HENRY CHAPTER HITS RADIO QUIZ JACKPOT

Richard Ryder hit a radio quiz jackpot on Richmond, Va., station WRVA January 17 which brought loot valued at approximately $660 into Patrick Henry Chapter coffers and an additional $260 worth of prizes for Dick personally, including flying lessons, dancing lessons and beauty treatments—guaranteed, it is reported, to make Dick the Flying Adonis of the T. C. Williams School of Law.

The ingenious scheme for bolstering Chapter finances by participation in the WRVA program "Win If You Can" was devised by Henry Chapter Clerk Gordon E. Heath. Brother Heath arranged for Henry Chapter to be the guest in the law school courtroom of the 50,000 watt clear channel station's quiz show, with questions for the program prepared by Dean William T. Muse and Supreme Marshal J. Westwood Smithers. Legal questions were chosen which would be of general informative interest to the public. In advance of the broadcast, the Chapter agreed that if the jackpot question should be answered correctly, the prizes would be sold for as much as could be obtained, one-fourth of the proceeds to go to the contestant answering and the other three-fourths to be placed in the Chapter treasury.

The six Chapter members chosen from the studio audience in the usual manner to participate as contestants at the broadcast were James L. Jones, Chapter Justice; W. Jerry Roberts, Vice-Justice; Clerk Heath; Delmar Brown, Parliamentarian; Leslie Campbell and Ryder. Each participant was asked three questions and prizes were awarded for answering two out of three questions correctly, with consolation prizes for one correct answer or failure to answer any questions correctly. Each contestant successful in answering two of the three questions correctly was given an opportunity to answer the jackpot question, which involved naming a famous Virginian. At the time Henry Chapter members appeared on the "Win If You Can" show, clues to the mystery historical character had been being given for about six weeks without a jackpot winner, with prizes mounting as time passed by. Approximately $920 worth of prizes

Dean Recalled To Service

Col. Paul W. Brosman (Magruder) received Air Force active duty orders on December 22, 1950, appointing him Deputy Judge Advocate General of the Continental Air Command in charge of the Air Judge Advocate General Reserve Program.

Brother Brosman has already departed on an indefinite military leave of absence from his position as Dean of the Tulane University School of Law in New Orleans, Louisiana. He is presently stationed with the Air Judge Advocate General's Office in Washington, D. C. His successor to the Deanship of the Tulane Law School has not as yet been appointed.

Colonel Brosman has been known in PAD circles for years as one of the most interested and active of our members in the legal educational field. He was instrumental in the reactivation of the long dormant Martin Chapter at Tulane in the Fall Term of 1949.

LAKE TO JOIN CIVILIAN DEFENSE

Professor I. Beverly Lake (Timberlake) joined the National Civilian Defense Authority in Washington, D. C., at the close of the Fall Semester at Wake Forest College of Law.

Professor Lake has been granted an indefinite leave of absence from the Wake Forest College of Law Faculty according to an announcement by C. W. Weathers, new Dean of the Law School.

HELP!

Chapter Justices, HELP! Your REPORTER is only as good as the news the Chapters send it, and your editor is desperate for news and pictures. The 1950 Convention adopted a resolution requiring Chapter Justices to appoint a Chapter REPORTER Correspondent for each Chapter and to notify the Executive Secretary of his name and address. Get busy and make those appointments.

WE NEED NEWS—news of Chapter activities, alumni activities, accomplishments of individual members, law school news of general interest, and PICTURES. You write it—we'll print it.

Hay Chapter Is Booming

Hay Chapter, at Western Reserve University, which was just reactivated on May 12, 1950, reports that eight members and four pledges are on the Law Review Staff at Western Reserve. Three of them have had articles published recently and two more had articles appearing in the January issue.

Of the four Law Review officers two are Hay Chapter members.

The chapter holds luncheon and dinner meetings regularly which are attended by the active chapter and pledges together with the alumni in and around Cleveland, Ohio.

Richard Berry, of Hay Chapter, is the top scholastic man in the second-year class and John Butta, Jr., is the second highest student in the third-year class. Brother Berry's grade averages one of the highest in the history of Western Reserve Law School. Another second-year man and also a PAD, Earl Sheehan, placed first in the Comprehensive Examination given in September, 1950. Only 11 men out of approximately 130 were able to pass this examination which was a test of retention of previous subjects studied.

District 12 Plans March 17 Conclave

The second annual District Conclave of District 12 will be held in Raleigh, North Carolina, on March 17, according to an announcement by McNeill Watkins (Timberlake), District Steering Committee Chairman.

More than 100 delegates are expected to attend the Conclave, being sponsored by North Carolina host chapters Timberlake, Wake Forest College; Ruffin, University of North Carolina; and Rutledge, Duke University. Conclave headquarters will be the Sir Walter Hotel in Raleigh.

One of the highlights of the Conclave program, which is under the direction of Robert E. Freer (Chase), District 12 Justice and Washington, D. C., attorney, will be the active initiation of Carroll W. Weathers, new dean of the Wake Forest College School of Law and prominent North Carolina attorney.

Representatives of Districts 2 and 3, combining in the second annual joint Conclave of the two Districts in Fresno, Calif., on February 9 and 10, followed the lead set last Fall by District 7 in establishing their own District self-government for greater District operating efficiency and closer contact between Chapters.

Student officers elected by the Conclave to head the new combined District organization for the ensuing year were George S. Youngling (Temple), Vice-Justice of District 2; Dale H. Heinly (Ross) Vice-Justice of District 3; Harold C. Hohbach (Field), Clerk; and Vincent Pagliarulo (Ford), Treasurer.

Students from six of the seven Active Chapters in the two Districts gathered in Fresno as the guests of the Fresno Alumni Chapter for the second consecutive year. Represented at the Conclave were Field Chapter, University of California; Holmes Chapter, Stanford University; M. Sullivan Chapter, University of San Francisco; Temple Chapter, Hastings College of Law; Ford Chapter, Loyola University; and Ross Chapter, University of Southern California. Delegates from Knox Chapter, University of Arizona, were unable to attend because of a conflicting examination schedule.

Wives Invited

The Fresno Alumni Chapter, chosen as Conclave host for the second straight year because of the central geographical position of Fresno for the two Districts and because of the excellent program which Fresno had provided for the first joint Conclave in 1950, welcomed arriving Active Chapter delegates to the city on Friday evening, February 9, with a gala reception and cocktail party held in the Fresno Elks Club Lounge. Inaugurated for the first time this year was the custom of inviting wives and girl friends of alumni and delegates to participate in Conclave activities, with the ladies attending both the cocktail party on Friday evening and the closing banquet on Saturday night.

The business program of the Conclave opened on Saturday morning, February 10, at the Hotel Californian, Conclave headquarters, with registration being conducted by the Convention Bureau of the Fresno Chamber of Commerce, J. Albert Hutchinson (Temple), District 2 Justice, called the first business session to order at 9:30 a.m. and appointed a District Organization Committee to consider a system of District self-government and report back at the afternoon session. Thomas N. Kearney (Holmes) was appointed Conclave secretary.

Admission on Motion

Principal item of business of the morning session was a discussion of a proposed resolution to the State Legislature of California regarding admission to the bar on motion of those students whose studies are interrupted by call to active military service before they have been able to take the bar examination. At the close of the discussion, the Conclave adopted the following resolution:

"WHEREAS, the Legislature of the State of California has heretofore enacted Section 6064.5 of the Business and Professions Code providing for the admission to the bar on motion of certain law school students, and

"WHEREAS, the provisions of said Section were applicable only to those student whose legal

Message from the Supreme Justice

We are starting the new year with definite plans for carrying out the resolution of the convention concerning the furtherance of legal aid. In two or three localities the local legal aid organization has agreed to take law students for part time work. These arrangements have been made with the approval of the deans of the law schools involved. We hope that in other localities law school students will be put to work in the legal aid organization.

