Supreme Court Justices for Massachusetts, Maine and New Hampshire Initiated As Honorary Members

Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of the United States Supreme Court, Supreme Vice Justice of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity, presided at ceremonies in Boston, Massachusetts on April 11, 1966, at which the entire membership of the Supreme Judicial Courts of Massachusetts and Maine, and the Supreme Court of New Hampshire were brought into the Fraternity.

With Supreme Justice Elden S. Magaw supervising the ceremonies, a public initiation was held in the Supreme Judicial Courtroom of Massachusetts, with a reception and dinner following at the Union Club of Boston. Attending the ceremonies and dinner were the members of the three chapters in Boston: Burton, Frankfurter and the Boston Alumni Chapter. As special guests of the chapters, the pledges of Burton and Frankfurter chapters were invited to the reception and dinner, as well as the initiation ceremonies in the courtroom.

The initiation ceremony commenced at 5:30 p.m. on Monday, April 11. A court officer called the court to order and the assembled brothers of Phi Alpha Delta and their guests rose to their feet. The velvet curtains behind the wide bench parted and the Justices stepped forward, with Massachusetts Chief Justice Raymond S. Wilkins, the host, in the lead. Flanking him was Brother Clark and behind them stepped Supreme Justice Magaw and Chief Justice Frank R. Kenison. Thereafter came Chief Justice Robert B. Wilkins of Maine and the other Justices, in column of twos. They stood for a moment at their places behind the bench while a formal photograph was taken, and then they were seated.

Supreme Justice Magaw opened the ceremony and spoke of the purposes of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity and of the significance of the occasion. Brother Clark presented each of the honorary initiates with a magnificent plaque testifying to his membership in either Burton or Frankfurter chapters. Each Judge also received a beautiful key inscribed with his initials.

In lieu of administering an oath to the Justices, Mr. Justice Clark described the oath and its purposes and noted that each of the Justices had not only taken an oath to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States, but by his conduct exemplified the goals of Phi Alpha Delta, thus obviating the need for administering a further oath.

The reception, held in the beautifully appointed drawing room of the Union Club, was nothing short of a magnificent success. A full array of refreshments was available, with trays of hors d'oeuvres circulated throughout the crowd. The Judges, most of whom had brought their wives, mingled with the brethren and pledges of the local chapters. The friendly atmosphere, the warmth and informality with which the initiates met the brothers and their ladies, was evident to everyone. It was a rare opportunity for the brothers of the three chapters, and the pledges, at first somewhat over-awed by the august body of judges present, soon relaxed and became ready participants in the cocktail conversation.

Dinner was served in the delightful dining room of the Union Club. The Judges and their wives were so seated that there was at least one judge, if not two, at every table. With the dinner which included filet mignon, a rich Bordeaux wine was served. Thereafter, champagne was brought forth for the series of toasts offered by Brother Clark.

No formal program was planned. Indeed, there was not even a head table. However, at one large round table centrally located in the dining room, were seated Mr. Justice Clark, the three Chief Justices and their ladies, Supreme Justice Magaw and District Justice James H. Kendall. After dinner, Brother Clark offered a brief talk, noting the high quality of the three courts, but injecting an occasional humorous note or anecdote concerning the Chief Justices of each court. Following Brother Clark's remarks, each of the

Kansas City—Site of 1966 Convention

Kansas City is presently preparing to host the 36th Biennial National Convention of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity on August 31, 1966 through September 3, 1966.

The Muehlebach Hotel, strategically located in the center of Kansas City has been chosen as the headquarters for PAD's Convention.

Delegates from 103 active chapters and 54 alumni chapters will be present to debate the issues confronting the fraternity and to enjoy the pleasures that can be found in Kansas City.

The Supreme Chapter provides the actual cost of one round trip airline coach fare to Kansas City and in addition, for active chapters, provides a subsistence allowance for each day of travel and while at the convention, as well as to cover hotel accommodations. It is hoped, however, that as many members from each chapter as possible will attend the convention, as it will be truly an unforgettable experience. Many chapters divide the allocation among many of their members and find less expensive transportation so that more of their members can attend.

The Honorable Charles E. Whittaker, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, retired, is acting as honorary chairman for the convention and Brother Don Hutson, District VI Justice, is doing an outstanding job as General Chairman to insure that the convention will prove to be the best convention Phi Alpha Delta has ever experienced. To help them are: Bob Van Horn, Chairman of Publicity; Russell Millin, Chairman of Special Arrangements; Morris Kross, Chairman of Entertainment; and Steve Millin, Chairman of the Awards and Recognition.

Family Entertainment Plans For Convention Revealed

The families of Phi Alpha Delta will not be neglected at the forthcoming Phi Alpha Delta 36th National Biennial Convention to be held on August 29 through September 4, 1966, in Kansas City, Missouri.

On August 29, 1966, a special tour of the Nelson Gallery has been planned for the wives of the Supreme Board Members and alumni in attendance. The Nelson Gallery which is well known throughout the mid-west, houses collections of the arts of all countries and all periods from Sumeria of 3000 B.C. to painting and sculpture of the present time. In addition to Egyptian, Greek and Roman sculpture, European paintings and sculpture, there is a comprehensive group of period rooms and extensive collections of decorative arts including the Burnap collection of English Pottery. Important also is the Star collection of portrait miniatures. The Gallery is especially well known for the exhibitions of Chinese and Indian Art.

Brandeis Chapter Honors Byrd

Phi Alpha Delta welcomes to its organization the Honorable Robert C. Byrd, United States Senator from West Virginia and member of the faculty of Washington College of Law, as an Honorary Member.

Over 70 persons were in attendance to witness the Honorary Initiation of Senator Byrd, sponsored by Brandeis Chapter on March 19, 1966, at The American University, Washington College of Law.

Among those in attendance were: Honorable Sam Ervin, U. S. Senator from North Carolina; Robert E. Redding, Supreme Vice-Justice; Donald Moore, Associate Tribune; Dan Halpin, District XIII Justice; Joe Steen, Student District Justice for Districts XIII and XIV; Quentin Ertel, Student District Clerk for Districts XIII and XIV; Dr. Edwin A. Mooers, Professor Emeritus of the American University, Washington College of Law; and Dan Connell, Justice of Cardozo Chapter.

William P. Hise, Justice of Brandeis Chapter, presided at the ceremony. The minutes of the meeting at which Senator Byrd was nominated as an Honorary Member of our fraternity, were read and Supreme Vice Justice Robert Redding presented a scrap book of the event on behalf of Phi Alpha Delta.

