Rep. Elliott Addresses Miami Members

Over 200 members of Phi Alpha Delta, both alumni and actives of Rasco Chapter at the University of Miami, attended a banquet held at the Cadillac Hotel in Miami Beach on December 1, 1951. The banquet was held in honor of the new members of the chapter who had been initiated that day.

Chairman Jim Nowell introduced George B. Pomeroy, Justice of Rasco Chapter, who in turn introduced Dean Rasco and the PAD faculty members, the honored members of the bench and bar and the balance of the officers of the chapter.

Brother Pomeroy then introduced U. S. Congressman Carl Elliott, member of Morgan Chapter. In his introduction of Representative Elliott, Justice Pomeroy read Article II of the Phi Alpha Delta Constitution and explained it was with these concepts in mind that Brother Elliott was extended an invitation to the Chapter and Alumni, i.e.—to promote social and intellectual intercourse among its members—to aid the development of fraternal and brotherly sentiments—the attainment of a higher and broader culture than that afforded by the regular college course.

Congressman Elliott urged the members not to lose the faith that created the United States. He also made mention of the fact that the founding fathers of this country were mainly composed of lawyers and that it is that type of leadership which we must look to in these troubled days. Representative Elliott's speech resulted in an editorial appearing in the December 4 Miami Herald.

Following his speech, which was well received by the members in attendance, John Doyle Carmody, Past Supreme Justice and present Chief Tribunal, presented a $100 check to the chapter for the renewed drive for the trust fund of $10,000 the chapter had undertaken.

After an excellent meal, all enjoyed an evening of entertainment consisting of three acts followed by dancing until 1 a.m.

Story Chapter Pledges Wrigley Executive

Story Chapter at DePaul University, Chicago, Illinois, announces that William H. Stanley, 71, has been pledged to the Chapter.

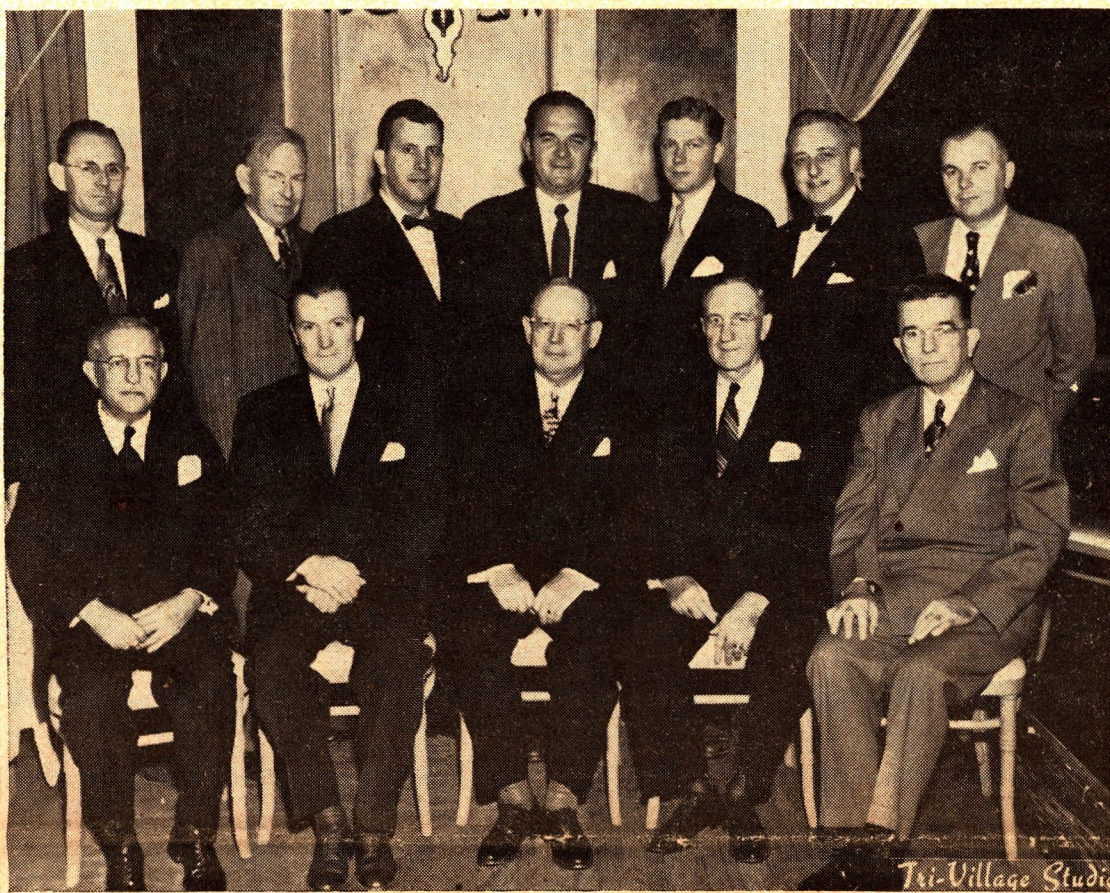

Mr. Stanley was born in Scotland on February 27, 1880. He secured his education at Berlin University at the King Charles II School. He is now attending the night school law department of DePaul University.

Mr. Stanley is listed in Who's Who in America as a business executive. He has been associated with the carpet manufacturing company, James Humphrey & Sons, Limited, and the Hamburg American Line, with executive offices in Berlin, Germany. In 1914 he became associated with the William Wrigley, Jr. Company of Chicago, Illinois. He is also president of the Arizona Biltmore Estates, Inc. He serves on the board of directors of the William Wrigley, Jr. company.

Mr. Stanley will be initiated along with thirteen other pledges of the Chapter in the spring of 1952.

Supreme Board Joins in Meeting

The first annual conclave of District No. 9 was held on November 10, 1951, at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel in Columbus, Ohio. McKinley Chapter of Ohio State University was the host Chapter and delegates from all remaining Chapters composing District No. 9, under the recent reorganization plan, were present. Those Chapters were Clay (U. of Kentucky), Willey (West Virginia University), Hay (Western Reserve), Watson (U. of Pitt.) and Vinson (U. of Louisville).

Through the generosity of the Columbus Alumni of P.A.D., who served as host, the conclave had its unofficial opening on Friday evening, November 9. This was in the form of a reception and cocktail party where delegates from the various Chapters had the opportunity to become well acquainted. It was at this reception that the delegates had the privilege of informally meeting the members of the Supreme Executive Board who were holding their annual meeting in conjunction with the conclave.

District Organization Formed

The conclave opened officially at 8:30 Saturday morning with registration in suite 16 of the hotel. After registration the delegates convened for the purpose of selecting a District Organization Committee and holding round table discussions. Following a short welcoming address by District Justice James L. Broz, Jr. (Hay Chapter), presiding, the delegates appointed one member from each Chapter to serve on the District Organization Committee which was scheduled to hold a meeting in the afternoon.

The remaining and major portion of the morning session was devoted to roundtable discussions which were opened by Chase Chapter reporting on "Chapter Projects." Succeeding this were reports by Vinson Chapter on the topic of "Relationship Between Alumni and Actives," and by Watson Chapter on the subject of "Finances."

Luncheon With Board

A Conclave luncheon was held at 12:30 p.m. attended by the Supreme Executive Board. At this time Frank E. Gray, Executive Secretary, introduced each of the members of the Supreme Executive Board and gave a brief sketch of their respective background. Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edmonds took this opportunity to praise the only member of the Supreme Executive Board who was unable to attend: Supreme Secretary A. A. (Mickey) McDowell who was confined in the Veterans Hospital in Los Angeles, California.

The District Organization Committee went into session immediately after luncheon and the remainder of the delegates continued the roundtable discussion consisting of reports by Willey Chapter on "Social Programs," Hay Chapter on "Placement Service" and concluding with a report on "Pledging and Initiation" by Clay Chapter.

At 3:30 p.m. the District Organization Committee reported and presented their draft for the approval of the delegates. The following provisions were enacted: (1) that henceforth the District Conclave meet annually; (2) that the next Conclave be held in Cincinnati, Ohio, in the spring of 1953; (3) that each active Chapter member be assessed one dollar ($1.00) per year, which fund shall be held and dispersed by a District Treasurer to help defray the cost of the Conclave and the traveling expense of the two official delegates; (4) that bylaws be prepared and forwarded to the Chapters for their consideration and approval; (5) that each Chapter have two votes in the election of student officers; (6) that student officers shall be second year students; (7) and that student officers be presently elected to hold office for a tenure of one year.

Following the report an election was held in which Louis Schwartz of Chase Chapter was elected District Justice, Larry Brock of Hay Chapter, District Vice-Justice, Tom Pfau of Vinson Chapter District Secretary, and Leo Wundeker of Watson Chapter, District Treasurer.

Conclave Forum

At 4:00 p.m. the Conclave Forum opened with Executive Secretary Frank Gray presiding. At this time various questions were posed to members of the Supreme Executive Board concerning other District Organizations, the progress of the Fraternity regarding placement service, and sundry problems peculiar to local chapters. The Supreme Executive Board also interrogated the delegates regarding permanency of the District Organization and its aims and purposes, and the bylaws under which it intended to operate. A full report was given to the board which expressed its approval and commended the delegates on their attainment.