Although not all lawyers are supporting legal aid, the differences of opinion concerning it principally arise in regard to matters of detail. No lawyer worthy of the name turns away a deserving person in need of legal service because of inability to pay a fee. Many members of our profession devote considerable time to assisting those in need. But the establishment and maintenance of legal aid in an organized way presents problems which the profession has not yet solved with general unanimity.

The National Legal Aid Association presently is attempting to establish a system of area organization roughly comparable to our district organization. However, necessarily such an organization must be confined to the state. The National Legal Aid Association is especially interested in finding leaders of the bar particularly in the south, south-west and west who are willing to undertake activities in behalf of legal aid. Such persons would either promote the establishment of legal aid in his state or if such work is already established, help to correlate the activities of the various organizations and generally promote the interest of the bar in legal aid work.

I am sure that there are many members of Phi Alpha Delta who are willing to give some time to legal aid work in one way or another. I ask that those who are willing to do so, write to me stating to what extent, if at all, he is now participating in the work of legal aid and what he thinks should be done in his state. "The law is the profession of thinkers", said Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and by thinking seriously and earnestly about legal aid as it concerns the duties of the lawyers and the obligations of our profession, we can bring much support to this well worth while activity.

I again call attention to the annual dues of the fraternity which enable us to provide the directory and its annual supplement and do much work of the organization aside from the supervision of the active chapters. We hope that in the current year every member of Phi Alpha Delta will pay this small amount. By doing so, he will do his part in broadening the services of the fraternity and enabling it to carry on in the most effective way.

This is particularly important now. It appears probable that law school enrollment will be seriously curtailed in the next school year and, more and more, we are becoming dependent upon alumni dues.

If you have not yet sent your check please do so. $2.50 is a small price for the benefits a member of Phi Alpha Delta receives from his fraternity each year.

And to save the Executive Office much unnecessary labor, DO IT NOW.

Yale Mourns Passing of John A. Hooper

John A. Hooper (Calhoun) died at his home in York, Pa., on September 25, 1950, at the age of 83.

The following editorial memorial to Brother Hooper, reprinted here in its entirety, appeared in the December 1950 issue of the Yale Law School Alumni Newsletter:

"Eighty-three years is a long life, but not always a full one. In the case of John A. Hooper, however, there is no doubt that it was both.

"Mr. Hooper died on the twenty-fifth of September last. There had been nothing wasted about his eighty-three years of life. After graduation from the Yale Law School in 1891, he remained there on the faculty for a while and later taught at the Dickinson Law School in Carlisle, Pa. But Mr. Hooper's main role was played outside the academic life.

"He became a prominent figure in legal circles in York County, Pennsylvania. His broad talents spread out into the business and industrial world where he served as officer and director of several York banks and industrial concerns.

"Yet, immersed as he was in the workaday world, he always found time to aid in the furtherance of special beneficent projects. For more than a decade Mr. Hooper was President of the Yale Law School Association. At his death he was chairman of the association's executive committee and a Law School member of the Yale University Council.

"During his lifetime Mr. Hooper gave over $1,000,000 for religious and legal education at Yale University. He established the Trumbull Lectures and endowed several scholarships, including the John A. Hooper Scholarship for the Law School. In the Yale Divinity School he endowed a professorship of historical theology.

"These things are merely symbolic of John Hooper's greatest characteristic—his deeplying Christian temperament. Perhaps this temperament is best pictured in the words spoken by Yale President Griswold upon Mr. Hooper's death: "His contributions to Yale were not to strengthen the material or mechanical aspects of our civilization, but to inquire further into the spiritual values of life and the legal forces operating in our society."

Tall Corn Elects Officers

The Tall Corn Alumni Chapter, which covers the state of Iowa, held a meeting for the election of officers on December 7, 1950, at the Fort Des Moines Hotel in Des Moines, Iowa. The meeting was the annual banquet of the Tall Corn Alumni Chapter.

Plans and projects for the coming year were discussed by the members in attendance and the chapter has prospects for real activity for the coming year. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

Justice, Russell Jordan, Judge of Polk County, Iowa; Vice Justice, Frank F. Messer of Iowa City, Iowa; Treasurer, John C. Eddy, of Des Moines, Iowa; Clerk, James E. Steffard of Des Moines, Iowa; Marshal, Robert B. Carson, Independence, Iowa.

At this dinner meeting alumni throughout the state were in attendance. Plans were made for the holding of an alumni gathering at the Iowa State Bar Convention.

National Legal Aid Ass'n. Seeks Field Assistance

The National Legal Aid Association is seeking part-time field representatives throughout the nation to assist in state-wide development of legal aid activities, according to Emery A. Brownell, Secretary and Executive Director of the Association.

Phi Alpha Delta has been requested by the Association to assist it in finding attorneys willing to undertake such field work for it in their own states. Volunteers for this work preferably should have had some contact with legal aid work in law school or in their own communities, an experience which would be of invaluable assistance to them in these assignments.

Of the first five part-time field representatives already appointed to serve with the NLAA in its development work, one is a PAD. He is John W. Cummiskey (Campbell), practicing attorney in Grand Rapids, Michigan. The other new field staff representatives are George S. Bradley, Toledo, Ohio; Harold Budd, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mitchell Leiken, Chicago, Ill.; and Arthur E. Schoepfer, Boston, Mass.

These representatives already have begun active work in their respective territories to assist state and local bar associations in the establishment of needed legal aid offices in larger cities which lack adequate facilities. Each representative chosen will cover the state in which he resides. The general plan is to develop co-ordinated programs through the American Bar Association, the Conference of State Bar Presidents, and the various state bar associations. Local community chests and councils of social agencies, as well as other welfare groups, will be invited to participate.

Phi Alpha Delta alumni interested in further particulars concerning this program are requested to contact either the PAD Executive Office, 403 W. 8th St., Los Angeles 14, Calif., or Mr. Emery A. Brownell, Secretary and Executive Director, National Legal Aid Association, 328 Main St. East, Rochester 4, N. Y. Mr. Brownell has indicated that field representatives are especially needed in the South and Southwest. PAD has been given to understand that the work involved will not be excessively time-consuming, and that necessary travel expenses involved will be met by the NLAA.

Professional Memberships

The National Legal Aid Association recently announced a new opportunity for attorneys to participate in its work through the use of Professional Memberships. This program of the NLAA offers individual attorneys a real opportunity to create goodwill for the legal profession.

Through the system of Professional Memberships, without violating professional ethics or the dictates of good taste, members of the bar are given an opportunity to support a worthy cause and to reap the benefits of public goodwill in terms of a warmer relationship with local leaders, education of a large stratum of society to the value of a lawyer's services, and the best possible protection against socialization of the profession.

Lawyers have always given their support, for legal aid has been sponsored, guided and operated by lawyers ever since it was founded. However, at this time, when goodwill means so much to both the NLAA and the profession, it was determined that a new relationship between the two would be of great benefit to both groups.

The logical answer to this mutual need has been supplied with the creation of a class of individual memberships in the NLAA limited to the legal profession. Attorneys may join the NLAA as professional members by the payment of $10 annual dues. This type of membership gives the association needed financial support and gives professional members an opportunity to participate, at nominal cost, in a program vital to their future. Professional Members of the NLAA will receive Association literature, including the "Brief Case", NLAA magazine, thus achieving a closer relationship with and understanding of legal aid.