Following the ceremony, Professor Louis Clay James, Professor of Law at the American University and faculty advisor for Brandeis Chapter, spoke about Senator Byrd as a student at the American University, Washington College of Law, while a member of the House of Representatives in the United States Senate. He presented the scroll to Senator Byrd.

John Harper, former Justice of Brandeis Chapter and present Executive Secretary of the Washington Alumni Chapter, spoke of Senator Byrd as a classmate and presented him the Honorary Membership Key. During Brother Harper's speech he referred to the fact that it was at their graduation, that the late President Kennedy made his famous American University Speech on Nuclear Disarmament and that just before the formal speech began, the late President, directing his remarks to Senator Byrd, facetiously said that he was very proud of the fact that it was only going to take him 30 minutes to earn his law degree while it took Senator Byrd 6 academic and 10 calendar years to earn his degree.

After the initiation, a reception was held, at which Senator Byrd and Senator Ervin spoke. Senator Byrd said, "I consider it a high honor to be admitted to membership in this fraternity, the purpose of which is service to law students, to law school and the legal profession." The reception gave the brothers and guests an opportunity to meet with the two Senators and the other Honorable guests in attendance.

PAD Named NAA President

Brother Edward C. Sweeney, alumnus member of Fuller Chapter, was recently elected president of the National Aeronautics Association, after having served as Treasurer of the organization for many years.

Brother Sweeney has accepted the presidency of an association of over 66,000 members and has pledged to increase the respect and influence of the National Aeronautics Association in the aeronautical world.

His theme for 1966 is "Interest Our Youngsters in Aeronautics." Brother Sweeney feels that "this should call on all of us to take a new viewpoint, to get away from special and personal interests and to endeavor to work with our youngsters so they will be better prepared to take over the duties of keeping aviation and aeronautics in the top position it so well deserves."

Message From The Supreme Justice

The 36th Biennial Phi Alpha Delta National Convention to be held on August 31 through September 3, 1966, in Kansas City, will surpass all of our prior conventions, as can be seen by the plans outlined in this issue of the Reporter. The convention committee chairmen have done an outstanding job to insure that each brother in attendance will have the time of his life. Among the brothers who have given a great deal of time to the convention planning are: Robert VanHorn, Publicity Chairman; Russell Millin, Special Arrangements Chairman; Stephen B. Millin, Awards and Recognition Chairman; and Don Hutson, General Convention Chairman, as well as the members of the Kansas City Alumni Chapter.

Brother Hutson's wife, Betty Hutson, has given much of her time as chairman of the women's activities to insure that the wives of those in attendance will have a memorable time while their husbands are making the decisions which will govern the operation of our fraternity for the next two years.

Since the last issue of The Reporter, I have had the opportunity to meet and greet many of you throughout the country.

On Friday morning, March 18, 1966, I went to New York for a visitation with Livingston Chapter at Columbia Law School, DeBracton Chapter at St. Johns, and New York University, Rapallo Chapter and its advisor Professor Elmer Million.

The Columbia Chapter has about 60 members of which number 32 attended the luncheon at which Professor Ares of New York University Law School was present and principal speaker on Pre-Trial Detention. This is a regular part of their professional program and has resulted in a larger and better quality group. I was greatly impressed by their appearance and their obvious superior quality of student membership.

They were very appreciative of my visit as well as a prior visit of the District Justice, Jerry Ornsteen. I encouraged the Chapter to bring faculty members into their chapter to submit honorary membership nominations.

The DeBracton Chapter at St. Johns is a splendid group with a good professional program and is greatly respected by Dean McNeice and Associate Dean Murphy, both of whom were present to greet me at the reception held for me at the Law School and which was attended by most of the chapter which numbers about 90. As I previously reported, they support all the activities of P.A.D. in the New York area.

My visit to N.Y.U. coincided with their vacation so no one was around except Professor Million.

On Monday morning I left for Columbia, South Carolina, to visit the excellent Pinckney Chapter at Columbia, South Carolina, where the University is located. This is the chapter which, as I reported two years ago, has the complete support and cooperation of Dean Figg who is one of our best boosters. My visit was to pay my respects to him and to thank him personally for the support and cooperation he has given the Chapter.

He gave me an excellent report on the Chapter and is particularly proud that the Moot Court Program, run by P.A.D., is now used by the Law School to select their entries in the National Moot Court competition.

We had a very nice luncheon well attended by the Chapter. Its Justice, George Nicholson, Jr., is a good leader, as are the Vice Justice, Rudy Barlow, Marshall, Chuck Simons. The latter is the son of the U.S. District Judge recently approved for honorary membership.

Also in attendance was the very personable A. Ray Berry, Esquire, Justice of the Alumni Chapter. We discussed a few projects aimed at increasing the membership and activity of the Alumni Chapters.

On Tuesday evening, I went to Camden, New Jersey, to assist as Justice, in the installation of our 105th chapter, and now our one hundredth active chapter, Frelinghuysen Chapter at Rutgers Law School. Jerry Ornsteen, the District Justice, Book Hopkins, Justice of the Philadelphia Alumni Chapter, Don Copeland, former Justice of the Alumni Chapter, and the Justice of Roberts Chapter, were the installation team.

The installation of this fine chapter took place in a very nice

Campbell Initiates Justice Black

Justice Eugene F. Black of the Michigan Supreme Court was initiated as an honorary brother by Supreme Justice, Dr. Elden S. Magaw, at the annual initiation banquet of Campbell Chapter of the University of Michigan held in Ann Arbor, Michigan on March 6, 1966. Following the bestowing of honorary membership, Campbell Chapter alumni advisor, Judge James R. Breakey Jr., paid tribute to Justice Black. Then Justice Black spoke expressing his views of the practice of law today, both to its successes, and to its failures, emphasizing that though the law is not to be neglected, it is the proper handling of the facts which is most important to the lawyer.

Accompanying Justice Black were his wife and his son Douglas Black, attorney in Port Huron, Michigan. In addition to serving on the Michigan Supreme Court, Justice Black has served as Michigan Attorney General, St. Clair County Circuit Court Judge and private practitioner in Port Huron, Michigan. Campbell chapter faculty, alumni, and active members and their wives attended the banquet, which was held at Weber's restaurant in Ann Arbor. Brothers George Hamilton and William Garber were co-chairmen of the affair which turned out the most successful in recent chapter history. Following the banquet, a party was held at the apartment of James Sprowl.

