Brother Daniel P. Ward, an alumnus member of Story Chapter was recently elected to the Illinois State Supreme Court.

He obtained his law degree from DePaul Law School in 1941 and served on the faculty of Southeastern University from 1941 to 1942. From 1948 to 1954 Brother Ward served as Federal Prosecutor during which he served as Chief of the Criminal Division. In this capacity he directed the administration of all criminal matters in the northern district of Illinois. Brother Ward served as Dean of DePaul University Law School from 1955 to 1960 when he was elected as States Attorney. He served in this position until his recent election to the Illinois State Supreme Court. In 1964 he was named the nations outstanding prosecutor by the national District Attorneys Association.

Brother Ward is a member of the American Bar Association where he serves on the committee on fair trial — free press, member of the Illinois, Federal and Chicago Bar Associations, former president of the Illinois States Attorney's Association and former vice-president of the National District Attorney's Association.

Supreme Officers' Seminar Held in D.C.

A combined meeting of the members of the Supreme Executive Board, District Justices and Supreme Tribunal was held on February 24, 25 and 26 in Washington, D.C. at the Mayflower Hotel, site of the 1968 National Biennial Convention.

The meeting, held at the call of Supreme Justice Robert E. Redding, provided an opportunity for the groups to meet jointly in the Supreme Officer's Seminar and separately in the annual Supreme Executive Board Meeting and the District Justice workshop.

All of the Supreme Officers, Supreme Tribunal and District Justices, with the exception of Professor Ross Tisdale, were present for the meeting. Brother Tisdale could not be present because District V was holding its Conclave on February 24 and 25.

The meeting of the fraternity officers commenced promptly at 8:00 a.m. with a joint breakfast. Following the breakfast, everyone in attendance listened to committee reports on expansion and finances. It was reported to everyone's pleasure, that $89 out of every $1.00 received by national, from the initiation fee is returned in direct benefits to the active chapters. The growth of the fraternity was also dramatically shown by the information that the fraternity's revenue has doubled in the last five years and the fraternity's reserves have doubled in the last three years. In addition, initiations have doubled in the last five years.

The next item on the agenda consisted of reports from each of the District Justices. As each District Justice reported on the strength of the active and alumni chapters in his District, it became apparent that the fraternity is stronger than ever before. Boasting over 50,000 members, 105 active chapters and 56 alumni chapters.

The District Justice Reports were so extensive that they occupied all of the morning session and most of the afternoon. During the rest of the first day's session the PAD Tool Kit, Endowment Fund Loans and a review of Chapter forms and supplies were discussed.

There was so much work to be completed at this meeting, that the Supreme Executive Board adjourned briefly for dinner and then returned for the first session of the Supreme Executive Board Meeting, which commenced at 7:00 p.m. on the evening of February 24. The meetings of the Supreme Executive Board continued into the late hours of Friday evening. The Board then reconvened for an all day Saturday session and concluded its business with a Sunday morning session.

During these extensive meetings many items of fraternity business were discussed and resolved.

PAD Inns of Court Program

Recently, Jay Chapter continued its "Inns of Court" Program with a seminar conducted by the Honorable Richmond B. Keech, a PAD and senior judge of the District Court, District of Columbia Circuit, as moderator. The other two participants were Thomas A. Flenner, Esq., noted Washington defense attorney, and Judge William Bryant, also of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia Circuit. The area for discussion was preparing a criminal case for trial.

Judge Keech began the seminar by congratulating Phi Alpha Delta and its "Inns of Court" Program covering etiquette, ethics, and conduct of attorneys regarding adversary proceedings. Judge Keech reminded us that there should be no conflict between representing the client in court and ethical, courteous conduct before the court. As he said it, "You attract more flies with sugar" he remarked that over zealous conduct on the behalf of attorneys before the court in a criminal trial tended to antagonize the court and the jury against the client and would do him irreparable harm.

Law School Enrollments Grow 5%

Law schools with American Bar Association approval enrolled five per cent more students in September, 1966 than the year before, according to figures in the ABA's annual Review of Legal Education.

Enrollments reached a high mark of 62,556, compared with 59,744 in 1965.

However, there were signs of a slowdown. First year students numbered 24,077—a drop of 90 from 1965. The decrease occurred despite the opening of three new law schools last year.

"It is apparent that the schools are becoming more selective in their student admissions," said John G. Hervey, adviser to the ABA Section of Legal Education and Admissions to the Bar.

