WASHINGTON ALUMNI CHAPTER HOLDS JUDICIAL-CONGRESSIONAL RECEPTION

The annual Judicial-Congressional Reception on Saturday evening, February 27, was one of the highlights of the 1964-65 program of the Washington Alumni Chapter. The function was held, appropriately, in the Committee Room of the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives in the Cannon House Office Building. Nearly 300 alumni, active members, pledges and guests attended.

Honored guests at the reception included the Judiciary of Washington, from the trial courts to the Supreme Court; the members of the Judiciary Committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives; and PAD members of Congress, as well as Judges from nearby Maryland.

The ranking guest of honor was the Hon. Stanley F. Reed, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court (retired). Other jurists spotted in the crowd included, from the Court of Claims, Chief Judge Wilson Cowen and Judge Marvin Jones, as well as the Clerk, Frank T. Peartree; from the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, Judge Alexander Holtzoff and Judge John J. Sirica, from the United States Tax Court, Chief Judge Norman O. Tietjens and Judge William M. Drennen, Arnold Raum, John G. Bruce, and Austin Hoyt, from the D.C. Court of General Sessions, Judge Austin L. Fickling; Chief Judge Morris Miller of the Juvenile Court for the District of Columbia; and Judge Ralph G. Shure of the Circuit Court for Montgomery County, Md.

Congressmen in attendance included John Dowdy of Texas, William L. Hungate of Missouri, and Brother Byron G. Rogers of Colorado.

Cooperating with the Washington Alumni Chapter in the sponsorship and planning of the reception were the four active chapters in Washington: Brandeis at American University, Cardozo at Catholic University, Jay at George Washington University, and Taft at Georgetown University, as well as Darrow Chapter at the University of Maryland in Baltimore.

Co-Chairmen of the Reception Committee were Dr. Charles J. Zinn, Law Revision Counsel, House Judiciary Committee, and Michael W. Maupin, a Jefferson Chapter alumnus now serving as law clerk to Brother Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court and Supreme Vice Justice of PAD. Others on the Committee, besides the officers of the Alumni Chapter, were Supreme Vice Justice Robert E. Redding, Past Associate Tribune William B. Robertson, William J. Pendleton, Past Justice of Cardozo Chapter, and the following active chapter representatives: Richard W. Mahan, Justice, and Dan D. Halpin, Clerk, of Brandeis Chapter; Gary L. Lodmell, Justice of Cardozo Chapter; Richard M. Contino, Justice of Darrow Chapter; Gary Glasgow, Marshal of Jay Chapter; and Vincent McAlevy, Justice of Taft Chapter. (Actually, all the officers of Darrow Chapter demonstrated their interest by attending Committee meetings.)

Other activities planned by the alumni of the Nation's Capital include the annual spring banquet Saturday evening, May 8 and a Placement Symposium for active chapters, to be held next fall.

The closing banquet, on Saturday evening, May 8, will be held in the Park Arlington Motel, just across the river from the Capital. It will be a joint function with Jay and Cardozo Chapters, and Brother from Brandeis, Darrow, and Taft Chapters also are expected to participate. The affair will begin with a reception, and the dinner will be followed by a dance.

A program of unusual interest is being planned, and a large attendance is expected.

The Chapter began the year with a luncheon that featured a talk by Brother Charles T. Vetter, Jr., an official of the United States Information Service. In a provocative and stimulating address entitled "The Problem of the Quiet-Mouthed American — Are Lawyers Communicating?", Brother Vetter challenged lawyers to become informed and to act so as to help win the ideological battle being waged on a world-wide basis. The Chapter was pleased to number Supreme Justice Elden S. Magaw among its head table guests.

Later in the fall, the Chapter sponsored a novel and enjoyable evening for its members and their ladies, as well as for members of the active chapters, their wives and dates. A large crowd enjoyed a "wine-tasting" party, presented by the Wine Advisory Board. The program featured informational material on wine and wine etiquette, including a talk by Walter H. Lubsen, regional manager for the Wine Advisory Board, and a film, followed by the sampling of five different wines.

In April, the Chapter held a luncheon at which a Marine

Besides the officers and committee chairmen, the Executive Committee of the Chapter also includes Past Chapter Justices Redding, Robertson and Zinn as members-at-large.

All PAD alumni in the Washington area are invited to affiliate with the Chapter. Correspondence may be addressed to Post Office Box 7130, Apex Station, Washington, D.C. 20004.

MICHAEL W. MAUPIN, CLERK FOR JUSTICE TOM C. CLARK, AND DR. CHARLES J. ZINN, LAW REVISION COUNSEL TO THE COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY of the House of Representatives, are to be congratulated as co-chairmen of the Judicial-Congressional Reception Committee for their fine work in preparing the reception.

NEARLY 300 WERE IN ATTENDANCE FOR THE ANNUAL JUDICIAL-CONGRESSIONAL RECEPTION in the Committee Room of the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives which was sponsored by the Washington, D.C., Alumni Chapter.

Hickman Holds Western Rush Party

Rodeo season in Houston is the first two weeks in March. In keeping with this theme, Hickman Chapter at the University of Houston had its first spring rush party western style, complete with levis, boots, bales of hay and a western band, including a 400 lb. bass-fiddle player, and an added attraction was a drawing and presentation by Justice William C. Dever to a rushee of 2 box-seat tickets to the first indoor baseball game on the major league's opening night between the Philadelphia Phillies and the Houston Astros in the world famous Harris County Dome Stadium.

Districts V and X Hold Joint Conclave

Districts V and X held a joint conclave in Birmingham, Alabama on April 23 and 24, 1965 at the Sheraton Motor Inn.