The Conclave was closed at a banquet held in the Hall of Mirrors with James Albers of the Columbus Alumni Association serving as toastmaster. Among

Former Board Member Owner of Football Team

Giles Miller, Taney Chapter, of Dallas, Texas, who was a member of the Supreme Executive Board of Phi Alpha Delta from 1948 to 1950, heads the syndicate which recently paid $300,000 for the New York Yankee Football franchise. This franchise is being moved to Dallas, Texas, and the team name being changed to "Rangers."

Brother Miller was a delegate to the 1948 convention held at Los Angeles, California. He represented the Dallas Alumni Chapter. He so ably represented this chapter that he was elected to the Supreme Executive Board. At the 1950 convention he did not stand for reelection stating that his business prevented him from adequately serving the fraternity. Brother Miller is president of the Texas Textile Mills and affiliated companies.

Giles Miller and his associates paid the baseball Yankees $200,000 for the remaining eight years lease on the Yankee Stadium. This was a settlement of 50c on the dollar. $100,000 was paid Ted Collins, the owner of the football Yanks for all of its assets and cash. $175,000 which was owed to the New York Giants for territorial rights was cancelled by the Giants.

the brothers present and introduced were Dean Fordham and Prof. Hallen of Ohio State University. Mr. Albers then introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Supreme Justice Douglas L. Edwards.

Profession's Duties

In his address to the assembled members the Supreme Justice stressed the duty of the law profession to the members of the public and the satisfaction that is realized through the industry and initiative in faithfully serving the public. The Supreme Justice pointed out that in order to prepare the attorney to meet the diverse problems in the world it is necessary that he have a good legal education and a thorough knowledge of the society out of which these problems arise.

The speaker reminded the student delegation that they should not overlook the opportunities presented to young attorneys in the small communities. He stated that many persons in these small communities were being deprived of the assistance of learned counsel due to their geographic isolation and the fact that lawyers in the larger cities nearby could not economically afford to render their assistance in many of the small yet consequential problems that arise. He noted that the attorney, by setting up practice in the smaller towns, would attain a position of prominence by faithfully serving the inhabitants and would achieve the rich reward of self-satisfaction as well as monetary returns for a job well done.

Supreme Justice Edmonds concluded his address by admonishing the young attorney to employ imagination and selection in the formulation, not only of his ultimate goal but of the methods and policies by which he intends to reach it. If he appreciates not only the end result but also the reasons which prompted him in the selection of that result, then it may truly be said that the means truly justify the end.

Message From the Supreme Justice

The value of organization is judged by the community in which it exists not in terms of numbers, wealth, influence, or tradition, but on the basis of the service which it renders. The organization which has earned for itself a position of prestige in its community has done so by meeting, in some measure, the needs of society.

Phi Alpha Delta has grown to a position of true prominence in the bar and in the law schools because it has always endeavored to carry out this purpose. Recently, there has come to my attention the program of one Active Chapter which truly typifies the spirit of Phi Alpha Delta as set forth in our "Declaration of Purpose." (Constitution, Article II.)

Rasco Chapter at the University of Miami assiduously has taken advantage of every opportunity to serve the community of which it is a part. It conducts a bookstore for the economical disposition of used textbooks. With the proceeds from that operation, it provides a scholarship fund to furnish worthy first year students with the required casebooks for an entire school year. Believing that modern developments in education could be adopted to legal education, it donated to the law school a slide projector for use in visual aid instruction. With this gift, the University of Miami School of Law became the first Southern law school to pioneer in the field of visual aids to legal education.

The Chapter also was instrumental in adding the moot court and a course in medical jurisprudence to the curriculum. In co-operation with members of the Miami Bar, it established the first student clerk system. Anticipating the construction of a new law school building, the Chapter and the Miami Alumni have established a building endowment fund. The fund's goal is to provide $10,000 for the purpose of donating a fraternity room to the school. The Chapter also has published a Miami PAD Alumni Directory which was instrumental in revitalizing the local Alumni Chapter. It is conducting a series of addresses by leaders of the bar and of business for the benefit of law students. Many other activities, publicized in recent issues of the

REPORTER, are being carried by the Chapter.

It is service of this type for which every Chapter should strive. Such activity is not limited to our Active Chapters. Our Alumni Chapters have equal obligations to their local bars, although they may be different in kind. The Chicago Alumni Chapter is pioneering in the field of an attorneys' pool, designed to assist both the efficiency of the bar and PAD placement. The Alabama Alumni are actively furthering legal aid.

Although Rasco Chapter is a shining example of how the fraternity ideal can be carried out in practice, I could have chosen almost any one of our Chapters to illustrate my point. Hamill Chapter publishes an excellent law school directory. Timberlake Chapter provides school lunches for needy children in Wake Forest, North Carolina. Other Chapters have created Briefing Projects for the benefit of the local bar. Several, notably Cole Chapter, are actively assisting or organizing legal aid projects.

Phi Alpha Delta would have no reason to exist if it did not perform useful functions within the profession. Our duty, as Chapters and as individuals, is to strive constantly to discover new ways in which we may serve our community and our profession. Thus may we continue to grow in the esteem of our fellow men.

TAFT AND JAY HOLD JOINT INSTALLATION

Head table at banquet following Joint Initiation Ceremony of Taft and Jay Chapters, Georgetown and George Washington Universities respectively, held Dec. 8, 1951, Washington, D.C. Reading left to right, are Bernard F. Garvin, Taft Chapter Faculty Adviser; Judge Joseph R. Jackson of Ct. of Customs and Patents Appeals; W. H. Ziehl, Jay Chapter Justice; J. Harry Welch, Attorney and guest speaker; Louis Fernandez, Taft Chapter Justice.

Georgetown's Taft Chapter and George Washington's Jay Chapter of the Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity joined forces for their initiation ceremonies and banquet on December 8, 1951. The joint initiation was decided upon in furtherance of one of the purposes of the fraternity; to form a strong link between the law schools and their students. Last year these two chapters also held a joint pledging ceremony.

The principal speaker at the initiation was Mr. J. Harry Welch, '21, prominent member of the D. C. Bar and former Student Justice of Taft Chapter. Mr. Welch spoke convincingly on trial technique, problems in interviewing and examining witnesses, and general problems besetting a young lawyer starting practice. The initiation ceremonies were conducted by Mr. William Ziehl and Mr. Louis Fernandez, present Justices of Jay and Taft Chapters, respectively.

The oath of initiation was given by Robert Freer, former Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission and present Justice of the 12th Geographic District of PAD.

At this meeting the opportunity was taken by Taft Chapter to present Professor Bernard F. Garvey, '25, its Faculty Advisor, with a gift in appreciation of his kind attentions and services to the Chapter. Mr. James E. Stephenson, former Student Justice of the Chapter, was given a Past Justice Key in appreciation for his services to the Chapter last semester.

Dept. of Commerce

With the installation of new officers on February 6, 1952, Taft Chapter will end its program for the semester. For this event it is planned to hold a round table talk with three executives of the United States Department of Commerce—The Honorable Clarence H. Ostagen, Assistant Secretary; The Honorable C. Dickerson Williams, Solicitor; and Mr. Francis Cawley, class of 1937, Director of the Budget. The subject of discussion will be: The Study of Law improves Possibility for Advancement in Government Service.

Earlier in the year Taft Chapter held its Rush Party, at which The Honorable Frederick J. Lawson, '34, Director of the Bureau of the Budget, lucidly described the place of a lawyer in the Executive Branch of the Government. This was followed by the pledge ceremony on November 7. There was no speaker at the latter meeting so that as much time as possible could be devoted to getting acquainted with the new pledges.

On November 24 Taft Chapter held its annual Social Evening to which the wives or dates of the Chapter members were invited. The speaker for this occasion was The Honorable F. Joseph Donohue, Commissioner of the Government of the District of Columbia, who spoke most interestingly on his experiences as chief prosecutor in the trial and conviction of Harry Bridges for the offense of perjury in having denied membership in the Communist Party while applying for citizenship.

DID YOU LOSE THE REFERRAL?

The editor of the directory recently received a communication from a brother in the middle-west, stating he had been looking for a lawyer to take care of company business in a certain locale. He found no one listed in the PAD Directory. Upon checking Martindale-Hubbell he found the name and address of a PAD. He then checked the Directory under the alphabetical and found the man listed, quote "address unknown."

He stated "I have occasion to engage in legal services in many places, and usually refer such matters to PADs when it seems expedient. But by the same token I usually avoid referring matters to PADs who are remiss in keeping themselves listed on the roles of the fraternity." Change of address cards as furnished by the Post Office should be sent to the Executive Secretary when ever a member moves.

H. W. Buckley Named Municipal Judge

Homer W. Buckley (Field) was appointed Judge of the Municipal Court in Oakland, Calif., in October by Governor Earl Warren.

Brother Buckley formerly was Oakland's deputy city attorney and assistant city attorney. He is a past president of the Alameda County Lawyers' Club and a member of the Oakland Board of Education.

PAD's on Victorious Tulane Team

Tulane's college of law moot court team has been declared victorious in the second annual southwestern regional moot court competition, which was held at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas.

Faculty moot court advisor Prof. Leon Hubert of Tulane said that the university team defeated groups from Southern Methodist and the University of Texas in the final elimination tournament.

Two of Tulane's three-man moot court team are members of Francis X. Martin chapter of Phi Alpha Delta. They are seniors Clarence O. Dupuy and Leslie L. Inman of New Orleans. The third man of the team is P. H. Beer, also of New Orleans.