Including enrollments of 5,565 in 16 schools without ABA approval, overall 1966 law student population rose to 68,121. The comparable figure for 1965 was 65,057. Fourteen unapproved schools failed to report enrollments.

New lawyers grew in number by nine per cent in 1965, according to figures released by the National Conference of Bar Examiners. Admissions to the bar reached a new high of 13,109, compared with 12,023 in 1964.

Loans to law students under an ABA-guaranteed fund passed $2 million for the 1966-67 school year. More than 1,700 students have received loans since the fund's establishment in 1964. The First National City Bank of New York makes the loans upon approval of applications by the student's dean and by a special committee of the ABA.

Law schools opened last year at the University of California at Davis, the John F. Kennedy University at Martinez, Calif., and the Florida State University, Tallahassee.

The number of schools conferring the Juris Doctor degree instead of the LL. B. has increased to 66.

ABA Studies Transportation Industry Strikes

President Orison S. Marden of the American Bar Association announced the membership of a nine-member ABA special committee to conduct a major study of national strikes in the transportation industries. The study will seek means to avoid "disastrously adverse effects on the economy and welfare of this country" resulting from such strikes.

Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond of the New York State Court of Appeals, who retired from that post December 31 after a quarter century of judicial service, was appointed chairman of the study committee. Its other members are lawyers knowledgeable in labor law, mediation and arbitration procedures, and labor-management relations.

The study, to begin at once, was authorized by the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association on the heels of last summer's protracted airlines strike. The resolution creating the special committee said existing federal legislation and strike settlement procedures "have proved repeatedly to be inadequate to protect the public interest."

"Various proposals to provide more effective remedies and procedures, protecting the interests of the public as well as the rights of labor and management, have been made in the Congress and in this Association, and it appears that these and other proposals will require the most thorough and objective consideration," the resolution said.

The House of Delegates directed that the study embrace railroads and shipping industries as well as the airlines. The special committee's findings will be reported to the ABA Board of Governors and then in turn to the House of Delegates, the policy making body of ABA. President Marden said the study may be completed in time for House of Delegates action at ABA's 90th annual meeting in August of this year in Honolulu.

Message From The Supreme Justice

It was Ralph Waldo Emerson who said that "Progress is the activity of today and the assurance of tomorrow." Progress of the highest order emerged from the recent Supreme Officers' Seminar, convened on February 25 in Washington, D.C. In attendance were all members of the Supreme Executive Board, the Supreme Tribunal, Past Supreme Justice Magaw, and all District Justices (except Professor Tisdale who attended the District V Conclave).

The Seminar included extensive discussions of Fraternity activities in many fields, primarily to (1) assure greater understanding and effectiveness of the seven new District Justices, (2) bring about a rededication and fresh resolve of the other District Justices and Supreme Officers, and (3) enable the Supreme Executive Board to transact important Fraternity business. We can report that all three objectives were readily achieved.

Some of the Seminar highlights were as follows:

1. Plans were completed for the 1968 Convention to be held in Washington, D.C. Because of the very favorable reactions of the delegates to the Kansas City Convention, the same basic four-day format will be used on August 28-31, 1968.

2. The 1970 Convention will be held in New Orleans.

3. This is the first year in which all 15 districts will hold District Conclaves. We are very proud of this. Recognizing the vital role of Conclaves in our continuing growth and development, however, it was agreed that special studies of their strengths and weaknesses should be pursued.

4. The financial condition of PAD was reported to be excellent, with deeper insight now available from the results of the financial stability survey conducted by Supreme Treasurer Rae.

5. A professional activities survey is also being completed by Director of Professional Activ-

ALSA NEWS EVENTS

The annual cost of obtaining a legal education has gone up nearly 110% from 1956 to 1966, according to a recent study of the American Law Student Association.

During the first five-year period of the decade, tuition rates climbed 47%. And, from the 1961 average of $175, the tuition continued its upward pace to the present $1,013—a 42% boost.

Illustrative of the rapid rise in law school tuitions, according to the ALSA survey, is the fact that in 1956 only one law school posted a tuition of $1,000. On the other hand, 1966 saw no less than 69 of the 135-ABA approved law schools levy a charge of $1,000 or more for the year. Several schools are pushing the $2,000 a year mark.

In its April issue, the ALSA's STUDENT LAWYER JOURNAL charts the tuition rates for the ABA-approved law schools during 1966, 1961 and 1956. The individual percentage increases for each school are also listed.