On Friday evening, April 23, 1965, everyone had a chance to get acquainted at a reception held at the home of District Justice Tom Powell. The reception was given in honor of Supreme Justice Elden S. Magaw.

Early the following morning, the Chapter Justices met for breakfast.

The conclave officially began at 9 a.m. with the call to order, Edward L. Hardin, Jr., District V Student Justice, presiding.

Following the introduction of national and district officers, the convention body broke into Chapter workshops. The workshops included Rushing attended by the delegates of Lurton, White and Keener Chapters; Professional activities attended by delegates from Morgan, Martin and Stephens Chapters; Finances, attended by the delegates from Lamar, Fish, Fletcher and Brewer Chapters; Assistance to Local Bars in Defense of Indigent Clients, attended by delegates from McReynolds, Hull and Rasco Chapters.

McCoy Retires From ICC

Brother Harold D. McCoy recently retired as Secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission after 43 years of Government service.

Brother McCoy became a member of Ryan Chapter in 1926, while he was attending the University of Wisconsin School of Law.

He joined the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1921, and then returned to the University of Wisconsin to obtain his LL.B degree.

Prior to working for the ICC he held the position of Assistant Clerk to the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. After completing his legal education, Brother McCoy became the Assistant Chief Examiner of the Agency. His experience with the ICC included being a member on the personal staff of former Commissioner John J. Esh and in the Bureau of Informal Cases, the Bureau of Formal Cases and in different sections of the Bureau of Motor Carriers.

He assumed the position of Secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission on March 1, 1955, and continued in that position until his retirement.

The Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Abe McGreggor Goff, stated, "With great regret I announce the imminent retirement of Harold D. McCoy." He further stated, "The distinguished secretary of the Interstate Commerce Commission is an able and devoted career public official on whom I have particularly relied during my term as chairman. His encyclopedic memory of Commission precedents, conference actions, both formal and informal, legislation, personalities and traditions is phenomenal. With his background and knowledge of transportation, plus his tact and sound judgment, he has been extremely helpful to the public and to the Commission."

PAD New Secretary of the Treasury

Henry H. Fowler, an alumnus member of Calhoun Chapter, took the oath of office as Secretary of the Treasury at a ceremony held at the White House on April 1, 1965.

Brother Fowler, who has spent half of his career in Government service, previously served as Under Secretary of the Treasury from February 3, 1961, until April 10, 1964, when he returned to private law practice as senior member of the Washington firm of Fowler, Leva, Hawes and Symington. As Under Secretary, Mr. Fowler served as a general deputy to Secretary Dillon, playing a crucial role in the shaping and in the enactment of the Revenue Acts of 1962 and 1964, the liberalization of depreciation procedures, and the coordination of related programs designed to promote economic expansion of '65 to date.

On October 3, 1963, Mr. Fowler was appointed head of a Presidential Task Force to seek ways of meeting our balance of payments problem by encouraging greater foreign investment in American securities as well as greater foreign financing for American corporations operating abroad. On April 27, 1964, the Fowler Task Force reported its recommendations to President Johnson. The President has submitted to Congress legislative proposals issuing from that Report, and a large measure of the current voluntary program to meet the balance of payments problem is based on its recommendations.

A graduate of Yale Law School and a lawyer by profession, Mr. Fowler first entered Government in 1944, when he joined the legal staff of the Tennessee Valley Authority, where he assisted in the preparation and successful conduct of the four year litigation establishing the constitutionality of that program. By 1939, he had risen to Assistant General Counsel of the TVA and subsequently served as Chief Counsel of a Subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Education and Labor. Prior to and during World War II mobilization, from 1941 to 1944, he was Assistant General Counsel of the Office of Production Management and afterward of the War Production Board, thereafter performing missions in Great Britain and Germany in 1944 and 1945. After spending the next five years in private law practice, he returned to Government service from 1951 to 1953 — to work in the mobilization buildup following the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

He held successive posts as Administrator of National Production Authority, Administrator of the Defense Production Administration, Director of the Office of Defense Mobilization and member of the National Security Council. Mr. Fowler then resumed private practice until his appointment as Under Secretary of the Treasury in 1961.

Mr. Fowler served as a member of the Commission on Money and Credit from 1958 to 1961, and of the National Committee on Government Finance of the Brookings Institution from 1960 to 1961. He is a Trustee of Roanoke College and of the Funds of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Virginia.

Mr. Fowler has received distinguished alumni awards from Tau Kappa Alpha and from Roanoke College, as well as the highest Treasury Department honor — the Alexander Hamilton Award.

Mr. Fowler was born in Roanoke, Virginia, September 5, 1908, the son of Mack Johnson and Bertha Browning Fowler. He graduated from Jefferson High School, Roanoke, Virginia in 1925 and from Roanoke College in 1929. He received his bachelor of Laws degree from Yale University Law School in 1932, and became a member of Calhoun Chapter in 1930.

Mr. Fowler is married to the former Trudy Pamela Hathcote of Knoxville, Tennessee. They have two daughters, Mrs. Roy Campbell Smith IV of Cambridge, Massachusetts, and Susan Maria who is attending Sarah Lawrence College, and one granddaughter Kelly McGreggor Smith.

Their home is in Alexandria, Virginia.

HENRY H. FOWLER

Lurton Has Successful Rush

On March 3, 1965, Lurton Chapter continued its membership expansion program in initiating thirty new members.

