New National Officers Elected

The new Phi Alpha Delta Supreme Officers for the next biennium were chosen at the recent 36th Biennial National Convention of Phi Alpha Delta in Kansas City, Missouri on September 3, 1966.

Once again Phi Alpha Delta is proud that some of the nation's most outstanding jurists and practicing attorneys are willing to assume the responsibility of leading the fraternity. The close fraternal bond which each member of Phi Alpha Delta experiences is well exemplified by the fact that these men are willing to assume the duty of leading the fraternity in addition to the arduous duties for which they are responsible as jurists and successful attorneys throughout the country. The devotion of these men to Phi Alpha Delta makes its members proud of their affiliation.

SUPREME JUSTICE

Robert E. Redding

Brother Redding is Vice-President and General Counsel of the Transportation Association of America. The Transportation Association of America is an industry-wide, policy-making, research and educational association of transportation users, investors and carriers of all types. It was founded in 1955 to assure that all shippers, passengers, consumers, investors and carriers may enjoy efficient low cost but profitable transportation under private ownership and management.

Brother Redding's legal career began in 1946 upon his graduation from Georgetown University Law School where he was a member of Taft Chapter.

Since that time Brother Redding's career has been varied in the practice of law. He served five years in Government Service with the Civil Aeronautics Board and Tax Court of the United States. Mr. Redding was in private practice in Washington, D. C. for nine years, representing United States, International, Foreign, local service and helicopter air-carriers as well as State authorities, cities, counties and chambers of commerce. Brother Redding also served three years as judge of the Appeal Tax Court of Montgomery County, Maryland.

His affiliations include the American Bar Association, Federal Bar Association, District of Columbia Bar Association, Maryland State Bar Association, American Judicature Society, Inter-State Commerce Commission Practitioner's Association, Scottish Rite and various other clubs and fraternal orders.

ties for six years and Supreme Treasurer.

Brother Redding is a native of Indiana and resides in Kensington, Maryland with his wife, Blanche and three children.

SUPREME VICE-JUSTICE Honorable Tom C. Clark

One of the most distinguished jurists in the nation, the Honorable Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, was unanimously elected to serve a second term in the position of Supreme Vice-Justice of Phi Alpha Delta.

Justice Clark has devoted his life to public service since he obtained his LL.B. Degree from the University of Texas in 1922. His service began in 1927 when he became Civil District Attorney for Dallas County.

In 1945 Brother Harry S. Truman, a member of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity, named Justice Clark to the position of Attorney General of the United States. Prior to this appointment he served in such posts as Special United States Attorney in the Bureau of War Risk Litigation, Special Assistant to the Attorney General in the Anti-Trust Division, Chief of the West Coast Offices of the Anti-Trust Division, Co-ordinator of Alien Enemy Control of the Western Defense Command and Chief of the Civilian Staff for Japanese War Relocation.

Justice Clark was nominated Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court by Brother Truman on August 2, 1949 and took his seat as successor to Mr. Justice Murphy on October 3, 1949, thereby joining Brother Justices William O. Douglas, Harold H. Burton and Robert D. Jackson.

Brother Justice Clark has also been of service to Phi Alpha Delta by accepting a graduate member of our fraternity each year to act as one of his law clerks. In addition, he attends a great many fraternal affairs and

They are (left to right): Charles Tom Henderson, Supreme Secretary from 1946 to 1948, Supreme Second Vice Justice from 1948 to 1952 and Supreme Vice Justice from 1952 to 1954; Frank E. Gray, Executive Secretary from 1948 to 1952, and Supreme Secretary from 1952 to 1960; and Carl E. Dietze, Board of Trustees of the Endowment Fund from 1950 to 1952 and Chairman of the Board of Tribunes from 1952 to 1954.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CHAPTER AWARD IS ESTABLISHED

The Supreme Executive Board of the Fraternity at a meeting prior to the 1966 National Convention established an award to recognize members of the Fraternity for outstanding fraternity service. The award is to be known as the "Distinguished Service Chapter Award" and will be bestowed only upon members with the unanimous vote of the Supreme Executive Board.

The award is intended to be the highest which can be bestowed by the fraternity other than election to national office.

Announcement of the first three members selected for the award was made at the convention banquet on September 3, 1966 at the Muehlebach Hotel in Kansas City, Missouri. First recipients are Carl E. Dietze, Frank E. Gray and Charles Tom Henderson.

Brother Dietze is a member of Ryan Chapter at the University of Wisconsin where he obtained his LL.B. in 1915.

He has attended every National Convention since 1936 and has served on more convention committees than any other living PAD. From 1950 to 1952 he served on the Board of Trustees of the Endowment Fund. He was appointed Chief Tribune to fill a vacancy left by Col. John Doyle Carmody and served as such until 1954.

He has served as treasurer of the Milwaukee Alumni Chapter since its chartering in 1950.

A young man of 79, Brother Carl is a devotee of golf. He did not take up the sport until 1940 but since that time has certainly made up for time lost. He has played on over 1,000 courses throughout the world and each year takes a trip abroad to play on new and different courses.

Brother Frank E. Gray is a member of Ford Chapter at Loyola University School of Law in Los Angeles where he obtained his LL.B. in 1943.

He became Executive Secretary of PAD in 1948, a position which he administered with distinction until his election to the office of Supreme Secretary in 1952. During his tenure as Executive Secretary, the fraternity underwent its most rapid growth and expansion.

He served as Supreme Secretary until 1960 when he chose not to seek re-election. He has not missed attending a National Convention since his initiation into the fraternity.

Brother Gray is a past Justice of the Los Angeles Alumni Chapter and continues as a

Kansas City Alumni Make Convention A Success

The hospitality and efficiency of the Kansas City Alumni joined together to make the 36th Biennial National Convention of Phi Alpha Delta a tremendous success.

Many thanks are due to brothers such as Don Hutson, General Chairman; Bob VanHorn, Chairman of Publicity; Russell Millin, Chairman of the Special Arrangements Committee; and others including Morris Kross, Mrs. Tom Sims, and Steve Millin. A pleasant mixture of fraternal business and well balanced entertainment assured all in attendance of a wonderful time.

Pre-Convention Board Meeting

A pre-convention meeting of the members of the Supreme Executive Board began on the first day of the seven days of events. During this meeting the Supreme Board discussed many important issues pending before the fraternity. The Supreme Executive Board first received information concerning the fine financial situation in which the fraternity finds itself; namely the strongest financial position that the fraternity has ever been in. The Board felt that at a time such as this when the fraternity is prospering that funds should be set aside to protect against the risk of a financial reversal. For this reason the Board resolved that it shall be the policy to seek to maintain cash reserves in the general and contingency funds at all times in an amount equal to at least the expenditures of the last preceding fiscal year in addition to reserves for the convention, directory and directory supplement.

The Supreme Executive Board next reviewed the Endowment Fund and considered the problems with a number of delinquent loans.

The Executive Secretary then presented a report on the various insurance programs and proposals for improving them. At the conclusion of this report, the Supreme Executive Board resolved to approve the offering of excess umbrella malpractice insurance coverage. The Supreme Executive Board also approved the offering of a hospital money plan, subject to verification of reasonable competitive rate structures.

While on the topic of insurance, the Supreme Executive Board resolved to obtain a group travel life insurance policy covering various officers of the fraternity.

The subject of bonding all active chapters treasurers with a fidelity bond was referred to committee for study and to report at the next meeting of the Supreme Executive Board after the 1966 Convention.

The matter of admitting women into the fraternity was discussed by the Supreme Executive Board at the request of a woman law student at Duquesne University Law School and the Executive Secretary was directed to advise the lady that it would not be possible to amend the Constitution of the fraternity at the 1966 Convention because of jur-

Allan Thurston Gilbert

Past Supreme Justice Gilbert Dies

Allan Thurston Gilbert, past Supreme Justice of Phi Alpha Delta, and an alumnus member of Blackstone Chapter passed away on March 4, 1965 at the age of 70.

Brother Gilbert was born on December 2, 1894 in Chicago, Illinois, the son of Allan Arthur and Grace Thurston Gilbert.

He graduated from Lewis Institute and obtained his LL.B. Degree from Kent College of Law.

Upon graduation from Kent College of the Law, Brother Gilbert commenced practice in Chicago, Illinois. He served as special assistant corporation counsel for the City of Chicago and attorney for Citizens Traction Settlement Committee from 1928 to 1932. Thereafter he practiced with the firm of Schuyler & Hennessy.

Brother Gilbert was a member of the American Bar Association, Illinois State Bar Association and Chicago Bar Association. He was also affiliated with the Law Club, the Legal Club, the American Legion, the Art Institute of Chicago, the Chicago Historical Society, the Sons of the American Revolution, the Sons of the Confederate Veterans and the Masons.

Brother Gilbert was very active in Phi Alpha Delta. From 1923 to 1930 he served as Supreme Historian of the fraternity.

From 1930 to 1934 he served as Supreme Justice of Phi Alpha Delta having the distinction of serving for four years, a distinction which only three other men have had. Also a term of office exceeded only by Supreme Justice J. Harry LaBrum who served in that position during the Second World War.

After having served as Supreme Justice for four years, Brother Gilbert continued his active participation with the Fraternity by serving as Chairman of the Board of Tribunes from 1934 to 1936. Thereafter Brother Gilbert actively participated as chairman of the Board of Trustees from 1936 to 1946.

In total, Brother Gilbert gave 23 years of leadership on the Supreme Executive Board, the Board of Tribunes and the Board of Trustees of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity.

Brother Gilbert worked hard during the depression years to keep PAD strong. As he said to the active chapters on the eve of rushing in the year 1931, "If in some cases the enrollment in the freshman classes is not as large as usual discretion should be used in the selection of members for our great organization. We want strong men. We want men of personality, men who will be the leaders of the future and who will add to our already streaming pages of success."

Phi Alpha Delta is indebted to Brother Gilbert for his devoted service to the Fraternity.

Message From The Supreme Justice

In setting the tone for my use of the traditional Reporter message from your Supreme Justice I have always been impressed by the following assertion in the October 1961 American Bar Association Journal: "No movement in history for the improvement of man's condition and for the establishment of justice has ever succeeded without the presence, the influence, and the leadership of great and courageous lawyers." It is my conviction that our Fraternity should and does perform an important role in developing such lawyers.

I have mixed emotions of humility and profound gratitude from being elected as Supreme Justice. No greater honor can be conferred on any man in Phi Alpha Delta. With God's help, I hereby pledge to translate my appreciation into meritorious deeds and conduct serving the best interests of our Brotherhood.

I shall use my message capsule to speak to all Brothers, all wives and sweethearts, and the world at large of our aspirations; our continuing efforts to serve the law student, law school, and legal profession; and our progress toward such objectives.

Our Fraternity has reached a high point in its three score and four years of existence, as made clear to all delegates attending our recent convention in Kansas City, Missouri. Yet, as we continue to expand our membership and the opportunities for professional service, there is much to be done together. All of your Supreme Officers and District Justices have resolved to advance our rate of progress in the next two years.

At the convention I stated my intention to direct our energies primarily toward a dozen principal objectives. By so doing, I am confident we can also achieve other objectives as well. I would like, therefore, to summarize these modern and attainable dimensions in the remaining space available to me.