Preceding the initiation was the initiation of Campbell chapter's pledge class of 1965-66. Supreme Justice Magaw presided over the initiation team which included James Westin, chapter justice, Robert Hollenshead, vice justice, Stephen Small, secretary, Edwin Hall, treasurer, and Ronald Egnor, marshal.

Other chapter activities for the year have been an indigent defense program, legal internship program and a weekly luncheon speaker series. The indigent defense program has consisted of a member of Campbell chapter working along with a court appointed lawyer for a defense of indigent criminal defendants.

This program has worked very successfully and has provided our chapter with experience in criminal matters as well as a one-to-one supervision arrangement with the court appointed lawyer. This has resulted in giving responsibility and experience to the fraternity brothers and yet has avoided the pitfalls due to lack of knowledge and experience which has hindered some of the strictly student run legal aid programs. In conjunction with their legal aid program, Campbell chapter has established a legal internship program with local alumni of PAD. This program has allowed active members to observe, discuss and tackle problems that lawyers in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area are faced with in their respective practices. The experience has certain advantages since it is not remunerative. In this way Campbell chapter members are quite free to work on matters strictly of their own choosing.

Finally, Campbell chapter has conducted a weekly luncheon program with speakers biweekly. Speakers have come from various areas of and connected with the law, including law school and other University professors, law enforcement officials, and local judiciary and attorneys.

Visiting professor Marilyn Lugar from Wiley chapter of West Virginia recently installed the new chapter officers for the academic year of 1966-67. They are Edwin Hall, justice, George Hamilton, vice justice, Curt Davis, secretary, Elden Butzbaugh, treasurer, and John Meeker, marshal. Professor Marcus Plant will continue to serve as faculty advisor.

Campbell chapter has had four brothers honored recently.

Frelinghuysen Chapter Installed at Rutgers

On March 22, 1966, Phi Alpha Delta welcomed the 26 law students who petitioned for the establishment of a local chapter to be established at Rutgers School of Law—South Jersey Division.

The installation and initiation ceremonies occurred in Courtroom #2 located in the Camden County Courthouse. The installation team composed of Supreme Justice Elden S. Magaw, District Justice Jerome E. Ornsteen, Justice H. Book Hopkins, Elden S. Magaw Alumni Chapter; Justice Jeffrey Weiner, Roberts Chapter; and Donald F. Copeland, Elden S. Magaw Alumni Chapter.

Thus, the 100th active chapter and the 105th Chartered Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta was created.

The newly inducted members then received the honored symbols of membership in the fraternity, the PAD monogram recognition button and a red carnation.

The Charter Officers of Freylinghuysen Chapter were then installed. They are, Andrew J. Rodnite, Justice; John A. Jones, Joseph Ballway and William Pelster were appointed to the senior staff of the Michigan Law Review, and Stephen Small and Peter Eppings were selected members of Order of the Coif.

Campbell chapter has also conducted social activities including a picnic to begin the year and an awards night at the Old Heidelberg-reputed for its beer and crowd attracting ability.

Vice Justice; Edward J. Hulse, Jr., Clerk; Frederick W. Hardt, Treasurer; and Arthur J. Fulginiti, Marshal.

Following the installation ceremonies, a cocktail party and banquet were held at Kenney's Restaurant in Camden, New Jersey.

The date of the installation was especially appropriate in that it coincided almost exactly with the founding of South Jersey School of Law in March 1926, the predecessor of the present school and also coincided with the Bicentennial Anniversary of Rutgers, the State University which had been granted a colonial charter in 1766.

One of the first activities which the chapter undertook, was to sponsor the first Law Day Luncheon for Rutgers School of Law—South Jersey Division.

DELEGATES AND THEIR WIVES AND DATES ENJOYED THE BANQUET AND DANCE FOLLOWING THE DISTRICT II AND III CONCLAVE.

EDMONDS CHAPTER INSTALLED DURING DISTRICT II AND III CONCLAVE

The 15th annual Conclave of Districts II and III on April 16, 1966 held in San Francisco marked the occasion for the installation of the 101st Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity, Douglas L. Edmonds Chapter at Santa Clara University School of Law. The new Chapter was named after Justice Douglas L. Edmonds, Justice of the California Supreme Court and Past Supreme Justice of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity, who is now deceased.

Mrs. Douglas L. Edmonds, widow of the late Justice, was present to wish the new Chapter well and to present to its Charter Justice, D. Gerald Brown, a portrait of Judge Edmonds as well as a certificate presented to the Justice by Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity and a biography of him.

Delegates from Field Chapter, Matt I. Sullivan Chapter, Temple Chapter, Ford Chapter, McKenna Chapter, Beaumont Chapter, and Edmonds Chapter were present at the Conclave to witness the installation of the new Chapter.

The Conclave commenced promptly at 9:00 A.M. at the San Francisco Bar Association Lounge in the Mills Tower.

During the morning, Chapter Workshops were conducted on rushing, finances, social activities, professional activities and alumni relations. In the finance workshop, Temple Chapter reported the success of its Xerox program, which netted over $700.00 for the chapter. Temple Chapter has leased a xerox machine and charges nine cents per copy for the use of the machine and seven cents for each page of moot court briefs. The student who operates the machines receives an income of one cent per copy. The success of the program is shown by the fact that over 40,000 copies were made in an eight month period. Temple Chapter reported that in order to make this program a success, regular business hours must be kept.

The delegates from McKenna Chapter reported on their fund raising project, which is selling study outlines to the students. They stated that during the first few years, most of the profits are directed toward building an inventory of outlines. The outlines used by McKenna Chapter are purchased from the students who have prepared them and are reviewed by law review students and faculty members. The advantage of these outlines lies in the fact that they include a summary of classroom lectures as well as an outline of the text. Last year McKenna Chapter netted $800.00 from the sale of these outlines. Next year they contemplate selling these outlines to students in the neighboring law schools of USC and Loyola. The outlines are sold at a reduced price to members of McKenna, Ross and Ford Chapters.

Field Chapter reported its fund raising activity, which is the sale of theater tickets. The tickets are obtained by the chapter at a reduced price and then sold to the students at a profit.

Columbus Site of District IX Conclave

On April 15 & 16, 1966, District IX held its annual conclave in Columbus, Ohio, where McKinley Chapter served as host.