Established at Vanderbilt University in 1919, Lurton Chapter compiled an outstanding record in District V. Until 1957, the chapter was quite active but time and law school changes saw membership decline to the final status of inactive in 1958. But through a motivating visit of Brother Ray Judice, Assistant to the Supreme Justice, a new spirit was rekindled in Lurton Chapter. Beginning with only thirteen third-year members in the spring of 1963, the following fall saw a pledge class of twenty-five strengthen the membership. Due to the impetus and organization of Brother Howard Nations the pledge class of twenty-five devised a re-building program from which the chapter was to grow.

Brother Nations became the succeeding Justice after all thirteen members had graduated in 1964. It was the desire of Brother Nations to bring into the chapter thirty members in 1965 and thirty members in 1966. Thus in the spring of his senior year, he envisioned a membership of approximately ninety.

The initial part of Brother Nations' plan has become reality. On March 3, 1965, thirty new members were initiated. Present at the initiation ceremony and dinner-dance which followed were Brothers Ray Judice and Tom Powell, District V Justice. Because Brother Judice inspired the re-activation program, it was a fine tribute to him to see the fruits of his labor result in the re-establishment of an old and outstanding chapter. Likewise Brother Powell was encouraged by the addition of another chapter to District V.

The second stage in Brother Nations' plan is still in embryonic form. However, through the leadership of Past Justice Bob Rust and present Justice Henry Bushkin, the chapter is assured of a strong rush program in the fall of 1965.

Presently Lurton Chapter is guided by the ideal "service to the school and its members." Active participation in the Vanderbilt Bar Association and in the Legal Aid Society are two examples of dedication to this ideal. With a continuation of such enthusiasm, Lurton Chapter will once again fulfill its responsibilities to the legal profession and society.

Message From The Supreme Justice

Our next visit was to Dean Sinclitico in his splendid new building, overlooking the City of San Diego. He is very much interested in McCormick Chapter, and is loyally giving of his interest and cooperation in the Chapter's development and its professional activities. Although chartered only four years ago, this Chapter is determined to have a program of value to the School as well as its own membership.

The climax to a very interesting and satisfying day, was the joint Beaumont, San Diego Alumni, and McCormick Chapters' reception and dinner dance held at the very attractive Little Bavaria Restaurant near Del Mar. A most interesting program had been planned in my honor and of Presiding Judge Lloyd E. Griffin, 4th District Court of Appeal, Honorable Bertram McLees, Jr., San Diego County Counsel, and the Superior Court Judges of San Diego County. The highlight of the evening was the induction into honorary membership by Beaumont Chapter, of the Honorable Bertram McLees.

I was particularly honored when I was introduced by Honorable James M. Carter, United States District Judge, and one of the most interested and loyal P.A.D.'s in our country. I also appreciated the beautiful golden key to the city, which was given me after my remarks.

We left San Diego for a mid-night flight to Los Angeles. Friday morning Fred Weitkamp and I went to University of Southern California Law School to pay our respects to Dean Orrin B. Evans and the other brothers of Ross Chapter. This group of 80 members is an excellent Chapter whose Justice is the personable Ken Rowen. A very nice luncheon followed our meeting and afforded me the opportunity to have a most enjoyable visit with the Dean for whom we all have the greatest respect. This Chapter always has an excellent professional program.

We next proceeded to the attractive new Law School building at Loyola University, to pay our respects to Father Donovan, the Dean, and to visit the splendid Ford Chapter which had in November, admitted approximately 80 new pledges. This Chapter has an outstanding professional program and the Justice, Warren Hernand, can well be proud of his Chapter's contribution to the Law School. Although Father Donovan and the Dean were not then at the School, I was fortunate in having a very nice visit with the former at the Chicago meeting of the Association of American Law Schools a few days later.

Our next visit was to the Law School of the University of California at Los Angeles, a most impressive building on an equally expansive and impressive campus. By this time it was late afternoon and I was unable to pay my respects to the distinguished Dean, Dean Maxwell. Our Chapter, McKenna Chapter, 190 strong, is a splendid one with an excellent program to match its unusually large membership. The Justice, Ron Leibow, presented me to a group of about sixteen men, seated around a large table, each of whom, in turn, introduced himself and spoke of the professional activity of which he was in charge. I was greatly impressed by the quality of the membership and the professional manner in which each conducted himself, as well as by the excellence and breadth of its professional program. This Chapter has set a very high standard and is worthy of its place in this great Law School. There is ample justification for the Chapter's determination to achieve top honors in this year's Outstanding Chapter Competition.

I am particularly grateful to the Chapter's very able Chapter Advisor, Professor Herbert Schwartz, who was so kind and generous with his time in showing us about the campus with all of its magnificent buildings.

On Friday evening I went with the Raes and Weitkamps to the Ambassador Hotel where the Los Angeles Bar Association presented a most entertaining program entitled "1964 Christmas Hinks."

Saturday was spent in the attractive and spacious offices of our very efficient Executive Secretary, and in the evening I was privileged to attend a most enjoyable dinner dance sponsored by Ross and McKenna Chapters.

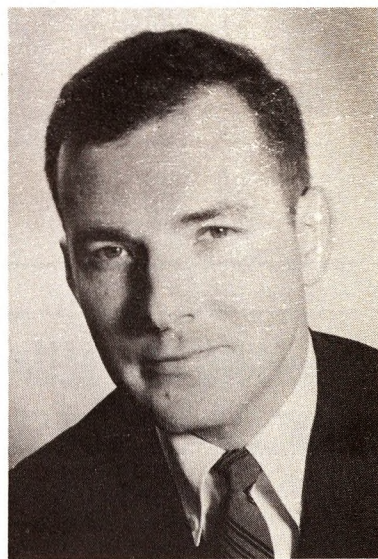

Sunday morning I was a guest for breakfast in the beautiful home of Fred and Marilyn Weitkamp, following which Fred took me to the airport where I left for San Francisco with some of the most pleasant memories I will ever have. I am truly grateful for the splendid hospitality of Southern California and proud of the important part Phi Alpha Delta has in legal education in this progressive part of our great nation.