First and foremost, we must extend greater alumni service, working toward the objective of an alumni chapter in every area in which an active chapter is located.

Second, we must enhance the effectiveness of our faculty and alumni advisors, the one remaining echelon in our administrative structure needing special attention and strengthening.

Third, the expansion of high caliber professional programs by active chapters is a vital key to PAD excellence. We must meet the challenge of our time.

Fourth, we must promote optimum law school relations and expanding faculty memberships.

Fifth, I am particularly interested in the role of PAD for instilling leadership qualities and forging leaders of men. How better can we contribute to the postulate quoted above?

Sixth, we must enhance our Fraternity relationships with the bar, the bench, and the general public. We must do our part to improve the low public esteem for the legal profession.

Seventh, we should also make PAD a substantive force in the law, including, for example, the public defender program, continuing legal education, Law Day activities, and expanded legal aid services.

Eighth, we must maintain financial stability as well as the continued growth and effective usage of our Endowment Fund.

Ninth, we should continue to confer honorary memberships on the leaders in the legal profession, working toward the goal of at least one new honorary member each year for every active chapter.

Tenth, with our new Ritual volume now available, we should place special emphasis on the dignified and impressive exemplification of our Ritual. It is important to impress the meaning and purpose of PAD into the heart and mind of each new Brother.

Eleventh, we must strengthen our pledge orientation activities, one of our weakest links today.

Finally, we must consolidate the strength and vitality of our active and alumni chapters now in existence. While we will undoubtedly continue to add new chapters, I favor a primary emphasis on enhancing the stability of our current chapter complement.

I hope each of you will extend your personal support and help in this Fraternity program. The highest reward for a man's toil is not what he gets for it but rather what he becomes by it.

Faternally,
ROBERT E. REDDING
Supreme Justice

Lawyers may expect a tightened market and higher rates for their professional liability insurance. These facts have been underscored lately by several articles appearing in "The Wall Street Journal."

The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the Insurance Information Institute both have recently expressed similar views. The bureau reported that the placement of lawyers liability was "critical" as very few companies will even write it anymore.

The higher costs and withdrawal of companies from handling the business at any premium is the result of the rising number of malpractice suits and the generally larger damage awards. The bureau said that the average loss per insured lawyer increased over 30% in one recent year.

Editor's Note: Phi Alpha Delta sponsors a Lawyers Professional Liability Plan with the Continental Casualty Company. Write our Administrators at P.O. Box 907, Minneapolis, Minnesota 55440, for details.

McKellar Installed at Memphis State

On May 28, 1966, McKellar Chapter at Memphis State University School of Law came into the realm of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity. The Chapter chose its name after the late Senator Kenneth D. McKellar of Memphis, who at one time was President Pro Tempore of the United States Senate and next in line for the Presidency upon the then Vice-President Harry S. Truman assuming office after the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The installation and initiation ceremonies occurred in the Federal District Court in the new Federal Building at Memphis, Tennessee. Representing the National Fraternity were Supreme Historian T. Julian Skinner, and Assistant to Supreme Justice C. Raymond Judice. Also on the initiating team was Aubrey Nichols, Justice of Lamar Chapter, and Alumni Members Jack Howard and Bill Woods.

Initiated as an Alumnus Member at the time of the Chapter's installation was Memphis Juvenile Court Judge Kenneth A. Turner. Charter Members initiated were Michael B. Cavish, William M. Gotten, Tommy Jagendorf, John Konnerth, Zane Leshner, Richard P. McCully, Charles Shuffield, Robert Steinhilber, and Kenneth Wildes. Other Charter Members, who were initiated into PAD elsewhere, were Thomas Stroud and Ben Weeks, Jr., both members while at the University of Mississippi; Donald Parton, a member while at Oklahoma State University, and Dr. Arthur J. Crowns, a member while at the University of Wisconsin.

The Charter Officers of McKellar Chapter were then installed. They are Richard P. McCully, Justice; William M. Gotten, Vice-Justice; Michael B. Cavish, Clerk; John Konnerth, Treasurer; and Charles Shuffield, Marshal. Dr. Crowns, Director of the new Memphis State University School of Law Enforcement, will serve as Faculty Advisor; and Bill Woods of Lurton Chapter, a Memphis attorney, will serve as Alumni Advisor.

On behalf of the National Fraternity, Judge Raymond C. Judice presented a red carnation, the honored symbol of membership, to each initiate. He also presented the chapter paraphernalia and a check for $100 to the Chapter.

Following the installation ceremonies a cocktail party and banquet was held at the Ridge-way Country Club honoring the Charter Members of McKellar Chapter and the Memphis PAD Alumni Association.

Activities which McKellar Chapter undertook preceding the installation during the Spring semester were the Law Guardian Program for the Juvenile Court, where PADs represent indigent delinquents; and a regular luncheon meeting procedure featuring guest speakers. These activities will be continued in the Fall, plus all members will contribute a day's time to help count absentee ballots in the November General Election. In return, the Chapter's treasury will be reimbursed $12.00 a man.

McKellar Chapter sent two delegates to the National Convention, held this summer in Kansas City, Mo. They were Charter Justice Rick McCully and Charter Marshal Charles Shuffield.

HALLER HONORED BY NEVADA BAR

The Nevada State Bar Association recently bestowed a great honor on Brother Joseph P. Haller, an alumnus member of Jackson Temple Chapter, by dedicating its April Issue of the Nevada State Bar Journal to him.

Brother Haller became a member of Temple Chapter on March 20, 1926, while he was attending Hastings College of the Law.

The honor bestowed by the Nevada State Bar Association was most appropriate in light of the fact that Brother Haller has served as business manager of the Nevada State Bar Journal for 30 years and has dedicated much of his efforts toward its success. It was Brother Haller who persuaded advertisers and prodded editors and it was he who has seen to it that everyone entitled to a copy has always received one.

Brother Haller founded the Nevada State Bar Journal in 1935 at the suggestion of the editor of the American Bar Association Journal, while attending the American Bar Association National Convention in Grand Rapids, Michigan with United States Senator Pat McCarran and Robert Ziemer Hawkins.

Brother Haller was able to persuade the Board of Governors of the Nevada State Bar Association and his persuasion of the advantages of a State Bar Journal was fortified by a plebiscite of the Nevada Lawyers showing 97% of them favoring a Bar Journal.

The first issue was published in January, 1936 under the direction of Anthony M. Turano, Business Manager. Anthony Turano served as editor for 21 years and Brother Haller is still serving as Business Manager.

The Nevada State Bar Journal has not only provided means of communication for the lawyers of Nevada but has also chronicled the history of that State's law profession.

HULL CHAPTER BEGINS YEAR

The Cordell Hull Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity, Samford University, recently received the "Outstanding Chapter" award of District X, which was presented by the Honorable T. Julian Skinner, general counsel for Alabama By-Products Corporation and immediate past Supreme National Historian. The award was presented in a student body meeting at Cumberland Law School to Dean Arthur A. Weeks who accepted it on behalf of the law school and to Charles R. Smith of Huntsville who was Justice of the Cordell Hull chapter during the period that this award was earned.

Also honored on this occasion were brothers Merritt Rogers and Ben Strand. Merritt Rogers was recently elected National Secretary of the American Law Student Association at its national convention in Montreal, Canada. Ben Strand was one of the five national award winners in the National Grange Writing Contest.

Immediately following this special presentation, the Cordell Hull chapter initiated two honorary members at a luncheon ceremony — the Honorable Robert W. Gwinn, Judge of the Criminal Court of Jefferson County and the Honorable William D. Rollison, Distinguished Professor of Law at the Cumberland School of Law. Michael Sundock of Birmingham, present Justice of the Hull chapter, presided. The initiation ceremony was performed by the Honorable T. Julian Skinner. Following the initiation the Honorable Walter Bridges, District Justice of District X and Judge, Bessemer Cutoff County Court, installed the newly elected officers of the Hull Chapter—Michael Sundock, Justice; Norman G. Winston, Vice Justice; Winston Hughes, Treasurer; Tom Merritt, Clerk; and Claude Smith, Marshall.

Also present for this occasion as guests of the chapter were Dr. Leslie Wright, President of Samford University, Dean Arthur A. Weeks, Assistant Dean Frank Donaldson and Professor James L. Hughes, Chapter Advisor, all of Cumberland School of Law.

1966 Outstanding Chapter Awards Announced

Announcement of the most outstanding chapters in the nation for the scholastic year 1965-1966 was made at the 36th Biennial National Convention Banquet in Kansas City. Selected as the top chapter in the country was Benson Chapter at Washburn University School of Law. Second place went to Timberlake Chapter at Wake Forest College of Law while DeBracton at St. John's University School of Law took third place. Hay Chapter at Western Reserve University School of Law received the Supreme Justice Award for Excellence.

BENSON CHAPTER

Benson Chapter, at Washburn University School of Law, boasted 73 active members and 62 pledges for the 1965-1966 school year, in a school having a total enrollment of 260 students.

Benson Chapter members are well known for their enthusiastic leadership, guidance and support of all Washburn University Law School activities. Members of Phi Alpha Delta serve as members of the Moot Court Team, Student Bar Association Officers, Committee Chairmen, Committee members, Law Review writers, student newspaper editors and contributors as well as many other offices and positions.

There are eight major committees which are under the control and supervision of the Washburn Student Bar Association. Each of these committees are either headed or supervised by the brothers of Benson Chapter.

With one exception, the brothers of Benson Chapter have held every office in the Washburn Student Bar Association for the past four years.

During the last scholastic year, the brothers of Benson Chapter held the positions of Editor-in-Chief, Associate Editor, Notes Editor, Research Editor, Business Manager and nine members of the Editorial Board on the Washburn Law Journal Staff.

Two of the three members of the Washburn University Moot Court Team were members of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity. This team met Denver and Stanford in argument and tied for second place with the team from Stanford Law School.

The members of Benson Chapter have a strong relationship with the alumni members in the Topeka area. This relationship arose as a result of the joint effort to improve Benson Chapter's fraternity house.

In connection with the alumni chapter, Benson Chapter sponsored an outstanding Founders Day Celebration. Over 800 letters were sent throughout the state informing all PAD alumni of the activity. In addition, a letter was sent to all Benson Chapter Alumni encouraging their participation.

Because of the close association between Benson Chapter and the local alumni chapter, the alumni are working on a program to place more PAD Brothers in law offices as law clerks while they are in school.

In addition to many professional activities, an active student bar association at Washburn University sponsored, Benson Chapter also acted in this area. Dinner meetings are sponsored once a month by Benson Chapter during which the speaker from various areas of the legal profession and in related walks of life speak to those in attendance. Actives, pledges and unaffiliated students attend these dinners as well as law professors from Washburn University School of Law.

An outstanding professional program sponsored by the Benson Chapter through the participation of the Honorable Alex Hotchkiss is the Review Course by the Kansas City Bar Examination. This course is offered free of charge to all members of Benson Chapter.

Having a strong student bar association and a chapter house, Benson Chapter is in a position to offer many social activities. It begins each year with a rush party having an attendance of over 100 persons.

In October a Halloween Dance was attended at the chapter house by approximately 120 brothers and their dates.