NLAA Professional Memberships may be obtained by sending a check for $10 to the National Legal Aid Association, 328 Main St. East, Rochester 4, N. Y.

PAD PARTICIPATION

Even prior to the time that Phi Alpha Delta offered its services to the National Legal Aid Association at the 1950 PAD Convention, individual PAD's have been active in the work of the NLAA and the American Bar Association legal aid programs.

Justice Robert H. Jackson (Jay), Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, and Wayne Theophilus (Watson), Pittsburgh, Pa., attorney, are presently members of the NLAA Board of Directors. Leon T. David (Holmes), Judge of the Municipal Court in Los Angeles, California, is a member of the ABA Standing Committee on Legal Aid Work.

PAD members of the Associate and Advisory Committee to the ABA Standing Committee on Legal Aid Work include T. Julian Skinner, Jr. (Morgan), Jasper, Ala., attorney; Henry S. Stevens (Knox), Phoenix, Arizona, attorney; Samuel H. Wagener (Field), Oakland, California, attorney; Julius L. Eberle (Marshall), Boise, Idaho, attorney; John S. Bradway (Rutledge), Director of the Duke Legal Aid Clinic, Durham, N. C.; and Charles E. Lane (Taft), Cheyenne, Wyo., attorney.

Serving on the Judicial Circuit committees of the Junior Bar Conference Committee on Legal Aid are David G. Cates (Lurton), Louisville, Ky., attorney; David Goldwater (Gunter), Reno, Nev., attorney; J. S. Bailey (Williams), Multnomah County Deputy District Attorney, Portland, Ore.; and D. Jay Wilson (Temple), Ogden, Utah, attorney.

PECK OPENS HIS MOUTH

Herbert Caen, San Francisco columnist, carries the following scrib in his book "Baghdad 1950".

"I. M. Peckham, the distinguished barrister, walked into Compton's Cafeteria on Kearney and found two notable seated at a table behind the stairs. Merely Judge George A. Crothers and Herbert Hoover. 'Well, Mr. Hoover,' greeted Peckham. 'I certainly never expected to find YOU eating here.' 'This, Mr. Peckham,' smiled back Mr. Hoover, 'is one of the pleasures of not being President.'"

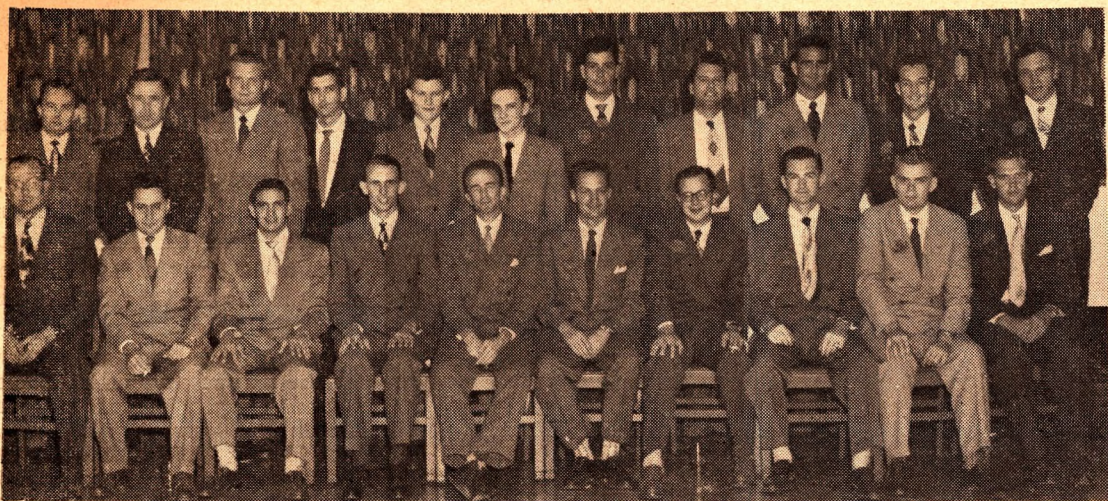

I. M. Peckham, a practicing attorney in San Francisco, and an alumnus from Holmes Chapter, was a member of the Supreme Board of Trustees from 1946 to 1948 and previous to that time he had been Justice of District 2.

HUTCHINSON LEAVES CALIF. ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE

J. Albert Hutchinson (Temple), Justice of District 2, resigned as Deputy Attorney General of the State of California on February 15 to re-enter private practice in San Francisco, Calif., in partnership with Sante Quattrin under the firm name Hutchinson and Quattrin.

Offices of the new firm are located at 55 New Montgomery Street, San Francisco 5, California.

As Deputy Attorney General of California, and during World War II as legal advisor to the Army Ordnance Procurement Office for the Western States, Brother Hutchinson has been thought by many familiar with his work to be a pioneer and somewhat of a prophet in California Administrative Procedure and governmental regulation of private business and the professions.

Born in Pueblo, Colorado, on December 26, 1905, Brother Hutchinson has been a resident of California since 1924. He received his public school education in Pueblo and attended the University of Denver for one year before transferring to the University of California for the completion of his undergraduate studies. He received his LL.B. degree from the Hastings College of Law in San Francisco in 1931. While in law school he was initiated as a member of Temple Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity in 1928 and served the Chapter as delegate to the 1930 National Convention in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and as Chapter Justice in 1930-31. He was appointed Justice of District 2 by Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edmonds in 1948, and was re-appointed to this position following the 1950 Convention, which he attended in French Lick, Indiana.

Brother Hutchinson was admitted to the Bar of California in 1931, joining the San Francisco firm of Keyes and Erskine with which he had served as law clerk during his last year of law school. In 1933 he formed the partnership of Hutchinson and Green for general legal practice in San Francisco. He was appointed Deputy Attorney General of California in 1938, serving under Attorney General U. S. Webb (Temple) until 1939 and under Earl Warren, now Governor of California, from 1939-42.

On December 13, 1942, Brother Hutchinson was granted a military leave of absence by the Attorney General's office and was commissioned a Major in the Ordnance Department, Army of the United States, serving in this capacity until released from active duty on May 29, 1945.

As Deputy Attorney General, Brother Hutchinson has had assigned to him the representation in behalf of the Attorney General of various State officers and agencies, and since 1940 he has had supervision of other deputies acting in similar capacities.

Lamar Leads Field At Mississippi U.

Lamar Chapter has captured the lead in both political and scholastic activities at the University of Mississippi and has maintained an active Winter program of general activities, according to Chapter Justice Robert A. Bridges.

In the field of politics, Lamar Chapter members now hold the offices of President, Vice-President, and Treasurer of the Law School Student Body, and one of the two delegates representing Professional Fraternities on the University Faculty-Student Committee on Fraternities and Sororities. Keeping an equal pace in the realm of scholarship, Lamar Brothers are serving as Editor of the Law Journal and Chairman of the Moot Court Board.

Acting upon the suggestion of the National Executive Office, Lamar Chapter last spring eliminated a high scholastic requirement which it had previously required for initiation. According to predictions at that time, the Chapter has enjoyed a high level of popularity since its elimination of an arbitrary grade standard for initiation, and although initiation is now available to any qualified student in good standing Lamar Chapter members hold the highest scholastic averages in the entire law school.

Besides capturing the lead in political and scholastic activities in the law school, Lamar Chapter members have been active in other school activities, such as the "Murder Bowl" Committee, a committee handling the annual football game between the law and pharmacy students. In addition, the Chapter recently sponsored two showings of the film "Nuremberg War Crimes Trials" for the benefit of the faculty and student body, the program being met with a pleasing and appreciative response from students and faculty alike.

P.A.D. Heads Michigan Bar

Joseph W. Planck, Campbell Chapter, has been elected president of the State Bar of Michigan.