Delegates were present from Campbell Chapter, Coke Chapter, Cooley Chapter, Grant Chapter, Jay Chapter, Hoffman Chapter, Meck Chapter, McKinley Chapter, and Willis Chapter. In addition, Brothers from Central Ohio, Cincinnati and Cleveland Alumni Chapters were present.

On Friday, April 15, 1966, a reception was held for the arriving delegates.

Early Saturday morning, the delegates met for breakfast and then gathered in the meeting room for a welcome address by Brother Kenneth Segal, District IX Justice. Panel discussions were then held on finances, rushing, professional programs and social programs, led by Meck Chapter, Hay Chapter, Campbell Chapter and Coke Chapter, respectively.

The professional program discussion group included discussion on the criminal indigent program, legal clerkship internship, paid legal research for local judges, and a student directory at Chase College of Law.

During the panel discussion on social activities, McKinley Chapter reported on the P.H.T. (PUTTING HIM THROUGH) Degree, which is presented to the wives of the law students.

Following the panel discussion groups, the delegates adjourned for lunch where they heard speeches from Dean Ivan C. Rutledge, Dean of the Ohio State University College of Law, and Mr. Arnold Morelli, Assistant United States Attorney, from Cincinnati, Ohio.

Following lunch, the delegates selected Campbell Chapter as the host of the 1967 Conclave and elected the 1967 District Officers, who included the election of a delegate from each of the active chapters to the post of "advocate" in lieu of the student district marshal.

That evening the delegates, their wives and dates attended a banquet at which Brother Robert E. Redding, Supreme Vice Justice was the main speaker. Following dinner, all those in attendance enjoyed dancing to the music by "The Grads."

Justice Clark Speaks at District X Conclave

Justice Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and Supreme Vice Justice of our fraternity, spoke at the recent District X Conclave held in Nashville, Tennessee.

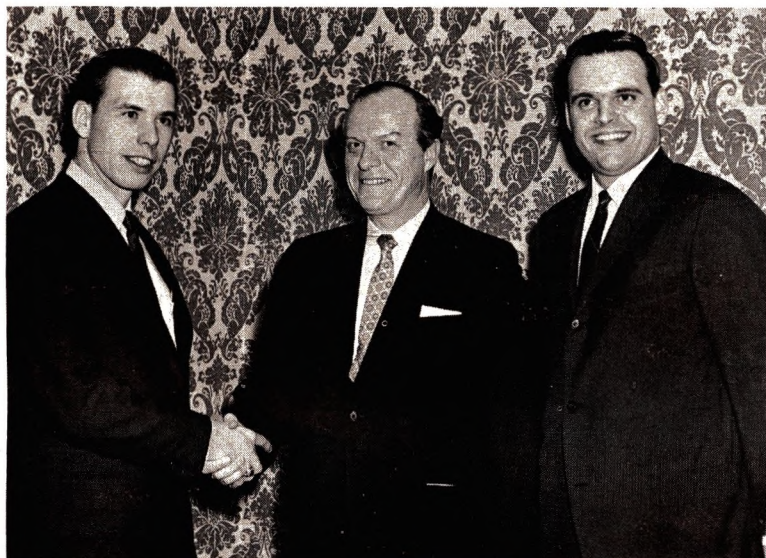

Brother Clark told those present that some state and local bar associations are neglecting their duty to promote ethics in the legal profession.

Brother Clark said "The American Bar Association is doing a good job but the real work has to be done by the state and local associations." He said he also felt it is the duty of bar associations to integrate. "I have always been in favor of an integrated bar," he said. "We have had an integrated bar in Texas for many years."

In addition, Brother Clark spoke on the lack of emphasis on instruction in criminal law and trial techniques. "Some law schools are doing a terrible job on criminal law," he said. "I was surprised to learn recently that many schools only require students to take a one-quarter course in this area. Criminal law is still regarded as the backbone of the legal profession."

District VI Conclave In Fayetteville

The Holiday Inn in Fayetteville, Arkansas was headquarters for District VI's First Annual Conclave on March 11 and 12, 1966. Hosting the affair was the Augustus H. Garland Chapter of the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. Other District VI Phi Alpha Delta Chapters in attendance and the law schools they represented were: Benson Chapter, Washburn University, Topeka, Kansas; Benton Chapter, University of Missouri at Kansas City, Kansas City, Missouri; Green Chapter, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas; Hardy Chapter, University of Tulsa, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Harlan Chapter, University of Oklahoma, Norman, Oklahoma; Lawson Chapter, University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri; Sullivan Chapter, University of St. Louis, St. Louis, Missouri; and Vaught Chapter, Oklahoma City University, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

The weekend activities began on Friday evening with registration and a get acquainted cocktail party. Some 75 PAD's and their ladies attended this affair.

Saturday morning at 8:00 A.M., the Chapter Justices and the District and National Officers assembled for a breakfast meeting to discuss last minute details and plans for the Conclave.

By the time of the opening of the Conclave, an hour and a half later, some 40 actives were in attendance and listened to welcoming remarks by John Butt, Student District Justice, Don Stumbaugh, Justice of Garland Chapter, and Ralph C. Barnhart, Dean, University of Arkansas Law School.

Following the welcomes, Don Hutson, District VI Justice, introduced the Honorable Alex Hotchkiss, Supreme Marshal, who gave the keynote address. Judge Hotchkiss gave an effective and inspirational talk on the purposes of Phi Alpha Delta and their carry over in later life. Following Brother Hotchkiss's address, the delegates adjourned to reconvene into five committees: Chapter Activities, Chapter Financing, Expansion and Reactivation, Resolutions and By-Laws, and Conclave and Nomination. The Committees met until the noon hour.

One of the most enjoyable sessions of the entire Conclave was the Toastmaster Luncheon held in the Gold Room of the Holiday Inn. Toastmaster was District Justice, Don Hutson. Each active and alumnus member present was given a number at the door and when called upon by Topicmaster, Tom Pitner, was requested to speak for one minute on an assigned topic (from a variety of legal and humorous subjects). Embarrassment was kept to a minimum by the realization that others suffered from the same lack of preparation. The number of faux pas was exceeded only by the laughter and merriment of the group.

When the Toastmaster portion of the program was completed, Dr. Elden S. Magaw, Supreme Justice, spoke to the delegates on the subject, "A Report from National".

The Conclave's afternoon business session, held in the Courtroom of the University of Arkansas Law School, afforded an opportunity for a chapter workshop on alumni relations and committee reports.

