Placement Program Gets Under Way

(The 1958 Convention established a National Placement Director position to coordinate placement activities for the fraternity. Matthew S. "Sandy" Rae has been named Placement Director, and his first memorandum on Placement follows.)

STATEMENT OF POLICY

Phi Alpha Delta has long recognized that the most important Fraternity activities are those designed to aid its student members in becoming useful, respected members of the legal profession. The first, and vital, step in this process is assisting the law school graduate in finding employment suitable to his abilities and desires.

The organized bar, particularly with the tremendous increases in bar admissions since World War II, has come to recognize the necessity for placement assistance as a service to the profession. Individual attorneys and firms are no longer capable of, nor willing to, interview the greatly increased number of graduates in the search for the individual who meets their own particular rigid qualifications.

Preliminary applicant screening in some form, has become a necessity under present conditions for the Bar. Efforts along this line are now being conducted, with varying degrees of success, by local bar associations, law schools, law book publishers and Phi Alpha Delta.

If Phi Alpha Delta is to continue to render maximum service to its members, Active and Alumni, it must increase its placement activities. For this purpose, the 1958 National Convention ordered the appointment of a National Placement Director.

OBJECTIVES

1. To create effective local PAD Placement service.
 - a. To assist PAD graduates locating suitable employment opportunities.
 - b. To assist PAD attorneys in locating qualified associates through preliminary screening techniques.
2. To educate PAD Alumni to give preference to PAD applicants, all other factors being equal.

PROCEDURES

Experience has taught that placement on a national level will not work. Placement activities can achieve success only in the local community. The National Placement Director cannot effect placement on an individual basis. He can only stimulate, advise, and co-ordinate local activities.

The need for placement activities exists amongst PAD attorneys as well as amongst students, a vital factor frequently overlooked. It is primarily the responsibility of local alumni chapters to fill this need.

Here is the attorneys' problem and the ideal solution:

Problem: A PAD attorney, or firm with one or more PAD members needs a young attorney qualified to perform satisfactorily in the type of practice being conducted. The normal present choice: publicize the opening and interview several score applicants (at an average 30 minutes per interview); or keep the opening secret and turn to existing placement services, if any, or faculty contacts and trust to luck in having a qualified few applicants recommended.

Solution: Present the desired list of qualifications to the local PAD Placement Service, let it perform the preliminary screening through personal interviews and records, and present the names and records only of qualified applicants, choose from its records the applicants desired for a personal interview.

And here is the students' problem and the ideal solution:

Problem: A PAD graduate, with individual desires and qualifications, seeks a suitable association in practice. Normally, from lack of experience, training, or professional contacts, he is not certain exactly what he desires and needs personal counselling. The normal present choice: try to obtain interviews with as many different types of law firms as possible and hope to reach a sound decision; or take the first reasonable offer which is made and hope that the position turns out to be suitable.

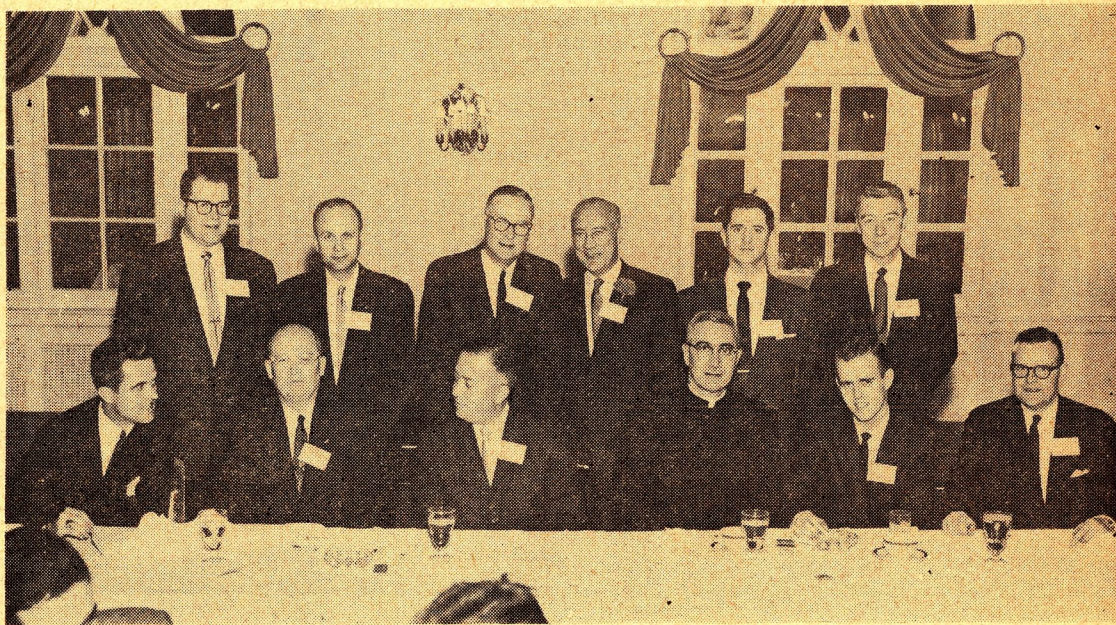

Solution: Present qualifications to the local PAD Placement Service early in law school career, and revise them prior to graduation, seek personal counselling advice from experienced PAD Alumni, cooperating with the Placement Service, determine the type of practice desired and ask assistance in locating suitable openings.

ORGANIZATION

1. An Alumni Placement Committee, under the direction of a chairman, for each alumni chapter.
 - a. A placement record center.
 - b. One or more placement counsellors.
 - c. Education of, and liaison with, PAD attorneys, to seek out all available openings and secure preference for PAD applicants.
 - d. Education of, and liaison with, the student chapters, to seek out all available applicants and assist them in choosing a type of practice.
2. A Student Placement Committee, under the direction of a chairman, for each active chapter.
 - a. Maintain liaison with the Alumni Placement Committee.
3. District Justice.
 - a. Stimulate, coordinate and supervise local placement activities to guarantee effective functioning.
 - b. Include placement advice by experienced alumni in every conclave program.
4. National Placement Director.
 - a. Stimulate, coordinate and supervise local placement activities.
 - b. Disseminate forms and information on procedures and opportunities.
 - c. Receive, evaluate and publicize reports and source materials.