Brother Planck is engaged in the general practice of law in Lansing, Michigan. His schooling was secured at the University of Michigan where he was a member of Campbell Chapter. He was admitted to the Bar in 1921.

WELCOME STUDENTS

McReynolds Chapter at the University of Tennessee, has prepared a brochure which they give to all entering law students. This brochure is entitled "Hints on Briefs and Cases." A suggested outline for a brief is given in this pamphlet and the reason why certain styles should be used.

In addition to assisting the young entering student on the briefing problem the brochure also gives a short history of Phi Alpha Delta.

McReynolds Chapter has also constructed and installed a Bulletin Board for the exclusive use of the members of the fraternity. It is glass enclosed and was made especially to blend with the new $750,000.00 Law College at the University.

Chicago Alumni Peek Behind the Iron Curtain

The Chicago Alumni Chapter at its November meeting were taken on a voyage to Ireland, England, France, Italy, Australia, Switzerland and Germany through the eyes of PAD Peter D. Giachini.

This dinner held on November 13, 1950 at noon in the Chicago Room of the LaSalle Hotel was an enjoyable affair to all who attended.

Brother Giachini also was able to visit East Berlin and to peek behind the Iron Curtain. East Berlin is under Russian domination. Brother Giachini related quite vividly his experiences in this zone and also the general conditions of the countries of Europe.

EDWARD A. HOGAN, JR., APPOINTED VICE-DEAN OF HASTINGS LAW SCHOOL

Edward A. Hogan, Jr., (Matt Sullivan) has resigned as Dean of the University of San Francisco Law School. He has been appointed Vice-Dean and Professor of Law at Hastings College of Law in San Francisco. Dean David E. Snodgrass (Temple) of Hastings College of Law hailed the appointment of Brother Hogan as a new milestone in the history of Hastings.

At 42, Dean Hogan has already had a distinguished career in the field of education. He graduated from Boston College Law School in 1934 and received his LL.M. from Harvard the following year.

He joined the University of San Francisco Law Faculty the same year and in 1940, at the age of 30, became one of the youngest law school deans in the country. During his 12 year ad-

Rapallo Initiates Nine At Banquet Ceremonies

With Charlie Digangi excellently performing as toastmaster, Phi Alpha Delta's New York University Rapallo Chapter held a combination banquet and initiation ceremony in the Holley Hotel on Washington Square on the evening of December 15, 1950.

Nine new members were officially and ceremoniously admitted into the Rapallo Active Chapter. The new members are: Le-

"Journal" Article Lauds Fraternities

The important place of legal fraternities in the extracurricular life of a Law School was stressed by Kenneth Robert Redden, Associate Professor of Law at the University of Virginia, in an article written jointly with Edgar Allan Jones, Jr., founder and first editor of the "Virginia Law Weekly," entitled "Extracurricular Activities—The Ugly Duckling" which appeared in the Winter, 1949, issue of the "Journal of Legal Education," 2 J. Legal Ed. 195 (1949).

Presenting a searching analysis of the problem of extracurricular activities in our modern law schools, and upsetting with facts and figures the outmoded dogma that extracurricular activities have little or no place in legal education, Prof. Redden deplores the present lack of emphasis upon extracurricular projects which can broaden legal education. Listing the extracurricular activities which he considers of greatest value to a Law School, Prof. Redden places legal fraternities second only to the school Law Review, and points out that they can be the basis for development of virtually all of the projects suggested in his article.

He states, "Although the value of a law review is well recognized, only sixty-two per cent of the schools examined sponsor a legal periodical. This lack of emphasis upon the provision of extracurricular opportunities for our law students is even more strikingly demonstrated in the other potential channels of student activity less connected with the curricular process than the traditional law review. In descending scale the percentages follow: Forty per cent noted the existence of legal fraternities; thirty-four per cent have student government bodies for the management of law student activities; thirteen per cent possess student bar associations; five per cent have established student newspapers; four per cent have student groups which consult and advise the faculty on curriculum matters; four per cent publish student year books; and two per cent have student bodies which sponsor speakers on topics

Vone Yardum, Warren Gunther, Theodore Halperin, William Healy, Joseph Mamary, John Breckenridge, Jr., Peter Manos, Thomas Wynne, and William DeLuca. These men are first and second year students.

The initiation ceremony, held in the New York City hotel which houses the oldest Phi Alpha Delta chapter room in the country, brought together Alumni and students for the annual Fall initiation reunion which by tradition the Alumni Chapter conducts for the benefit of the Active Chapter. Judge Anthony P. Savarese, Supreme Treasurer, delivered a cordial welcoming speech, in which he praised the profession that the new members in the near future will enter, and praised the worthy fraternity of which they have now become members.

The evening's success was further enhanced by the presence of National Field Representative, Sandy Rae, who told us of Phi Alpha Delta's great progress throughout the country. Sandy announced the completion of a nucleus group to re-activate Calhoun Chapter at Yale University and requested the assistance of Rapallo Chapter and of the New York Alumni Chapter in the proposed re-activation of Livingston Chapter at Columbia University.

In conformity with long-established custom, members of the Alumni Chapter participated in the exemplification of the initiation Ritual. Vincent Yardum did a most splendid job in describing to the new members the Coat of Arms of Phi Alpha Delta. Incidentally, one of the nine initiates was his own son, LeVone. They were both very proud on this most successful evening.

Charles Digangi, past District Justice and past Justice of the New York Alumni Chapter, presiding as toastmaster at the banquet in the absence of Alumni Chapter Justice Horace A. Teass, introduced his successor as Justice of District 11, Albert A. Verrilli. Brother Verrilli's attendance at the ceremonies marked the occasion of his first official Chapter visitation since accepting his recent appointment to the District Justiceship by the Supreme Executive Board.

Nicholas Caputo, Justice of Rapallo Chapter, recited a large part of the initiation Ritual and on behalf of the Active Chapter welcomed the new members into the Fraternity. Vice-Justice Tyler Roundy and Marshal Thomas Florich, Jr., also performed important roles in the initiation ceremony. After the ceremony, the members of the Active Chapter and their distinguished guests mixed with the new members and many a lasting friendship was commenced.

Among the Alumni present at the initiation banquet ceremony, in addition to those mentioned above, were the Hon. John A. Cornell, Judge of the Superior Court of Bridgeport, Connecticut; Joseph C. Kennedy, Clerk of the New York Alumni Chapter; Thomas W. Constable, Charles Halla, and Louis W. Rebori.

S. Roland Allaben, Campbell Chapter, has been elected to the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association.

John W. Cummiskey, Campbell Chapter, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is a Commissioner of the State Bar of Michigan.

Thomas J. Shivery, Campbell Chapter, has just been elected to the Michigan House of Representatives.

June Price Wooten (Garland), Arkansas Democratic Party leader for a half century, died in Little Rock, Ark., on December 15, 1950, at the age of 72. His death followed a year-long illness.

Born in Russellville, Ark., Brother Wooten graduated from the University of Arkansas in 1895 and received his law degree there in 1902. He was also a graduate of Draughton's Business School of Nashville, Tenn.

Brother Wooten began the practice of law in Little Rock, Ark., in 1904. Earlier, in 1902, he had become a member of the Pulaski County Democratic Committee. He served continuously as a member, and was its secretary for many years. He was a delegate to several Democratic national conventions, and also a presidential elector several times.

Judge William F. Waugh Honored

The Chicago Alumni Chapter held a testimonial dinner in honor of Brother William F. Waugh, Judge of the Probate Court, Cook County, Illinois. This banquet was held on December 19, 1950, in the main dining room of the Chicago Bar Association. One hundred thirty-five brothers gathered to honor Judge Waugh. Representatives from the four active chapters in Chicago were in attendance as guests of the alumni chapter. A program prepared by the Chicago Alumni Chapter and giving a biography of Brother Waugh was placed at each plate setting.

