senate of 58 members and a Chamber of Deputies of 147. The President is elected for a 6 year term and may not be re-elected. He is aided by a Cabinet of 15 ministers.

Mexico has experienced a general rise in its cost of living. This was accelerated by scarcity of basic commodities including wheat, beans and corn. Mexico's economy is based upon agriculture and mining. Corn is the principal crop staple food. Other important domestic crops are beans, wheat, sugar and cotton, rice and fruits.

Mineral constitute a large part of Mexico's exports and equipment for mines account for a good part of its imports and capital goods. Mexico's major mineral product, by value, is silver. It leads all other countries as exporter of this metal, and produces 40 per cent of the world's output.

Consumer's Goods

Mexico's industrial growth has been phenomenal in the past few years. Prior to that time, manufacturing in Mexico was chiefly confined to consumer goods with little development in the heavy industries. The cotton textile industry has increased the greatest.

With the new road into Mexico City and better airline travel, more and more of Mexico's neighbors to the north are journeying to Mexico City to enjoy the history and beauty of old Mexico.

Fuller Man Appointed Editor

Edward C. Farmer, Jr., Fuller Chapter, Phi Alpha Delta, was appointed Editor-in-Chief of THE REPORTER, Northwestern University Law School Alumni publication, for the year 1950 to succeed Jerome Pinderski, also of Fuller chapter, who graduated in January.

A native of Muskegon, Michigan, Farmer is a graduate of Dartmouth College. During the War he was a captain, U. S. Marine Corps, serving with the First Marine Division in the Pacific.

The initial issue of THE REPORTER was received with great enthusiasm. Many favorable letters were received expressing gratification for this link between the Alumni and their Alma Mater.

Champ Clark

Champ Clark Chapter would hold weekly luncheon meetings on each Tuesday for the remainder of the school year. The policy of inviting an alumnus of the chapter to speak at the first meeting of each month was also adopted. Brother Carl V. Einbeck, a past Justice of Clark Chapter and the incumbent President of the Law School Alumni Association is scheduled to be the first alumnus to speak at a weekly luncheon.

Champ Clark Chapter makes the 67th active chapter in Phi Alpha Delta. With the reactivation of Hay Chapter (Western Reserve) McKinley Chapter (Ohio State University) scheduled for early May, and the installation of a new chapter at Montana State scheduled for the last of April, Phi Alpha Delta will have 70 active chapters throughout the United States.

NOTICE TO CLERKS

Be sure your chapter is in good standing with the Executive Office, so that delegates from your Chapter will be seated.

P.A.D. Appointed to District Court

Selected by Governor Warren, of California, to fill a vacancy on the District Court of Appeals, Brother Fred B. Wood has been approved by the State Bar for that position and has taken his place on the court.

Formal approval was made by the State Bar's Qualification Committee composed of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Attorney-General and the Presiding Judge of the First District Court.

Brother Wood has been the Legislative Counsel at Sacramento since 1927 and has won an enviable record for faultless and unworried attention to his arduous duties.

He received his A.B. from Stanford in 1910 and A.J.D. in 1913. He served as Chief Deputy Legislative Counsel from the establishment of the office in 1914 to 1922, and practiced law in San Francisco for 5 years before assuming his duties at Sacramento.

Lawrence Elected Head Of Theta Delta Chi

Keith Lawrence, (John Hay Chapter '16) of Western Reserve University and a member of the Cleveland Bar, is the newly elected National President of the Theta Delta Chi Social Fraternity.

He was elected last August as President of his college fraternity which was founded at Union College in 1847. He is very much interested in the proposed re-to the Executive Office a proposed constitutional amendment to amend the qualifications for membership by removing therefrom the word "Caucasian" wherever it applies as a basis for membership. This controversial question was raised at the 1948 Convention in Los Angeles but was not voted on at the Convention, the delegates electing to have a plebiscite taken of all members of the Fraternity to decide their wishes in this matter. This amendment as proposed will be submitted to the constitutional committee of the Convention for proper wording and report to the Convention as a whole for their consideration.

Any member desiring a constitutional amendment to be submitted to the Convention must submit the proposed amendment to the Supreme Executive Board through the Executive Office at least sixty (60) days prior to the meeting so that the proposed amendment can be submitted to the active chapters at least thirty (30) days before the Convention.