CONCLUSION

Service to its members and to the profession is the sole reason for the existence of Phi Alpha Delta. Placement is the biggest single unsolved problem facing

John L. Sullivan Chapter Hosts District VII Conclave

Champ Clark Chapter Re-Activated

Friday evening, February 27, was a wonderful evening in St. Louis, Mo. The warm sun had shone the better part of the day over that "Gateway to the West." By plane, train and car came young law students to take part in what proved to be the one of the most successful District Conclaves thus far presented by District VII. Host for the affair was John L. Sullivan Chapter at St. Louis University.

Beginning with an informal cocktail hour at the Hotel Coronado, a score of delegates became acquainted with one another in the Host Chapter's suite. After chatting with the guests of honor, Supreme Justice John L. Griffith and Supreme Vice Justice Tony Di Grazia, the delegates, under the capable guidance of Brother James L. Sullivan, Greater St. Louis Alumni Justice and next Representative from the eighth Congressional District of Missouri, toured the many notable St. Louis night spots. However, Brother Sullivan experienced some difficulty with his powder blue Oldsmobile convertible—a slight case of a moist battery. But, Brother Larry Buccero of Benton Chapter (University of Kansas City) and his jet black Volkswagen (with sky-roof) twice proved to be prepared for the occasion. At any rate, none of the delegates were seen walking the Streets.

After a good night's rest, the delegates began the Conclave with breakfast on Saturday morning, February 28, following which the Conclave business meeting began, being presided over by District Alumni Justice H. Jay Gunnels, Jr. of Kansas City, Mo. At this session the general business of the District was attended to. Brother Griffith and Brother Di Grazia proved to be helpful advisers to the delegates assembled. Brother James N. Nero, first delegate from Green Chapter, Kansas University was appointed acting Clerk in the absence of Wendell Uhland of Benson Chapter, Washburn University, Topeka, Kansas. It was at this session that the Student offices were enlarged from three to five.

Brother Bill Eisler, District Treasurer and of Benton Chapter, the University of Kansas City, requested the Supreme Justice send a telegram to the University of Kansas City School of Law which was then holding its Sixty-Second annual Law Day and Washington Day exercises. Brother Griffith graciously fulfilled the request and suggested that each chapter inform him before such functions so that he can send a note of congratulations to the various schools on behalf of the Fraternity.

The District adopted a resolution wishing past Supreme Justice John Nangle a quick and speedy recovery. His absence was the only disappointment during this fine Conclave; and it is the hope of every delegate that Brother Nangle is now fully recovered and back to his very active practice.

Message From The Supreme Justice

My attendance at the various Conclaves brings out the problem of keeping the chapters properly advised of the program of the National Fraternity. Many chapters are unaware of the services and opportunities afforded through the National office.

The National Fraternity must depend upon the officers of the local chapters to keep the undergraduate members informed. I am therefore requesting each Chapter Justice, as the chief executive officer of his chapter, to see that all communications from the executive office and from the office of the District Justice are read at the next chapter meeting. I also request that any inquiry or questionnaire from the executive office receive prompt attention.

Is your chapter aware of the fine and consistent work being done by Matthew S. Rae, Esq., National Placement Director?

The 1958 National Convention provided for the appointment of a National Placement Director, the objectives being:

1. To create effective local PAD placement service.

a. To assist PAD graduates in locating suitable employment opportunities.

b. To assist PAD attorneys in locating qualified associates through preliminary screening techniques.

2. To educate PAD Alumni to give preference to PAD applicants, all other factors being equal.

On page one of this issue appears Brother Rae's initial bulletin on this important work. It will be worth your while to read it.

Any suggestions or inquiries concerning the National Placement Program should be directed to:

The members of the Supreme Executive Board are working on the following assignments:

Supreme Vice Justice Anthony A. DiGrazia—Endowment Fund.
Second Supreme Vice Justice Elden S. Magaw—Faculty-Student Relationships.

Supreme Treasurer Robert E. Redding—Professional Activities and Budget.

Supreme Secretary Frank E. Gray—The advisability of redistricting.

Supreme Marshall T. Julian Skinner, Jr.—Alumni activities.

Supreme Historian Dee Brown Walker—Rushing.

The Supreme Executive Board is meeting at Denver, Colorado, June 21 to June 27. If you or your chapter have suggestions for consideration by the Board, please send them to our executive office or to the member of the Supreme Executive Board having jurisdiction of the matter.

We expect to have the Endowment Fund program for student loans, fellowships, and scholarships well under way by this next fall.

If you are in Denver this summer, come by to see us. The latchstring is always on the outside of the door for any PAD active or alumnus.

All members of PAD extend their sincere sympathy to Brother Stephen L. R. McNichols, Governor of Colorado, for the loss of his father, William H. McNichols, who was the courteous, friendly, and able City Auditor of Denver for many years.

Cordially and fraternally,
John L. Griffith
Supreme Justice.

PAD Named One of Ten Outstanding Men

Brother Loren Edward Schnack, County and Probate Judge of Adams County, Illinois, has been named one of America's Ten Outstanding Young Men of 1958 by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

All ten men, below the age of 36, will be presented the silver "Jayson" symbolic of their selection by the U. S. Jaycee President at Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, January 17.

Judge Schnack, at age 28, was elected County Judge of Adams County. After assuming office in his home town of Quincy, he began an exhaustive study of past Juvenile Court records.

Observing that the great majority of juvenile offenders had backgrounds or resided in certain socially disorganized, low-income areas, he set about spending his off-hours and evenings into early mornings in these high delinquency neighborhoods in an effort to become better acquainted with the young people in their own environment and to understand the environment itself.

In spite of suspicion and hostility at first, his sincere interest and perseverance won the respect and friendship of the young people, their parents and adult neighbors.

In these areas he used his influence to encourage the residents to work together to prevent delinquency in the neighborhood and rehabilitate offenders. He has inspired them to develop positive programs in this direction.

Residents of these "trouble prone" areas gained a feeling of freedom in conferring with Judge Schnack. He developed an easy give-and-take relationship between them and him, and a full confidence on their part in his genuine interest in justice. He has demonstrated his sincere interest in the delinquent and his plight, and dealt with each youngster on the basis of his personal needs and the best interests of society.

In addition to his outstanding work with youth, he was instrumental in the formation of a Mental Health Society, resulting in the opening of a mental health clinic in Quincy.

In 1957, the Committees of Citizens he helped form in the high delinquency areas of Quincy elected him chairman of their Federation of Neighborhood Committees.