According to the biography, Judge Waugh was born in Chicago, Illinois, on August 24, 1892. He received his Bachelor of Law degree from Loyola in 1916 and the same year was admitted to the Illinois Bar.

Prior to his election to the Probate Court, Judge Waugh was one of the outstanding trial lawyers in Cook County. He served as first assistant United States Attorney from 1921 to 1923, and thereafter was engaged in the general practice of law, specializing particularly in Federal Court cases.

He served in World War I, emerging therefrom as a captain of infantry. He joined up again in World War II and was honorably discharged at the termination of that war as lieutenant colonel. He was awarded the Bronze Star for distinguished service during twenty-seven months overseas in World War II. Part of his army work in World War II was as presiding judge in spy trials, and he is credited with supervising the reorganization of Italian Civil Courts. Judge Waugh is a Past State Commander of the American Legion and is a member of Amvets and Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is also a member of the American, Illinois, and Chicago Bar Associations, the Law Club of Chicago, Phi Alpha Delta Legal Fraternity, a member of the Masonic Lodge and Shriners, and belongs to the Chicago Athletic Association and the Medinah Country Club.

Judge Waugh was elected on the Republican ticket to the Probate Bench of Cook County for the first time in 1946, at which election he received the highest number of votes polled by any candidate for any office on either ticket. Near the termination of his first term, in a Chicago Bar Association poll among members of the Bar Association in which the Bar took a poll of all judges seeking or standing for re-election in the general election of 1950, Judge Waugh received 98.30 per cent of the votes cast recommending his renomination and re-election as Probate Judge of Cook County. This was the highest recommendation accorded any judge in Chicago Bar Association polls. In his campaign for re-election to the Probate Bench in 1950, Judge Waugh was heartily recommended and endorsed by all of the daily newspapers published in Chicago, and fortunately for the lawyers of Cook County, he was re-elected by a large vote and a substantial plurality over his opponent. In fact, in the Chicago Bar Association poll between Judge Waugh and his opponent immediately preceding the general election in November of 1950, Judge Waugh won the approval of the lawyers of the Bar by better than 4 to 1, and, of course, was recommended by the Chicago Bar Association over his opponent, who in all other campaigns for election always received a high endorsement from the members of the Chicago Bar Association.

At the testimonial dinner the Chicago Alumni Chapter presented Judge Waugh with a fraternity plaque which had the crest of the fraternity thereon and the following engraving: "Presented to our Brother, Judge William F. Waugh, for exemplary service to the public and the bar. Chicago

JUDGE WAUGH

Alumni Chapter, December 19, 1950."

At this meeting election of officers was also held and the following officers were elected for the Chicago Alumni Chapter:

Justice, John P. Burita, Vice Justice, Anthony A. Di Grazia; Clerk, Philip H. Corby; Treasurer, Tom L. Yates; Marshal, Robert G. Mackey;

Executive committee: John Birkland, Rupert F. Bippus, Richard Loewe.

The Chicago Alumni Chapter was high in its praise for the work and effort put forth by the retiring Chapter Justice Richard Loewe.

District 8 Conclave To Join Dallas Fete

The first Conclave ever held in District 8 will join the program of the Southwestern Legal Center Lawyers Week dedication ceremonies on April 21 at the special invitation of Dean Robert G. Storey (Taney), President of the Southwestern Legal Foundation and Dean of the Southern Methodist University School of Law, according to an announcement by Judge Alfred P. Murrah (Harlan), District 8 Justice.

Scheduled to be "the greatest assembly of lawyers ever held in the great Southwest," the Lawyers Week activities in Dallas, Texas, from April 16 to 21 will mark the dedication of the new Southwestern Legal Center, the Southern Methodist University law and government quadrangle just completed on the University campus. The new Center, comparable in both physical size and educational objective to the new Law Center of New York University and the famous law quadrangles of Yale University and the University of Michigan, is the result primarily of the foresight and energy of Brother Dean Storey.

PAD Alumni and Active Chapter members interested in attending the District 8 Conclave should send reservation requests to Gilbert J. McGloin, Clerk, Taney Chapter, 2812 Dwyer St., Dallas 5, Texas.

Judge Retiring

Judge Arlo L. Chatfield (McKinley) of the Vinton County Common Pleas Court, located at McArthur, Ohio, is retiring from the bench after 12 years of service.

Prior to going on the bench Brother Chatfield served as prosecuting attorney for the County Common Pleas Court for four years and prior to that time for seven years was engaged in general practice.

He states that he is looking forward to a life of less limited activity at the age of 43. He is hopeful that he will hear from some of his old Ohio State brothers. He attended Ohio State during the years 1928 through 1931.

Keener Chapter, Emory University, has enjoyed an active and very rewarding winter season, highlighted by rushing and initiation activities, participation in a new legal aid program, preparation of a Chapter history, and—believe it or not—discovery of the Chapter's lost Charter by a special expeditionary force.

Legal Aid Clinic

Foremost among Keener Chapter's professional interests this year has been participation in the new legal aid clinic, started by the Atlanta Legal Aid Society in collaboration with the Emory University School of Law. In keeping with the National Convention's adoption of a legal aid assistance program, Keener Chapter has urged its individual members to work with the new clinic.

Under the combined program of the Atlanta Legal Aid Society and the Emory Legal Aid Clinic, law students receive practical experience and course credit under the supervision of the Director of the Atlanta Society, who has been rated as a University instructor. In return for this training of its students, Emory University contributes to the Atlanta Legal Aid Society an amount equivalent to an instructor's salary to further the program of the Society.

Among the first eight students working under the system this past Fall were four Keener Chapter members, Robert B. Harris, PAD Associate Trustee; Clarence J. Jackson, Chapter Clerk; J. Howard Jarrott and Robert S. Whitelaw. These Brothers were presented certificates as Legal Interns at the Lawyers Club of Atlanta banquet honoring the Atlanta Legal Aid Society on January 12.

Presenting the principal address at this banquet meeting, Orison S. Marden, Chairman of the American Bar Association Standing Committee on Legal Aid Work and Vice-President of the National Legal Aid Association, said, "By giving equal protection and justice to those persons unable to pay for an attorney, legal aid groups minimize recruiting activities of subversive groups."

Rushing

Keener Chapter combined its annual Winter Social with its rush program this year, holding a dance at the American Legion Country Club at Avondale Estates, Georgia, on January 13.

The Chapter Social Committee and the Pledge Committee worked together on the project, and money from both the social fund and the Chapter professional fund was used to defray the expenses.

With twenty-two rushees and virtually all of the members in attendance the dance was a complete success.

Music for the affair was provided by Brother Gene Anheir's dance band. Gene is a Junior member of Keener Chapter. Decorations for the occasion were based upon the Fraternity colors of Purple and Old Gold, with pine and evergreen used for a background. A large replica of the Fraternity pin was featured on the end wall of the dance floor, highlighted by a floodlight. General lighting in the hall was provided by table candles.

Alumni in attendance at the rush party dance included E. T. Hendon (Keener), Decatur, Ga.; Thomas A. Slaughter, Jr. (Keener), Atlanta, Ga.; Richard Bell (Keener), member of the Georgia State Legislature from Decatur, Ga.; Ralph L. Shadix (Keener), Hazlehurst, Ga.; James C. Howard, Jr. (Keener), Atlanta, Ga.; Justice of District 10; and Prof. Henry M. Quillian, Jr. (Marshall) of the Emory Law School faculty. Also attending the dance were Emory Law School faculty members M. S. Culp and G. S. Joslin.