Brother Dave Evans of Sullivan Chapter, gave his report on the alumni re-activation and its forthcoming dinner on May 7, 1966, at which time Justice Whitaker of the United States Supreme Court will attend as the featured speaker. The response from the alumni in St. Louis and the St. Louis area which numbers around 350, has been most favorable.

The next report, from Benton Chapter, was given by Brother Brian Hall. He told the delegates of the "Brown Bottle Affair," that has become a tradition at Benton Chapter and is held at the Schlitz Brewery in Kansas City. His Chapter has found this to be an effective method to keep the alumni active. Another tradition at Benton Chapter is the Bovine Scoop. It is awarded to the most deserving of the alumni and is taken into custody by him until the new award is made. Many famous men have had their names engraved upon it.

Brother Kurt Schulke, of Benson Chapter, outlined the procedures followed by his Chapter during the preparations for Founder's Day. The delegates were told to start planning as early as possible, to pick out from the active and alumni Chapters, co-ordinators who would meet regularly and plan together the program, site and activities. Beginning about two months from the date of Founder's Day, the first mailing should go out to all alumni in the state giving notice to all to write down the date, and if desired, to send in reservations to the alumni treasurer or whom ever is designated. Accommodations should already have been arranged at one or more local motels. Class Co-ordinators should be sent a special letter instructing them to contact members of their graduating class. These men are picked at random. Benson Chapter arranged with National to have a letter mailed. This letter reached the alums about a week before the Founder's Day. In addition, members of the active chapter made personal contacts within the City of Topeka. A golf tournament was held in the afternoon at a pre-arranged golf club. Weekly meetings were held during the last month before Founder's Day to iron out as many bugs as possible. Brother Schulke stated that due to the co-ordination and co-operation between an organized alumni chapter and active chapter, the last Founder's Day was the best in the history of Benson Chapter.

The next report was given by Brother Mike Garrett of Lawson Chapter, who instructed the delegates as to the procedures and typical schedule of their "Law Day". The festivities at Lawson Chapter begin with a Law Day Breakfast which all actives and alumni make a point to attend. This function kicks off the days activities and around which all functions are oriented. Many activities are planned to interest and encourage the participation of attending alumni.

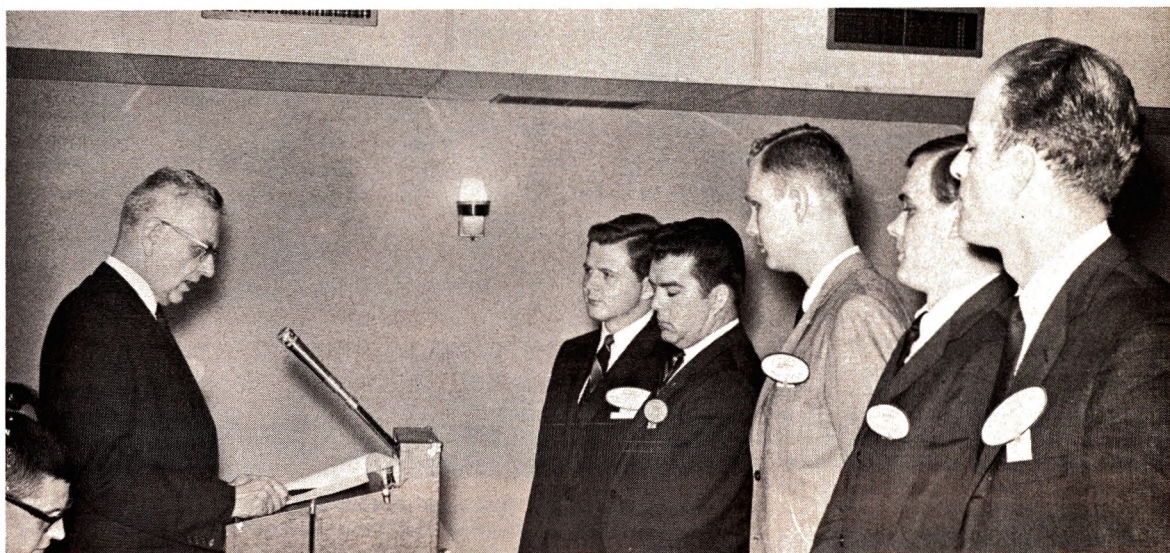

Questions were asked from the floor and a great deal of interest was expressed by all the Chapters. The workshop was set up so that the reports would be representative of the various sizes of the Chapters within the District. Delegates from Harlan and Hardy Chapters were most interested in talking further with those who gave reports on how to activate the alumni in their cities. Hardy Chapter suggested the initiation of a Seminar project to induce the alumni to become more active.

Brother Tom Pitner of Green Chapter related certain pending projects at Kansas University, one of which was an apartment complex being converted to a PAD Center.

Following the workshop, plans were discussed and formulated for expansion of the Fraternity to the new Law School at Little Rock, Arkansas and for reactivation of Champ Clark Chapter

Prior to the Christmas holidays, the brothers of Livingstone Chapter devised a program to help the less fortunate residents in a poverty stricken neighborhood in New York City have a little fun during the Christmas season as well as to provide them with some needed winter garments.

The project consisted of collecting clothing from all students at Columbia Law School during the last week before Christmas vacation.

The clothing, in the form of gifts, was then distributed at a party held in the neighborhood.

This activity proved to be extremely rewarding to all members who participated.

The members of Livingstone Chapter then attended their annual pre-Christmas party at which 18 brothers and their wives and dates attended the "Skyscraper" and then a cocktail party at a brother's apartment following the theatre.

Supreme Courts

Chief Justices offered a few remarks by way of rebuttal, and Supreme Justice Magaw concluded the program with remarks concerning his recent activities and observations on the fine growth of Phi Alpha Delta and the many dedicated brothers who are aiding in this development. After dinner and the brief program which followed it, the members and their guests moved back to the drawing room for further conversation and a sampling of the superb liqueurs which were served there.

In the days which immediately followed the ceremonies and dinner, the comment most often heard among the brothers was "Is there some way we can do that again next year?"

Of the three Chief Justices and fifteen Associate Justices, representing the full judiciary of the three courts, only one Judge was unable to attend, because of an illness. If tributes may be given for the development and conduct of this fine program, there is no question but that Mr. Justice Clark proved once again his dedication to Phi Alpha Delta and the legal profession.