Judge Schnack has spoken on the work being done with the youth in Quincy before the 25th Annual Governors' Conference on Youth and Community Service, held in Chicago, and at the State Convention of Illinois Public Aid Commission.

The 32-year-old Judge is a member of Halleck Chapter at Valparaiso University, where he holds his LL.B. He served with the Counter-Intelligence Corps in Tokyo, Japan, before entering law school.

The Editors Corner...

Many active chapters are missing a good thing by not making use of the members' wives... they can be a tremendous boon to every active chapter... this is certainly demonstrated by an experience which recently took place at Knox Chapter at the University of Arizona. For the past several years Knox Chapter has been quite low in numbers and a few weeks ago the chapter even held a meeting to determine whether or not to continue its existence. Fortunately the vote was overwhelmingly in favor of continuing. Then a strong program was built centering around use of the PAD wives—One Sunday afternoon all the PADs and their wives went calling on the new law students and their wives at their homes. The wives helped their husbands explain all about PAD and, in fact, it is The Reporter's understanding that the wives did most of the talking. The program was highly successful for Knox Chapter has pledged some 42 new students and its place of leadership in the law school is once again assured.

There are, of course, a great number of ways that PAD wives can be of help to the chapter. Some chapters have them help prepare food for rushing events—Ross Chapter at the University of Southern California (the 1957 Most Outstanding Chapter) is a good example of this. For many years the chapter has held its annual Steak Fry which is its primary rushing function. This is a steak dinner replete with all the trimmings and is prepared almost in toto by the PAD wives. Other chapters have the wives jointly plan social events such as Green Chapter's Valentine's Day Dance which is reported on page 8 of this issue. It seems that more and more law students are married these days and their wives are understandably very interested in their husbands' studies and activities. Wives are eager and anxious to help their husbands during law school and PAD wives' organizations afford them this opportunity.

One chapter (Jay at George Washington University) has even drawn up a ritual of initiation for their PAD Wives' Club. Another (Ford Chapter at Loyola University in Los Angeles) has formed its wives into what they call the "PADETTES" who meet with their husbands at various functions and also have their own activities such as philanthropies, etc. One chapter (Timberlake at Wake Forrest College of Law) has written a short memorandum on their Wives' Club which is available upon request from the Executive Office, as is the ritual of initiation for the Jay Chapter Wives' Club.

If your chapter does not already sponsor such a club, why not give it a thought?

Skinner New Director Of Alumni Activities

Brother T. Julian Skinner, Supreme Marshal of the fraternity, has been appointed Director of Alumni Activities for PAD by Supreme Justice John L. Griffith. Skinner has long been active in alumni affairs and on the national fraternity scene.

The duties of the Director of Alumni Activities include the establishment of new alumni chapters, encouragement of professional activities programs for alumni chapters and the coordination of alumni and active chapter activities.

STANLEY H. JAKALA

Jakala Appointed District VI Justice

Brother Stanley H. Jakala has been appointed District Justice of District VI. As an attorney at law he maintains his legal office in downtown Chicago at 11 South LaSalle Street. In addition to practicing law he holds a teacher's certificate and has taught commercial law at St. Philip Basilica High School of Chicago.

As a member of the Chicago Alumni he has served as host at the Springfield Cocktail Party sponsored by PAD Alumni for the legal graduates who have successfully passed the bar. At the same time he has served on the membership committee with Brother Anthony DiGrazia. In January of 1959 he was appointed public relations man for the Chicago Alumni.

As for his undergraduate and graduate work, Brother Jakala attended Marquette University from 1947-48. From 1948-51 he was enrolled at Loyola University of Chicago from where he received his AB degree. As an undergraduate he received seven honorary keys, and in his senior year was elected as president of the student council representing 3,000 students. For his JD law degree he attended Northwestern Law School and was elected Justice of Fuller Chapter.

Jakala succeeds Robert J. Gorman who has served for the past two years.

District VI includes the states of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

Harlan Chapter Tops at Okla. U.

During 1958, the John Marshall Harlan Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta has attained an unprecedented degree of leadership and service at the College of Law at the University of Oklahoma.

Graham B. Johnson, Jr. Lending Library

Believing that a legal fraternity should serve the entire student body, the Harlan Chapter sponsors and manages a lending library in memory of Graham B. Johnson, Jr., a prominent PAD who was killed in 1951. This library lends casebooks and textbooks to all students through the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Graham B. Johnson, Sr., and the generous contributions of books by the students.

In the fall of 1956, the Chapter undertook a new service project: a shelf of books is being provided for the library, the latest contribution to which was in spring, 1958. The shelf will contain works of fiction which are in some way related to the law, and which could not otherwise be made available to the student body.

Law School Bulletin

This year, PAD Jim Wagner is co-editor and co-publisher of this law school newspaper.

Student Board of Governors

PADs Sam Daniel — Justice of PAD — and John Raley are President and Vice-President, respectively, of the Board of Governors of the Student Bar Association. Nine of the 14 members of this board are PADs. PAD Jack Lively is chairman of Public Relations, while PADs Sam Daniel and Claude Woody are co-chairmen of the Guest Lecture Series. PAD Jim Pinkerton is a co-chairman for this year's law school banquet.

Oklahoma Law Review

PADs constitute 60 per cent of the members and candidates for membership on the Editorial Board of the Review and three of the five elected officers are PADs. Dan Gibbens, Tom Preston and Jay Baker are Editor-in-Chief, Note Editor, and Article and Book Review Editor, respectively.

Class Offices

All junior and senior class officers in the College of Law are PADs.

Scholarship

Last spring, two out of the five seniors elected to the Order of the Coif were PADs, and PADs comprise 64 per cent of those on the Dean's Honor Roll for that semester.

Service

PAD Jay Baker is presently the Research Assistant to the Dean, while PAD Barry Mock serves as Executive Secretary of the College of Law Association.