The Pledge Committee, headed by Brother Allen Wood, had a busy and successful evening.

A highlight of the evening's activities was a special ceremony by Justice John A. Lee and Treasurer Mayo Mashburn for the reception of dues from graduating senior G. W. Channell. As Treasurer Mashburn related, "any time is a good time to collect dues."

Initiation

Sam F. Lowe (Fish), Judge of the Civil Court of Fulton County, Georgia, presented the principal address at the initiation ceremonies for five new members of Keener Chapter held on February 5 in the newly decorated Superior Courtroom of the DeKalb County Courthouse in Decatur, Georgia.

Judge Lowe spoke to the Chapter's members and pledges following the formal exemplification of the Ritual, presenting to them his conception of the benefits to be derived from membership in Phi Alpha Delta.

Initiated during the evening ceremony were James Douglas Henderson, Clete D. Johnson, Joseph W. Parris, Jr., Scott A. Ray, and John Murrell Wells.

Following the initiation ceremony, the Chapter conducted pledging for Claude D. Cothran, Jr., William E. Henson, Robert R. McInvalle, P. Elliot Kyle, Nick G. Lambros, Harry J. Mehre, Jr., Delman L. Minchew, Marvin D. Pliskin, George B. Smith, Kenneth B. Tucker and Donald G. Wettlaufer.

Flash!

Charter, charter, who's got the Charter?

While writing a Keener Chapter History for the law school publication and directory, Brothers Channell and Lawless discovered that no member of the Chapter knew where the Chapter Charter was located, or even remembered seeing it.

Promptly constituting themselves a special expeditionary force of two, they went to Professor Henry M. Quillian (Marshall), who was instrumental in founding the Chapter, to request technical advice. They found that Prof. Quillian had been custodian of the Chapter records during its period of inactivity during the war years, and had placed its Charter in a safe place under the law school library steps. During the war, he frequently inspected

Ford Chapter Initiates 33 Frosh Students

Ford Chapter, Loyola University of Los Angeles, initiated 33 first-year students at colorful ceremonies conducted in a Los Angeles, California, Superior Courtroom on Friday evening, February 16.

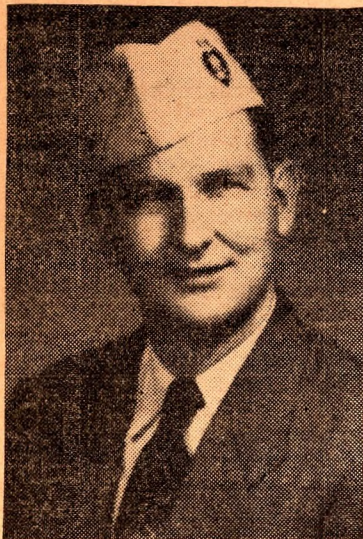

The initiation class was one of the largest groups to be taken into Phi Alpha Delta membership by Ford Chapter in recent years.

Following the formal ritual exemplification, conducted by retiring Justice Robert Helm, the Chapter held an election of officers, naming as Chapter Justice for the coming year second-year law student Vincent Pagliarulo. Other officers elected included Richard C. Mallery, Vice-Justice; John E. Finn, Clerk; James E. Satt, Treasurer; and William M. Jones, Marshal.

Members initiated by Ford Chapter at the February ceremonies included Charles F. Legeman, John E. Finn, Ralph M. Vecchi, Francis R. Burgmann, Mel H. Fahy, D. James Nordilla, John G. Barnes, Jr., Walter R. Goodman, Jim E. Satt, James E. Funk, John J. Hall, D. Joseph Spada, Ralph Guy Wesson, William M. Jones, Harold Bailey, William Blair Dabey, John T. Quick, Robert B. Stahl, Robert Arden Durton, James Nolan Kenealy, Jr., Richard Mallery, Richard E. Stewart, William J. Thornton, John A. McCaskey, Jr., Joseph L. Simpson, and David D. Murray.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Chapter members and the new initiates adjourned to the Nickabob Restaurant for the traditional initiation banquet. Frank E. Gray, Executive Secretary and a Ford Chapter Alumnus, delivered the principal address at the banquet, speaking upon the opportunities which exist for law practice in the small town. Brother Gray also discussed the operation of the Los Angeles PAD Placement Service, and stressed the importance of a recent graduate knowing what he desires to do in practice before he begins seeking employment. The members also heard a brief message from Sandy Rae, National Field Representative, who urged greater student participation in the program of the Los Angeles Legal Aid Foundation.

Goodin Elected Commander Order of Purple Heart

Capt. John D. Goodin

John D. Goodin (Staples), twice wounded veteran, is the first World War II veteran to be elected National Commander of the Military Order of The Purple Heart in the history of that organization.

Upon assuming the post of National Commander, Brother Goodin stated that he will concentrate upon promoting the passage of Universal Military Training legislation during the year.

Brother Commander Goodin served with the 3rd Armored Division in Europe during World War II. He holds the ETOUSA ribbon with five battle stars, Purple Heart with Oak Cluster, and the Bronz Star for Valor. He was wounded both during the Battle of the Bulge and while his outfit was entering Cologne.

the Charter to be sure it was still there and in good condition, then when Keener Chapter was reactivated in 1946 he presumed that the Chapter had again taken custody of the Charter.

The expeditionary force to rescue the Charter, now increased in size 1/2 with Brother Prof. Quillian's entrance into its ranks, burrowed under the library steps and came up with the Charter, almost hidden by dust and mold. Clerk Clarence Jackson, operating as a special service task force at this point, took the Charter home and restored it to its original clean self and, after calling attention to the prominent names thereon, hung it in the law school seminar room with the permission of Dean William Hepburn.

History

Following the "Case of the Missing Charter" and its successful solution, Brothers Channell and Lawless completed the Chapter History which is reprinted in part herewith:

"William Albert Keener Chapter, named after a prominent Emory alumnus who, among other legal accomplishments, became the Dean of Columbia Law School, was founded at Emory University in May, 1927. Professor Henry M. Quillian, a Phi Alpha Delta alumnus on the Emory Law School faculty, was instrumental in the establishment of the chapter at that time. Numbered among its founders and early members were Robert Carpenter, later a Judge of the Civil Court of Fulton County, James Howard and Devereaux McClatchey, prominent Atlanta attorneys, Carville Dickson, Dean of George Washington University Law School, and Alex Hite.

"Keener Chapter flourished for a number of years as an outstanding law school student organization, but its functioning was briefly interrupted during the years of World War II. In December, 1946, however, it was re-activated on the Emory campus and since that time has proven to be one of Emory Law School's outstanding student organizations. Among its accomplishments has been the consistent furnishing of leadership for the Law School student body government and its participation in social, academic and professional functions.

"Locally, Keener Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta has produced many men of prominence in the legal field and public life, a few of which are James V. Carmichael, McClatchey Howard, Judge Carpenter, Judge J. Hugh Rogers, Glenn Elliot, Warren Cox and Quillian Maxwell.

"The members and alumni of Keener Chapter have pledged themselves to the betterment of Phi Alpha Delta, Emory Law School and the legal profession, and the chapter, through its social, academic and professional efforts, promises to be prominent in the accomplishment of these aims."

Case Club

Emory University law students presently are engaged in the Case Club competition which was initiated by Keener Chapter a year ago. Winners of the Case Club competition have their names inscribed on a Phi Alpha Delta plaque which hangs on the law school rotunda wall.

Alumni Relations

The graduating senior dinner, given each quarter by Keener Chapter, was held at the Emory Alumni Memorial Building dining room on December 4, 1950.