In San Francisco our very efficient District Justice, Frank Worthington, and I had Sunday dinner at Johnny Kan's, an excellent restaurant in Chinatown. Although it was the week of Christmas vacation Frank had arranged a luncheon for Monday, December 21. A group of twenty-five alumni and students were in attendance. Among them were the Assistant Dean of Hastings Law School, Richard Amandes; Professor Harno, formerly Dean of University of Illinois Law School, affectionately referred to by his colleagues in the Association of American Law Schools as "Dean of Deans"; Professor, and former Dean, Stephen R. Curtis, Professor J. Warren Madden, formerly Judge, United States Court of Claims; Professor John Bradway, formerly Professor of Law at Duke University, and whose great contribution in the field of Legal Aid is well known; and Ingemar E. Hoberg, Esq., a distinguished member of the Bar and a former Justice of Temple Chapter at Hastings.

Limitation of time, as well as the vacation period, made it impossible for me to visit Holmes Chapter at Stanford, Field Chapter at Berkeley, and Sullivan Chapter at the University of San Francisco. However, present at the lunch were John Gallagher, Justice of Sullivan Chapter; John Dwyer, Justice of Temple Chapter; Carl Leverenz, Justice, Field Chapter; David Langum, Vice Justice, Holmes Chapter; as well as other representatives from the various schools. The luncheon was a most enjoyable one and time passed much too quickly.

In the evening I left for Denver, Colorado, and was met at the airport by Past Supreme Justice John Griffith and Denver Alumni Chapter President, Jack Dwyer. Tuesday morning I had breakfast with John at the Denver Club while we discussed matters of general and local interest. A delightful luncheon had been arranged and it was my privilege to meet many of our alumni members and to speak to the group.

Among the brothers present were Honorable Hatfield Chilson, United States District Court, and District Justice of the Eastern Section of District IV, Honorable William E. Doyle,

CHARLES D. REED

REED WINS TOM C. CLARK CLERKSHIP

Brother Charles D. Reed, a member of Houston Chapter at South Texas College of Law, has been selected as the clerk for Brother Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and Supreme Vice-Justice of Phi Alpha Delta. Brother Clark each year offers all senior law students who are members of Phi Alpha Delta the opportunity to compete for the coveted position. The Fraternity's Supreme Tribunal, consisting of Chief Tribune Charles Digangi and Associate Tribunes Donald R. Moore and George T. Three were selected for submission to Justice Clark and the selection of Brother Reed was made by the Justice personally.

Brother Reed will graduate from South Texas College of Law in June. He presently has a grade average of 91.5 which is the highest average in the recent history of the college.

United States District Court, Honorable Edward E. Pringle, Chief Justice Colorado Supreme Court, and Honorable Mitchell B. Johns, District Court. An honored guest at the luncheon was the Honorable Alfred A. Arraj, Chief Judge, United States District Court. Brother Steve Shambaugh and Victor B. Grandy, State Representative and a past Justice of the Denver Alumni Association, were at the luncheon, and the interest displayed by all those present assures us of loyal alumni support for Hughes Chapter at Denver, and Gunter Chapter at Boulder.

After luncheon John and his lovely wife, Margaret, drove me to the airport where I flew to Oklahoma City for Christmas with my wife, Mildred, and relatives, tired from a strenuous trip but supremely happy, proud and grateful for the privilege of membership in Phi Alpha Delta.

After Christmas we left for Chicago for the Association of American Law Schools annual meeting at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. On Tuesday evening, December 29, the attractive and

Wormser Chapter Initiates New Members

On Wednesday, March 24th, Fordham University's I. Maurice Wormser Chapter conducted its initiation of new members and installation of new officers for the academic year 1965-66. The ceremonies were combined with a cocktail party and dinner with Mrs. Maurice Wormser as the guest of honor.

Eight new members, selected from the spring pledge class, were inducted into the brotherhood in the opening ceremonies. The newly elected officers of the chapter were then installed: Sanford Schlesinger, Justice; John J. McManus, Vice Justice; Frank Panza, Clerk; Paul J. Pacifico, Treasurer; D. Logan Potts, Marshall. These ceremonies, which were attended by Mrs. Wormser, Dean Mulligan of Fordham, Mrs. Wormser's daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Liss and distinguished members of the Fordham faculty, were highlighted when Mrs. Liss presented the chapter with an invaluable collection of the late Mr. Wormser's personal correspondence. Included in this collection are letters from several past presidents of the United States beginning with Woodrow Wilson and ending with D. D. Eisenhower along with numerous personal writings from distinguished members of the judicial, legal and political worlds such as Mr. Justice Cardozo, Learned Hand, Loughlin, Wigmore, Brandeis, John Foster Dulles and innumerable others. Receipt of this priceless gift gave I. Maurice Wormser Chapter, in its comparatively new existence, a storehouse of tradition from the distinguished member of the Bar in whose memory it was dedicated.

Immediately following, there was a cocktail party and dinner in a well known New York steak house at which Mrs. Wormser was honored by the brotherhood of the Chapter along with Professor Robert A. Kessler, the Chapter moderator.

District XII Holds Conclave in Durham

District XII held a very successful Conclave at the Jack Tar Hotel and Motor Lodge in Durham, North Carolina on March 12, 13 and 14.

The Conclave began with registration on the evening of Friday, March 12. That evening an initiation ceremony was conducted for the pledges of the chapters of District XII.