Social Activities

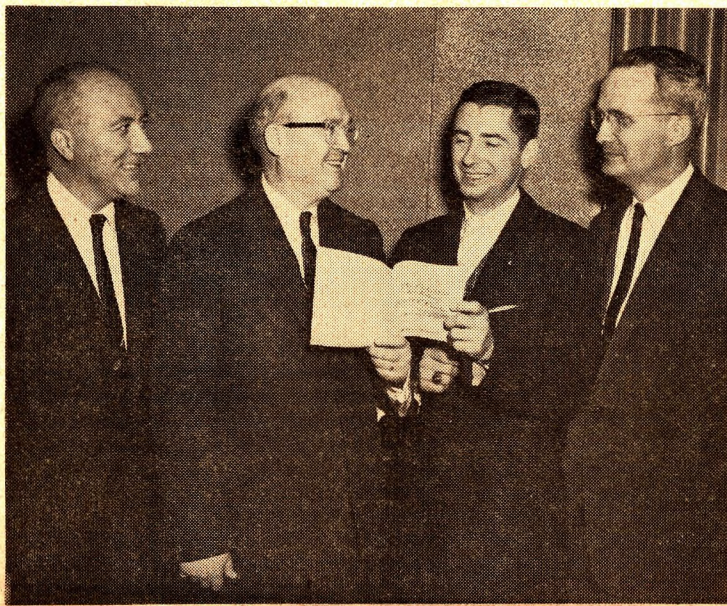

Social events include several luncheons each semester, not only for the purpose of transacting necessary business and entertaining guest lecturers, but also for the opportunity to get together. Judge A. P. Murrah of the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit, an outstanding alumnus, was guest speaker at the PAD spring rush party. John R. Brett of the Oklahoma Criminal Court of Appeals was chosen as the outstanding alumnus for 1958.

During each semester PAD holds a party in honor of its new initiates. On occasion, throughout the semester, PAD has a picnic or similar outing. This is continued during the summer session. The Chapter has sponsored a golf tournament for the past three springs.

PAD has a very active alumni chapter in Oklahoma City which for the past two years has sponsored a dinner in conjunction with the student chapter.

Tennessee Host to District V

Over 150 members, alumni, and guests of Phi Alpha Delta, the nation's foremost legal fraternity met in Lebanon, Tennessee over the week-end of February 13th and 14th for a two-day District V Conclave.

Law school chapters in Tennessee—Vanderbilt, University of Tennessee, and Cumberland University—University of Alabama, University of Mississippi, and Tulane University were represented. Chapters at Cumberland and Vanderbilt Universities were co-hosts to the parley.

The Conclave was highly honored with the presence of Supreme Justice John L. Griffith, Supreme Vice Justice Anthony DiGrazia, and Supreme Marshal T. Julian Skinner. John J. Hooker, Sr., past president of the Tennessee Bar Association and a Nashville attorney, is alumni District Justice. James R. Hamrick, senior in the Cumberland University of Law and a resident of Bristol, Tennessee, is the out-going Student Justice of District V.

Week-end activities featured a reception at the Cumberland Club in the Life & Casualty Tower, Nashville, Friday evening; two business sessions at the Civic Club hall in Lebanon Saturday; a luncheon in Lebanon to honor the national officers, at which Supreme Justice Griffith was guest speaker. He told delegates that the legal profession "must compete for the keen young minds." He said that the legal profession must forward a movement to entice more capable students to enroll in the nation's law schools. "Science and engineering have embarked on a move to attract the more able of our youth to meet the critical shortage in their ranks as this nation faces international technological competition," he declared.

"Since the birth of our nation,

Americans have depended upon the legal profession to furnish national leadership and we must realize the protection of the judiciary in this country is of supreme importance," he said.

Griffith said Phi Alpha Delta is engaged in a program to assure scholarship and fellowship for capable law students.

An alumni reception was held at the Lebanon Country Club, after which a banquet followed. At the banquet, Supreme Justice Griffith, Supreme Vice Justice DiGrazia, and Supreme Marshal Skinner initiated into Hull Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, the Speaker of the House of Delegates of the Tennessee Legislature, James Bomar, who said that he was very proud to become a member of the fraternity. He has never been a member of any fraternity because the schools he attended didn't have any; that "becoming a member of Phi Alpha Delta, the world's foremost legal fraternity, is very impressive upon me, and I shall treasure my membership always."

Also at the banquet the Supreme Officers extended their thanks for the southern hospitality. Supreme Vice Justice DiGrazia particularly thanked Jack Daniels, loyal Tennessean, for

Lawson Chapter Initiates 19

Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity of the University of Missouri School of Law received nineteen new members at an initiation and dinner held Saturday evening, November 15, at the Daniel Boone Hotel in Columbia. The initiation was conducted by Justice Wendell M. Peery and the other chapter officers.

Among the eighty members present were Professor William L. Eckhardt, chapter advisor; Professor William H. Pittman; Professor Edmond R. Anderson, and George Skinner, law librarian. Guests of the chapter at dinner following the initiation were Professors William D. Kilbourn and Edward H. Hunvald.

The new members initiated were: Robert B. Paden, Kansas City; John W. Webb, Webb City; Thomas K. McGuire, Jr., Springfield; William K. Golden, Canton; Edward J. Bust, Potosi; Donald L. Barnes, Sedalia; Wendell W. Crow, Caruthersville; Ronald B. Saffron, St. Louis; John A. Mooneyham, Carthage; Bob F. Griffin, Cameron; Frederic W. Shoudy, Santa Barbara, Calif.; Bernard Mayer, St. Louis; John E. Burruss, Jr., Jefferson City, and Walter K. Disney, Nevada.

Following the dinner, short business meetings were held by the active and pledge groups. The Pledge Class elected the following officers for the fall semester: Justice, George Poole, Jr.; Vice-Justice, Bill Moody, Jr.; Treasurer, John W. Ringer, and Clerk, Benjamin E. Botts.

the good time the delegates seemed to be having throughout the conclave. He said that their spirits seemed very high in two or three ways, and this was probably attributable to the hospitality of Jack Daniels.

A welcome was extended by Justice Jack McNeil, Lurton Chapter, Dean Wade, Vanderbilt, Dean Walker, Cumberland Law School, President Stockton, Cumberland. The toastmaster, Alfred T. McFarland, who is the Alumni Advisor to Hull Chapter, had quite a few humorous antics which added greatly to the success of the banquet and conclave.

Chairman of the Conclave, B. Hicks Harwell, told the group that the National Convention was scheduled to be held in Nashville in 1960 and plans were being made to insure it to be a terrific success.

Topping the conclave was a dance at the Lebanon Country Club with music furnished by a combo that had formerly played with Dizzy Gillespie, and Lionel Hampton. This lasted until the wee-hours and everyone enjoyed himself to the utmost.