Keener Chapter is maintaining active relations with the newly organized Atlanta Alumni Chapter. Keener Chapter members attend regular alumni meetings and the relationship is reciprocal in that alumni members attend Keener Chapter meetings, frequently to address the members. At the last regular Keener Chapter meeting, alumni members present included King Cleveland, Jep Tanksley, and Tom Slaught-

Following the close of hostilities in World War II, Brother Storey was a member of the special mission to investigate, identify and apprehend war criminals in Bulgaria from September 1944 to February 1945. He was then appointed executive trial counsel to Mr. Justice Robert H. Jackson (Jay) in the prosecution of the Nuremberg war crimes trials during 1945 and 1946.

For his military services, Brother Storey has been awarded the Bronze Star for his work on war crimes in Bulgaria, the Legion of Merit for his conduct of Intelligence activities in the Mediterranean Theatre of Operations, the Army Commendation Ribbon for his general services to the Army Air Corps, and both the Medal of Freedom and the French Legion of Honor for his services at the Nuremberg trials.

Brother Storey has also been prominent in public life, having served as Assistant Attorney General of Texas in charge of all criminal appeals from 1921 to 1923. During 1921-22 he was a member of the National Executive Committee of the American Legion. From 1924-30 he served as a Regent of the University of Texas, and in 1931 he was elected Governor of the Kiwanis Clubs of the Texas-Oklahoma District. He was President of the Park Board of the City of Dallas, Texas, from 1938 to 1941.

In the field of professional service, besides his activities with the Nuremberg war crimes trials, Brother Dean Storey has served as President of the State Bar of Texas from 1948 to 1949, and he is presently President of The Southwestern Legal Foundation, having assumed this office in 1947. He was President of the Dallas Bar Association in 1934. From 1938 to 1940 he served as Chairman of the Section on Legal Education of the American Bar Association, and since 1947 he has been a member of the Council of the Inter-American Bar Association. In addition, he is a member of the Board of Governors and House of Delegates of the American Bar Association.

At the invitation of Brother Dean Storey, the first Conclave of District 8 will be held in Dallas, Texas, on April 21 in conjunction with the Lawyers Week activities dedicating the new Southwestern Legal Center. These activities will include American Bar Association and local bar association groups from throughout the Southwest in a program which will provide the greatest assembly of lawyers ever held in the Southwest.

Legal Aid

Emery A. Brownell, Head of the National Legal Aid Association, has graciously acknowledged to Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edmonds the contributions of Phi Alpha Delta to the growth of organized legal aid work.

National Field Representative Rae attended an executive meeting of the National Legal Aid Association held in New York City on December 7th. He outlined to the Association the facilities of Phi Alpha Delta which will be made available to the Association in the promotion of legal aid on a national basis.

Emery A. Brownell stated: "Mr. Rae's personal enthusiasm and wide spread contacts will be effective additions to our means of promotion."

Mr. Brownell was grateful to Phi Alpha Delta for the fine and promising assistance that the organization is giving.

IRAC Paper Lists Members In News

Six PAD's were listed in the column "Fraternity Personalities In the News" which appeared in the January 8, 1951, issue of the Interfraternity Research and Advisory Council bulletin.

Besides President Harry S. Truman (Benton), they included Millard F. Caldwell (Fletcher), Director of Civilian Defense; Oscar L. Chapman (Hughes), Secretary of the Interior; and U. S. Senators John J. Sparkman (Morgan), Brien McMahon (Calhoun), Claude Pepper (Fletcher), and Robert A. Taft (Taft).

education or ability to take the Bar Examination was interrupted or prevented by the hostilities between the United States and the nations with which the United States was then at war, and,

"WHEREAS, enabling legislation is necessary to provide comparable legislation for those students or graduates who are called back into the service because of the present hostilities between the United States and North Korea or any other nation, and

"WHEREAS, there has been introduced in the Senate of the State of California a Bill designated as Senate Bill 527 providing for such enabling legislation, and

"WHEREAS, the undersigned chapters are composed of students now attending accredited law schools in the State of California, and

"WHEREAS, students from said chapters have been or will be called into the military service before they have had the opportunity to take the State Bar Examination,

"NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the undersigned chapters respectfully petition the Legislature of the State of California to enact legislation to admit on motion those students who are called into the military service and who have satisfactorily completed two years of study at a law school then accredited by the Examining Board and who, within five years from separation from such service under conditions other than dishonorable, graduate from a law school accredited by the Examining Board, and those students who, after such graduation from an accredited law school but before taking a State Bar Examination, are called into the Armed Services;

"BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the chapters attending this Conclave respectfully petition the Legislature of the State of California to enact Senate Bill 527 now pending for consideration before that honorable body."

Placement

The next topic of discussion to come before the Conclave was a report by John R. Griffin (Temple), San Francisco attorney, regarding the development of the District 2 Placement Service of which he is the chairman. Sandy Rae, National Field Representative then presented a brief report on the activities of the national organization and the implications of the war manpower requirement upon Chapter activities for next year, presenting to the Conclave the attitude of the Association of American Law Schools on the probable 1951-52 enrollment decline as estimated at the Association Convention at which he represented PAD during the Christmas vacation. Brother Rae suggested that Active Chapters do everything within their power to increase Chapter memberships with high caliber students this year as protection against an anticipated 50% decline in law school enrollments next year.

The Conclave luncheon was held in the Patio Room of the Californian Hotel with Fenton B. Hackett (Temple), Fresno attorney, serving as toastmaster. Gordon G. Dunn, Mayor of Fresno, welcomed the assembled delegates to the city of Fresno and expressed the hope that the Conclave would return to the city in 1952. Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edmonds responded to Mayor Dunn's welcoming address, praising the Mayor for the record which he had earned in giving Fresno a wholesome city government. Guests at the luncheon included David E. Snodgrass (Temple), Dean of the Hastings College of Law; Campbell E. Beaumont (Ford); Judge of the U. S. District Court in Fresno; Superior Court Judges Edward L. Kellas (Temple), Milo Popovich (Temple), and Strother P. Walton (Temple); Arthur M. Sammis (Temple), Registrar of the Hastings College of Law; and Captain William H. Wilterdink (Temple), Assistant Registrar of the Hastings College of Law.

District Organization

Henry C. Rohr (Ross), District 3 Justice, presided at the afternoon business session which was occupied primarily with a discussion of the new District organization proposed by the District Organization Committee. The Conclave ratified for the coming year the $1 per member assessment which was first instituted at the 1950 Conclave as a means of underwriting annual Conclave expenses. It then proceeded to adopt a system of self-government based upon the organization of District 7 which had been crystallized at St. Louis last November. Districts 2 and 3, under the new plan, will be integrated as one single organization for all practical purposes, the objective being to provide a greater exchange of ideas and information between Chapters than is practicable in either District separately, each District being composed of Chapters located primarily in one city.

Heading the two Districts will be the separate District Justices provided by the National Constitution. Serving as District officers under them will be students elected by each annual Conclave to fill newly-created District offices. For the purposes of utmost inter-District co-operation, there will be a District Vice-Justice in each District, charged with the duty of co-operating with his District Justice in the planning of inter-District activities. Below the level of Vice-Justice, the two Districts merge their joint government, with one Clerk and one Treasurer. Future Conclave planning will be under the direction of the District officers, functioning as an Executive Committee, rather than under the previous system of a loosely-knit Steering Committee.

District By-Laws

The Conclave delegates agreed that this District self-government scheme should remain experimental during the coming year, and that the two District Vice-Justices should draw up a set of permanent District By-Laws based upon this system for referral to the individual Chapters and final ratification at the 1952 District Conclave. If these By-Laws are ratified by the individual Chapters and the Conclave in 1952, a permanent District government, semi-autonomous in nature, will have been created.