Following the initiation ceremonies a cocktail party was given by Ruffin Chapter in the Ruffin Chapter in the Washington Duke Ballroom.

Early the next morning the Executive Officers, Chapter Justices, Alumni Officers and others met for breakfast in the Wedgewood Room.

The first business session commenced at 9:30 a.m. with welcome by District XII Justice George Miller. Reports followed from the District, the Constitutional Committee, the Nominating Committee, the Alumni Chapters, and the Chapters.

Following the morning session a banquet luncheon was given in the Washington Duke Ballroom. Those in attendance heard a speech by Dr. Frank Clippinger of the Duke Medical Center who spoke on "Courtroom Medicine."

Following lunch the delegates reassembled in the University Ballroom to vote on the Constitutional Committee's report and the Nominating Committee's report.

That evening the Eastern North Carolina Alumni hosted a cocktail reception at 6 p.m. The reception was followed by a banquet in the Washington Duke Ballroom. Following the banquet Justice Tom C. Clark, Supreme Vice Justice of our fraternity, addressed those present. He indicated that the day for major decisions in civil rights cases is over. In explaining the Court's dealing with Constitutional issues, Brother Clark stated that, "The Constitution was

Senator Morgan read a statement by the Governor saying the receiving the award is "a wonderful moment in my life."

Following the banquet those in attendance danced to the music of the Jimmy Brown Orchestra.

District VII Conclave In Kansas City

The Hilton Inn in Kansas City, Missouri, was headquarters for District VII's Seventeenth Annual Conclave on March 12 and 13, 1965. Hosting the affair was the Thomas Hart Benton Chapter of the University of Missouri in Kansas City. Other District VII PAD Chapters in attendance and the law schools they represented were: Benson Chapter, Washburn University, Topeka, Kansas; Cole Chapter, Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa; Corliss Chapter, University of North Dakota, Grand Forks, North Dakota; Green Chapter, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas; Hammond Chapter, State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa; Lawson Chapter, University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri; More Chapter, The Creighton University, Omaha, Nebraska; and Sullivan Chapter, St. Louis University, St. Louis, Missouri.

The weekend activities began on Friday evening with registration and a "get together" cocktail party sponsored by the Kansas City Alumni Chapter. Some 165 PADs and their ladies attended the affair.

The success of the Friday evening reception did not deter the Chapter Justices and the District and National Officers as they assembled Saturday morning at 8:00 a.m. for a breakfast meeting. By the time of the opening of the Conclave, an hour and a half later, some seventy active members felt sufficiently alert to attend and listen to welcoming remarks by Paul Edwards, Student District Justice; Denver Vold, Justice, Benton Chapter; Fil Munoz, Justice, Kansas City Alumni Chapter; and Don Hutson, Justice, District VII. These remarks were followed by a fascinating and informative address and film demonstration by Charles C. Scott, author of West's Photographic Evidence and Professor of law at the University of Missouri at Kansas City. Following Brother Scott's impressive address on the uses and advantages of color photography in the practice of law, the delegates took a coffee break and then reconvened into six committees: Chapter Activities, Chapter Financing, Expansion and Reactivation, Resolutions and By-Laws, Conclave and Nomination, and Special Projects. The Committees met until the noon hour.

One of the most enjoyable sessions of the entire Conclave was the Toastmaster Luncheon held in the beautiful Penthouse of the Hilton Inn. Toastmaster was District Justice, Don Hutson. However, Brother Hutson was only one of several that spoke. Each active and alumnus present was given a number, and when called upon by Topic Master, Dave Bossart, was requested to speak for one minute on an assigned topic (from a variety of legal and humorous subjects). Embarrassment was kept to a minimum by the realization that others suffered from the same lack of preparation. The number of faux pas was exceeded only by the laughter and merriment of the group.

When the Toastmaster portion of the program was completed, Dr. Elden S. Magaw, Supreme Justice, conducted the honorary initiation of Dr. Charles B. Wheeler, coroner of Jackson County (Kansas City), Missouri. Brother Wheeler's training as a physician as well as a lawyer made him particularly well qualified to discuss his topic, "Aggression in Litigation." With humor and wit, Dr. Wheeler made the point that as aggression is inherent, in varying degrees, in all protoplasm, and must be relieved; aggression is likewise inherent in lawyers with a need for relief. The trial lawyer is able to release his aggressions in a courtroom, but many lawyers practicing in other areas of the law, must find release for their aggressions by participation in outside activities. Dr. Wheeler suggested that a fertile field for such participation was politics, which he described as the "least advanced social science, and therefore, a most challenging area to one trained in the highest form of competition: the legal adversary system."

Following Dr. Wheeler's address, Honorable Alex Hotchkiss, Supreme Marshal, conducted the installation of the newly elected Kansas City Alumni Chapter Officers. Those installed were:

Justice, Steve Millin; First Vice-Justice, Hon. Paul Varde-man; Second Vice-Justice, Norman Sanders; Clerk, Hon. Larry Gepford; Treasurer, Rollie Baldwin, and Marshal, Vince Baker.

The Conclave's afternoon business session afforded an opportunity for chapter and committee reports, and an address by Dr. Elden S. Magaw, Supreme Justice. In his remarks, Dr. Magaw stressed the importance of extending honorary memberships to noted and successful, but unaffiliated, practitioners before any other legal fraternity attempts to do so.