The Tulane victory entitled them to enter final competition in New York City, Dec. 13-14 with ten other regional champions for the Samuel Seabury prize.

Tulane's team won a 3-2 decision before the fictional U. S. Supreme Court for their client, a state's attorney who refused to testify at a televised Senate hearing.

Faculty advisor Hubert is also a member of Martin chapter.

TANEY CHAPTER GETS BOOK EXCHANGE

Taney Chapter at Southern Methodist University has established a book exchange, which has proven very successful and which the Chapter plans to continue in the future. Under this book exchange the cost to the students for necessary text and case books is greatly reduced.

Also the Chapter publishes a "Key to Library" compiled by the Chapter and the library staff. This mimeographed two-page aid to the students at the University shows a diagram of the library together with the stacks. This diagram is numbered and the accompanying index shows where the various reports and selected reading material can be found in the library. This project undertaken by the chapter has been received by new students with much appreciation being expressed to the Chapter.

A directory of the students in attendance at the Southern Methodist School of Law has also been compiled by Taney Chapter and is distributed to all of the students at no charge. This directory gives the name, year, school address and telephone number of students. It also lists the faculty, lecturers, and staff addresses with telephone numbers.

Justice Emmett H. Wilson Dies

JUSTICE WILSON

Brilliant and Worthwhile Career Ends

Justice Emmett H. Wilson, (Ford Chapter) of the District Court of Appeals of the State of California, one of the most highly respected and conscientious members of the California Bench, died on December 15, 1951, after a brief illness. He was seventy-five years old.

Justice Wilson had recently undergone major surgery, and had returned home three weeks before his death. His sudden passing came as a surprise to his many associates, as he was reported on the road to recovery.

"On Bench Since 1927"

Justice Wilson became an honorary member of Ford Chapter of Loyola University at Los Angeles, in 1941. He was selected by that Chapter to have honorary status bestowed due to his leadership in the Los Angeles Courts. He was appointed to the Superior Bench in 1927 and was promoted to the District Court of Appeals in 1945.

While he was sitting on the Superior Court, he heard all cases involving labor, fair trade and the N. R. A. Many of his decisions in the Thirties, when Labor was organizing, were considered landmarks in that field. He also initiated the policy that minors seeking approval of motion picture contracts must set aside a specific sum for the future. That policy was later incorporated into the State law.

U. N. Charter

One of Justice Wilson's most controversial and pioneering decisions dealt with the United Nations Charter. He ruled that any State Law which violated the Charter was void.

Announcement of his death was made from the bench of the District Court of Appeals by Presiding Justice Clement L. Shinn (Ross Chapter). The announcement was made on the regular calendar day of Division 3, and Justice Shinn regretfully opened the session with the announcement of Justice Wilson's passing.

Justice Wilson was a loyal member of Phi Alpha Delta and never failed to attend the meetings of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter. He steadfastly refused to sit at the head table with other judges, stating that he desired to sit among his brothers and practicing attorneys.

Dean Hogan Writes For Law Journal

Edward A. Hogan, Jr. (M. Sullivan), Vice-Dean of the Hastings College of Law, is the author of a leading article appearing in the Fall, 1951, issue of the Hastings Law Journal.

Brother Hogan's article studies the application by Chief Justice Lemuel Shaw of Massachusetts of law as a product of reason. He devotes special attention to the development of the English common law and its effect on the American system of judicial procedure.

PAD Collects Odd Wills

Fred J. Hoffmeister (Campbell), retired Missouri circuit judge, possesses one of the world's largest collections of odd wills.

One of Brother Hoffmeister's favorite wills in the collection, which has taken him 35 years to amass, is that of Herman Oberweiss of Texas. The testator wrote: "First thing I want done, I don't want my brother Oscar to get a dam thing I got. He is a mumser and he done me out of $400 14 years since."

Brother Hoffmeister also enjoys the forty page will of Benjamin Franklin, which includes the following comment on inherited wealth. "It is my opinion, that the person who receives an estate from his ancestors is under some kind of obligation to transmit the same to their posterity; this obligation does not lie on me, who never inherited a shilling from any ancestor or relative."

Hen-pecked husbands sometimes find their revenge after death, Hoffmeister notes. In Australia, a man whose wife would never let him get the last word finally got it in his will. Francis Reginald Lord left his widow "one shilling for tram fare to some place to drown herself." Another wound up with: "And to my wife I bequeath the balance of my estate, both real and personal, including my pants, which she has wanted to wear for the past 15 years."

Young Estate Involved

Other domestic problems also come to light amongst Hoffmeister's testaments. In New Jersey, a Chinese named John Ling left his son one dollar with the wish that he use it "to purchase a rope long and strong enough to support his Irish wife." When Brigham Young died, he left an estate of $2,500,000 in trust for his families. They were divided into classes to provide for his 18 living wives, 48 children, and an adopted child. The estate was apportioned into nineteen different parts.

One of the most unusual wills in the Hoffmeister collection is that of Mrs. Etta Mellier of New Haven, Conn. A "broadminded" woman, she left $1800 per year income from her estate to Mrs. Jeanette Paterson Wallace of Philadelphia, Pa. Mrs. Wallace was Mrs. Mellier's husband's "other wife." Mellier had been married to both women for 20 years and only on his death did the women learn of each other's existence and became the best of friends.

Large Families Benefit

Charles Vance Miller of Canada left his wish that $500,000 be paid from his estate to the Toronto woman who bore the most children in the ten years following his death. The Ontario Supreme Court gave the prize to four women, each the mother of nine eligible children.

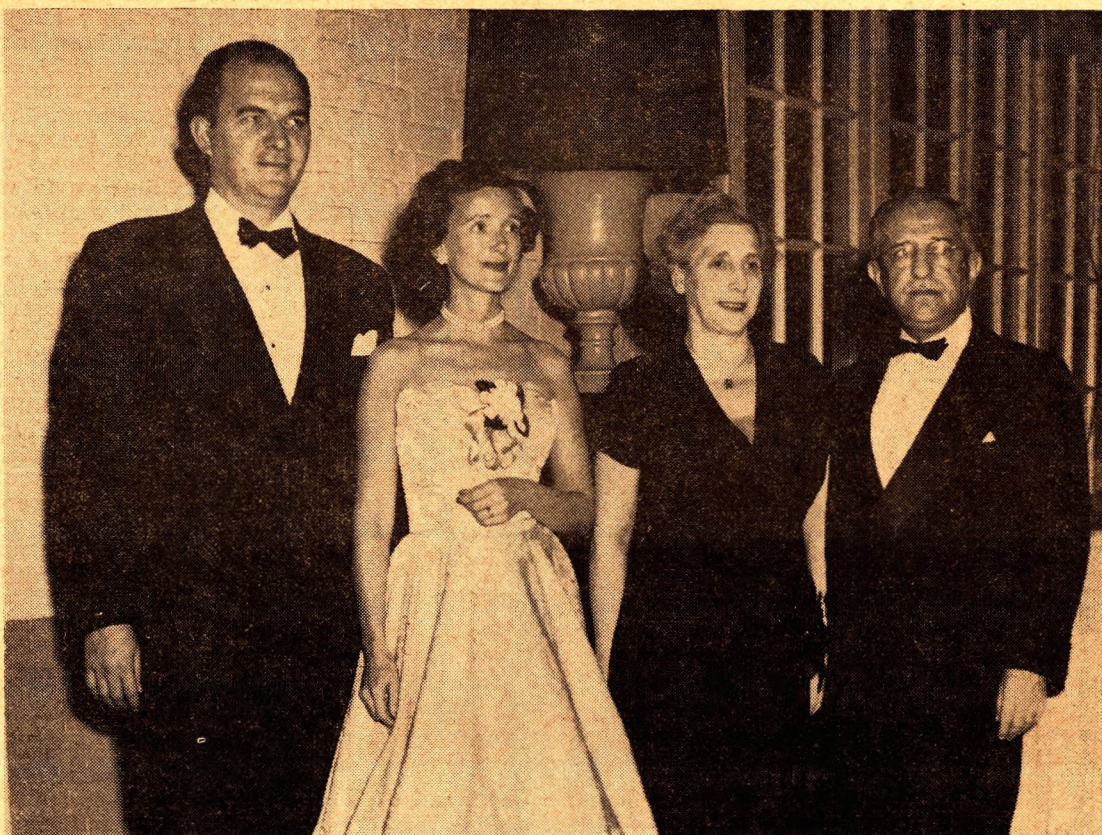

Rockwell Sayre of Chicago reversed the order of leaving money to animals. He specified that his executors should buy 150 boxes of candy and ship them to 150 persons whom Sayre listed as his "fellow warriors in the world war against cats."

LT. GRIFFIN KILLED

Lt. John C. Griffin (Charter member of Stephens Chapter) was killed along with seven other reservists on August 23, 1951, when a PBV-5A crashed at the Naval Air Station near Atlanta. Lt. Griffin, a native of Cordele, Georgia, was a veteran of Navy Flying during World War II. He obtained his LLB degree from the University of Georgia and was a practicing attorney with offices in the Healy Building in Atlanta, Georgia.

Lt. Griffin was active in the establishment of the Stephens Chapter at the University of Georgia, and after his graduation from Law School, was very active in the Atlanta Alumni Chapter.