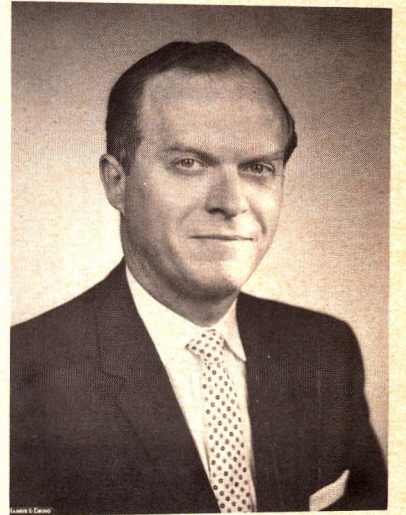

Medical School Comparison

To establish a point of comparison, the ALSA study also examined the medical school tuitions during the same decade. The cost of medical school is generally higher than law school, as is to be expected. However, the medical school tuitions have increased only 62% in the last ten years. Tuition rates rose only 27% from 1956 to 1961, and again by the same amount during the next five-year period to 1966.

In 1956, a medical student's education cost him 78% more than a law student's schooling, according to the ALSA. Today, however, soaring law school tuitions have closed the gap to 39%.

Student-Teacher Ratio Not Keeping Pace

While law school tuitions spiral upward, the student-teacher ratio is falling off as the number of teachers fails to keep pace with the growing student ities Hotchkiss.

6. At the urging of Supreme Vice Justice Clark, the Supreme Executive Board agreed to launch a Fraternity-wide program for the defense of the indigent and to provide trial experience for law students by a new system of "Advocate Clubs" in all active chapters. We will also encourage all active and alumni chapters to participate in Law Day activities everywhere.

7. The Supreme Executive Board also spoke out in defense of respect for constituted authority so necessary in this period of widespread civil disobedience. All active chapters will be encouraged to provide volunteer speakers for public schools, civic groups, and other public gatherings under bar association or other appropriate auspices.

8. Many constructive proposals by Supreme Advocate Rohr and District Justice Van Horn to increase the effectiveness of both faculty and alumni advisors were approved.

9. We are heartened about our continual progress in faculty relations. We are proud to report that Brother Wex A. Malone, Professor at Louisiana State University Law School, was recently elected President of the Association of American Law Schools.

10. Nine of the participants in the Supreme Officers' Seminar were admitted to the bar of the United States Supreme Court in a group admission ceremony. Later this year, on May 29, we hope to institute an annual "PAD Day at the Supreme Court" and hereby invite all PAD Brothers to a similar admission ceremony.

11. We have long awaited a "break through" in the area of alumni service. It was delivered at the Seminar by Supreme Marshal Hutson and District Justice Giblin. Many steps are planned, including special contacts with all PAD graduates, a new system of alumni awards and manuals, Reporter "Want Ads," a study of student, professor, and judicial exchange programs with foreign countries, and an effort to expand PAD judicial clerkships.

12. The drafting of a Fraternity history is under way by Supreme Historian Judice and Chief Tribune Digangi.

13. Finally, we completed our recruitment of a new Special Assistant to the Supreme Justice, a position occupied by Brother Judice until last September. Because of our particular concern about alumni chapters, the Supreme Executive Board decided to appoint two such Special Assistants, Brother Jerry Kaufman of Las Vegas, Nevada, and Brother Frank J. McCown of Ironton, Ohio. After special training administered by Executive Secretary Weitkamp, Brothers Kaufman and McCown will be utilized on special assignments involving both active and alumni chapters.

This selected summary of actions by our leadership cadre — 14 practicing attorneys, six judges (federal, state, and local), four law school faculty members, and four other lawyers — is presented to show our partnership with progress. I predict that it will assure a glorious "tomorrow" for PAD.

Fraternally,

Warren E. Burger, Honorary Member of Jay Chapter and Judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for Washington, D.C.; Justice Tom C. Clark, Supreme Vice Justice; Robert E. Redding, Supreme Justice; and Dan Halpin, District XIII Justice.

PAD Chapters Host Supreme Officers

Recently, the five area PAD Chapters, Brandeis, Cardozo, Jay, Langston, and Taft Chapters hosted a reception in honor of Supreme Justice Robert E. Redding, Supreme Vice Justice Hon. Tom C. Clark and Supreme Tribune Donald R. Moore.

The function was organized by Brother Anthony Manzella, Justice of Taft Chapter, and was enthusiastically received by well over five hundred area Alumni, Active Chapter Brothers and prospective members of PAD who gathered together at the New Senate Office Building on Capitol Hill for the program.