The delegates selected Iowa City, Iowa as the site for the 1966 Conclave, and designated Hammond Chapter, State University of Iowa, as Host Chapter. Newly elected Student District Officers are:

Student District Justice—Allan Hardsock, Hammond Chapter, State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa;

Student District Vice-Justice—Thomas Pitner, Green Chapter, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas;

Student District Clerk—James Beasley, Benson Chapter, Washburn University, Topeka, Kansas;

Student District Treasurer—William Purdy, Hammond Chapter, State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa; and Student District Marshal—Clyde Butts, Lawson Chapter, University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri.

While the Brothers were conducting the business of the Conclave, their wives and ladies enjoyed a tour of the Truman Memorial Library in Independence, Missouri and then relaxed over cocktails and luncheon at a rustic Missouri country inn.

Following the busy schedule for both men and women, everyone enjoyed the gay and relaxed spirit of the evening cocktail party in the Penthouse of the Hilton Inn. Overlooking the Kansas City skyline, those attending watched the sun set and the darkness slowly settle over the city. Following the cocktails, the delegates gathered in the Ballroom of the Hilton Inn to enjoy a fine French cuisine, meal and excellent company. The program of the evening, under the able direction of Paul Edwards, Student District Justice, began with the honorary initiation of the Honorable Alfred G. Schroeder, Justice of the Supreme Court of Kansas, conducted by Dr. Elden S. Magaw, Supreme Justice. Brother Schroeder gave the principal address of the evening and chose for the topic of his remarks, "Change in Law." He stressed the responsibility of all attorneys to insure that the legal profession continued to adapt itself to the ever changing circumstances of human endeavor and resulting growth, and change in law.

The Honorable Alex Hotchkiss, Supreme Marshal, then conducted an impressive installation ceremony for the newly elected Student District Officers. At the conclusion of the evening program Don Hutson, District Justice, presented a beautifully engraved gavel to Student District Justice Paul Edwards who received a standing ovation from the 145 persons attending the banquet for his fine work in presiding over the Conclave.

PADs and their ladies then danced to the fine music of Brother Mike White and his combo.

DISTRICT IV MEETS IN SALT LAKE CITY

Sutherland Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta at the University of Utah College of Law, Salt Lake City, hosted an outstanding District IV Conclave on Friday and Saturday, April 9 and 10, 1965. Brothers from Hughes Chapter, Denver University, braved snowstorms over the Continental Divide to attend. In addition to the delegates, members and alumni of the Chapters, Henry C. Rohr, Supreme Secretary, Honorable C. Nelson Day, District IV Justice, and Don E. Hammill, Salt Lake Alumni Justice, were in attendance.

After being settled in Salt Lake City's Desert Inn, the delegates were guests of Sutherland Chapter and the Salt Lake Alumni at a cocktail party on Friday evening. Feeble conversation was replaced by warm greetings from members of the Utah Bench and Bar, and the hosting chapter.

The following morning the general business sessions were called to order in the newly completed University of Utah Law Center. The morning business session involved discussion of fund raising and rushing problems specifically, and common chapter problems in general. The morning session was interrupted by a much welcomed break in the student "Commons" lounge at the new Law Center. After coffee and doughnuts, the business meeting reconvened in one of the Law School's carpeted and wood paneled seminar rooms, where many ideas were gathered from a "brainstorming" session regarding common chapter problems.

Delegates and members enjoyed a luncheon held at the Panorama Room of the Student Union Building on the University Campus. After the luncheon and a walk through the campus, all who were in attendance enjoyed a seminar, presenting different viewpoints on the function and the practical aspects of the Pre-trial conference. The seminar was of such an attractive nature that the program was held out to the students at large as well as the brothers attending the Conclave. The able panelists participating in the seminar were: Honorable A. H. Ellet, Judge 3rd District Court; District IV Justice, Honorable C. Nelson Day, Judge 5th District Court; Professor John J. Flynn, University of Utah School of Law; and Mr. John H. Snow, Esq., a Salt Lake City practitioner. It is noteworthy that Judge Ellet is an avid supporter of pre-trial and has participated as instructor in the National College of State Trial Judges started last year by the American Bar Association of the

He served as President and Director of the Memphis Better Business Bureau from 1952 to 1953. He is a member of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, of the American Arbitration Society, the American Bar Association where he served as Chairman of the International Transportation Committee of the International and Comparative Law Section, and as Vice-Chairman of the Aviation Committee of the Insurance Section, and is a Director of the Corporate Counsel Association for the Greater Atlanta area.

PAD Elected to State Senate

Brother Horace T. Ward, an alumnus member of Fuller Chapter at Northwestern University, was recently elected to the Georgia State Senate. Brother Ward is one of 54 State Senators and represents the 39th Senatorial District.

University of Colorado at Boulder. Comments from practitioner Snow and Professor Flynn presented a fair view of all the practical and theoretical pros and cons of the pre-trial conference. The comments, in summary, laid the burden of making pre-trial work upon the trial judges. Judge Ellet asserted that the pre-trial won't help relieve the burden of backlog on the courts unless the judges help carry the proceedings. If counsel is well prepared for pre-trial and the trial judges see to it that he is, the pre-trial conference will serve its intended function. It was also noted that disregard of the function of pre-trial, and to go through it as a mere formality, would work a serious detriment to our system of advocacy.

The Conclave concluded Saturday evening with a banquet dinner in downtown Salt Lake City. Following a social hour and an excellent meal, alumni, delegates, and members were honored by an outstanding speech delivered by Supreme Secretary Henry C. Rohr. Also performing an excellent job were Honorable C. Nelson Day, as chairman, and host chapter Justice, Robert J. Stansfield, as toastmaster.

As the evening and the District IV Conclave drew to a close, all those in attendance felt the enriching, orderly, revealing experiences that can be derived from the study of Law and participation in Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity.