PAD REPRESENTED AT PIFC

Clay Chapter Reports

Henry Clay Chapter is well into its 37th year on the University of Kentucky Campus. The Chapter started the year off with twenty members back in school. At the last business meeting of the Spring semester of 1951 the chapter voted to extend the term of chapter officers from one semester to two. The first officers elected since this change and who will serve until the end of the present school year are: Eugene E. Hines, Justice; James Todd, Vice-Justice; Shelley Rihard, Clerk; Arthur W. Purkel, Treasurer; and Bill Fishback, Marshall.

At the beginning of the year the chapter passed out brochures to the new students called "Hints on Briefing Cases." It was patterned after a similar one prepared by the McReynolds Chapter at the University of Tennessee.

John Y. Brown Speaker

On October 30, the members of the freshman class were the guests of the chapter at a luncheon held in the ballroom of the Student Union. The luncheon was the first one for the year. These luncheons were started some years ago to enable the members to become acquainted with the new students and vice versa and also to bring those attending into closer contact with the members practicing the profession, one of whom is guest speaker. The speaker at the first luncheon was Brother John Y. Brown (Clay '26), Lexington attorney. Brother Brown is widely known throughout Kentucky and made an extremely timely talk on the rights of individuals to counsel and the privileges against self-incrimination.

Social Calendar

On the social side the chapter held its annual pre-SBA Dance, reception for the faculty, the freshman class and their guests. Punch was served from 7 to 9, then the members and their guests proceeded to the dance.

Bill Compton, Arthur Purkel and Gene Hines, just back from the ninth circuit conclave, are quite enthused over the progress made at the Conclave. Congratulations to Brother Albers and all others who had anything to do in arranging the programs. It was the opinion of the Clay delegation that it was the best and the most orderly convention they had ever experienced. It was a great honor to have the Supreme Executive Board present and to have the opportunity to meet and talk with them.

PAD's Spark Investigation Of Federal Grand Jury Row

Public spirited PAD's in the San Francisco, Calif., area who are members of Blackstone Post No. 143 of the American Legion are studying the most recent developments in the alleged "premature" discharge of a Federal Grand Jury which was investigating the operations of the Internal Revenue office in San Francisco.

Richard H. Seward, an investment counselor who served as foreman of the discharged grand jury, disclosed to a meeting of Blackstone Post on October 2 that Senator Richard H. Nixon (Rutledge) is investigating the controversial discharge of the jury by Judge Edward P. Murphy of the United States District Court.

Retired Naval Captain William H. Wilterdink (Temple) is Commander of Blackstone Post of the American Legion. The Post is composed entirely of members of the legal profession. Following Seward's talk explaining the discharge over the jury's protests that its job was incomplete, Dean David E. Snodgrass (Temple) moved that the Post invite Judge Murphy to present his side of the controversy at its October 16 meeting. The motion, seconded by Arthur Sammis (Temple), was carried unanimously.

Blackstone Post, in which PAD's have been active since its founding, is believed to be unique among American Legion posts in restricting its membership to members of the legal profession. Its record for service to the community and the legal profession has been earned by its consistent willingness to investigate controversial issues in the public interest. Seward's address to the Post is a typical example. Although the jury was discharged in July, it is believed that the Post's invitation to him to speak was the first opportunity which the jury foreman had been given to air his complaints publicly.

ABBATICCHIO APPOINTED TO STATE DEFENSE GROUP

R. J. Abbaticchio (Taft) has been appointed to the California Law Enforcement Advisory Committee by Governor Warren. The appointment was made under the provisions of the Civil Defense and Disaster Acts. Brother Abbaticchio, FBI special agent in charge of the San Francisco, Calif., office, is one of five members on the enforcement committee.

Savarese Elected

The Professional Inter Fraternity Conference held its biennial meeting November 30, and December 1, 1951, at Hotel Chamberlain, Old Point Comfort, Virginia. Phi Alpha Delta was represented at this meeting by Supreme Treasurer Anthony P. Savarese and Executive Secretary Frank E. Gray. The conference was held in conjunction with meetings of the Inter Fraternity Conference, the Panhellenic Conference, and the Panhellenic Professional Conference.

There are thirty fraternities who are members of the Professional Inter Fraternity Conference. Membership is restricted to professional fraternities of the following categories: Architecture, chemistry, commerce, dentistry, education, engineering, journalism, law, medicine and pharmacy. At the last meeting, agriculture, ceramics, forestry, music and theology were added as categories which would make professional fraternities eligible for membership in the Conference.

The opening session of the conference was held on Friday morning, November 30th, adjourning for a luncheon held in conjunction with the National Inter Fraternity Conference. The afternoon session was devoted to report of conference committee and new business. That evening a conference banquet, presided over by R. G. Glass, member of Theta Tau Fraternity which is in the engineering field, was held in the hotel. Saturday morning was devoted to a final business session with adjournment so that members of the Conference could travel to the College of William and Mary in nearby Williamsburg, Virginia, so as to be able to participate in the Inter Fraternity ceremonies commemorating the 174th anniversary of Phi Beta Kappa. This affair was participated in by the members of the Inter Fraternity Conference, the Panhellenic Conference and the Panhellenic Professional Conference. That evening delegates from all four Conferences met for the formal banquet.

Supreme Treasurer, Anthony P. Savarese, so ably represented Phi Alpha Delta at the convention that he was elected to the Executive Committee of the Professional Inter Fraternity Conference.

Judge Savarese and Executive Secretary Gray were accompanied to this convention by their wives.

DISTRICT 7 CONCLAVE JUDGE DAILEY SPEAKER

The Seventh District held its conclave in Columbus, Missouri, on November 2 and 3, 1951. Approximately 100 delegates from the eleven Chapters in the District attended the Conclave. Reese Chapter at the University of Nebraska was the only Chapter not represented at the conclave.

Friday evening a dance was held to welcome the delegates to the conclave. Lawson Chapter at the University of Missouri had set up a committee to arrange for dates for the delegates.

Saturday morning the business session opened with District Justice Robert D. Jackson presiding. He extended a cordial welcome to all delegates and guests attending the conclave. He also introduced Frank E. Gray, Executive Secretary, who had arranged to be present at the conclave.

Leo Baker of Hammond Chapter, University of Iowa, and the District Vice Justice, presided for the balance of the meeting. Topics discussed in the morning session consisted of Legal Aid, Rushing and Alumni contact. A lively discussion was had on Legal Aid, and Allen Donelson of Cole Chapter, stated that all students of Drake University participated in the Legal Aid Program maintained at that school. It was reported to the conclave delegates that Legal Aid Programs had been established at St. Louis, Kansas City, and Lincoln, Nebraska. A program was soon to begin operation in Omaha.

Of the topic of rushing, the delegates were all in accord. The best rushing party is the informal affair where an opportunity is given for the rushees and the members to become better acquainted. It was also pointed out that during each rushing season a serious program should be arranged so that a prominent speaker could be present and address the rushees and members on some phase of law or legal education.

Gray Speaker at Luncheon

At the luncheon held during the conclave, Executive Secretary Gray spoke on the operation of the National Office. He traced briefly the history of Phi Alpha Delta and its rapid progress during the last four years. He explained to the members the revenue received by the National and the various programs to which this money is allocated.

Job placement, housing and a constitution to operate the district were subjects discussed in the afternoon session. In the discussion on job placement, Robert Marolf of Cole Chapter led the discussion. He stated that this chapter has a placement committee which sends out questionnaires to practicing attorneys, corporations and other organizations employing men with legal training. This system was able to locate more openings than could be filled last year. The placement committee of Cole Chapter is planning to set up a permanent organization with alumni participation in the near future.

Chapter Housing

On the question of housing, Hammond Chapter delegate, Leo Baker, outlined the arrangement of Iowa. They have rented three rooms located a block and a half from the Law School for $75.00 a month. In their club rooms they have a library, bar and nickelodeon. He stated that the Chapter was able to realize around $200 profit from the facilities on homecomings and other special occasions which the alumni attend.

The constitution, as adopted, provided that the District Conclave should be held annually in the spring semester rather than in the fall semester. The date of the conclave was to be set by the steering committee, which would be at the call of the District Justice. The officers for the district were a Vice Justice to assist the National District Justice, a secretary and a treasurer. The funds for the conclave were to be collected by an assessment against each Chapter at the rate of $1.00 per man per year. The definition of "man" was meant to include both actives and pledges. The membership of each chapter was to be determined on the 15th day of October of each year and the assessment payable on or before December 1st.

On the question of voting at the conclave each chapter was to have two votes notwithstanding the number of members. And additional votes, based on one additional vote for each complete unit of ten members, for which an assessment has been paid as of 30 days preceding the date of the conclave. In order to cast the number of votes a like number of delegates must be registered at the conclave. However, one delegate may vote the chapter's basic two votes.

Goodwin Elected Vice-Justice

Election of officers was then held, and Guy Goodwin of Green Chapter was elected Vice Justice, Harold Friedman of Benton Chapter was elected Secretary, Louis James of Benson Chapter was elected Treasurer.

Hammond Chapter at the University of Iowa was chosen to be the host chapter for the 1952 conclave by unanimous acclamation. That evening a formal conclave banquet was held, at which time Chief Justice Joseph Dailey of the Illinois Supreme

Frank Northrop Dies

Frank E. Northrop (Marshall Chapter), a practicing attorney in Council Bluffs, Iowa, since 1913, died on November 20, 1951, at Columbus, Georgia, of a heart attack. Brother Northrop, with his wife, recently toured the eastern part of the United States and had gone to Columbus to visit their daughter and son-in-law.