The noon luncheon was held in the Pine Room of the Hotel Coronado, after which the officers for the coming year were elected.

New District Officers Elected

Brother Mike Miller of Corliss Chapter, University of North Dakota, was succeeded by Brother Daniel F. Murphy of More Chapter, Creighton University, as District Student Justice. Brother Murphy is the assistant Dean of Men at Creighton University. Lawson's Brother Thomas McGuire, the University of Missouri, is the first man to hold the new District office of District Vice-Justice. Brother Wendell Uhland of Benson Chapter was succeeded by Brother Wendell Yacki of Kansas University's Green Chapter, while Brother Bill Eisler turned over the District purse to his successor, Brother Lawrence Buccero, District Treasurer. Brother Buccero, as is his predecessor, is of Benton Chapter, the University of Kansas City. The position of District Marshall is being filled by Brother Thomas Sims, Benton Chapter. District Marshall is one of the new District offices.

After a short adjournment the Conclave re-assembled at the St. Louis University Moot Court Room. It was at this session that the various problems of each Chapter were presented and solutions offered.

A somewhat scholarly debate was entered into between Brother Supreme Justice Griffith, himself a native of District VII, and Brother District Alumni Justice Gunnels as to which District is the better, Brother Gunnel's District VII or Brother Griffith's District IV.

Neither convinced the other, but a solution to this problem has been promised by the time next year's Conclave assembles in Omaha. Irregardless of which District comes out on top, the two advocates did agree that one was the "First Best District" and the other was the "Second Best District" in the nation. Brother Gunnels' slogan: "Second-Best To None."

One of the highpoints of the Conclave was the re-activation of Champ Clark Chapter of Phi Theta Delta. Champ Clark Chapter of Washington University of St. Louis grasped the hands of nine eager young men at the re-activation-initiation ceremonies. Thusly, another fine Chapter is again among the ranks of the Seventh District.

The District Conclave came to a close with a superb banquet in the Crystal Room of the Coronado Hotel. Brother James L. Sullivan again proved to be a man of many talents and acted as toastmaster, introducing a table of celebrities including Deans Green and McDonough of Washington University and St. Louis University, respectively. The Reverend Father Marquetti, a former pledge in PAD at Benson Chapter, Washburn University, gave the invocation. Brother Harry Gershenson, past President of the Missouri Bar Association, gave the principal address of the evening. Brother Gershenson emphasized the need for new lawyers in the new fields of the law which are slowly being encroached upon by persons not licensed in the practice of the law.

Following the banquet, the delegates and their Sweethearts assembled once again in the Host Chapter's suite for an evening of conversation and fond farewells.

Sunday morning was again a bright and cheery one. The church bells tolled a melancholy farewell to Phi Alpha Delta as the delegates of District VIII once again boarded planes, trains and cars and returned to their various schools.

The District extend sincere thanks to Brother Don E. Malloy, Justice of the John L. Sullivan Chapter of St. Louis University and to Brother Richard P. Nangle, also of Sullivan Chapter, Chairman of a fine Conclave Activities Committee. Also, the best to Brother James Sullivan for his many hours of much good touring and to the many other fine brothers in the St. Louis area.

Washburn Elects PADS

The Washburn University Bar Association has recently elected a group of PADS to head it for the coming year. The newly elected are: Frank Gaines, President; Kenneth Wildman, Secretary, and Harlan Stamper, Treasurer.

Piedmont Alumni Chapter Installed

A new alumni chapter charter was awarded to the the Winston-Sale, North Carolina, are on the evening of February 28, 1959, during the District XII Conclave. Presenting the charter was Supreme Treasurer Robert E. Redding, representing the Supreme Executive Board.

The charter group consisted of attorneys in the City of Winston-Salem and surrounding area. The members of the group are: Keith Y. Sharpe, E. J. Parish, Wesley Bailey, David P. Mast, Jr., B. R. Browder, Jr., William Z. Wood, Harvey Lupton, Johnnie Ray Hendren, Perry N. Walker, Robert E. Lee, James E. Seizemore, Albert Bunton, Norman Wiggins, Carroll Weathers, Frank C. Ausband, Edd W. DeArmon, Jr., Henry G. Barnhill, Jr., Frank Stewart, Charles B. Casper, Wade M. Hobson, Doyle Edison Lowder, William H. Bower, Robert L. Styers, Charles F. Vance, Jr., Blair L. Daily, John F. Yeates, Jr., William A. Vanden, Herman Winfree, and Robert H. McNeely.

Attorney General Names PADS to Honor Program

Attorney General William P. Rogers recently announced the appointment of several young attorneys who have joined the Department of Justice as members of the Attorney General's 1958 Recruitment Program for honor law graduates.

Among those appointed were Lawrence J. Lee, Wilson Chapter, Cornell University; Hugh J. Nugent, Benton Chapter, University of Kansas City; Jack N. Singers, and Robert H. Kapp, Campbell Chapter, University of Michigan; and Melvin J. Duvall, Field Chapter, University of California.

A special reception will be held at the Department of Justice in Washington, D.C., on Wednesday, March 18, 1959, for all of these men. Guest speaker will be the Dean of the University of Michigan School of Law, E. Blythe Stason. Deputy Attorney General Lawrence E. Walsh will make opening remarks to the group and introduce the heads of the various divisions, bureaus and offices of the Department.

'Perry Mason' Speaker At Ford Chapter Banquet

Raymond Burr, known to TV viewers as "Perry Mason," was guest speaker at Loyola University's Ford Chapter Initiation Banquet recently in Los Angeles. Other notables attending were Frank Gray, Supreme Secretary, Sandy Rae, National Placement Director, Fred Weitkamp, National Executive Secretary, Loyd Tevis, Professor of Law at Loyola and Robert Rose, Alumni President of Loyola.

The dinner was attended by 180, including old and new members and their guests. Bill Tucker, notable attorney and past justice of Ford was master of ceremonies.

Mr. Burr pointed out that while the medical profession is usually portrayed as excellent individuals in TV and movie productions, the legal profession is often portrayed as being out for the fast dollar or being at the scene of the accident when the ambulance arrived. He feels that the Perry Mason show illustrates that attorneys are also dedicated to their work.