Miller of Cleveland-Marshall Law School welcomed the delegates on Saturday morning while James L. Broz represented the City of Cleveland and Richard Fromson spoke on behalf of the Cleveland Alumni.

A panel discussion involving the topics of professional programs, reactivation programs, rushing, social and funds led by members of Grant, Campbell, McKinley and Chase Chapters followed.

Also present at the ceremony were Brother Ray Hutchins, Dean of Chase Law School, and Brother Kraston, Dean of Toledo Law School. Pinckney Chapter — A Leader In Professional Activities

On the crest of a wave of expanding membership, Pinckney Chapter at mid-year has reason for pride in her programs of fraternal service. The men of Pinckney at this hour enjoy a reputation for excellence in the pursuit of education of the law at South Carolina Law School which is unparalleled in the history of the university.

Pinckney chapter is deeply committed to the goal of service. The ideals of a fraternity are manifested by the quality of its pursuits.

Prince Competition—Goal of Service

Seeking always the betterment of the individual student in his initiation into the law, Pinckney chapter began a program last year which was to develop into a permanent adjunct of the school's academic life; the Samuel L. Prince Intramural Moot Court Competition.

Although a regular participant in the National Moot Court Competition, the South Carolina Law School in its long history never offered a purely intramural moot court competition. Proper preparation for effective argument required that only those students who maintained a "B" average or better could participate. Consequently, the great majority of students graduated from a school of legal training without ever having prepared and argued a single case before an appellate body. In the face of such a gap in the education of otherwise skilled law graduates, a member of Pinckney Chapter conceived a program of intramural competition, a program sponsored and administered by the fraternity itself but open freely to second and third year students—truly a school-wide undertaking. The plan was broached in the early days of the fall semester to the assembled chapter. The great need for the program was conceded by all and the fitness of it for such a fraternity as ours was apparent, but could a group of students create and organize a program of this importance? The final consummation of the Prince Competition several months later well justified the fraternal enthusiasm in which the men of Pinckney gave their confident assent.

Former Dean Honored

Since the program was to be inaugurated as a service to the law school and the legal profession, it was obvious that the competition should bear the name of one noted for his love of the law in the state, the venerable Dean Emeritus of the School of Law, Samuel L. Prince. When approached, the gentleman warmly consented to the request. A formal program was held presenting him with a plaque of the competition and displaying to his approval the silver trophy to be encased in the School of Law.

In order to encourage participation in the untried venture the first year and to perpetuate excellence in years to come, it was decided the stakes for the contest of wits and skill should be high. Therefore, the first prize was agreed to be a semester's tuition to law school. The second award was settled as a semester's full book scholarship, followed by hornbook merit recognition and citations as third and fourth prizes. An appropriate financial foundation was instituted (see infra). Citations were given to all participants.

As the projected date of argument drew nearer, the men of Pinckney set to work. A team of diligent researchers was dispatched to the library to create a suitably difficult and topical case for argument. After scrupulous research, a carefully balanced test question involving the Civil Rights Act of 1964 was approved and written into final form. Other members in the meantime busily made arrangements with the school administration for the contemplated program. Still others began to sound out likely judges. The competition would be held in elimination rounds occupying three afternoons in which each contestant would argue before the three-judge panel at least once. Faced with indifference or hostility, the advance workers kept at their assignments steadily until the diverse efforts merged in one stream on the eve of the actual competition. Before that early preparation ended, practically all the men of the fraternity had joined the task—whether as behind-the-scenes organizers or as vigorous contestants.

When the final round or argument began in late November in the Federal District Court-house before a distinguished panel of judges, the Prince competition had been created and brought to fruition by a united Pinckney Chapter. The program was a striking success. The caliber of argument and research by the contestants was exceptional and the judge's comments perceptive and wise. Thirty-two students—the maximum number contemplated—had participated, each gaining invaluable experience in his education to the Law.

How is the Prince Competition to be administered and financed? The rules of the program provide that the Justice of Pinckney appoint the Chief Clerk, a critical position. As all-powerful executive, the Chief Clerk largely determines the success of the program. The line of succession in this office from year to year demands a quality of determined leadership which we look to the fraternal spirit to provide and perpetuate.

Pinckney Chapter is engaged at this moment in a long range money raising drive to endow a ten-thousand dollar fund out of which the scholarship awards, etc., are to be provided. Advance contributions financed this year's program. The present members of the fraternity alone have pledged over one thousand dollars. Fully supported by the administration and University Endowment Program, Pinckney Chapter has taken the responsibility of contacting state alumni for contributions. As part of this effort we have printed an explanatory pamphlet, the illustration and copy created by present members. Eight trustees of the fund have been contacted and confirmed, the most recent of whom is the Hon. Claude A. Taylor, Chief Justice of South Carolina. A successful endowment program will insure the continued support of the university and law school administration by a concrete example of what the fraternity was willing to do in this venture. In this fashion it is trusted that the tribute to the Dean Emeritus will endure.

A final word should be added. Plans for next year's series of arguments are underway. A Chief Clerk has been appointed who is in turn recruiting his key people. The Prince Competition represents the substance of Pinckney Chapter; it is in this "pursuit of professionalism" that the fraternity fulfills its purpose.

Continuing Programs of service

Pinckney Chapter continues to promote those programs which have proved valuable to the school as a whole and to our fraternal life.

Book Exchange

One such project is the Book Exchange, an effort we sponsor as an aid to fellow students. The past semester's program saw a new dimension in the form of out-of-state books brought in on consignment. Here the exchange was able to distribute second-hand texts which had never been used locally. Since other local sources offered only new volumes, the fraternity contributed substantially to the solvency of many students.