In the Spring, Benson Chapter sponsors a Spring Banquet and

Robert M. La Follette Chapter Installed

Victory was the word for Phi Alpha Delta last May 15th. The Robert M. La Follette Chapter was installed at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, but only after a concerted struggle by the petitioners for acceptance on campus.

The trumpets sounded in September of 1965 when C. Raymond Judice, then Assistant to the Supreme Justice, made a missionary visit to Marquette. There was a sparse turnout at this first visit, but Freshman John Murray, whose father is a P.A.D., was there and told Judice that he would like to help form a chapter at Marquette. Murray worked with Judice in developing student interest in P.A.D. and made arrangements for subsequent visits by Judice.

The two existing fraternities at Marquette asked the Law Council of the Student Bar Association to prevent the formation of the new chapter arguing that the school could not support three fraternities. The Council complied and by a good majority voted that it be recommended to Dean Robert F. Boden that the new chapter not be allowed. Dean Boden considered the recommendation and also heard pros and cons offered by members of the faculty. Although not exactly pleased with the tumult created by this struggle for acceptance, the Dean said that he would not prevent PAD from seeking possible members during scheduled rushing periods. The Milwaukee Alumni Chapter, led by Alumni Justice Richard Nelson, Carl Dietze, James Murphy, and David Baldwin, responded with all-out assistance and arranged and paid for an introductory smoker.

The smoker was a tremendous success, primarily due to the presence of Honorable F. Ryan Duffy, Sr., Past Supreme Justice Anthony DiGrazia, District VIII Justice Charles V. Falkenberg, Jr., and many alumni from the Milwaukee Chapter and District VIII. The eventual results of all of this activity were twenty-five pledges and the Robert M. La Follette Chapter.

Chartering ceremonies, initiation of members, and installation of officers took place in the Milwaukee County Courtroom of Honorable Brother Robert Landry. Members of the Ryan Chapter of the University of Wisconsin initiated the pledges of the new chapter as well as pledges of the Blackstone Chapter of Kent University and Story Chapter of DePaul University. A reception and banquet followed at the Pfister Hotel that evening.

Supreme Justice Dr. Elden S. Magaw and his assistant, C. Raymond Judice, participated in the day's events as did many PAD alumni, including those who were present at the introductory smoker. The Supreme Justice and Honorable F. Ryan

Duffy were the principal speakers. They both told of some of the proud moments of Phi Alpha Delta, and, in so doing, helped to create another.

Pomeroy Dies

Brother Allan Pomeroy, an alumnus member of Dunbar Chapter, recently passed away at the age of 59.

In 1948 Brother Pomeroy became Judge of the Superior Court for King County. He served in this position until he was elected Mayor of Seattle in 1952. He served as Mayor for the City of Seattle from 1952 until 1956 and has been in private practice since that time.

His professional affiliations included membership in the Seattle-King County Bar Association, the Washington State Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

His other affiliations included membership in the Eagles Aerie

THE ENDOWMENT FUND COMMITTEE recommended an increase in student loans from $500 to $1,000 and an increase in alumni dues from $5.00 to $6.00 per year. Both resolutions were passed by the convention.

THE CONCLAVE COMMITTEE concluded that it would be inadvisable to lay down an inflexible uniform conclave format; however, the committee concluded that the most successful conclave is one held all day Saturday divided equally between a professional program and a chapter workshop.

THE PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE reviewed sixteen of the fraternity's publications for format and content.

THE CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE determined that almost all of our 104 active chapters and 55 alumni chapters were represented at the convention.

THE PROFESSIONAL PROGRAMS COMMITTEE recommended strengthening alumni relations, initiating a big brothers program, advance planning of professional programs, honorary initiations and participation in Indigent Criminal Cases and the Manhattan Bail Programs.

National Legal Aid and Defender Conference

Although the American Bar Association (ABA) has had a Standing Committee on Legal Aid Work since 1970, with Charles Evans Hughes being the first chairman, it was not until 1949, just 20 years ago, "that it can fairly be said that the ABA awakened to the major responsibility of the organized bar to spawn legal aid and defender offices around country." Marden addressed delegates to the 1966 National Legal Aid and Defender Conference. He spoke at the Annual Dinner recently, the closing session of the conference.

"Some evidence of our extraordinary growth over the past twenty years can be gleaned from a glance at the 1945 statistics," Marden said.

"In the entire country there were only 64 legal aid offices and 24 defender organizations." (Today there are 332 legal offices and 249 defender services.) The total number of cases handled were 256,651. (Last year nearly 700,000 indigents received legal advice and representation.)

Many people have made outstanding contributions to legal aid and defender services over the years, Marden said. Among them, and to illustrate their varied backgrounds, Marden singled out and praised the following: Hon. Earl Warren, Chief Justice of the United States; Fay Van Wagoner of the New York Legal Aid Society; Emmett R. Field, retiring General Counsel of the Louisville Legal Aid Society; Theodore Voorhees, retiring President of National Legal Aid and Defender Association (NLADA); Major General Charles L. Decker, Director of the NLADA National Defender Project.

NLADA, with headquarters at the American Bar Center in Chicago, is the national coordinating body of local legal aid and defender offices which provides legal services to the poor. Last year, the cost of representation was nearly $12 million, or an average of $17 per case. The annual conference provides legal aid and defender lawyers an opportunity to exchange information with the view to improving their services to the public. Three hundred delegates are attending this year's conference.

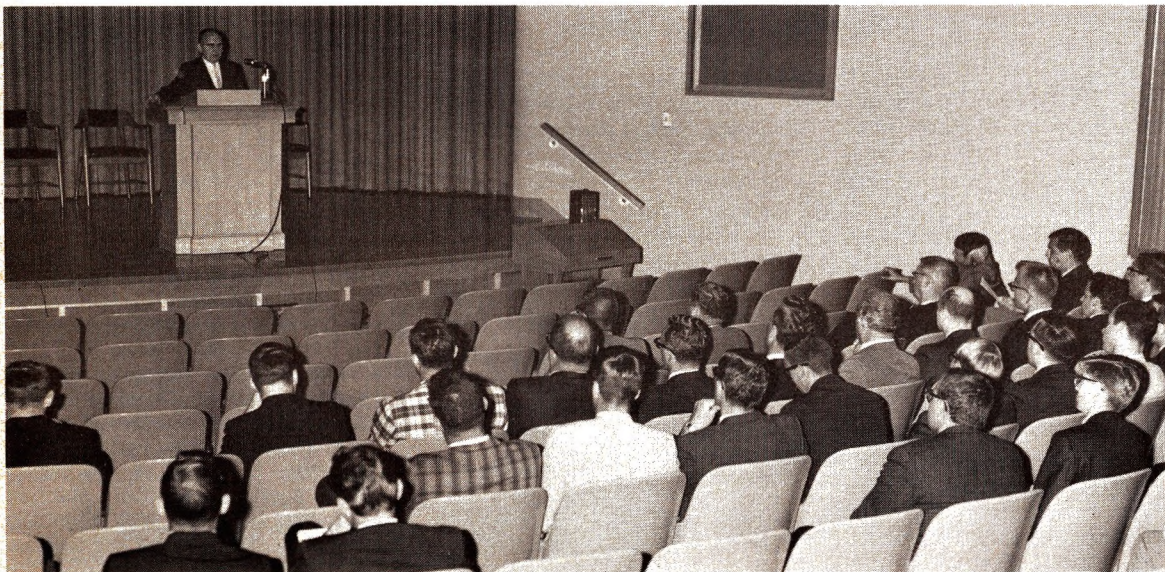

THE CONVENTION RECEPTION was a good opportunity for the delegates to meet each other informally.

LADIES PROGRAM AT THE CONVENTION

Sunday evening, August 28, Supreme Board wives and their husbands met in the suite of Dr. Elden Magraw, Supreme Justice, to renew acquaintanceships and discuss the coming week's activities. Following cocktails and much visiting, everyone went to the Bali Hai Room of Bretton's Restaurant where they enjoyed a dinner featuring Kansas City sirloin steak.

On Monday morning, August 29, wives and children of Supreme Board and Supreme Tribunal members, accompanied by wives of Kansas City alumni and active chapter members took a guided tour of the Kansas City Museum of History and Science. Among the displays viewed were dioramas depicting the beginning of Kansas City when it was the last outpost for Western expeditions, an authentic reconstruction of Daniel Boone's Missouri homestead cabin furnished with articles used by the famed frontiersman and a women's period costume collection, second only in size to that of the Smithsonian Institute. Also of interest were the many exhibits and artifacts from America's past, the antique vending machine and heirloom doll collections, and the thirteen full scale animal groups in natural settings. Among the latter displays were such interesting depictions as beavers building a dam, deer grazing in a meadow and a complete portrayal of bears native to North America. Following the formal tour, the women gathered in the Museum's private planetarium for an exciting pictorial excursion into the universe. The twenty-five women then adjourned to Putsch's 210 Restaurant located in the heart of Kansas City's Country Club Plaza, where they relaxed over cocktails and a second sale luncheon. In the afternoon, several of the women strolled about the Plaza investigating and visiting fashionable and exclusive shops of the area.

On Monday evening the ladies went to the Playboy Club atop the Continental Hotel in downtown Kansas City for cocktails, buffet dinner and a floor show starring comedian Flip Wilson, singer Vicki Carr and the Vince Bolardo Trio.

Tuesday morning the wives boarded a charter bus for a trip to nearby Fort Osage. The Fort, built in 1808 by William Clark of the Lewis & Clark Expedition, was the first U. S. outpost in the Louisiana Purchase Territory. Located on the south bank of the Missouri River, the Fort commands a view of the water approach and served as a control point for river traffic during the early 1800's. Among the exhibits the group found interesting were the official Star Spangled Banner of 1785 to 1818 which daily flies over the Fort, the original Indian trading house, the soldier's barracks, officers quarters, stockades and the first gun factory west of the Missouri. The original cannons of the Fort are tion, the chairmen of the various convention planning committees were recognized for their fine achievements.

The Outstanding Chapter Competition winners were announced at the Convention Banquet. They were:

Benson Chapter at Washburn College — 1st Place.

Timberlake Chapter at Wake Forest College — 2nd Place.

deBracton Chapter at St. John's University — 3rd Place.

Hay Chapter at Western Reserve University received the Supreme Justice Award for its outstanding accomplishments during the first year of reactivation.

Nostalgia pervaded the atmosphere at the banquet as good-byes had to be said to new found friends and brothers but all departed Kansas City looking forward to 1968 when the Washington, D.C., Alumni Chapter will sponsor the 37th Biennial National Convention of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity.

ENTERTAINMENT FEATURES OF PAD CONVENTION

The Brothers in attendance at the 36th Biennial National Convention of Phi Alpha Delta enjoyed the many fine social activities which occupied their leisure time while at the convention.

The Kansas City Alumni Convention Committee is to be congratulated for the outstanding social activities which they arranged and are to be thanked for the time which they took to insure the success of these activities.

Convention Reception

On Tuesday evening, August 30, 1966, the delegates, brothers and their wives attended the 36th Biennial National Convention Reception by the Hotel Pool on the Starlight Roof. The warm evening provided a perfect setting for the delegates to meet and discuss fraternity activities as well as the upcoming issues to be decided at the convention. The reception itself was well planned with adequate hors d'oeuvres and beverages for all in attendance as well as a fine band to entertain.