Mr. Burr also admitted that the program contains procedural errors but that the time factor is very limiting. While Mr. Burr has seen murder trials in Los Angeles taking 14 days to select a jury the entire Mason program has only one hour in which the trial and relating factors must be shown. The program has the added problem of converting legal terms to every day language, explained Mr. Burr who, though he has not attended law school, has learned considerable court procedure due to the TV show. It is interesting to note that since the Perry Mason program has been on TV people have been more ready to serve on juries. Mr. Burr expressed the hope that the program has helped to show people that jury duty is not to be feared.

Justice Byron "Barney" Finley

announced that sixty-four pledges were initiated. Largely due to the Herculean efforts of the original low pressure salesman, Pledge Chairman James Mountain. Ray David received the chapter's annual award as outstanding member due to his fine service to the fraternity. The highly successful evening was climaxed by dancing.

Ford Chapter Pledges 64

Due to the efforts of the active members, the most successful pledging program in the history of Ford Chapter was recently concluded. The initial affair was a cocktail party at the home of Supreme Secretary Frank Gray. Next was the annual smoker which was highlighted by talks from Brothers Walter Cook and Lloyd Tevis, of the law school faculty. The concluding affair was the pinning ceremony in which 64 pledges donned the pledge pin.

Also during the fall semester was the fraternity sponsored program of the seminars in the traditional first year courses.

Plans for the spring semester indicate an initiation dinner dance and active participation in the Conclave for chapters in Districts II and III. This will be held in Los Angeles area, with Ford chapter joining with Ross and McKinna as hosts.

Redding, Supreme Treasurer; and Jerry Verkler, Justice Jay Chapter, George Washington University.

Ruffin Chapter Host To District XII Conclave

The active and alumni chapters of District XII, comprising the States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia, convened in Durham, North Carolina, on February 27 and 28, 1959, for the holding of the annual District XII Conclave. Nine active and three alumni chapters were represented. These included Darrow Chapter, University of Maryland; Henry Chapter, University of Richmond; Jay Chapter, George Washington University; Jefferson Chapter, University of Virginia; Pinckney Chapter, University of South Carolina; Ruffin Chapter, University of North Carolina; Taft Chapter, Georgetown University; Timberlake Chapter, Wake Forest University, and Wythe Chapter, William and Mary College of Law; Piedmont Alumni Chapter; Virginia State Alumni Chapter, and the Washington, D. C. Alumni Chapter.

Festivities commenced on the evenings of Friday, February 27, with a reception for all delegates and guests.

The following morning a breakfast of chapter representatives was held, which was attended by all chapters, where plans for the Conclave were discussed with District and National officers.

Extending words of welcome to the Conclave were Al Cleveland, Student District Justice; Jim Fasul, Justice of Ruffin Chapter; Supreme Treasurer Robert E. Redding, George Miller, Ruffin Chapter Alumni Advisor, and District XII Justice Donald R. Moore. The morning business session consisted of chapter reports submitted by representatives of each active and alumni chapter.

Later in the morning, the Conclave broke up into committee meetings which discussed such subjects as Constitution and By-Laws, resolutions, chapter activities, expansion and reactivation and conclave and nomination placement and ritual.

One of the best attended functions was the conclave luncheon, which featured a bread and butter talk by Supreme Treasurer Robert E. Redding. He spoke on personal things which law students might do to better prepare themselves for the practice of law. Capably serving as Toastmaster for the luncheon was Student District Justice Al Cleveland.

The afternoon business session saw the following action taken:

1. The District voted not to increase local chapter assessments for Conclave purposes and urged that the next biennial convention consider an increase in the mandatory allotment of initiation fees for Conclave purposes. The District Justice was also urged to establish a Constitution and By-Laws Committee on a continuing basis with each active and alumni chapter to select its own representative.

2. Resolutions were adopted commending the establishment of Darrow Chapter at the University of Maryland; Baltimore Alumni and the Piedmont Alumni Chapters. Also adopted was a resolution suggesting consideration of affiliating female law students as members of PAD.

Other proposals adopted were a suggestion that the minutes of subsequent biennial conventions be transcribed and reproduced in order that each chapter have a file copy and the suggestion that letters and memorandums from the Executive Office be three hole punched in order to facilitate filing in a looseleaf notebook.

3. The District urged an increase in professional programming, the assignment of specific duties to pledges, the availability of professional programming to the entire law school, and a PAD faculty advisor for each chapter.

4. On reactivation, it was urged that Rutledge Chapter at Duke University be reactivated and that an alumni chapter for the Newport News, Hampton and Norfolk area be established.

5. On placement, it was agreed that placement was a local problem; that it should be undertaken by active chapters to be assisted by alumni chapters; that the active and alumni chapters cooperate with the program submitted by the National Placement Director, and that special attention be given to the placement problem of an active chapter located in a city where no alumni chapter exists.

6. A contest was proposed whereby all chapters would be invited to recommend improvements in the ritual in some form

FBI Offers Opportunities For Lawyers

J. Edgar Hoover, Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation, has announced that the FBI is interested in accepting applications for the Special Agent position. Applications will be accepted from male citizens of the United States between the ages of 25 and 40. Applicants must be at least five feet, seven inches without shoes and must have uncorrected vision of not less than 20/40 (Snellen) in one eye, at least 20/50 in the weaker eye without glasses, and at least 20/20 in each eye corrected. Applicants must be graduates of state-accredited resident law schools and also possess at least an Associate of Arts degree or its educational equivalent from a resident college.

The entrance salary is $6,505 per annum, and additional compensation may be earned for overtime. Agents are paid their regular salary while attending a training school for 13 to 16 weeks. It is anticipated that the next training school will be scheduled for the late summer of 1959.

Applicants must be willing to serve in any part of the United States or its territorial possessions in which it is determined that their services are required.

Persons interested in applying for the position of Special Agent may communicate with the Special Agent in Charge of his nearest office of the FBI in the United States for further information.

of a contest. All proposals would then be reviewed by the Supreme Executive Board and possible changes in the ritual would be submitted for approval at the next convention. Also approved was the suggestion to establish a ritual for new active and alumni chapters and for the installation of District officers. Also, a check list of ritual planning and preparation was recommended and the Conclave also felt that the ritual should be used to close the meeting but not necessarily to open it.