Williams Heads Georgetown Alumni

Brother Edward Bennett Williams was recently named National Chairman of the 1965-1966 Georgetown University Alumni Annual Fund by the President of the University and the President of the Alumni Association.

Brother Williams is a prominent Washington, D. C. attorney who is helping to make a defense of criminal cases once more a branch of modern legal practice. He has represented rightwingers and communists, movie stars and sports celebrities, union leaders and gamblers.

At a time when individual rights have been threatened, Brother Williams has made his career a constant struggle for constitutional liberty through law. In honoring the onus of guilt by client, he has taken cases because the United States Constitution guarantees counsel to all. No one, Williams believes, would criticize a physician or clergyman for helping a client with a heinous moral character. "Only the lawyer is expected to turn away a client because society regards him as socially, morally, or politically obnoxious," he wrote in his book One Man's Freedom. (Atheneum, 1962).

Brother Williams was born in 1920 in Connecticut and attended Holy Cross College in Worcester, Massachusetts where he was a leading debater and served as president of the Philosophical Society. He received his B.A. degree summa cum laude, and enlisted in the U. S. Army Air Force in 1941.

Upon returning to civilian life, after having received a medical discharge after two years when he sustained a back injury, Williams enrolled at Georgetown University Law School in Washington, D. C. where he became a member of Taft Chapter.

Brother Williams belongs to the President's Lawyers Committee on Civil Rights, and is a member of the American College of Trial Lawyers, the International Academy of Trial Lawyers, the Barristers, the American Bar Association, and the District of Columbia Bar Association.

Most important event that occurred at the Founder's Day banquet was honoring Hon. Alex Hotchkiss, Judge of the District Court of Osage County, Kansas and Supreme Marshall of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity by naming the Topeka Alumni Chapter in his name.

Timberlake Experiences Good Year

Approximately 85 Alumni Brothers and their guests attended a buffet lunch at the Timberlake Chapter House sponsored by the active chapter on Friday, April 1, 1966 in conjunction with the UCC Institute. There were many alumni brothers who were visiting the house for the first time since they left school and still others who paid the house its first visit on the new campus. All in attendance appreciated the opportunity to get together in a group and talk with brother PADS. This affair also provided the initial step in a program to furnish an opportunity for alumni brothers to be able to get together and compare notes on activities.

The Professional Committee has also been very active. On March 23 Attorney Jim Booker spoke to the chapter. Mr. Booker is a distinguished member of the Forsyth County Bar and drew statewide attention for his role as defense attorney in a recent murder trial.

Mr. Sam Ragan, Executive Editor of the News and Observer, spoke to the April Professional meeting. Mr. Ragan has distinguished himself as a newspaper man and an author. He has served as a member of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Free Press-Fair Trial Committee which is worked with a similar blue ribbon committee from the American Bar Association.

On April 16, 1966, the brothers, pledges, wives and dates enjoyed the Spring Banquet at the Parkway Chalet, where they heard Malcolm Seawell, a prominent PAD Alumnus and former State Attorney General who is now in private practice and serves as Chairman of the State Board of the Elections and heads the State Government Law and Order Committee.

Judges Sponsor Inter-Disciplinary Training Conference

In a unique move to strengthen continuing education the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges sponsored an inter-disciplinary conference on May 22-25 for the directors of leading in-service training programs. The Conference, at the Illinois Beach State Park Lodge, represented an effort to share the experience of a current four year judge training program with those who are training doctors, clergymen, business executives and other highly specialized adults.

The National Council learned at the Conference the latest training methods and techniques used in other disciplines. In discussing such topics as trainee selection, program structure and evaluation, the Conference heard from PAD Assistant U.S. Attorney General, Ernest C. Friesen, Jr., former dean of the College of State Trial Judges. Also on the program were Daniel L. Skoler, Associate Director, Office of Law Enforcement Assistance of the U.S. Department of Justice; James E. Barron, Consultant, Business Education, General Electric Company; Reverend Connolly C. Gamble, Jr., Director, Department of Continuing Education, Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Virginia; and Thomas O'Farrell, Director, Hospital Research and Educational Trust.

"Continuing education is more advanced in other professions," John F. X. Irving, Executive Director, National Council of Juvenile Court Judges, said "but our efforts have been highly innovative and pervasive. The National Council has provided training sessions for more than one thousand juvenile court judges and five hundred court staff in the last four years.

"We believe we can offer the Conference participants valuable training experience in areas of common interest. We know we can learn a great deal from what they are doing. This Conference provides the opportunity for exchange of ideas and experiences in the rapidly growing field of adult education."

The fifteen organizations represented at the Conference included the American Academy of Pediatrics, American Nurses Association, National Council of Churches, Continuing Legal Education programs of the Illinois and Minnesota Bar Associations, Council on Social Work Education and the Western Interstate Commission For Higher Education.

The National Council of Juvenile Court Judges comprises 1,500 judges with jurisdiction over children and youth. With headquarters at the American Bar Center, the National Council expects to be heavily involved in continuing education especially as federal court decisions may require interpretation to the local judges. The National Council is dedicated to improving the administration of justice for juveniles through training, original research and cooperation with other organizations who have similar objectives.

nile Court, Washington, D.C.

During his three years as head of Philadelphia's Police Department, Commissioner Leary earned widespread praise for curtailing crime in the subways, modernizing police communications, thwarting holdups with anticipatory stakeouts, initiating 5-man specially equipped patrol cars, and raising the department's morale. Brother Leary introduced police dogs for patrol in the subways as a crime deterrent. He also originated a computer system to quickly identify high-crime areas.

As a special project to enhance police personnel, Philadelphia's former Commissioner launched a recruiting drive with a "recruitment mobile," a trailer containing police exhibits and a basic testing center. Commissioner Leary has encouraged college education for policemen and permitted them to work "4 to 12" shifts to enable them to attend college during the day.

At the present time Kansas University Law School is a state school located in Lawrence, Kansas and Washburn Law School is a private law school located at the state capitol at Topeka. The possible combination of the two law schools has been a subject of much debate for the past several years. Supreme Justice

Court Room, and present were four members of the DeBracton Chapter who came down from New York for this event and, among others, Joseph Kelley, Esquire, of Atlantic City, New Jersey, and the Justice of the Chapter at the time I was present to install it eight years ago in Detroit, at Wayne State University.

In addition to approximately 30 students, three faculty members were also initiated. We believe the chapter will be an excellent one.