He suffered a heart attack while in Georgia, and was confined to the hospital for three weeks. After his release from the hospital he was believed to be improving rapidly. He suffered another heart attack shortly before his death and was returned to the hospital.

Brother Northrop secured his law degree from the University of Chicago in 1912. He was admitted to the Bar of Iowa in 1913. He served as Assistant County Attorney and County Attorney in Iowa until 1931. He had also served as a Referee in Bankruptcy.

The body was returned to Council Bluffs for burial.

Court was the principal speaker. Justice Dailey, a member of Calhoun Chapter, spoke to the delegates on Bar Examinations and admission to practice. He stated "I have always considered admission to the bar as being a matter of increasing concern to the State. As its economic life and social life become more intricate, legal rules governing social conduct and their administration through courts of justice become more complicated; so that adequately trained lawyers are increasingly necessary to the competent exercise of their function as officers of the courts administering justice." He stated further "You cannot be over-prepared for the future practice of law, and you will find it will be a continuous study during your after life."

Big Cities versus Small Communities

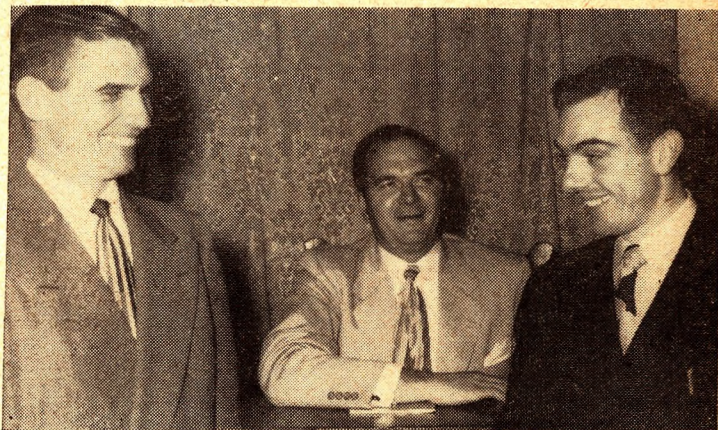

Justice Dailey discussed the opportunities for practice as between the big city and the small town. He stated that he determined when he was admitted that it would be better for him to go back to the county seat of his home county where he knew a few people and where he was more adapted to the quieter life of that size community. He stated that each attorney would have the same choice to make. "In my prejudiced view point, the big city, while it has the bigger income possibilities, also necessarily has the larger office and family expenses to be subtracted from the income. The fees in the smaller places are in turn smaller, but outlays are likewise less than the big city. For one who enjoys the personal acquaintances of his fellow men and the closer social life resulting therefrom and has this question to decide," I would recommend to him that he settle in the reasonably small community."

Justice Dailey also recommended that the young attorney make an early entry into what he would call political life. He did not want this to be taken as a recommendation that they seek public office, but did believe they should take an interest in local political affairs so that a square deal and a better chance would be given to all. He stated, "There never was a time when the public conscience was so quickened as today. There never was a time when the American people were looking so intently for young men of character, not alone in the public office but in the molding of healthy public sentiment for law enforcement, for high ideals of government."

Justice Dailey, in quoting from the writings of his former law partner, stated "Never fear to do what is right, but strive continually to build a character that has the courage and strength to do it. Knowledge of right, without the courage and strength to perform is of little practical value."

Justice Dailey's inspirational speech brought the conclave to a successful close.

PROF. YNTEMA EDITS FOREIGN LAW JOURNAL

Prof. Hessel E. Yntema (Livingston) has been chosen to serve as editor-in-chief of "The American Journal of Comparative Law," published by the American Association for the Comparative Study of Law, Inc.

Brother Yntema, a member of the University of Michigan Law School faculty, will undertake to issue the first number of the new "Journal" early this year. Thereafter, it will appear quarterly, including in each issue leading articles by recognized specialists.

The Association was organized last September at a meeting in Vanderbilt Hall, the new, impressive home of the New York University Law School, construction of which was made possible by funds raised in large part through the efforts of Supreme Treasurer Anthony P. Savarese. Some twenty representatives of law schools which have pioneered in comparative legal studies in the United States attended the organizational meeting. The primary purpose of the Association, incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, is to establish and maintain the new journal in order to promote the expanding interest in comparative law, private international law, and in the related developments in the domestic laws of foreign countries.

Articles appearing in the "Journal" will be directed towards four principal objectives. As stated in the February, 1952, issue of the "American Bar Association Journal," these are: (1) To survey trends in the laws of other countries that are of distinctive moment from a comparative or international point of view; (2) To provide expert analysis of the principal institutions of public and private law, the understanding of which is essential whether from the viewpoint of comparative legal education or in dealing with problems involving foreign law; (3) To draw attention to the legal aspects of problems that arise in connection with the foreign commerce of the United States and are of special national interest; and (4) To direct attention to developments that deserve attention from the viewpoint of comparative law in the related areas of legal education, legal theory, sociology of law, legal history, and other disciplines.

Suggestions and inquiries concerning the new "Journal" may be directed to Brother Yntema at the University of Michigan Law School, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Cordell Hull Chapter was honored in November, 1951, by an official visit by Frank E. Gray, Executive Secretary. Included in Brother Gray's two-day itinerary at the law school was a luncheon with the Dean, Brother Arthur A. Weeks, a visit to the moot court which was in session, a meeting with all the members in an afternoon business session, an official inspection of the Chapter and its records, and a reception and dinner which preceded the installation and initiation.

The reception and dinner was held from five to seven in the afternoon, and following this most enjoyable get together, the group adjourned to the fraternity rooms located in the Law School for the official meeting and installation of new officers by Brother Gray. Brother Gray's address to the group following the installation, was an inspiration to the membership and was a great send-off to the five new brethren who were initiated during the meeting. The Chapter was highly commended for its amazing growth, devotion to the ideals of PAD and for the cooperation the National has been receiving from the Chapter.

The retiring officers, who received praise from Brother Gray for their outstanding work and splendid cooperation, were Eugene V. Miller, Justice; John Moore, Vice Justice; Earl G. Murphy, Clerk; Loren Hullinger, Treasurer, and Sam Bass, Marshall. The new officers installed by Brother Gray were Loren Hullinger, Justice; Jack Q. Neal, Vice Justice; K. G. Fink, Clerk; Marvin Marshall, Treasurer, and Charles Walker, Marshall.

MARINES RECALL CHARLES STUHR

Charles M. Stuhr (M. Sullivan), San Francisco, Calif., attorney, has been recalled to active duty with the U. S. Marine Corps.

Under orders for a tour of duty in excess of thirty days, Brother Stuhr has reported to the Quantico, Va., Marine Base. Brother Stuhr is a partner in the law firm of Donovan and Stuhr. The firm will continue during his absence. Two other members of the firm also are Alumni of M. Sullivan Chapter at the University of San Francisco. They are Laurence M. Donovan, partner in the firm, and Patrick E. Martin, an associate in the firm.

During the new "Journal" may be directed to Brother Yntema at the University of Michigan Law School, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

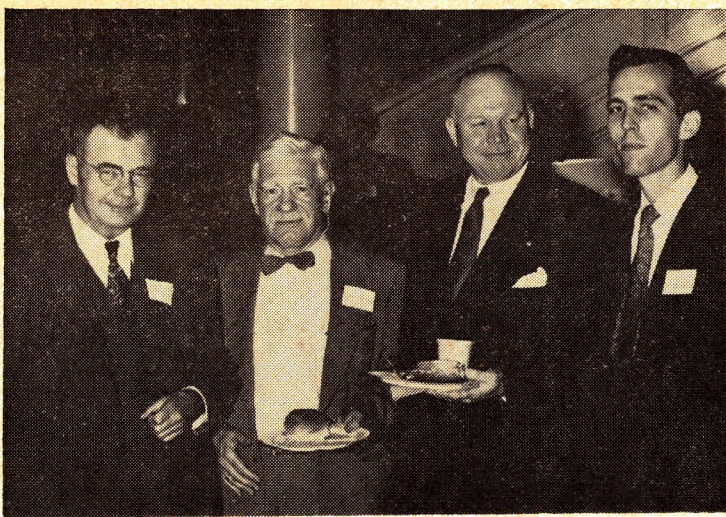

Hammill Chapter Presents Portrait to Indiana University

Members and guests of Hammill Chapter, located at the Indianapolis Division of the Indiana University Law School struggled through a 6-inch snowfall in sub-zero temperature to honor Dean Henry B. Witham of that school. Dean Witham was being honored by the presentation of a life size oil portrait of him to the law school faculty by Hamill Chapter of PAD. The ceremonies were held in the students' lounge of the law school on Sunday afternoon, December 16, 1951.

Despite one of the worst early winter blizzards in Hoosier History over fifty guests were in attendance including faculty members and wives. Honored guests included Federal District Judge William E. Steckler and Indiana Supreme Court Judge, Frank E. Gilkison. Telegrams and phone calls were received from many of the guests who were not yet through the storm expressing regrets and extending congratulations to Dean Witham for his many contributions to the field of legal education.

William F. LeMond, Justice of Hammill Chapter, served as master of ceremonies in the formal presentation. He introduced Judge Ralph Hamill, for whom the chapter is named, to make the presentation. Judge Hamill delivered a most impressive speech, making particular mention of the fact that Dean Witham, though not a member of PAD had been most cooperative with the chapter since the date of its founding.