Western Barbecue and Starlight Theatre

On Wednesday evening, August 31, 1966, after a long afternoon of chapter workshops the delegates and brothers in attendance at the convention adjourned to Swope Park where a western barbecue was served.

Everyone enjoyed the fine meal of barbecued beef, baked beans, potato salad, macaroni salad, green salad, condiments and beer.

Following the meal many of those in attendance went across the park to the performance of "The King and I" starring Giselle McKenzie at the Starlight Theatre, an amphitheatre.

Convention Dance

The Convention Dance was held on Thursday evening, September 1, 1966, in the Grand Ballroom of the Muehlebach Hotel. The dance featured the music of Bob Murry and his orchestra.

The evening also featured a floor show with a singer and a comedian.

Dates were available for the single delegates in attendance.

Truman Memorial Library Tour

On Friday afternoon, September 2, 1966, the delegates, brothers and wives toured the Truman Memorial Library and witnessed the presentation of an award to President Harry S. Truman. Unfortunately President Truman was unable to appear because of illness, so a representative accepted the award on his behalf.

Convention Reception and Banquet

Following the last session of the convention on Saturday, September 3, 1966, the delegates and brothers adjourned to the traditional convention reception and banquet with over 300 in attendance. The Master of Ceremonies for this event was the Convention Chairman, Don Hutson, who did an admirable job. In addition, still on exhibit as well as numerous Indian artifacts of the Osage Tribe. Continuing their trip into the Missouri historical past, the women reboarded the charter bus and journeyed to Stephenson's Apple Farm Restaurant, an authentic early Missouri country inn, where they enjoyed a pleasant and relaxing luncheon.

Tuesday evening the ladies attended the Supreme Justice's Reception for all arriving delegates on the Starlight Roof of the Muehlebach Hotel where they visited with student wives. Back and forth for the reception was provided by the Bob Murray Trio.

On Wednesday morning, after attending the opening session of the convention, the ladies held a Magic Mirror Luncheon in the Terrace Grill of the Muehlebach Hotel. Following the luncheon, Modesta Richerson, well known local artist, entertained the ladies with a Chalk Talk at which she deftly drew animals with personalities of people. For the benefit of the ladies attending, the caricatures were directed toward club women. Mrs. Richerson concluded her presentation by giving away the six chalk drawings she had created. After luncheon, out of town wives boarded a sight-seeing but for a tour of Kansas City. Departing from the downtown area, the bus went south to the Liberty Memorial to view the display of flags of the United Nations at the site of the origination of the People to People program, made a tour of the Country Club Plaza shopping area with its Spanish decor, went by the Nelson Art Gallery and Cultural Center and concluded with a leisurely drive through the fashionable Country Club residential district.

Wednesday evening the women joined the men for a western barbecue at Swope Park followed by an outdoor performance of "The King and I" starring Gisele MacKenzie at Kansas City's Starlight Theater.

Thursday morning, all PAD wives and their guests attended BRUNCH DOWNTOWN, a live radio show originating from Macy's Garden Tea Room. All tickets to the show were used by the group and more than 100 attended. Following coffee and rolls, the master of ceremonies, Gene Davis, interviewed several of the wives including Margaret Griffith, wife of John Griffith, Past Supreme Justice, of Denver, Colorado, and Velma Carpenter, wife of Charles Carpenter, author of the PAD Sweetheart Song. The organizer for BRUNCH DOWNTOWN obliged the group by playing the PAD Sweetheart Song as the audience joined in singing. The principal guest interviewed was Miss Judy Carn, star of the new television series, "Love on a Rooftop."

Thursday evening, the ladies enjoyed a dance and floor show in the Grand Ballroom of the Muehlebach Hotel. Music was furnished by Bob Murray and his orchestra. Featured performers in the floor show were singer Kay Dennis and the Bob Lee Trio, comedian and harmonica player Billy Papon. Master of ceremonies and humorist for the evening was Charles Rankin.

The women boarded chartered busses Friday morning for a memorable tour of the Truman Library in Independence, Missouri. It was especially impressive for the ladies to read the Japanese-American Peace Treaty signed aboard the U.S.S. Missouri exactly 21 years after its signing on September 2, 1945. Top of the Tower, Kansas Room, which boasts a magnificent view of downtown Kansas City, Missouri, Missouri River, the Air Port, Kansas City, Kansas, was the luncheon scene. The fresh fruit plate was appealing to both eye and appetite. Following lunch the group took a short walk to Loews Midland Theater where they saw a matinee performance of "Sound of Music."

Saturday morning the first rain of the week fell, but the more adventurous took the charter bus to Swope Park for a fun-filled tour of the Zoological Garden featuring the recently opened Great Ape House, an architectural delight. The sun appeared before the bus arrived at the Zoo and it was a perfect day for both visiting the Zoo and a weiner roast picnic in the Park.

Saturday evening the women enjoyed cocktails and dinner at the Final Banquet held in the Grand Ballroom of the Muehlebach Hotel.

The week's schedule was quite busy, the activities varied and exciting, the food excellent; but most important, the ladies became well acquainted with one another forming many lasting friendships, which made the evening social events more pleasurable.

Bowles, Gillmor and MacLean-Clark Finalists

Each year Brother Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, selects a law clerk from among the student members of Phi Alpha Delta. PAST SUPREME JUSTICE CULBERTSON DIES

Phi Alpha Delta is saddened with the loss of a dear friend in the passing of Brother William S. Culbertson, Supreme Justice of the fraternity from 1934 to 1936.

Brother Culbertson, a former United States Ambassador to Rumania and Chile, died of pneumonia on August 13, 1966 at the age of 82.

A retired Army Colonel who served on the General Staff from 1942 to 1945, he was at different times an educator, public servant, soldier and lawyer.

A senior partner in the Washington law firm of Culbertson, Pendleton & Pendleton since 1934, he received his A.B. and Ph. Degree from Yale University and his L.L.B. Degree from Georgetown University and the University of Chile.

He became a member of Calhoun Chapter in 1912. Beginning in 1912, Brother Culbertson was a professor at Yale University School of Foreign Service. He continued instruction for many years after 1912.

In 1910 he was named to the Federal Trade Commission and later served as chairman of the United States Tariff Commission.

From 1925 to 1928, Brother Culbertson served as Ambassador to Rumania and later was Ambassador to Chile.

In 1944 Culbertson was sent on a special mission to French North Africa, the Middle East, Italy and France, with the rank of Ambassador.

After the war he returned to his law practice and became a specialist in the field of international law.

A native of Greensburg, Pennsylvania, Brother Culbertson was an elder and for many years served as chairman of the board of trustees of the National Presbyterian Church.

The stature and the maturity of this man is best exemplified by his statement upon being elected as Supreme Justice of the Fraternity. He said, "If this honor had been mine twenty years ago it would have gone to my head—today it goes to my heart."

Upon taking office, Brother Culbertson immediately stated his objective to devote his energy toward extending the activities of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity in fields of substantive importance to the profession and to the public life. He encouraged Brothers of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity to take an active part in their local bar associations and in the American Bar Association; to encourage the teaching of the federal and state constitutions especially in secondary schools; to throw their influence in favor of the improvement and enforcement of criminal law; and to direct their service whether they happen to hold public office or whether they are engaged in private practice of law.

Brother Culbertson was, to paraphrase Holland's inspiring prayer, a man of strong mind, great heart, true faith and ready hands; a man to whom lust of office does not kill; a man to whom the spoils of office could not buy—a man of honor.

Dedication of U.S. Customs Courthouse

Justice Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and Supreme Vice-Justice of Phi Alpha Delta, recently laid the cornerstone of the new United States Customs Courthouse in Foley Square, New York City.

Many dignitaries were present for the ceremonies including Chief Judge Paul P. Rao of the United States Customs Court; United States Senators Jacob K. Javits and Robert F. Kennedy, Mayor John V. Lindsay and former Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Congressman Emanuel Celler, Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee; Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, William True Davis; and Assistant Attorney General of the United States, John W. Douglas.

The United States Customs Court is the only Federal Court of National Jurisdiction which has its headquarters outside Washington, D. C., its location being dictated by the great volume of business emanating from the Port of New York, the largest Port of Entry in the United States.

The Court is composed of nine Judges, who are appointed for life by the President of the United States with approval of the Senate.

The Chief Judge of the United States Customs Court is designated by the President of the United States, a distinction held in common with the Supreme Court of the United States, the United States Court of Customs and Patent Appeals and the United States Court of Claims. Brother Paul R. Rao, an alumnus member of DeBacon Chapter is the present Chief Judge of the U.S. Customs Court.

The U.S. Customs Court has jurisdiction throughout the United States and Puerto Rico, encompasses all ports at which merchandise is imported from any foreign country. The Court holds sessions in all major cities within its jurisdiction on scheduled dates during the course of each year. Approximately 50,000 suits involving the value of imported merchandise and the classification thereof, within the tariff laws of the United States, are filed for adjudication by the Court every year.

The national character of the U.S. Customs Court is reflected by the several associates who have been residents of other states. As now constituted, the Court's membership consists of the following: Chief Judge, Paul P. Rao of New York; Judge Webster J. Oliver of New York; Judge Morgan Ford of North Dakota; Judge Mary H. Donlon of New York; Judge Scovel Richardson of Missouri; Judge Philip Nichols, Jr., of Massachusetts; Judge Frederick Landis of Indiana; and Judge James L. Watson of New York. Judges Charles D. THE PROFESSIONAL INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCE RECENTLY HELD ITS BIENNIAL MEETING AT THE GATEWAY HOTEL IN ST. LOUIS, MO. Thirty professional fraternities were present and heard an address from Fredrick J. Weitkamp, Executive Secretary of PAD, on the "Present and Future of the Professional Fraternity." Representing PAD at the meeting were Dr. Elden S. Magaw, then Supreme Justice, and Fredrick J. Weitkamp, Executive Secretary.

Executive Secretary Speaks to Professional Interfraternity

Brother Fredrick J. Weitkamp, Executive Secretary of the Fraternity, was a delegate at the recent Professional Interfraternity Conference Biennial Meeting held at the Gateway Hotel in St. Louis, Missouri, and spoke to those present on the "Present and Future of the Professional Fraternity."

Professional fraternities in the areas of agriculture, chemistry, commerce and business administration, dentistry, education, engineering, medicine, music, pharmacy, veterinary medicine, and law are members of the Professional Interfraternity Conference that were present. The law fraternities which are members of the Professional Interfraternity Conference include Delta Theta Phi, Phi Delta Phi, Phi Beta Gamma, Sigma Delta Kappa, Gamma Eta Gamma, and Phi Alpha Delta.

Following is the text of Brother Weitkamp's remarks:

"Last June the United States Commissioner of Education announced that federal grants would be cut off to universities and colleges that tolerated the presence of fraternities and sororities which practiced racial discrimination. Thus did the federal government indirectly attack the fraternity system. It is to be noted that there was no attempt to legislate away fraternities or to in anyway rule that they could not exist on university and college campuses. However, the indirect and very effective pressure of government money was brought into play.

"Fortunately, most professional fraternities have eliminated racial discrimination clauses and so unlike social fraternities we in the PIC have not had to concern ourselves with this attack on the fraternity world.