On Friday, April 1, 1966, I flew to Atlanta to meet District Justice Frank Maloney and Brother Tom Powell, for a visit to the three Georgia Chapters.

Our brief visit was to Mercer Law School at Macon, Georgia, where we visited with the Dean who spoke well of our chapter, and lunched with the chapter members who did not have class. This is an excellent chapter.

We then drove to Athens, Georgia, to visit our chapter at the University. About 4 P.M. there was a short meeting of the chapter at a very nice motel, then a reception. Dean Cowen attended the reception and spoke very favorably with regard to our chapter and its fine professional program. We then had dinner with the group after which we drove to Atlanta for a meeting with the Chapter at Emory Law School. This is also a very fine chapter. The chapter advisor, formerly a professor at Temple Law School, Professor Marquis, was also present. After I addressed the group, we then proceeded to the beautiful and very spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Powell, for a lovely reception. Frank and I were overnight guests with the Powells, who continue their interest and support of P.A.D. just as they did when they lived in Birmingham where he had been District Justice.

On Saturday morning I flew to Houston. District Justice, our very efficient District Justice, took me first to South Texas Law School and its very fine Samuel Houston Chapter. This is a very well qualified and professionally oriented group.

We then visited the chapter at the University of Houston, Hickman Chapter, and in a very appropriate setting, one of the courtrooms. I assisted in the initiation of some thirty pledges. They are indeed a splendid group of which we are justifiably proud. That evening there was a very nice reception and dance at the Renada Inn, where it was my privilege to address the brothers and their wives or dates.

On Sunday morning we flew to New Orleans, where we were met by the dedicated and loyal Justice of the New Orleans Alumni Chapter, Jimmy Johnson, and the very capable Justice of the O'Neill Chapter at Loyola.

Jimmy drove us to Baton Rouge, where it was my privilege to meet the chapter advisor, Professor Dakin, and Professor Wex Malone, both of whom have been so helpful to the chapter. It was also a great honor to assist in the pledging ceremony for 80 pledges, a splendid group. We had lunch with Professor Dakin and several of the members, after which we returned to New Orleans. I assisted in the pledge ceremony for five very well qualified pledges. This group is a splendid one, although it is in its first year. The dean was present and it was very nice to visit with him. He is a very interested and loyal P.A.D., and we appreciate his support.

On Tuesday morning, April 5, 1966, I flew from New Orleans to Tulsa for a luncheon meeting with the officers and alumni, including Judge Rooney McNerney, who is very much interested in, and helpful to, Hardy Chapter. This is an excellent chapter and is prominent in law school activities. The law school was having spring vacation, therefore, I did not meet all the members.

From Tulsa I went to the University of Oklahoma to visit Harlan Chapter in Norman. I was very graciously received by a welcoming committee and Dean Kuntz, who is very proud of this chapter and its contribution to the law school. I was the guest of honor at a luncheon, which was very well attended. The chapter had an excellent pledge class of 86 members.

Wednesday, April 6, 1966, was a most significant date for the excellent Vaught Chapter at the University of Oklahoma City. Prior to a dinner meeting with members and alumni, an initiation ceremony for induction into membership of several of Oklahoma City's most prominent attorneys was conducted in the splendid and spacious courtroom of Chief Judge Alfred P. Murrah. Brother Murrah and Brother Ben Williams, Supreme Court of Oklahoma, were both present and addressed the group with very appropriate remarks.

On April 8, 1966, I went to Nashville for the District X Conclave, with Lurton Chapter at Vanderbilt Law School the host chapter. This is an excellent District, and our District Justice, Joe Harkins, is doing an excellent job. The conclave, an excellent one, started in a splendid fashion, a reception in the lovely and spacious home of one of Nashville's leading attorneys, the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Carmack Cochran.

At the breakfast the following morning, Brother Tom Clark was principal speaker, and his address was very well received. A business meeting was held there after concerning fraternity matters. At the luncheon, where I was principal speaker, I had the privilege of conferring honorary membership upon Honorable William E. Miller, a United States District Judge, whose obvious interest will mean much to our chapter in Nashville.

The business meeting was continued following the luncheon, along with the various chapter reports. All were represented except Lamar Chapter at the University of Mississippi.

Morgan Chapter, University of Alabama, holds the top position on the Law Review, and has an excellent professional program. It has 80 members.

Lurton Chapter at Vanderbilt is an excellent one with 80 members, from beginning of three years ago. Henry Bushkin, Student District Justice, and Howard Nations are excellent leaders, as is the Justice, Alvin Adams. I am indeed happy to announce that the chapter advisor of this fine chapter is the distinguished Dean John Wade. We are most grateful for his interest and support.

Vinson Chapter, University of Louisville Law School, has about 85 members. It is an excellent chapter, and its delegates volunteered its services in assisting Clay Chapter in its next rush function.

Hull Chapter, Howard College, Cumberland Law School, in Birmingham, Alabama, is an excellent chapter with 103 members and 14 pledges. Dean Weeks, a very loyal and dedicated P.A.D., has been most helpful to the chapter. This chapter will be host chapter for next year's conclave.

McReynolds Chapter, University of Tennessee Law School, is also an excellent chapter. Its membership, including pledges, is 80. Professor Dix Noel has been very helpful to the chapter over the years and we are grateful for his interest.

On April 11, 1966, I was in Boston for the program honoring the Justices of the Supreme Courts of Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

On Friday, April 15, I flew to San Francisco for the joint Conclave of Districts II and III, where District Justice Frank Worthington had laid the plans for a most enjoyable conclave, including the installation of our hundred-and-first active chapter, the Edmond's Chapter at Santa Clara. One of the highlights of the Conclave was, of course, the induction into honorary membership of Attorney General Lynch and the distinguished President of the California Bar Association, John Sutro.

On Monday, April 18, 1966, I was in Salt Lake City for a visit with District Justice Nelson Day and his lovely wife. I also visited the Sutherland Chapter. I was very graciously received by Dean Thurman and enjoyed very much, the visit to the new home of the excellent School of Law. A most pleasant luncheon, attended by alumni and members, including the very dedicated alumni Justice, Don Hamill, had been arranged. I enjoyed talking to the group and I am sure we can expect good news, not only about the chapter, but also its alumni organization.