The portrait was accepted on behalf of the faculty by Professor Ben S. Small who will serve as acting Dean while Dean Witham is on a leave of absence. The portrait of the Dean will be hung in the school hall along side the portraits of the past Deans of Indiana University Law School of Indianapolis.

Following the ceremony, refreshments were served in the lounge, which was elaborately furnished with Christmas decorations and a sculptured ice punch bowl.

Alumni Dues

Billings for current dues, November, 1951 to November, 1952, have been sent to all alumni. Have you paid your dues of $2.50? If not, send to Executive Office, 202 South Hamilton Drive, Beverly Hills, California.

TULANE MEMBER HEADS LAW REVIEW

Leslie L. Inman, a law senior at Tulane College of Law and a member of Martin Chapter has been named Editor of the Tulane Law Review. He will serve as Editor until his graduation in June, 1952.

He attended the University of Tennessee and received his Bachelor's Degree from Tulane in 1950. He served in World War II in the Navy, and upon his release resumed his education at Tulane University law school.

Law Review Faculty Advisor, Professor Eugene Nabrous, of Tulane, said that Editorship of the Civil and Comparative Law Publication was the highest honor bestowed on Legal Students at the University.

Fuller Chapter On Top at Northwestern

As the fall semester closes in 1951, Fuller Chapter at Northwestern University is pleased to report that it has completed a highly successful fall term.

A striking example of the vigorous and full social schedule was illustrated this year by the fall rushing program. The rushing program, headed by Brothers George Quentin Vogel as chairman, and Leonard F. McGee, Jr., as co-chairman, and composed of a majority of the active members, planned a series of three parties.

The first rushing party was a smoker held in the Junior Bar Association lounge in Abbott Hall on Lakeshore Drive. Several PAD alumni attended the party, including Attorneys Arthur H. Barton, of the class of 1950, at present practicing in Chicago as a partner in a Loop law firm; Robert Chodera, also of the class of 1950, practicing patent law; and David Vogel, patent lawyer and visiting from Blackstone Chapter. Brother Roland F. Tipword, class of 1951, who at present is clerking for Justice John Hersey in the Illinois Supreme Court, sent telegram greetings.

South Haven Signer

The Chapter was honored at this party to have with it Attorney Sidney B. Meyer, long-time and prominent Chicago lawyer and signer in 1902 of the original PAD "South Haven" articles. Brother Meyer gave a short welcome to the freshmen guests emphasizing the time-honored and respected traditions of the fraternity since its inception. At the time when Brother Meyer began his professional career he was voted "Mr. Northwestern, All-American Man of the Year."

So successful was the first of these parties that even a greater number of freshmen attended the second smoker held at a popular near-Northside inn, Hoffman's Inn Rathskellar, only a few blocks from the campus. The rushing parties ended with a luncheon, the principal speaker at which was Judge Leonard F. Ried of the Cook County Circuit Court.

47 Pledged

At the end of the rushing period, at formal meeting, Fuller Chapter pledged 47 of the freshman class, which number represents the largest group of freshmen pledged to any one fraternity this year and which number brings the total members of Fuller Chapter to upwards of 85 members.

Having maintained a highly respected tradition through the years for its successful social calendar, Fuller Chapter held its semi-annual fall formal preceding Christmas at the Tam O'Shanter Country Club in the club's spacious Red Room. Highlighting the evening, pledge brothers attending presented a parody of their first day in law school, professionally directed by pledge Brother Nat P. Ozman and his wife, Betty. Changing from dinner jackets into colorful costumes for the skit, the pledge class ended the entertainment with a high-stepping dance. Solo dancer, disguised as "Freddy the Cop" was pledge Brother Edward C. Macer, recently elected member of the State Legislature of Indiana.

Christmas Party

Just before Christmas the Chapter played host to the members of the Law School Women Staff at a cocktail party held in the Junior Bar Association lounge in Abbott Hall. Overlooking Lake Michigan from the tenth floor of the dormitory, the lounge was festive with evergreen boughs and candlelight. Miss Cecile Deppe, secretary of the School of Law, entertained with Christmas carols at the piano. Busily providing the members and their guests with Christmas cheer were the chapter's new social chairman, Brother Gerald Broderick, LA BRUM HEADS PHILADELPHIA C. OF C.

J. Harry LaBrum (Taft Chapter) a past Supreme Justice of Phi Alpha-Delta, was elected President of the Chamber of Commerce of greater Philadelphia on February 11th.

Brother LaBrum is a native Philadelphian and served as the general counsel of the Chamber of Commerce since 1949. He was graduated from Georgetown University Law School in 1925 and did graduate work at Cambridge University, England. He was a Colonel in the Army Signal Corps during World War II.

He has served as Supreme Justice of the fraternity longer than any other member. He was elected in 1938 which was prior to World War II. Travel restrictions prevented the fraternity from having a convention again until 1946 at which Convention in Kansas City he was elected Chairman of the Board of Tribunes. He was re-elected to the Board of Tribunes at the 1948 Convention held in Los Angeles.

SEATTLE ALUMNI

The Seattle Alumni Chapter is now holding a series of luncheons, the first of which was held in December, 1951. The luncheons are scheduled for each month. They are being held under the leadership of District Justice George T. Nickell and Justice of the Alumni Chapter, Jay Orrin Bining.

These luncheons which are being well attended by the Alumni in the Seattle, Washington, area have also proved to be a boon to the actives of Dunbar Chapter who are attending the University of Washington.

and pledge Brother Anton P. Spaeth.

Supplementing the regular academic curriculum throughout the semester, the Chapter held monthly luncheons at which times the various members of the faculty and prominent Chicago practicing attorneys were invited as guests and speakers.

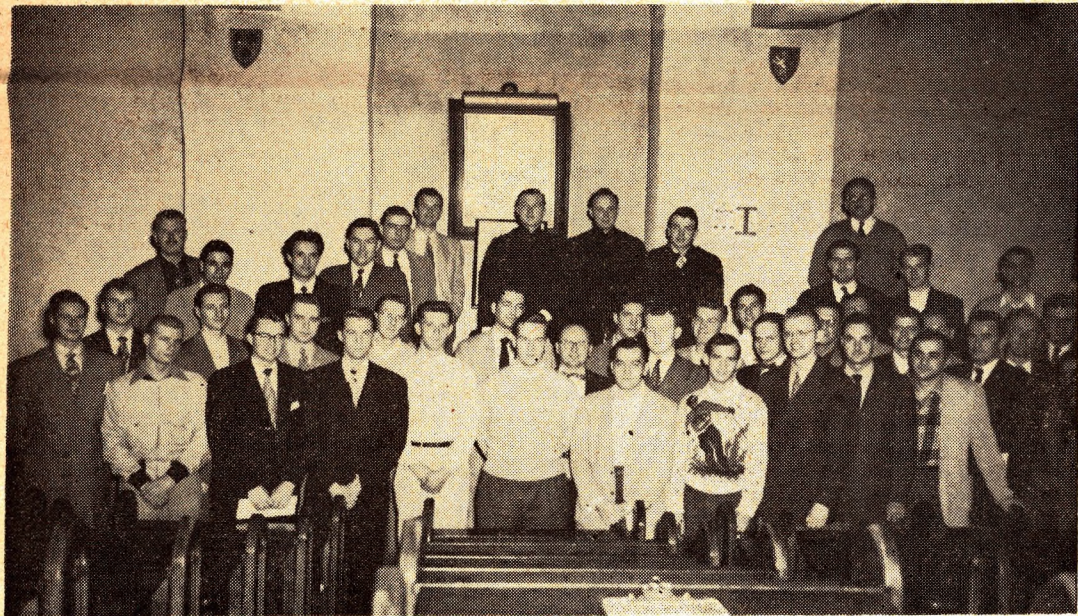

Not content to limit its activities to extra-curricular functions, the Chapter also played a major part in the agenda of the Junior Bar Association. Pledge Brother Warren W. Willard, former Navy Commander, was elected as Treasurer. Members of the Junior Bar Association's Board of Governors of the school were elected: Brothers Leonard F. McGee, Jr., Harry Knudsen, and Ralph McGee.

Junior Bar Association committee chairmen elected were Brothers Robert Sussler, James O. Wood, David K. Guest, Leonard F. McGee, Jr. Competing on the Illinois Law Review this term Brothers Maurice W. Coburn and Edward J. Tyle. Brother Edward L. Lembitz was elected as Associate Editor of the Review, and Vice-Justice Kenneth L. Strong holds office as Member of the Board of Review. Brother Harry Knudsen edits the school's alumni magazine.

Officers Elected

Brother George Quentin Vogel succeeded Brother Robert K. Hillman as Justice, and Brother William R. Jacobs, Jr., succeeded Brother Donald F. Byrne as Treasurer. Both new officers were elected at open meeting by unanimous ballot and were installed at formal ceremony by Brother Victor J. Gotham, senior law student who was elected District Vice-Justice at the Sixth District Conclave held last spring. Justice Vogel served as rushing chairman for the fall semester and has served for two years as social chairman. Brother Jacobs assisted Brother William J. Isaacson in making the fall luncheon arrangements.

JUSTICE HUDGINS INITIATED

Rasco Chapter

Rasco Chapter reports a very active program and probably the most important of which is the publication of a directory of the Miami alumni giving the phone and residence address of all the members in the greater Miami area.