"However, pressure is being brought against us in other ways and will continue to be brought against us in other ways in the future.

"I recently ran into a situation at one law school where we had a colony existing where the faculty adopted a resolution stating that the faculty itself looked with disfavor on any organization where membership was not open to all who wanted to join. Here, the faculty was attacking the provision contained in our Constitution which pertains to the percentage of members who must approve a new member. Note that we do not have a strict blackball system but that this has been watered down to a percentage situation.

"In another instance, a law school did not want us because we did not take in women. They felt that this was a form of discrimination. This, despite the fact that there are presently existing women's legal sororities.

"More and more we can expect indirect pressures such as these to be brought against professional fraternities. If we are to survive, it therefore becomes incumbent upon us to justify our very existence.

"Let us ask ourselves the question, 'What is our purpose of existence?' Generally is it not to serve our respective professions. Specifically, is it not even more correct to say that our purpose is threefold: One—to serve our student members; Two—to serve the professional school; and Three—to serve our profession?

"Far too often, I believe, we have forgotten our purpose for existence and have become, for all intents and purposes, a graduate social fraternity.

"To be sure, a proper balance requires that there be a social side to the professional fraternity but this should only be a sublimated aspect of our program.

"The justification of our existence is contained in just one word—professional.

"We must continually emphasize the professional nature of our fraternities. Only in this manner can we justify our existence in the eyes and minds of the faculties and the administrations of the schools with which we have to continually deal.

"How can we stress the professional aspect of our organizations?

"First, our programs should be geared to aid and assist the school. Chapters should be urged to adopt programs such as freshman orientation to the school, use of the library, techniques of exam writing and others calculated to make the transition from undergraduate to graduate school an easier one. Other programs to supplement the school curriculum should be sponsored. Probably most important of all is the institution of programs designed to "Bridge the Gap" between the school and the actual practice.

"Second, when regional or national officers make visitations to chapters, one of the first things should be to meet with the Dean and faculty members of the school. Ask them if the local chapter is making a real contribution to the school. Stress that the fraternity, that is, the national organization, is deeply interested in the professional aspect of its chapters' activities, and that if a chapter is not conducting professional activities it is not making a worthwhile contribution to the school, and that then we ourselves recognize that there is no reason for the existence of a chapter. Find out from them in what way the professional program of the chapter can be strengthened.

"Third, meet with the alumni and faculty advisors to the chapter. Here again, emphasize the same professionalism so that after you are gone these

TOM CLARK AWARD TO CHARLES ZINN

Brother Charles A. Zinn, an alumnus member of Taft Chapter, was honored recently by being named the recipient of the Tom C. Clark Award for his superior and exceptional professional performance in career service of the Federal Government.

Present to present the award to Brother Zinn was Brother Justice Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and Supreme Vice-Justice of Phi Alpha Delta.

The award was presented to Brother Zinn in the presence of advisors will continue to carry your message.

"Fourth, the national organization should make available to the local chapters materials on various professional programs which can be sponsored or sustained. The experiences of other student chapters should be shared. Usually, chapters with successful professional programs are happy to prepare a narrative of the programs which can be distributed to other chapters.

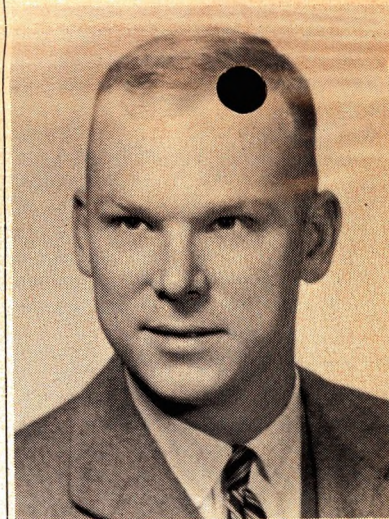

"Remember, if National does not stress the professional base of the fraternity, the chapters cannot be expected to do so.

"Fifth, use the alumni in the area. Have the students meet with them and jointly develop programs of a professional nature. You will find that this will be of great benefit not only to the chapter itself but also to the alumni who participate.

"The past 10 years have not been especially good ones for fraternities in general. Graduate school enrollments have been up, but the percentage of students who have become professional fraternity members has declined. Social fraternities have been under heavy attack in many quarters and much of this has rubbed off on us. However, despite this, my own fraternity has installed some 25 chapters in this same ten year period. Our membership has increased greatly (we have added 20,000 new members) and our income has become 2½ times what it was 10 years ago. We attribute the growth primarily to one thing and that is putting the emphasis on the word "professional."

a distinguished audience. To name but a few of those present: Emanuel Celler, J. Edward Day, Ramsey Clark, Sherman Cone, Cyril F. Brickfield and several of the former winners of the award.

Brother Richard B. Amandes, an alumnus member of Temple Chapter and Assistant Dean and Professor at Law at the University of California's Hastings College of the Law in San Francisco, has been named Dean of Texas Tech's new Law School scheduled to open in September of 1967.

The new Dean holds an A.B. from the University of California and an LL.B. from Hastings College of the Law and LL.M. from the New York University School of Law.

"My interest was not in 'just any deanship,' Amandes said. 'The opportunity to build a school of law from the foundation up is one that doesn't come to everyone and I find the challenge at Texas Tech most attractive.'"

Brother Amandes was admitted to the California Bar in 1954 and to the Washington Bar in 1959. He practiced briefly in San Francisco in 1954 before joining the University of Washington as an instructor in law. Governor Langlie Dies

Brother Arthur B. Langlie, an alumnus member of Dunbar Chapter and former Governor of Washington, recently passed away in Seattle, Washington.

Brother Langlie's career included politics, law practice and business.

He first entered politics in 1935 when he was elected to the Seattle City Council on a reform ticket formed by a group of vigorous young republicans. He served twice as Mayor of Seattle and three terms as Governor of the State.

He was first elected Governor in 1941 and was defeated in 1945. He was re-elected in 1949 and served until 1957, during which he attracted national attention as a GOP national convention speaker and a dominant figure of the nations governors.

Brother Langlie is the only man to have served three terms as Governor of the State of Washington.

Following his tenure as Governor, Brother Langlie accepted the post of President and Chief Executive officer of McCall Corporation. In 1961 he became Chairman of the Board, a position which he held until 1965 when he retired and returned to Seattle.

In addition, he has edited numerous continuing education handbooks and has delivered many talks to county bar associations, college and high school groups.

He has been a contributor to the "Current Issues and Legal Education," and has furnished contributions and book reviews to the "Washington Bar News." He has also prepared a project planning guide on an addition to the Hastings Law Building.

Law school traditions dictate that Deans devote some time to teaching as well as to administrative duties and Amandes says he intends to teach in Tech's new school as his schedule permits.

Hastings Law Professor George Neff Stevens, Dean of the Law School at the University of Washington during Amandes tenure there, describes him as "a sound, practical scholar and one of the best administrators I have encountered in recent years."

His teaching subjects have included real property, conveyancing, community property, equity, commercial law, agency and partnership, legal method, landlord and tenant, domestic relations and municipal corporations.

Justice Whittaker's address is found on page twenty.

Welcome By Tom C. Clark

Following the outstanding keynote address of Justice Whittaker, the delegates received a welcome from the Honorable Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and Supreme Vice-Justice, via loud-speaker telephone. Brother Justice Clark stated his regret for being unable to attend the convention because of the tremendous load of work at the Court but explained that he was most interested in the fraternity and would continue participating in fraternity activities as much as time would permit.

Justice Clark then spoke to those present about his interest in the student participation in the Indigent Defense Program. He pointed out the urgent need which students have for practical experience in the legal profession. He said that it was his feeling that this practical experience can be achieved by working with the Indigent Defense Program and allowing students active participation in the defense work.

Following Justice Clark's comments, a number of the students had an opportunity to ask Justice Clark questions concerning the procedure followed by the Supreme Court.

Chapter Workshops

Workshops in the areas of rushing, pledging, and indoctrination, chapter organization, chapter financing, national-local relations and professional activities, were conducted during the afternoon session of the first day. The delegates to the convention were divided into five groups of approximately 40 students in each group. Each group then received a one-half hour instruction and discussion on each of the five topics. In addition, there was an alumni chapter workshop at which all of the delegates from the alumni chapters received instruction and discussed alumni chapter activities.

Model Initiation

On Thursday morning, September 1, 1966, the delegates gathered to witness a model initiation during which pledges from Green, Benton and Benson Chapters were initiated as Brothers of Phi Alpha Delta. Following the honorary initiation, the ritual for deceased Brothers was performed as few brothers have had an opportunity to perform this ritual.

Convention Committees

Much of the work at the convention is accomplished in committee. The committees at the 36th Biennial National Convention were: Audit and Finance, Awards and Scholarships, Constitution and By-Laws, Credentials, Endowment Fund, Professional Programs, Publications, Resolutions, and Conclave.

Friday morning, September 2, 1966 found the delegates in convention assembled to receive committee reports and vote on the pressing issues concerning the fraternity. Some of the major decisions reached during the convention are as follows:

1. The office of Second Supreme Vice-Justice was deleted. In its place was created the office Supreme Advocate.

2. A limit was placed on the period which a brother may serve on the Supreme Executive Board to no more than eight consecutive years unless he be elected to the office of Supreme Vice-Justice in which event he may serve four additional years.

3. A procedure was adopted for removal of all elective officers of the fraternity including student district officers and chapter officers.

4. Payment of expenses for alumni chapter delegates to the national convention on the same basis as active chapter delegates.

5. The maximum amount of individual student loans from the Endowment Fund was increased from $500.00 per student to $1,000.00.

6. Alumni dues were increased from $5.00 per year to $6.00 per year and 80% of the additional dollar is to be added to the working capital of the Endowment Fund and 20% of the additional dollar is to be added to the corpus of the Endowment Fund.

7. Active chapters were urged to consider participating in Indigent Criminal Cases and "Manhattan" Bail Programs.

8. November 8 of each year was set aside as National Founder's Day of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity.

9. The uniform adoption of the Degree of Juris Doctor as the first degree given law graduates who previously received an undergraduate baccalaureate degree was recommended.

Also on the last day of the convention the delegates received a very informative speech by Charles Scott on "Questioned Documents." Mr. Scott described documents which are most often questioned such as checks, notes, wills, deeds, letters, and contracts. In addition to documents, Mr. Scott discussed handwriting, ballistics and other means of comparison and identification of evidence.

Post Convention Board Meeting

On Sunday, September 4, 1966, the new Supreme Executive Board met to dispense the business remaining and begin the new biennium.

Among the more important decisions and resolutions reached by the Board meeting were:

Charles Tom Henderson, Assistant Attorney General of the State of Florida, is the other member selected for PAD's highest award. He became a member of Brewer Chapter at Stetson University in 1926 where he received his LL.B.

He served as District Justice until he was elected Supreme Secretary in 1946. In 1948 he was elected Second Supreme Vice-Justice, a position which he held until 1952. In 1952 he was elected Supreme Vice-Justice and held that position until 1954. He presided at the 1954 National Convention due to the illness of Supreme Justice Anthony P. Savarese.

Following his tenure on the Supreme Executive Board, Brother Tom resumed his duties as District Justice and served in that position until 1964.