7. The 1967 Conclave site selected was Richmond, Virginia, with Henry Chapter at the University of Richmond as hosts.

A reception preceded the traditional Conclave banquet. Highlights of the banquet were the presentation of the charter for the Piedmont Alumni Chapter and the honorary initiation of Malcolm Seawell, Attorney General of the State of North Carolina. Mr. Seawell delivered an inspirational speech and indicated a strong desire to work for fraternity betterment, particularly in connection with the reactivation of Rutledge Chapter.

Bankruptcy Authority Nadler Initiated

Professor Charles E. Nadler, renowned authority on bankruptcy, was installed as a honorary member of the fraternity by Fish Chapter at Mercer University on January 15, 1959. Administering the oath was Supreme Vice-Justice Anthony DiGrazia.

Nadler has just retired from the law faculty of the Walter F. George School of Law at Mercer University. He has served for the last thirteen years without accepting any of his pay. When he first went to Mercer University he assumed the professoriate with the stipulation that his salary would be deposited in the Student Scholarship Fund at the school.

Professor Nadler's retirement is not a complete one, for he is now visiting professor at the William Mitchell College of Law in St. Paul, Minnesota. Stephen R. Curtis, Dean of that law school, is also a PAD.

An authority on bankruptcy, he was chosen to read a paper of his before an International Congress of Comparative Law meeting in Brussels, and has written a book on Bankruptcy that has become one of the nation's leading texts in the field.

Judge Bolitha Laws Passes

Bolitha J. Laws, one of the most beloved jurists in the country, passed away recently. He was Chief Judge of the District Court in Washington, D. C.

Ceremonies were held in the United States Court House, which he had planned with the late Chief Judge Harold M. Stephens.

For more than an hour before the ceremony at the court, a steady stream of friends passed through the court room to stand for a moment in prayer before the casket.

One of the principal speakers was United States Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren, who said that Judge Laws believed that the courts should not function in isolation, that the workings of the court should be known to the citizens. For years, he stated, Judge Laws worked to achieve an understanding among the judges, the lawyers and the laymen. His efforts were given national recognition in the establishment of the American Bar Association Committee for Improvement in the Administration of Justice.

Judge Laws was a member of Taft Chapter at Georgetown University.

Phi Alpha Delta and the country have lost a dedicated, loyal American.

LAWYER REFERRAL — SERVICE TO CLIENTS WITH MODERATE MEANS

By HARRY GERSHENSON (J. Sullivan Chapter)

Chairman, Committee on Lawyer Referral Service
American Bar Association

publication of American Law Student Association)

There was a time when the services of lawyers were only for the few, yet none complained for the others did not need them. In a feudal world the tenant, the shopkeeper and the bonded apprentice had little call for legal advice, though an Erskine appeared on occasion to justify the great tradition of the bar that its services were available to rich and poor alike.

In our lifetime the lines of class and wealth have largely disappeared and "Jack" enjoys nearly all the things that were formerly the heritage of his master.

Mass production, however, is for material things, and our profession, along with the medical, has had great difficulty in attuning itself to the modern world. In an age of drum beating and salesmanship, we are unable as individual lawyers to tell people of their need for sound advice without running the risk of violating the canons of ethics. At a time when the complexities of the simplest form of existence challenge the ingenuity of the specialist in a multitude of fields, nothing like the chain store has been grafted into the legal profession to enable it to cope with the perplexities of people of all walks of life. As a result, until very recently the clientele of the attorneys of this country was little broader than it was in the days of the Civil War.

Blue Cross, Legal Aid and Lawyer Referral

The profession has not worked up anything as spectacular as the Blue Cross, which provides forty million people, one-quarter of the entire nation, with assistance toward the obtaining of medical care. However, the device of legal aid has set an example of organized bar association activity in the direction of better public understanding of the work of lawyers, in addition to making substantial inroads on the legal problems of the indigent class.

The lawyer referral service presents a plan whereby the services of the entire profession are made available to the greatest single group in the nation's population, the often forgotten class of people who have moderate means.

The plan is based on two considerations. Despite the ordinary lawyer's egotistic belief that everyone in the community either knows him or has heard of him, the fact is that the great majority of people in nearly all communities do not know a single lawyer, and have little, if any, desire to get to know one either socially or professionally.

The second premise is that most of these people are quite ignorant of their legal rights and incapable of recognizing a legal problem when they encounter one. While these statements are sometimes disputed at bar association meetings, they are strongly borne out by surveys that have been made in various parts of the country and also by the experience of referral services which are in actual operation.

How then does this bar association plan to improve our professional relations? By means of the simple mechanism that we shall describe, it guides large numbers of people, who have no attorneys, into our law offices and establishes the lawyer-client relationship. This otherwise unresponsive clientele is induced to come in because of confidence in the name of the sponsoring bar association and because of the publicized arrangement of the fixed fee for a consultation which destroys the prevalent fear that the cost of legal services is prohibitive.

It should be added that people make use of the service because it is permissible under the canons of ethics to advertise it and to make known the public's need for legal advice in connection with all the complex problems of modern life. Thus the referral plan presents the bar with the greatest vehicle yet devised for the improvement of its public relations. Publicity for the plan stresses the advantages of consulting a lawyer, and only if a person has no lawyer of his own is he urged to make use of the referral service.

An Opportunity to Improve Our Public Relations

Every consideration looking toward the welfare of the legal profession militates in support of the referral plan. We can scarcely retain the monopoly of the practice of law unless our services are available to all who have need for them. If our advice is not there for the asking—and at a cost which is within the pocketbook of those who ask—we know that the Government will supply the demand on a basis which will surely seem to us unsatisfactory and unfair. In addition to combating the threat of socialism, with one stroke through this simple device we dispose forever of the communist theme that in capitalist countries the lawyer is the slave of the wealthy class. No other program that has been suggested to the bar—save only that of legal aid—has offered a comparable effort to build up preventive law, the giving of timely advice which heads off the burden, the cost and the heartache of litigation. Along with legal aid, the referral plan can spearhead the best possible program of improved public relations for the profession.

Most lawyers render services from time to time to persons of moderate means and charity clients though they probably derive their principal livelihood from the services they perform on behalf of corporations or those who have claims against them, or from legal work for individuals who are well-to-do. None of us can close his eyes to the fact that the lower income groups have not fared as well as the higher insofar as legal advice is concerned. For that reason if for no other, the bar is bound to derive enormous satisfaction from the referral plan. With it in operation, we know that every inhabitant of our community can obtain the best in the way of legal service that lawyers have to offer.