The Chapter also sent out a post card to all of the alumni requesting the alumni to advise the chapter if there was an opening in the firm for a law clerk. The chapter agreed to send senior students to this law firm to be interviewed. The clerking program was so successful that twelve of the members were placed with brother PAD alumni in downtown Miami.

Under the sponsorship of Justice George B. Pomeroy of the Chapter, invitations were extended to the alumni to be present at chapter business meetings and to discuss some topic of the law. Howard Curry addressed the chapter on insurance and taxes. His article was mimeographed and copies of this were sent to all alumni members. In addition to the talk by Brother Curry, Judge Grady Crawford and Attorney William Fabing addressed the chapter. Judge Crawford talked on pre-trial conferences and Attorney Fabing talked on the examination of abstracts. The Rasco Chapter Newsletter was published on October 31, 1951 and was distributed to active and alumni members. This seven page report covered the activities of the active chapters and gave pertinent news of the happenings of alumni throughout the state.

Rasco Chapter at the University is one of the most active chapters of Phi Alpha Delta. It has undertaken some tremendous projects and carried all of them off well. One of its most important projects, most graciously received by the Law School, was its visual aid in education project. A projector and slides were donated to the Law School by the Chapter. The chapter has raised more than $2,000 of its goal of $10,000 for an endowment fund, which fund will be used to furnish a PAD room in the new law school.

The chapter has been most conscientious in its relationship with its alumni and it has secured the cooperation of the alumni in its many projects. Its clerking project and the luncheon project have resulted in the actives becoming acquainted with practicing attorneys, and securing many opportunities which would not be present except through an active and well integrated chapter.

College Enrollment Off
New Survey Reveals

The enrollment of full time college students has dropped 11.4% from 1950, President Raymond Walters of the University of Cincinnati reveals.

In his annual survey, covering attendance in 818 four-year institutions, Mr. Walters said 1,275,404 full time students and 480,133 part time students were now attending colleges and universities.

There are 21.6% fewer first year men students and 10.3% fewer first year women attending teachers colleges this fall.

More than 300,000 veterans are still studying under the G. I. Bill of Rights. Many paid their own undergraduate expenses and are now applying their eligibility toward higher costs of professional and graduate courses.

A survey of the Deans of various Law Schools throughout the country states that the same percentage is applying in drop of enrollment in the law schools, their estimate running from 10% to 15%.

Army Commissions
Offered Attorneys

The Department of the Army has inaugurated a program to commission 200 officers in the Judge Advocate General Corps Reserve.

Successful applicants will be commissioned as First Lieutenants and called to active duty for three years. This active duty may be extended beyond the three year period at the individual officer's request. Attorneys who are presently Reserve officers may apply for active duty with the JAGC if they will volunteer for three years' duty.

The starting rank of First Lieutenant gives the new military attorney a position equivalent to three years' credit on the promotion list. Base pay for a First Lieutenant without previous military service is $249.38 per month. In addition, he is entitled to a monthly subsistence allowance of $42. Where quarters are not furnished by the Army, there is an additional allowance of $67.50 for an officer without dependents and $82.50 for an officer with dependents.

Applicants must be attorneys admitted to practice before the highest court of a state or a Federal court, graduates of an American Bar Association accredited law school, and citizens of the United States less than 32 years of age. Interested attorneys should apply to the nearest Military Reserve District or write for further information to the Army Staff Judge Advocate, Headquarters Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, California.

GEORGE KENNEY
BOWDEN MOURNED

George Kenney Bowden, a member of Marshall Chapter (1920) and of the Chicago Bar Association (January, 1923), died suddenly in Chicago, Illinois, on July 13, 1951.

He attended the University of Minnesota, from which he received the degree of A.B. cum laude in 1917, and also the Ho-dale Certificate for excellency in scholarship. He studied law at the University of Chicago Law School and was graduated from that institution in 1921 with the degree of J.D. cum laude. At this university he was elected to the order of the Coif and was the winner of the Wig and Robe Prize given to the student receiving the highest grade in his class. He received the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Laws from Lawrence College, Appleton, Wisconsin, November 4, 1943.

Bro. Bowden was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1921 and practiced law, with offices in Chicago, Illinois, and Washington, D.C. from 1921 to his death, except while engaged in government service.

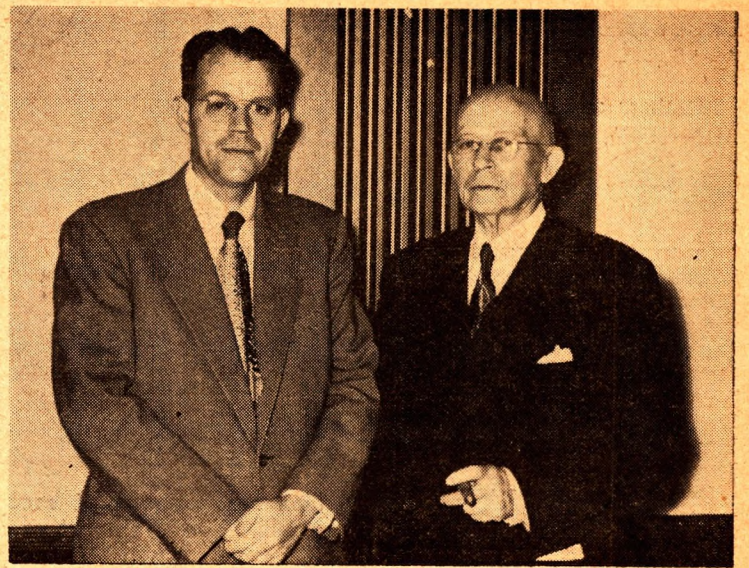

In addition to membership in the Chicago Bar Association, Bowden was a member of the Washington, D.C., Illinois and American Bar Associations. He was active on committees of the various associations, and this service included membership on five different committees of the Chicago Bar Association. He was also a member of The Law Club of Chicago, the University Clubs of Washington, D.C., New York and Chicago, The Attic and The Chicago Club.

In August, 1917 Bowden was commissioned a Second Lieutenant of the Infantry in the Regular Army of the United States. He served as an infantry officer during World War I, resigning his commission in September, 1919. From 1923 to 1924 he served as Special Attorney in the Office of the Solicitor of Internal Revenue. He tried for the Solicitor some of the more important cases in which the Solicitor represented the government. In 1925 and 1926 he served as Chief Counsel for the Senate Committee on Public Lands and Surveys, investigating the administration of land laws. From 1942 to 1944 he served as Assistant to the Coordinator of Information and the Director of the Office of Strategic Services. He organized and administered several of the branches of the Office of Strategic Services. In 1944 he was appointed consultant to the Director of Foreign Economic Administration and served as adviser to the United States Delegate to the Council of UNRAA at Montreal. In 1944 he was appointed a member of the Advisory Committee to the Secretary of the Treasury and authorized to report on the revision of estate and gift taxes and assisted in the preparation of a comprehensive report on the income, gift and estate taxes.

In September, 1941 he was appointed a member of the National Panel of Arbitrators of the American Arbitration Association. He served as arbiter in the first wage arbitration conducted under the auspices of the American Arbitration Association and has served as arbiter in numerous other labor controversies.

He was a student of literature and was active from 1923 to his death in the Chicago Literary Club. He was a world traveler and a student of international affairs. He left surviving him, his wife, Leora Lewis Bowden, and his son, John Wilder Bowden, also two sisters, Mrs. Margaret McGill of Cassadaga, Florida, and Mrs. Frances Solie of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Green Chapter Holds Initiation and Banquet

PAD Active in
Moot Court

At Cornell Law School, Wilson Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, has been very active in the moot court program. On November 12, 1951, the moot court board held its annual banquet, which was graced by the presence of the Honorable Charles Desmond, Judge of the New York Court of Appeals. Judge Desmond, delivering the principal speech of the evening praised Cornell's Moot Court program as being the peer of any active program in the country and compared favorably the arguments heard on that day's finals to those made before the New York Court of Appeals. The Moot Court Board is headed by Brother John Sheridan.

At the banquet the Phi Alpha Delta cups for excellence in competition were presented to the winners by Justice Joseph Dwyer of Wilson Chapter. This is the first year in which Phi Alpha Delta has sponsored the presentation of cups to the winners in each class. Of the seven winners, who were presented cups, three of them were members of Phi Alpha Delta. Winners of the third year competition traveled to Albany on November 30 and won the New York upstate competition there. They were also to represent upstate New York in the Moot Court Competition which was held in New York City in December. This competition is to be nation wide.

Concert Program

Besides being extremely active in the Moot Court Program, Wilson Chapter also conducts an annual Law School Concert. The second annual concert was presented on Sunday, December 2, 1951. This idea was originated by Brother Joseph Spector. It has in its two years of existence gained a considerable reputation as one of the outstanding social events of the law school. Piano and voice offerings were presented and Brother William Hibberd, at the piano, was one of the principal artists. This unusual innovation has been enthusiastically received by the law students and faculty and is certain to become an annual institution at the Cornell Law School.

Wilson Chapter is also holding bi-monthly luncheon programs for the fraternity members. One of the outstanding luncheons of the term was held November 20, 1951, when Professor Ernest Warren of the law school gave an extremely illuminating and informative talk on the ever important subject of placement technique. Wilson Chapter has recently created a placement service working in conjunction with the Cornell Law School Placement. The Chapter's placement service is under the direction of Brother G. Steadman Reed.