Today he is active in the Fraternity serving as Justice of the Tallahassee Alumni Chapter. He also attends all National Conventions.

Brewer Chapter Celebrates Fine Year

Brewer Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta enjoyed one of its best years at Stetson College of Law during the scholastic year of 1965-1966.

Topping the list of accomplishments were Brewer Chapter's selection as the most outstanding chapter in District XV.

With fifty-four active members the chapter has an active participation in all phases of Stetson's extra-curricular activities with a special emphasis on professional service.

Moot Court Seminars for freshmen were conducted by three PAD's who had achieved success in campus open Moot Court Competition.

A series of senior seminars consisting of subjects related to the practical aspects of practicing law were conducted under Brewer's sponsorship.

A memorial award was instituted in honor of deceased Brother Barry Markman, to be awarded annually to the Stetson graduating senior selected by the chapter for outstanding accomplishments and promise.

A $50.00 book scholarship was also instituted to be given to an incoming student each semester based upon undergraduate scholarship and need.

Brewer Chapter was honored this year to have Paul Antinori, State Attorney from Tampa, Florida and Walter Beckham of Miami, Florida as its guest speakers at the ends of Court.

Brewer Chapter is looking forward to the 1966-1967 scholastic year as J. Ron Smith, Stetson Student Bar Association President and Student District Justice for District XV, will head a committee to welcome our fellow PAD's to the District Conclave to be hosted by Brewer Chapter.

PROF. COOK DIES

Brother Walter Henry Cook, an alumnus member of Hay Chapter and professor emeritus of Loyola Law School, recently passed away at the age of 83.

Brother Cook was born in Hillsdale, Michigan and obtained his LL.B. Degree at Western Reserve University where he became a member of Hay Chapter.

Brother Cook came to California in 1922 and joined the Loyola Law Faculty approximately ten years later. From the beginning, Brother Cook was regarded as a genius in the teaching profession. His success was marked by an analytical mind, keen wit, meticulous regard for details, command of the English language, intelligence, sympathy and patience beyond the call of duty.

Brother Cook's vision was impaired by glaucoma; however, he continued teaching despite his eventual total blindness.

Thirty years ago the President of the Association of American Law Schools visited Loyola with reference to the law school's application for membership in the association. The President spent the entire period of contracts in Professor Cook's classroom and was so impressed by his performance that he commented "as good as Corbin."

He was so loved and admired by his brothers in Phi Alpha Delta that Ford Chapter sponsored a dinner for him after his blindness and presented him with a gift of a wrist watch specially designed for the blind.

In the main corridor of Loyola Law School, leading off the foyer of the new law building on the right, hangs a portrait of Professor Cook, the gift of the class of 1957. It is a splendid likeness and portrays him as he was known to legions of Loyolans, the all seasoned, incomparable "Mister Chips," ready and vibrant to spread enlightenment in the dark recesses of the law even though eternal sleep presses down his eyelids still.

Outstanding Chapter Awards

Dance for over 150 persons. Following spring finals, the PAD Annual Picnic is held at a nearby lake.

In addition, impromptu functions are well attended throughout the year.

Benson Chapter has an active wives club. This club holds parties in the fall of each year to make acquaintances with the first year student's wives. Each month the wives club has a meeting during which the wives receive an interesting talk from a member of the legal profession and other areas of interest to the women.

During the forthcoming year Benson Chapter plans to hold a Christmas Party for underprivileged children in the Topeka, Kansas area. In addition, it hopes to enlarge its chapter house library so that it may be of greater service to the brothers of Benson Chapter.

Thus, the scholastic year 1965-1966 saw Benson Chapter of Washburn Law School achieve greater heights than ever before. During the year membership climbed to the highest number ever achieved. 1965 also marked the completion of the payment for the chapter house and the expenditure of over $1,000.00 of chapter funds for house improvements.

HAY CHAPTER

Hay Chapter, at Western Reserve University School of Law, received the Supreme Justice Award for Excellence because of its outstanding accomplishments in light of the fact that the 1965-1966 scholastic year marked the chapter's first year of reactivation. The chapter reactivated in the Spring of 1965 with a group of 25 brothers and within the year boasted a membership of 55. Among its membership included the President of Student Bar Association as well as many committee chairmen and committeemen for the Student Bar Association.

Hay Chapter's success is marked principally by the fact that the chapter stressed professional activities unlike the chapter of Phi Delta Phi at Western Reserve University School of Law.

The chapter established a lending library as well as a regular monthly luncheon at which members of the legal profession address those in attendance.

The highlight of their professional program was the dedication of a memorial showcase in honor of the late Justice Harold H. Burton. In attendance for the dedication was Mrs. Burton, United States Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark and Supreme Justice Dr. Elden S. Magaw.

The members of Hay Chapter readily admit that their success would not have been possible without the cooperation they realized from the alumni chapter in their area.

In addition to the professional programs, Hay Chapter conducted at least one major social function each month.

The following are the chapters which were chosen as the most outstanding in their district: District I — Williams Chapter, University of Oregon; District II — Field Chapter, University of California; District III — Knox Chapter, University of Arizona; District IV — Hughes Chapter, University of Wisconsin; District VI — Benson Chapter, Washburn College; District VII — Houston Chapter, South Texas College of Law; District VIII — Adams Chapter, University of Indiana at Bloomington; District IX — Hay Chapter, Western Reserve University; District X — Hull Chapter, Cumberland Law School; District XI — Wilson Chapter, Cornell University; District XII — deBracton Chapter, St. John's University; District XIII — Jay Chapter, George Washington University; District XIV — Timberlake Chapter, Wake Forest College; District XV — Brewer Chapter, Stetson University.

Brother Malone will head the Association for the year beginning January 1, 1967.

Professor Malone also received an honor from Louisiana State University by being designated Boyd Professor of Law, the highest honor that can be bestowed on a faculty member at L.S.U.

WEX S. MALONE

Brother Malone received his JD Degree from the University of North Carolina in 1931 and his LL.M. Degree from Harvard University in 1933. He practiced law in New York City in the early 30's and taught at the University of Mississippi before joining the L.S.U. faculty.

A member of the L.S.U. Law Faculty since 1939, Brother Malone is a national authority in Torts, Relational Interests and Workman's Compensation and in all three fields he is the co-author of leading case books widely used throughout the United States.

He has held visiting professorships at a number of major law schools including Northwestern University, University of Texas, University of Southern California, Rutgers University Law School, Stanford University, University of Chicago, Hastings College of the Law, the University of North Carolina and the University of Michigan.

"Circling the Square"

Address by

The Honorable Charles E. Whittaker

Associate Justice, United States Supreme Court (Retired)

before the

Thirty-Sixth Biennial Convention of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity held on August 31 at the Muehlebach Hotel, Kansas City, Missouri.

"Mr. Toastmaster, Distinguished Guests, my Brothers in Phi Alpha Delta, I am happy this morning to be able to so greet you rather than to greet you as my Fellow Revolutionaries. Let me say at the outset that I think you are a most fortunate group of young men; you are headed toward a life that can bring glorious and wonderful achievements in public service. You will note I have said "can bring" this for in this life we have learned that we get from the best of activities no more than we put in. And if you will, as I am sure you will, give the right kind of effort, fidelity, and honor to your work, you will find the rewards I have spoken about.

"Now, I think you are especially fortunate, not only because you stand as young men before the bar of the law, but principally because of the nature of the empirical education which is practical, sensible, gives attention to details that you get in the law schools of the land. If you will reflect only briefly to your college days—you are undergraduates—you will find your own answer for you know that you did not there get the kind of education you are getting now; not just a difference in quality, indeed, it is a difference in kind. Those of you who are now sophomores or farther along in law school, in your third year or in your second year, have begun to realize that you now because of your legal training are developing a legal mind and it is very different than the lay mind, and if ever in our history there was a time when we needed the kind of education that lawyers get, it is now. The tangible, the practical, something you can take hold of and that makes good solid sense, and the type of reasoning you are required to go through in arriving at your conclusion, giving attention to all details that may make wide differences in result, can only smoke out the fallacies and make your conclusion sound and makes a real mental genius of you. And while I have said that, let me continue to say that today the law practice has very greatly changed and you are to find yourselves in practice, I suspect, very largely as business thinking instruments, not just on legal questions but your success at the bar will be measured as well by how soundly you advise your clients on practical matters that have not much relationship to law. And if you do that, well, then your clients out of appreciation will be wedded to you throughout your lives and then accumulating in a practice, though slow, is certain.

"Now, my friends, I have prepared a few remarks, formal remarks to make to you here. I will now turn to them. They are attuned to what I have said, particularly to what I have said about the superior quality — nature, rather, so far as practicalities are concerned, of the character of your education in law schools. Can anyone reasonably believe that the fundamentals stated in the Ten Commandments are outmoded? Can any society that takes or tolerates that view survive? In all recorded history, none ever has, and I am sure that the great majority of us believe that none ever will because those fundamental rules are laws of God which men dare not defy without suffering ruin.

"I hope you will agree that the few thoughts which I shall express here today rest upon more of a foundation than nostalgia for the good old days, and that you will find them instead to rest upon those divine fundamentals, just as do the Constitution and laws of the United States which, as you know, only expound and implement those fundamental principles. Through propaganda and other consciously distorted uses of good generic terms in our language, our thinking process and our ability even to communicate with certainty have been and are being seriously impaired. Even education in our schools and more particularly in many of our colleges and universities, but not to law schools, thank the Lord, is increasingly lacking in the genuine, the practical, and the patriotic.

"Back in the days of my own youth and, indeed, until the last decade or two, the word "square" was one of the most honored in our language. Honest men were "on the square" and they gave their neighbors a "square" deal. Their dealings were "fair and square" and when a hungry man came to their door they proudly gave him a "square" meal. They stood "four square" against those who wilfully violated our laws, and when they got out of debt they were "square" with the world. They could and did look their fellow men "square" in the eye.

"But more recently a lot of strange characters have gotten hold of this honest and wholesome word and have simply bent it all out of shape. Now, everyone knows what a "square" is. In his excellent recent article titled "Let's Dare to be Square" Mr. Charles H. Bower of New York pungently told us that a "square" is a man who has never learned to get away with it, a Joe who volunteers when he doesn't have to, a poor guy who gets his kicks from trying to do something better than others do it, a poor boob who still gets all choked up when the band plays "America, the Beautiful"; such a one is now "square" and some would relegate him to the heap of forgotten things. That, at the very best, his tribe has not thrived too well in the current climate—says Mr. Bower—he doesn't fit into the current group of anvil players, corner cutters, sharp shooters, and off-offs because he is burdened down, he says, with the old-fashioned ideas of the Ten Commandments — honesty, loyalty, patriotism, courage, and thrift — and he concludes he may already, indeed, be on his way out. It can hardly be denied that he and the rest of us are now living in quite a different country than the one we were taught as youngsters to respect and love, just one or two decades ago.