A special feature of the Conclave this year was the scheduling of a Conclave Forum following the close of the afternoon business session. This Forum consisted of a panel of National and District Officers who undertook to answer any and all questions concerning either National or local aspects of the fraternity which were presented to them either in writing in advance of the Forum or from the floor. Officers sitting on the panel included Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edmonds, Supreme Secretary A. A. McDowell, National Field Representative Sandy Rae, District 2 Justice J. Albert Hutchinson, and District 3 Justice Henry C. Rohr. Frank E. Gray, Executive Secretary, presided over the Forum discussion.

Banquet

Closing session of the Conclave was the traditional banquet, held in the Patio Room of the Hotel Californian, over which Chalmers E. Lones, Jr. (Ross), Chairman of the Fresno Alumni Conclave Committee, presided. Supreme Justice Edmonds presented the principal address of the evening, discussing the growth of the fraternity and the present scope of its national activities and stressing the importance of the new program of assistance to Legal Aid. One feature of the evening was the introduction of the wives or girl friends attending the banquet, with each being requested to discuss her conception of the wife's place in a lawyer's life. Thus setting the tone of the evening on a properly merry pitch, Brother Lones then proceeded to ask each Chapter representative to present to the audience its delegates, with appropriately hilarious remarks from each. Featured humor artist of the evening was, inevitably, Brother Dean Snodgrass of Hastings, who proceeded to denounce as ridiculous a tendency towards cleanliness in jokes and enlightened the assemblage with his conception of humor at its proper level.

Primarily responsible for the tremendous success of the Conclave was the Fresno Alumni Conclave Committee, headed by Brother Lones and including Oliver M. Jamison (Holmes), Max M. Hayden (Field), and Fenton B. Hackett (Temple). At the invitation of the Fresno Alumni Chapter, the Conclave voted to return to Fresno again for the third successive year in 1952. Then, in a gesture of appreciation for the hospitality of the Fresno Alumni and in gratitude for their generosity in inviting the Conclave to return for a third year, the Conclave voted to pay out of District funds to the Supreme Chapter the constitutionally required Charter fee of $35 for the newly-organized Fresno Alumni Chapter.

Final successful note of the Conclave was provided by Eugene L. Freeland (Temple), District Treasurer for 1950-51, who happily returned $7 to every student delegate at the close of the banquet for use in paying hotel room charges. The rebate, first instituted at the 1950 Conclave as a means of reducing the price of student attendance to the lowest possible point, amounted to $2 more than the $5 registration fee which had been charged for attendance. Despite the generosity of the rebate, Gene announced that he was depositing more than $100 in the District Treasury towards next year's Conclave, and expressed the hope that within the near future the District finances may be substantial enough to conduct the Conclave without cost to the student delegates other than transportation.

Trustee Foss Called To Defense Position

Henry C. Foss (Rutledge), Associate Trustee, has left private practice to take a position as legal and financial counsel with the Petroleum Administration for Defense.

Prior to taking the national defense position, Brother Foss had been a partner in the New Orleans, La., law firm of Tillman and Foss, which had specialized in the practice of tax law. He had also served as tax counsel for the California Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of California.

HENRY CARTER FOSS

Fresno Alumni Elect Officers

James V. Paige (Temple) was elected Justice of the Fresno Alumni Chapter at a meeting held in conjunction with the District 2 and 3 Conclave on February 10.

Other officers elected at the alumni meeting in the Californian Hotel, Fresno, Calif., headquarters for the Conclave, were Leo Koligian (Field), Vice-Justice, and Robert E. Sears (Holmes), Clerk and Treasurer.

This year marked the second consecutive year that the Fresno Alumni Chapter has been host for the joint District 2 and 3 Conclave, and at the invitation of the Chapter the Conclave will return to Fresno again next year. Newly-organized at the time of the 1950 Conclave, the Fresno Alumni Chapter had not completed formalities of chartering at the time of this year's Conclave. In a gesture of appreciation for the hospitality and generosity of the Fresno Alumni, the Conclave this year voted to pay to the Supreme Chapter out of District funds the $35 Charter fee for the Fresno Alumni Chapter.

of current interest. One school has a student research group providing practicing alumni with legal memoranda on actual client problems of law submitted to it for research. Another has a regularly published collection of current book reviews, a 'Reading Guide,' selected and edited by students. Provision is made for a law student debating activity in one school, and another seems to have a student organized and directed moot court system. Other activities not called to my attention undoubtedly exist in various schools.

were in the pot at the time of the Chapter's broadcast appearance. Diligent research on the part of Chapter members prior to the show had revealed the name of the famous Virginian involved in the jackpot question, thus assuring the high financial success of this venture into the ether.

Not only did Henry Chapter improve the looks of its budget—and lucky question-answerer Ryder improve his personal looks—but the Chapter capitalized upon the occasion with publicity which included an invitation to the entire student body to attend the show together with wives or dates.

Just before being called to Washington, D. C., Brother Foss had resigned his connection with the California Company to accept a position with the Pan-Am Southern Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of Standard Oil of Indiana, where he was to have served as an assistant secretary beginning on December 1. Two days prior to his starting in this new position, Bruce Brown, president of Pan-Am Southern, who had been called to Washington as Deputy Administrator of the Petroleum Administration for Defense, telephoned Brother Foss with the request that he come to Washington immediately to do defense work immediately. Within four days Henry found himself hard at work in the Interior Building.

Brother Foss received his academic and legal education at Tulane University, earning his LL.B. degree in 1943. He entered private practice in New Orleans, where he remained until called to active duty with the Army Air Corps early in 1944. With the Air Corps he served as legal officer with the rank of Lieutenant for two years, being ordered to inactive duty in March 1946. After release from active duty, Brother Foss served as attorney with the California Company until January 1947, at which time he entered the Duke University School of Law for graduate legal work, earning his LL.M. degree at Duke that year. While a graduate student at Duke University, he was initiated into Rutledge Chapter.

After leaving Duke, Brother Foss formed the partnership of Tillman and Foss in New Orleans to specialize in tax practice, and later became tax attorney for the California Company. His present title with the Petroleum Administration for Defense is Assistant to the Finance Counselor, but he anticipates joining the department's legal staff when one is created and a General Counsel appointed.

Brother Foss was instrumental in securing the re-activation of Martin Chapter at Tulane University in the Fall of 1949. At the 1950 National Convention in French Lick, Indiana, he was elected an Associate Trustee of PAD.

Another PAD Thespian

William S. Vanderpool, Jr., (Rutledge), instructor in speech at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La., returned to his first love, the theatre, when he took the leading role of Elwood P. Dowd in a Baton Rouge Civic Theatre production of "Harvey" during the week of December 11 to 16.

Bill reports that he thinks Harvey, his invisible companion with the long ears, is a Brother PAD, too, Chapter unknown.

Supreme Treasurer Heads West

Supreme Treasurer Anthony P. Savarese and Mrs. Savarese are spending the month of March in California. Judge Savarese, Surrogate of Queens County, plans to spend part of the month in Palm Springs and the rest of the month in the Executive Offices working on fraternity matters. The latter part of the month he will spend in San Francisco, conferring with Supreme Justice Edmonds on fraternity affairs.

How's That, Dave?

Hastings' Dean Dave Snodgrass (left foreground) had a sly comment to make just before the camera shutter snapped, and these delegates to the District 2 and 3 joint Conclave in Fresno are enjoying it thoroughly. (Look like a couple didn't get it, hope they're not Dave's Contracts students—Ed.)