On Friday, April 22, 1966, I went to Newark, New Jersey, where the excellent Patterson Chapter of Seton Hall Law School was Host Chapter. The conclave was a very good one and I regret that the date which conflicted with the end of the year demands of final examination preparation, prevented representatives from the Boston Chapters from attending. The new District Justice, Tom Nelipowitz, was present and has assumed the duties of his position. We are very grateful for the services of Dean Kendall, who was so helpful in the establishment of the chapters, and the arrangements for the honoring of the three courts in Boston.

The chapters in the District, are in good condition. DeBracton, is an amazing as well as superb, chapter. They support, not only the other chapters in New York City, but also send members to attend affairs of chapters outside New York City. I firmly believe that DeBracton, St. Johns, and Patterson at Seton Hall, are the two top chapters in the country at the present time.

At the conclave a considerable number of pledges were inducted into membership in DeBracton Chapter. It was my honor to officiate at this induction. DeBracton will host the joint conclave next year.

On Monday, April 25, I flew to Williamsburg, Virginia, to pay my respects to the retiring dean, Dean Woodbridge, and to visit Wyth Chapter, also to conduct the initiation ceremony for a very nice pledge class.

As can be seen by my visitations, my reign as Supreme Justice of our fraternity for the last two years has been most enjoyable, in that it has given me an opportunity to meet so many fine brothers throughout the country.

My experience has also been a rewarding one, in that during the last two years, I witnessed the installation of 7 new chapters and the activation of Hay Chapter. The new chapters which have been installed since September 1964 are: Harold Burton Chapter, at Boston University School of Law; Felix Frankfurter Chapter at Suffolk University School of Law; Charles O'Neill Chapter at Loyola University School of Law in New Orleans; John Adams Chapter at the University of Indiana Law School at Bloomington; Theodore Freylinhuysen Chapter at Rutgers State University School of Law at Camden, New Jersey; Douglas Edmonds Chapter at Santa Clara University School of Law; and Robert LaFollette Chapter at Marquette University School of Law. In addition, as this issue is received, Kenneth D. McKeller Chapter at Memphis State University School of Law will be installed, making 8 new chapters joining Phi Alpha Delta in the last two years.

I wish to thank each of you

DISTRICT II & III CONCLAVE

jects for next year include the publishing of a student directory by Temple Chapter with the sale of ads to defray costs and the sale of the books at a profit. The delegate from McKenna Chapter suggested that a firm may be found who would be willing to print the directory free of charge for the exclusive right to advertise in the directory.

The problem of collection was also discussed at the finance workshop. It was agreed by all of the delegates present that continued personal contact was the best method for collection of dues. With chapters exceeding 100 members where continuous personal contact is impractical, regular billing is the best insurance of collection. It was also agreed that providing an incentive such as a reduction in the amount of dues for early payment was a good method of collecting dues in the early part of the year. The finance workshop adjourned after the treasurers from each of the chapters agreed to exchange their respective financial reports.

Much was accomplished in the rushing workshop. McKenna Chapter reported its success of over 80 pledges and all those present benefitted from their rushing technique and suggestions. It was agreed that early contact with first year students on the stressing academic assistance was the best approach. Practically all of the chapters represented sponsored an early orientation program for first year students followed by seminars on exam writing and first year classes. In addition, each of the chapters conducted stag social activities including luncheons featuring prominent speakers in the legal profession. In addition each of the chapters stressed the importance of alumni participation.

The alumni relations workshop concerned itself with the problem of maintaining alumni interest and cooperation in the active chapter's affairs. It was agreed that the best method of attracting alumni interest, was keeping the alumni advised on the activities sponsored by the active chapters in the area. In addition, personal requests to attend chapter activities is the approach which guarantees the best response.

Following the chapter workshops, a luncheon was served at the Bar Association Lounge and then everyone enjoyed speeches by three alumnus members from the San Francisco area.

Brother Alden McClellan spoke to the brothers present on "starting a private practice." Brother McClellan pointed out that it takes a rugged individualistic person who is willing to make sacrifices in order to be in a private practice immediately following law school. This person, Mr. McClellan explained, must be prepared to expect a small office with used furniture, no library and no secretary. However, he pointed out that it is not impossible. That other attorneys are readily willing to allow young lawyers the use of their library and secretarial services are available as well as answering services. He pointed out that in his estimation nothing is more gratifying and rewarding than building a law practice from the beginning and that while difficult, it is not impossible.

Those present then enjoyed a speech on "corporation counsel and the lawyer in business," by at this time for allowing me the opportunity to serve as your Supreme Justice and for the warm reception which you have given me during my travels throughout the country.

Fraternally,
Dr. Elden S. Magaw
Supreme Justice

Robert C. Stetson, General Attorney for Consolidated Freightways. Brother Stetson stated that the biggest advantage of corporate practice is that a young lawyer is afforded the time necessary to properly handle a matter, irrespective of the amount of money involved or magnitude of the decision. He pointed out that attorneys working for corporations are not puppets of the executives but rather are sought out for advice on business as well as legal matters. Brother Stetson pointed out that an attorney is well equipped to provide business advice because of "1. his vocational training, 2. the articulate manner in which he had learned to express himself, and 3. his ability to analyze situations."

Following Brother Stetson, Nathan Cohen spoke to those in attendance on "representing celebrities" and had many interesting stories to relate concerning his experiences.

Following the lectures, those in attendance, which numbered over 100, adjourned to the California room at the Sheraton Palace Hotel to witness the installation of Douglas Lyman Edmonds Chapter at the University of Santa Clara, California, and the installation of the officers of Edmonds Chapter and the initiation of candidates to Field, Sullivan and Edmonds Chapters. Among those on the initiation team were: Honorable Carl H. Allen, Judge of the Superior Court of San Francisco County and alumnus member of Temple Chapter; Honorable Thomas W. Caldecott, Judge of the San Francisco Superior Court and alumnus member of Field Chapter; Honorable Folger Emerson, Judge of the San Francisco Superior Court, alumnus member of Field Chapter; Honorable Clayton W. Horn, Judge of the San Francisco Superior Court, alumnus member of Temple Chapter; Honorable Elden S. Magaw, Supreme Justice of Phi Alpha Delta and alumnus member of Harlan Chapter; Fredrick J. Weitkamp, Executive Secretary and alumnus member of Ross Chapter; and Professor Henry Deitz, alumni advisor for Edmonds Chapter and alumnus member of Field Chapter.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Ralston Room of the Sheraton Palace Hotel and the Conclave Banquet followed at 8:00 P.M.