"Now, these changes have come largely because we have been gullible patrons of the idea that our efficient disciplines should be abandoned at the start for the poor feeble souls we are thought to be. Our colleges are loaded with youngsters, and you know this from recent experiences of your own, who are hardly prepared for high school, who cannot do simple arithmetic or spell the simple words, and this, in turn, has been largely because of the new idea that the 'dull disciplines of the three r's' has been thought to be disturbing to little Johnnie's ego. In only a few of our schools, and in even fewer of our colleges and universities, is any real instruction given upon the proper use of even punctuation. It is almost a dead and lost art, and it is a crime, for some of us believe it to be the best catalytic aid to the distillation of clarity and precision in thinking and writing; it smokes out the bugs. And these failures have at least made their contribution to the fact that only a very few of our college students are able to compose even a three-minute original essay of passable quality and free from significant grammatical errors. These are facts. But not in the law schools! There you have got to do some original thinking and real work and get down to empirical things that count — how much an aid it would help, had you been a little better prepared below.

"Even worse, to my way of thinking, simple patriotism seems to be a forgotten subject in our schools and colleges. Very little of our history that produced the reasons for many of the provisions of the United States Constitution is being taught to our youngsters outside of the law schools. Indeed, few of them have been taught or know the fundamental principles of the Constitution, to say nothing of its specific provisions. As a result, many do not even know that our national government was designed by our founding fathers to have only the limited powers expressly given by the Constitution, which it states to the national government are prohibited to the states thereby, and that all other powers were specifically by the Tenth Amendment reserved to the states of the people, and that therefore our nation is really one of separate and independent sovereign states in whom is vested all powers of government, save only the few that were delegated to the national won through the Constitution by the states and the people. Instead, they appear to believe that the powers of our national government are all embracive and that it lawfully may do whatever is wished by those in office for the time being, simply because such powers are modernly assumed and sadly, I must say, are sometimes exercised, and our youth simply have not been taught the facts except in law school, and that does not come to all of us nor as early as it should.

"Little, if any, disciplined instruction upon patriotism is given in our schools and colleges. You know that. And it is less and less as time goes by. We ought to know by now that there will be little learning without disciplined instruction. I pause to deviate from my text. Recently at a well-regarded state university where, after having spoken upon a like or similar theme, a very nice looking, apparently intelligent young lady stepped up to me and said, "I must disagree; we are a nation," she said, "a sovereign nation." And I said, "Yes, we are, but we are a sovereign nation of sovereign independent states." "Oh, no," she said, "you better get yourself better informed."

(Laughter)

"Now, there is a fair example. She was not a beatnik. She was a young lady really interested in education, but she had had the wrong kind of education, and I paused only then to say, "Young lady, I wish you well, but I fear you cannot educate me on constitution law," (laughter) and it had by this time also been evident to me that in her state of mind I could not educate her so there was no profit in the continuation of that dialogue.

"Today almost anything goes and is accepted. Even the preachments of the far outs and of the sick pseudosophisticates, as stated by Mr. Brower in his excellent article earlier mentioned; today non-books are being thrown together by non-writers who never bothered to learn how to write. And you, as lawyers, must learn how to write and write well. Say what you mean with single meaningfulness. "Our museums," he said, "are exhibiting paintings by people who never learned to paint, and as to some paintings one cannot tell which is the top and which is the bottom." Now, indeed, I have noted that it was recently reported that a museum did hang a bit of modern art upside down in New York and it was days before the error was discovered and we were not told and indeed I cannot tell you how they found it out. (Laughter)

"Now, these comments, my Brothers, I suppose will mark me, too, as a "square" but if they do it is not going to worry me. It will be all right. I accept it with glory, for that puts me in pretty good company. Our freedom was gained by "squares" and our government, parenthetically earlier said, ever to be conceived by the minds of men — and I add my two bits, I think it still is, or could be — was fought for, thought out, and established by "squares"; "square" like Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Hamilton, Marshall, Jay, and now I come to some real patriots, Nathan Hale, Patrick Henry, Paul Revere, John Paul Jones, and more recently, I cannot omit Abraham Lincoln.

"Now, it would be easy to demonstrate that each of these national heroes was a "square" if, instead of what he did do and say there could be attributed to him, as today's squares would do, the following: Nathan Hale: "Me spy on those British? Are you trying to be funny? (Laughter) "Do you know what they do with the spies they catch? (Laughter) "I will give you a news flash, chum; they just hang them. Not for me."

"Patrick Henry: "Sure, I am for liberty. But we have got to be a little realistic. We are a small outfit (laughter) and if we start pushing these British around somebody is liable to get hurt."

"Paul Revere: "What do you mean, me ride through every village and town in Middlesex? And in the middle of the night yet! When do you think I'm going to sleep? Why pick on me? I'm not the only man in Boston with a horse." (Laughter)

"George Washington: "Sure, sure, it's all right to allow the Constitution of the United States to be amended by usurpation and erosion. It is not to matter that this is the means by which in past times constitutional governments have historically been destroyed. We have grown up now — and we are smarter, too."

"Thomas Jefferson: "Oh, yes, it used to be thought that the people should place no confidence in the beneficent promises of men but should bind them down from mistrust by the change of the Constitution. But these are modern times and emergencies now need to be held to create power, controlling power in the national government, even if such powers were in 1789 by some words in the Constitution reserved to the people in the states."

"Abraham Lincoln: "Oh, yes, you can now in the changed conditions of today bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift; you can strengthen the weak by weakening the strong; you can help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer; you can help the poor by discouraging the rich. It is no longer true, so runs this philosophy, that you cannot establish a sound security by spending more than you earn. And today you can help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should be doing for themselves."

"Now, we could go on and on with this, but this is enough at least to serve the purpose of proving my point in establishing the proud base upon which I would stand with them as squares. It is significant that what those men actually did say on those subjects has been quietly removed from our school books. Why was this done? Not long ago This Week magazine compared school history books issued before 1920 with those issued since. It found that Nathan Hale's statement, "I only regret that I have but one life to give for my country," appeared in eleven of the old texts and in only one of the new ones. Patrick Henry's statement, "I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or give me death," appeared in twelve of fourteen of the old texts, but in only three of the forty-five new ones.

"But John Paul Jones sets the record. His statement, "Surrender, surrender, I have not yet begun to fight," appeared in every one of the old history books but not in a single one of the new ones. Not one.

"Now, I wouldn't attempt, my friends, to deny that those patriotic statements were square, but aren't there good patriotic lessons to be learned in all of them? And was there any good reason for taking them out of the school books? Surely, the history of Rome, the eternal city and the greatest and most cultured empire ever conceived even to this day and built by men, even to this day contains a lesson for us. The first part of that history was a long and illustrious one, one of continuing rise to great influence, affluence, and power. But there was a second and a shorter part of it, and that is that rather suddenly it fell apart. "It fell apart," wrote the great historian that was given in 1788 and therefore just one year before the ratification of our Constitution, "for five basic reasons, namely: One, the rapid increase of divorce which undermined the dignity and sanctity of the home and its instructions to its young; two, higher and higher taxes to fund the spending of public money for free bread and circuses for the populace; three, the mad craze for leisure and pleasure; four, the building of gigantic armaments to defend from an external enemy when the real enemy was within, namely, the decadence and immorality of the masses; and five, the decay of religion, faith fading into phenomena, its exponents departing as opponents for the political platform and thereby losing the respect of the people, and hence the power to guide their morals. Gibbon's interpretations are self-explanatory and further comments upon them would only confuse the facts.

"Arnold Toynbee, the great historian, tells us that of twenty-one notable civilizations, nineteen perished not from external conquest but from internal apathy and decadence.

"In 1765, and therefore slightly more than 200 years ago and also fourteen years before the adoption and ratification of the United States Constitution, a scholar writing about the decline and fall of the Athenian Republic said, "A democracy cannot survive as a permanent form of government; it can only exist until the voters discover that they can vote themselves largess out of the public treasury. From that moment on," he says, "the majority always votes for the candidate promising the most benefits from the public treasury, with the result that democracy nearly always collapses under a loose fiscal policy." I would like to help you to prove him wrong. Don't you think it is worth while? What he did not say, but is obvious to all who read, is what a very honored senator from Missouri, the Honorable James A. Reed, said many years ago and in my presence and it will always remain in my memory, "While the most important consideration to an elected federal and competent official is keeping his coattails in contact with congressional mahogany," and he concluded, "he will do almost anything if there are enough votes in it." But the failure to point out the fact is probably not significant here, or to intelligent people who read, for it can hardly be news. News to anyone who has been reading newspapers, particularly in recent months and days, that the welfare of the country and the people is secondary to personal political considerations, as witness the remedial executive and constitute congressional action is critically needed in certain fields, all admit it — well, this is the statement you read — no action can be expected or will be taken until after the elections. And it seems to me that we are almost constantly confronted with some election. Hence, that the interests of the people, save those of pressure groups and voting blocs, are pretty well stymied.

"A number of historians have reminded us that the average life of the world's great governments has been 200 years. Ours is now about 178 years old. It simply isn't safe to say that what happened to other governments cannot happen here. Certainly, it could. Certainly, it could happen here. Hope of contributing something toward the prevention of that catastrophe — for that is what, to me, it would be — is my only reason for appearing here and speaking to you now and to ask of you, as I would like the privilege of doing, to think deeply about these matters, to revive and quicken your patriotism; you, the upcoming generation of young life in the law who will be leading our country, and ask you to arise and join in the vigorous defense of the ageless and changeless fundamentals.

"Recently Mr. Howard W. Casey, President of Acacia Mutual Life Insurance Company of Washington, closed an excellent public speech in these dramatic words in which I think every PAD will agree: "God help the land where every day its wealth increases but its morals decay." History proves the greatness of this truth. Men simply cannot live crooked and think straight. All history shows that the struggle between good and evil is eternal. I, for one, believe that the fundamentals embraced by the Ten Commandments upon which our Constitution and laws are based and which they only implement are the good and that the contrary is evil.

"I therefore would ask you to respect, obey, and carry out and support the law and when you take oaths, as many of you will, don't take them out of the corner of your mouth but straight from the heart and mean what you say, and when you swear to protect, serve and defend the Constitution of the United States you do not mean secretly to cut her throat.

"We now have a whole new set of "evils": Named Glenn, Grissom, Sheppard, Carpenter, Schirra, Cooper, to mention only a few. The little towns in which they lived and grew up were far away from the big cities, and so they grew up to be "squares." For who — who but a square today would volunteer his life for the good of his country? They are not ashamed of their feelings or their humble beginnings. They, not society, built themselves up. Not handouts. They are independent men of honor and ability. And John Glenn says that he even gets a funny feeling down inside today when he sees the flag go by. Imagine that, in this day!

"I hope that some of him rubs off on you, on this generation and the next. Too many of us are still sitting it out instead of sweating it out, and I think that it is time that we who are ready — and in our hearts and minds supporting the ageless and changeless fundamentals — stand up to challenge the sick pseudosophisticates and their acceptors and publicizers who share a measure of guilt, who threaten to run away with and to destroy our beloved country, that we stand up straight, courageously, and seek — not dare — to be counted as "on the square."

"Thank you! Thank you for listening."

CRAMER INITIATED

Congressman William C. Cramer was recently initiated into Brandeis Chapter as an honorary member.

Brother Cramer represents the 12th District of Florida.

He was born in Denver, Colorado in 1922 and moved to St. Petersburg in 1925. He attended public school in St. Petersburg and was president of the St. Petersburg High School Student Government. He attended St. Petersburg Junior College and was elected class president.