Student Forum

The Continuing Student Forum gives an opportunity to future advocates to speak on their feet without advance preparation. Under the "table topics" format, the presiding member throws out questions of current interest to named individuals who then are expected to respond intelligently and coherently in a brief talk. Rebuttal and counter-argument are taken from the floor. A second segment of the program presents guest speakers to the group. Practicing attorneys, public and law enforcement officials, and teachers have spoken in the past year.

The fraternity also sponsors yearly tours of the State Prison and State Hospital.

Monthly Dinner Meeting—Fraternal Life

For many, the high point of Pinckney Chapter's fraternal life is the dinner meeting held each month. A gathering of student and alumni members, interested faculty, and guests, the occasion is reminiscent of the common meals at the Inns of Court in which good fellowship in the Law was enjoyed. It is our practice to invite noted practitioners, jurists, political figures, and legislators to speak; the role of those who have addressed the fraternity grows steadily to include the names of the state's leading public figures. It was at such a dinner that the idea for the Prince Competition was presented and the enthusiasm for it first enlisted.

Union of Practical and Academic Law

Both the forum and dinner meetings are seen as opportunities for close contact with the Law as it is practiced and administered. The thrust of the two programs is to provide a sense of relevance and grasp to the study of Law in the classroom. In this union of the academic with the practical Pinckney Chapter is confident of strengthening the rule of Law in our state today.

Leaders Among Membership

Pinckney Chapter provides effective leadership in the law school. P.A.D. members hold both the Presidency of the Student Bar and the Editorship of the Law Review. Other offices and honors filled by representatives of Pinckney Chapter include the following: Secretary of Student Bar; Legislative Council members (3); Members of Law Review Editorial Board (5); Honor Council member (1); Chairman Law Day; Legal Writing Program members (3 of 4); Three of last four O.K.D. (national leadership fraternity) members from Law School; Winner, Prince Competition.

Fraternity Goals

To another chapter report it was said that Pinckney Chapter epitomized the phrase, "quality, not quantity." Since that statement was written last year, the fraternity has more than tripled from twelve to forty-two members and pledges. In growth Pinckney Chapter sets as an ideal the maintenance of the original spirit of fraternalism which has given us vitality and direction. To sustain our ideals while exerting increased influence upon the school around us is our aim—to embody the

New York Alumni Chapter Sponsors Honorary Initiation

At one of the most memorable events in recent years, the New York Alumni Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity sponsored the honorary initiation of New York State Supreme Court Justices Owen McGivern and Thomas A. Aurelio and New York City Corporation Counsel Leo Larkin by the Henry de Bracton Chapter of St. John's University School of Law. A group of over 130 active and alumni members of the New York City Alumni and Henry de Bracton Chapters met at the Overseas Press Club on March 19th, 1965 in a joint banquet to honor three prominent members of the legal profession in New York and the newly initiated brothers of the Henry de Bracton Chapter.

The evening commenced with a formal initiation of 22 new brothers into the Henry de Bracton Chapter. Participating in this function were Supreme Vice Justice Robert E. Redding, District Justice Jerome Ornstein, New

Judge Schiller Dies

Many in Utah will mourn the death of Herbert M. Schiller, former Judge and long-time University of Utah law professor.

He was not only a teacher, but also guide and mentor, to a whole generation of Utah law graduates. At a testimonial dinner in his honor it was said he had taught about 60 per cent of the practicing lawyers in the state.

His service and his interest went beyond that, although teaching and the law was his first love. During his more active years he was a staunch advocate of such forward-looking causes as a better parole system, child welfare clinics, availability of legal aid and family counseling for those in trouble, and various judicial and criminal procedure reforms.

Before obtaining his law degree at Harvard he worked for some years as a copy reader and reporter for The Tribune and always cherished that experience and a concern for the profession of journalism.

Judge Schiller was a good teacher and good citizen and good friend.

Professor Daniel J. Dykstra, of the University of Utah, described Judge Schiller as "a man of learning, a teacher who loved and respected his subjects and his students."

Judge Schiller was a member of Sutherland Chapter at the University of Utah and gave much of his time to the Chapter. His greatest interest in life during the past few years was meeting with the alumni and campus chapters of our fraternity.

motto of Phi Alpha Delta in the continuing pursuit of excellence and fraternal service.

As a result of Pinckney Chapter's active program, it has now reached parity with the competing law fraternity and is confident of maintaining the superior quality of professionalism which has been established. Pinckney Chapter pledged 34 members of the freshmen law classes, among whom are the school leaders and scholars. Six of the 9 law review candidates asked to pledge accepted the invitation.

The Toastmaster for the evening was Howard F. Cerny, prominent New York trial attorney and former Chief Tribune of Phi Alpha Delta. In addition to the honorary initiates, the dais included such prominent legal figures as Dr. Harold F. McNiece, Dean of St. John's University School of Law, Dr. John Loftus, Dean of Seton Hall Law School and Charles DiGangi, Chief Tribune.

The actual honorary initiation, which was conducted by the Henry de Bracton Chapter Justice, Joseph Asselta, was preceded by a concise but very informative biography of each of the honorary initiates. In their remarks following initiation each of the honorary initiates expressed their appreciation for being selected and also indicated that they were very much impressed with the enthusiasm which was prevalent in the New York Alumni and Henry de Bracton Chapters.

The Guest Speaker for the occasion was the Honorable Frank R. Hunter, Jr., Chief Counsel for the Subversive Activities Committee who spoke on the topic of "Balancing Freedom and Security." Mr. Hunter's remarks gave all a clearer insight into the Internal Securities Act and the function of his Committee in overseeing the administration of the law.