Friday, October 12, 1951, Green Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta at the University of Kansas held the traditional initiation ceremonies for nine initiates. John E. Lancelot, Harold Riggs, Marion Roesler, Richard W. Stavelly, Murvyl Sullinger, Alex Wilson, second year students, and Thomas Boone, Richard L. Moore and Clifford Malone, third year men, were introduced to the solemn mysteries of the fraternity and took upon themselves the formal obligations of membership in Phi Alpha Delta.

The ritual was held at four o'clock in the afternoon at the Douglas County Courtroom, and was well attended by alumni, brothers from Benson Chapter at Washburn University and Thomas Hart Benton Chapter at the University of Kansas City. District Justice Robert Jackson, of the seventh district, from Des Moines, Iowa welcomed the new members into the fraternity on behalf of the national organization.

Banquet Held

In the evening, 100 persons, among whom were initiates, actives, pledges, alumni, visiting brothers, faculty members, including advisers to Green Chapter, Dr. Robert McNair Davis and Professor William R. Scott, wives and guests, attended a well-appointed banquet laid in the Kansas Room of the Memorial Union Building on campus. Justice Paul A. Wolf served as toastmaster on this important occasion.

Following the introduction of guests, District Justice Robert Jackson made a brief report on fraternity affairs, including the district conclave to be held at the University of Missouri, the value of membership in Phi Alpha Delta, and formally recognized the new members.

Judge Allen Speaker

The main address of the evening was delivered by the Honorable Harry K. Allen, former Associate Justice of the Kansas Supreme Court, ex-Dean of the Washburn School of Law, and distinguished member of Phi Alpha Delta. The theme of his speech was advice to the tyro in which he emphasized the advantages of practicing law in a small town and stressing the necessity of a familiarity with court procedure and a solid background in the substantive law.

ROBERT H. DOWNEY DIES

Robert H. Downey, initiated into Ryan Chapter of the University of Wisconsin in 1926, passed away on March 13, 1951, according to information received from his wife. Brother Downey, at the time of his death, was practicing law in Chicago, Illinois.

Miss North Carolina "Murdered"

Judge Savarese
Attends N. C. Meeting

Ruffin Chapter at the University of North Carolina, staged a mock court trial on December 8, 1951 in the Superior Court Room in Durham, North Carolina. The mock trial is conducted every year by Ruffin Chapter.

The details of the "murder incident" were as follows: On the evening of Wednesday, November 28, 1951, a mock murder was staged at the Saddle Club, a local night club in Durham. The participants in the incident were Miss Lou Long Ogburn, "Miss North Carolina of 1951," Tommy Medlin and Skeet Hesmer, both football players for the University of North Carolina, George Grune and Carl James, football players from Duke University. Miss North Carolina was sitting at a table with the football players from the University of North Carolina. A photographer had taken her picture and was about to take another when George Grune of Duke walked over to their table and put his arm around Miss North Carolina, saying: "Why don't you take pictures with players from the big team?"

Tommy Medlin of the University of North Carolina, who was Miss North Carolina's escort, jumped up and said to Grune, "I told you in the game last Saturday that I would kill you if you ever crossed my path again."

As Medlin said this he pulled a knife out of his pocket and seemed to go for Grune. Grune also pulled a knife out of his pocket and lunged at Medlin, missing him and mortally wounding Miss North Carolina. Local police officers rushed to the night club and placed Grune under arrest.

Miss North Carolina was taken away in an ambulance and later died in the hospital. Grune was booked for murder. Subsequently, the grand jury returned a true bill.

Patrons Faint

These were the incidents leading up to the trial and the incident as staged in the night club was so realistic that several of the patrons who happened to be at the night club and were unaware of what was going on, became quite concerned. In fact several of the young ladies in the night club also fainted and real need for the ambulance and attendants occurred.

On the day of the trial Timberlake Chapter at Wake Forest College joined with Ruffin Chapter in staging the affair. Ruffin Chapter members acted as counsel in the trial and Timberlake Chapter arranged for the luncheon that was held during the noon recess. Invitations were sent to the first year class of Duke University by the Ruffin and Timberlake Chapters to attend the trial and luncheon to be held on December 8, 1951.

The jury was selected from a panel consisting of the entire first year law class of the Duke Law School. Following actual court room procedure, a jury was impanelled and thereupon Court was adjourned for lunch by presiding judge, Marshall T. Spears, a former Superior Court Judge, and now prominent Durham Attorney.

Savarese Addresses Luncheon

The lunch was held at Harvey's Cafeteria in Durham. Jim Brooks of Timberlake Chapter acted as Master of Ceremonies. He introduced Executive Secretary, Frank E. Gray, who in turn introduced the principal speaker at the luncheon, the Honorable Anthony P. Savarese, Surrogate of Queens County, New York, and Supreme Treasurer of the fraternity.

Beauty Queen 'Slain' In Setup for Mock Trial

Students from three colleges set the stage for a mock court trial with a faked slaying of Miss North Carolina of 1951. At top left in dark sweater, George Grune of Duke University is being pulled away after make believe stabbing of LuLong Ogburn of Salem College. Standing with arm about her shoulder is Tommy Medlin of the University of North Carolina. LuLong was "stabbed" when she tried to stop a knife battle between the two men. At top right LuLong is shown on a stretcher outside the night-spot where the make-believe tragedy occurred. Medlin is trying to console her, not knowing she is "dead." At bottom Grune is shown handcuffed. Durham Police Patrolman is holding his wrists and the knife he took from Grune. Officer Jim Gantt looks on.

from Duke University, impressed upon them the duties they would soon undertake as members of the legal profession, and his inspiring talk on the lawyer as an agent of the Court was enthusiastically received by 813 people in attendance. Judge Savarese also discussed briefly the place of the law fraternity in the law school curriculum.

Following the luncheon, the court was resumed and the trial got under way. The trial was very realistic and the brothers of Ruffin Chapter had done a terrific amount of work both in planning the trial and in finding the law. It was six p.m. before counsel for the state and defendant finished their closing argument. As Judge Spears felt he would need at least thirty minutes to prepare a charge to the jury, that would do justice to the presentation of the case by counsel, he waived this charge. The jury being unable to agree, Judge Spears declared a mistrial and discharged the jury.

The inter-chapter function was planned basically to help Rutledge Chapter of Duke in its rushing program. The Rutledge Chapter had suffered a loss in membership and was in need of the combined help of the other two chapters in North Carolina. In true fraternal spirit Ruffin and Timberlake Chapters joined together to hold this function. James Blount, Justice of Ruffin Chapter; Donald Brock, Justice of

Wage and Hour Book Written By PAD

The Committee on Continuing Legal Education of the American Law Institute recently published a study of "The Federal Wage and Hour Law" by Charles H. Livengood, Jr. (Rutledge).

This book deals with what has been described as the most litigated statute enacted in recent years—the Fair Labor Standards Act. The problems which it discusses are likely to be encountered by any attorney engaged in general practice, and it is for him that the book primarily is designed. However, as the first book of its kind—a one-volume treatment, compact but comprehensive, of both basic principles and the more important technical rules in this area of law—it should be useful as a working manual for the labor specialist as well.

Here are readily accessible, easily understandable answers to the questions which most frequently arise under the Federal law relating to wages, hours and child labor. In this respect, the book adopts the approach of providing concise, practical discussions of currently significant fields of practice which has produced enthusiastic acceptance of other volumes in the series being published by the A.L.I. in collaboration with the American Bar Association.

In keeping with the author's purpose of providing a handy tool for the practitioner, the book is not cluttered by any attempt at encyclopedic documentation, but cites a carefully screened selection of the more important decisions, regulations and administrative interpretations. Further research is facilitated by extensive cross-references to the legislative history of the Act, useful articles in the professional journals, and collections of cases in the standard labor law services and other reference sources.

While the entire book devotes special attention to questions of practice and procedure, the final chapter gives further consideration to some recurrent questions on this aspect of the law. Its notes on such matters as pleading and proof, motion practice and the allowance of attorneys' fees will indicate how a number of costly mistakes can be avoided. This "how-to-do-it" approach is what makes the book a particularly desirable addition to the general practitioner's library.

CHICAGO ALUMNI HEARS HOOVER REPORT

On February 20, 1952 at Charter Hall of the Chicago Bar Association, Chicago Alumni Chapter heard an interesting presentation by D. C. Wright on the Hoover Commission Report. Mr. Wright supplemented his speech with a colored film. This was a non-partisan, non-political meeting and revealed startling facts to the Alumni in attendance.

A notice to members of the Chicago Alumni Chapter called attention to its members that the national Convention would be held in Chicago on August 28, 29 and 30th. Also enclosed in the notice regarding the Hoover Commission Report meeting was the 1952 program of the Chicago Alumni Chapter. The program showed diversified meetings throughout the year. The Chicago Alumni Chapter holds monthly meetings.

Brother Prof. Livengood is a member of the New York and North Carolina Bars. After graduating from the Harvard Law School, he engaged in active practice in both states. He left practice in 1947 to join the Law Faculty at Duke University, where he is now Professor of Labor Law and also of Criminal Law.

LOST BROTHERS

We are listing members of the fraternity by Chapters, whose addresses or whereabouts are unknown to the Executive Office. It would be appreciated if you would check this list and if you know how we can contact any of the lost brothers, give us this information on the form provided.