The plan is in effect in some 180 communities now as compared with some 70 a year ago. This will indicate how fast it is taking hold and how valuable it is both to the lawyers and to the public.

How the Lawyer Referral Plan Operates

It is important that the lawyers and the public should know that this is not a low cost legal service plan. It is a plan whereby each person who needs a lawyer may secure a lawyer at a reasonable fee. The fee is to be fixed in accordance with the canons of ethics of the American Bar Association.

It is true that a minimum charge is made for a consultation in order to give the average person confidence that he will not be charged a large fee for a simple conference on a simple matter. After that point, however, the lawyer and the client fix fees in accordance with the rules of our profession. There is no effort made on the part of any lawyer referral system to set a standard of fees or a minimum fee schedule.

The average lawyer may have the notion that only "junk" cases are referred to him. No doubt many such cases will be referred and should be taken care of so that people know that their problems can be discussed with confident lawyers. From experience, I may say that many worthwhile cases are referred from lawyer referral systems, and that lawyers are able to earn decent fees therefrom.

The feature which is the most important to the bar is the fact that if the lawyers are unwilling or unable to render legal services, lay agencies are perfectly willing, if not able to render them. Our constant struggle is with the lay agencies, which are encroaching upon our field and which advertise extensively what fine services they can render to the public. This is done in many ways and with more or less finesse, but the result is the same—the clients are going to the laymen and not to their lawyers. The lawyers must be available and ready, willing and able to do their jobs or there will soon be a time when there will not be any necessity to have lawyers. This the lawyer referral system seeks to cover.

Lawyer Referral Service Pamphlets Available

● The American Bar Association Standing Committee on Lawyer Referral Service has recently made available published material dealing with its program. Included are a Handbook on the Lawyer Referral Service, which explains the purposes of the program, how a lawyer referral service can be organized, and a directory of referral agencies. Copies of these may be obtained by writing to the American Bar Association, Standing Committee on Lawyer Referral Service, American Bar Center, Chicago 37, Illinois.

PAD MISCELLANY

Tri-Chapter Initiation Held in Kansas

Forty pledges from the Kansas, Washburn, and Kansas City University chapters were initiated in the Courtroom of Green Hall on the University of Kansas campus Saturday, February 21, 1959.

The annual Tri-chapter initiation ceremonies were followed by a banquet, which was attended by 110 brothers of PAD and many wives and girl friends. Guests at the banquet included James R. Bucell, Justice of the Greater Kansas City Alumni Association of PAD; the Reverend Girard Goetz, chaplain to Catholic students at KU; and Jay Gunnels, District Justice.

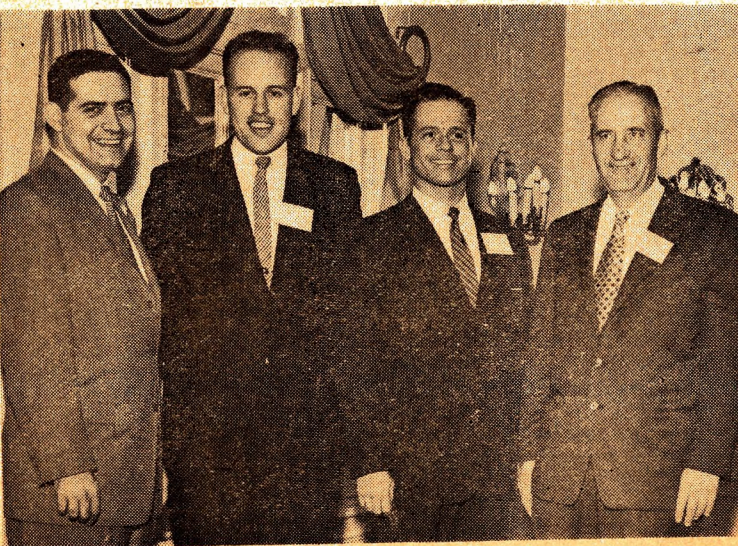

Presentations were made by Benton chapter of KCU to Jay Gunnels as their Outstanding Alumni of the Year; by the Greater Kansas City Alumni Ass'n to R. Robert Cohn, Kansas City attorney, as the distinguished initiate of the year; and to Ronald Badger as the Honor Initiate of Green chapter.

The speaker of the evening was Brother Gerald L. Gore, senior partner of the Kansas City, Mo., law firm of Gore and Hepburn. He spoke informally on the values of the legal fraternity to young attorneys and reminisced about his student days at the KC School of Law in the 1920's. Bro. Gore also recalled incidents concerning PAD's of that period in KC, including Federal Judge Arthur J. Stanley, Jr.; Supreme Court Justice Charles E. Whitaker; and former President Harry S. Truman.

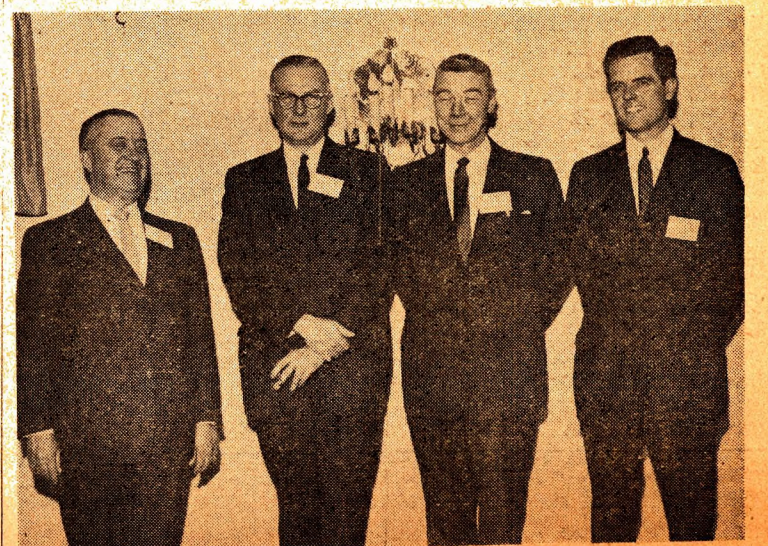

A very enjoyable time was had by all who attended. Plans are in the making for the event to be hosted by Benson chapter of Washburn next spring in Topeka.

NADLER HONORED—A banquet was held January 15, 1959, honoring Professor Charles E. Nadler upon the occasion of his initiation into Phi Alpha Delta as an honorary member.