Brother Cramer graduated from Harvard Law School in 1948 and received an honorary Doctorate of Jurisprudence from Tampa University in 1957.

He served in the Florida State Legislature from 1950 to 1952 and was the first minority leader of that body. In 1952 he was the Republican nominee for the United States House of Representatives and was defeated by a narrow margin. From 1953 to 1954 Congressman Cramer served as County Attorney for Pinellas County.

Congressman Cramer has been active in the Republican Party. From 1951 to 1953 he served as regional director of the Young Republican National Federation and as Vice-Chairman of the Federation from 1953 to 1955. He served as chairman of the Florida College of Electors who cast the ballot for President Eisenhower in 1952; delegate to the ter held a rush meeting which was well attended by alumni and members.

Cooley Chapter Begins Active Year

Cooley Chapter at Wayne State University Law School initiated its 1966 Pledge Class on September 21, 1966 in the Courtroom of Judge Victor J. Baum, Wayne County Circuit Court. Among those initiated were: David R. Wilson, Robert Willihnganz, Paul L. Triemstra, George Parker, David Brockman, Maurice Grai, Clark Davis, Mike Moser and Patrick B. Kelly.

On September 30, the chapter sponsored an informal policeman's view of "The Effect of Miranda v. Arizona on Police Operations." District Detective Inspector Albert G. Isaac of the Detroit Police Department, Director of Technical Services, fascinated the audience of over 60 law students and guests with the theatrical, practical and future problems and effects of informing a criminal suspect "effectively" of his rights. His main concern was the definition "effective" while the role of the confession he says has been decreasing in importance over the last decade. The question and answer period which followed evolved around "search and seizure" practices carried on overtly.

Inspector Isaac's stimulating dialogue carried over into a gathering at a private rush affair after the open meeting.

The new officers for Cooley Chapter are: J. Russell Hughes, Justice; Phillip Dulmage, Vice-Justice; Henry Praeger, Clark; Ross McEwen, Treasurer; and Clark Davis, Marshal.

Indianapolis Alumni Hold Elections

The Indianapolis Alumni Chapter recently held its annual elections and the following officers were chosen: Richard F. Hahn, Justice; Robert Wade, Vice-Justice; Patrick W. Mullen, Clark; and Charles Runnels, Treasurer.

This marks the end of a fine year for the Indianapolis Alumni. During the year the chapter held monthly meetings, assisted the active chapter at the Indianapolis Division of the Indiana University School of Law, initiated members into both the active and alumni chapters in the Indiana Supreme Court Chambers and had both the Democratic and Republican candidates for County Prosecutor speak at its meetings.

Republican Convention from 1952 to 1960 and Vice-Chairman of Florida Delegation to the Republican Convention from 1956 to 1960.

Among his other affiliations are VFW, American Legion, Amvets, Elks, Moose, Ahepa, Army and Navy Club, Masons, Shrine, Eastern Star, Chamber of Commerce; and the American, Massachusetts, Florida and St. Petersburg Bar Associations.

Brother Cramer was elected as the first Republican from Florida since 1875 when he was elected to the 84th Congress on November 2, 1954. He was re-elected to the 85th, 86th, 87th, 88th and 89th Congresses. As a Congressman he serves on public works and judiciary committees, Vice-Chairman of the Republican Conference, member of the policy committee; ranking Republican on the public works committee, roads subcommittee and federal aid Highway Investigating committee. He has been elected Republican National Committeeman from Florida for the period 1964 to 1968.

PAD Convention Scratch Pad

By SANDY RAE

Everything's Up To Date in Kansas City . . . and in the Muehlebach Hotel . . . even after twenty years. It was great to be back!

But, let's reminisce . . . it was Christmas week, 1946, the last time . . . in the middle of a typical mid-western blizzard. The Hotel was the Muehlebach, but it didn't have a Tower or a Convention Center then. PAD didn't need either . . . the war wasn't long over and we didn't have many Chapters . . . maybe 18 were there. But it was a memorable occasion . . . years later we could look back and know it was from here we became the largest of the legal fraternities. California Supreme Court Justice DOUGLAS L. EDMONDS was elected to the Supreme Executive Board that year . . . as Supreme Vice-Justice . . . he went on to rebuild the Fraternity during two memorable terms as Supreme Justice. CHARLES TOM HENDERSON was elected to the Board that year also . . . as Supreme Secretary . . . he went on to take over the reins during the illness of a later Supreme Justice . . . and to return in 1966 to be honored by election to the Distinguished Service Chapter. And a second-year law-student from Rutledge was there . . . deeply impressed and inspired by the Brothers he met . . . and 20 years later he came back . . . and could proudly say he had been to every Convention in the interim . . . and written the now-traditional Scratch Pad on most of them . . . as he now turns from the past and begins writing this one.

This time it wasn't snowing . . . and the Bunnies were hopping in full spirit . . . somehow it seemed a bit unfair for the Board and District Justices to be the only Playboys . . . students certainly would have been better cotton-tail admirers! . . . although the ardor of DISTRICT II JUSTICE "PANCHE" WORTHINGTON was difficult to restrain.

But we're ahead of our story . . . food . . . excellent, unbelievable, gourmet food . . . was the key to this Convention . . . and the password to the food was that classic bit of personal research done by District VI Justice DON HUTSON, our jovial host. Following Don's advice, the Supreme Executive Board began the week on Sunday evening across the street at Brettons . . . a place found by others later in the week. At various times hereafter for the remainder of the Convention, delegates could be found scattered about Kansas City and environs . . . clutching one or more pages of Don's 3-page masterpiece . . . ALEX HARPER (San Diego Alumni) making a mad taxi dash across town to the Black Angus just at closing time . . . SUPREME SECRETARY ROHR crest-fallen because Oyster Bay didn't have any oysters . . . FRED RICCARDI and DAVE HAFT (McCormick) checking out The Place in Westport . . . The Levee full of thirsty music lovers . . . and we think we saw JIM JACKSON, (Cole) and his bride at the Golden Ox . . . that's right, his bride! Greater love hath no man than to come to a PAD Convention on his honeymoon.

It was a longer Convention than ever before . . . four days for general business . . . preceded by two days for the Board and District Justices. That gave lots of time for sightseeing and entertainment as well as work . . . and the ladies' program was outstanding. BETTY HUTSON had something for everyone . . . starting with lunch at Putsch's . . . ending with a tour of Swope Park Zoo and a picnic . . . and naturally filled with shopping in between . . . But not all the ladies got to enjoy the fun . . . PHYLLIS ANDRESEN did her usual magnificent job of keeping the Convention running, ably assisted by her daughter SHIRLEY . . . who did manage to have time to share her evening off-hours with several of the more observant delegates. IRENE BAILIE was on hand for all of our sessions . . . she's been our reporter since 1950 . . . and still managed to savor the excellence of the menu at Uncle John's Riverboat. And MARNY WEITKAMP and RUBY ROHR were in charge of the junior executives department . . . the Rohr-Weitkamp teen-age messenger service was great . . . when it wasn't engaged in exploring the endless possibilities of room-service.

Early arrivals like CHARLES FALKENBERG (District VIII Justice) and his wife discovered the roof-top pool . . . and its secondary pleasures of flying-saucer watching (so it was a giant balloon) . . . and beer served on request. Others had to forego such pleasures for the call of duty . . . such as Nominating Committee Chairman JOHN GRIF-FITH . . . our beloved Past Supreme Justice. Other Past Supreme Justices were there . . . HON. ALFRED P. MURRAH . . . whose story-telling ability cannot be matched . . . and TONY DI GRAZIA . . . with charming wife Nelle. CARL DIETZE (Milwaukee) made it again . . . records indicate he's been to every Convention since about 1932 . . . and so did Past Supreme Secretary FRANK E. GRAY . . . both of whom won well-deserved recognition by election to the Distinguished Service Chapter.

JAMES B. CRAVEN III (Rutledge) . . . a famous name in the history of the battles for academic freedom . . . lived up to his Duke forefather's reputation . . . a true independent voter! But then he was only following in the footsteps of another great American . . . Brother JUSTICE CHARLES E. WHITTAKER (Benton) . . . our inspiring keynote speaker . . . whose memorable remarks are in demand by MYLES MATTENSON (Ford) . . . and many other delegates . . . for reproduction for the benefit of their Chapters. We were sorry to miss seeing another of our great Brothers . . . and truly great American . . . former PRESIDENT HARRY S. TRUMAN (Benton) . . . who unfortunately was ill when Benton Chapter presented an award to him upon our visit to the Truman Memorial Library . . . and to Benton Chapter delegates JAY NIGRO, MIKE FITZGERALD, JOHN READEY and TOM THOMPSON our thanks for an impressive ceremony at the Library . . . and a marvelous Convention of which the Chapter was a co-host.

Delegates' social activities were a bit too numerous to try to keep track of . . . from the Reception on the Starlight Roof on Tuesday evening . . . with District I Justice JOE ZIMMERMAN acting as unofficial photographer . . . specializing in unglamorous poses . . . through the hazy Continental Breakfast the following yawning . . . to the Banquet Saturday night. Highlight of the period in between was the Thursday evening Convention Dance . . . with the customary . . . but this time outstandingly attractive . . . blind dates. Most all the delegates were pleased . . . probably because they didn't have quite the luck of KEITH HABERMAN (Ryan) . . . he drew a practicing member of the local WCTU. Supreme Tribune GEORGE NICKELL . . . traditional Chairman of the "Surplus Committee" . . . found little to do . . . which means that all blind dates were accounted for with no surplus for George's attention . . . as usual he was assisted by Chief Tribune CHARLES DI GANGI . . . who was still remembering that Bunny whose flashlight angle induced him to buy another round of drinks . . . and we say "round" advisedly.

In retrospect, it was a Convention of fun . . . as well as constructive accomplishment. From the intimate cocktail party hosted by Supreme Justice ELDEN MAGAW and his gracious wife Mildred . . . to the Western Barbecue . . . complete with GERALD BROWN (Edmonds) in cowboy boots and sidearms . . . it was a week of fraternal good fellowship. For most of the delegates, it was a new experience in PAD . . . and like BARRY TARAN (Rasco) and JOHN ALBERTI (Miami Alumni) they were making the most of it to learn and build for the future of their Chapters. Others had been this route before . . . and were back because of love of fraternity and dedication to the best good of PAD . . . such as Supreme Treasurer DEE BROWN WALKER . . . whose service as Tribune and on the Board exceeded that of any other member . . . and Historian T. JULIAN SKINNER . . . who was a District Justice in 1950. Some put forth super-human effort to assure the success of the Convention . . . like Kansas City Alumni Justice STEPHEN MILLIN and RUSSELL MILLIN, ably assisted by ROBERT VAN HORN . . . the latter of whom had already lost his law-partner Hutson to General Convention Chairmanship . . . and FRED WEITKAMP and HERB SMITH of the Executive Office whose devoted work kept the myriad of details moving with effortless efficiency.

So many others should be mentioned . . . the students who labored so well in the many productive committees . . . even HERB WEISS (Beaumont) who had mastered the art of public snoozing without snoring . . . but space . . . and memory . . . or even imagination . . . will not permit.

Our promise to Kansas City . . . we shall return again . . . as we have so often in the past . . . and we hope it won't be another 20 years.