Brother Manzella acted as Toastmaster for the evening, and Assistant Dean David McCarthy of Georgetown introduced the Guests of Honor. Those present had the pleasure of hearing Supreme Justice Robert Redding give a description of the Fraternity's recent activities and future plans. He spoke particularly of the opportunities and accomplishments of the five Washington Area Chapters in seeing the tremendous variety of the law first hand in the City's rich variety of Courts, and in participating in the numerous progressive programs present in the District which are open to students and practitioner alike. Brother Redding was followed on the program by Judge Warren E. Burger of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, who described the newly organized PAD Inns of Court Program, initiated under his sponsorship in the Washington Area. Judge Burger, recently initiated as an Honorary Member of PAD's Jay Chapter, spoke of the new program as an attempt to introduce the student of the law to the ethics and etiquette of the Court Room through lectures by and discussion with leading figures in the legal community, including lawyers, judges and the academic community.

Dean McCarthy then introduced Mr. Justice Clark, giving a highly interesting and comprehensive description of the Jus-

Justice's opinions which make up his substantial contribution to American Jurisprudence. He cited many cases in the areas of Tax, Criminal Law (making special note of his recent opinion in the case of Dr. Sam Sheppard), Civil Liberties and Civil Rights. The Justice chose the area of Criminal Law as his topic for the evening, and gave a stimulating talk on the practice and theory of that area of the law asking that more young lawyers and students give their time and efforts to this often not too lucrative field. He readily acknowledged the contributions of all five law schools in the District of Columbia to the progress in understanding and implementing the fast-changing nature of American Criminal Law. He urged, however, that these efforts be continued and amplified in the coming months and years.

Urging that students consider the possibilities of spending at least a few years in the beginning of their careers in Criminal Trial Practice, Mr. Justice Clark stressed that the problem of increasing the quality and quantity of criminal practitioners is a pressing and critical one. He spoke, of course, as one of the nine men who must make the key decisions in an area of the law which today is extremely complex and precarious.

The evening provided much that was thought provoking for those not yet solidified in their choice of career specialties and those who are involved in the critical legal issues confronting us. It was an excellent opportunity for Brothers and Alumni to benefit from the experience and insight of one of our most illustrious Alumni, Justice Tom C. Clark.

Districts XIII and XIV Joint Conclave At Arlington

Districts XIII and XIV celebrated their very successful joint conclave on March 3, 4 and 5 at the Park Arlington Motel in Arlington, Virginia.

Every chapter in both districts were represented at the conclave and attendance at all of the functions far exceeded the most optimistic appraisals.

The Conclave began on Friday evening with a joint initiation followed by a Congressional Reception and Dance.

Redding, Supreme Justice, who spoke on "The State of the Fraternity." His address included the highlights of actions approved at the recent Supreme Executive Board Seminar in Washington, D.C.

Ruffin Chapter has solved the problem of attendance at rush functions by charging a $10.00 fine for any brother who misses a rush function. Timberlake Chapter reported on its successful series of seminar programs dealing with the attorney's place in the corporate structure. Details of this program were related in the last issue of The Reporter. Cardozo Chapter reported that it has developed what is known as a "Cardozo Club," which consists of alumni members who work closely with the active chapter.

Jay Chapter Sponsors Langston Reception

On a recent snowy Washington evening warm fellowship prevailed inside the Caucus Room of the old Senate Office Building as Jay Chapter held a reception for the new Langston Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity.

Following introductory remarks by the Justices of Jay and Langston Chapters, Professor Jerome Barron of George Washington University introduced Charles T. Duncan, new Corporation Counsel for the District of Columbia who spoke to those present on the opportunities in the Corporation Counsel's Office.

He told those in attendance that the office is a hybrid product due to the particular nature of the federal city. He said that the corporation counsel acts like a state's attorney in rendering binding legal advice to the parole board, the various licensing authorities, the alcoholic beverage control board, the school board and the unemployment compensation board and in addition, he acts like a city solicitor in supervising city leases, civil actions on behalf of the city and in prosecuting minor traffic and other ordinance offenses. In addition, he pointed out that the corporation counsel practices international law in relations with the great number of foreign embassies located in the city.

Mr. Duncan categorized the work of the office into five divisions including the rendering of legal opinions to the District of Columbia government agencies; settling of claims against the city for vehicle, "slip and fall" injuries conducting civil litigation on behalf of the city before the case on the constitutionality of the city government; preparing legislation for submission to Congress; and acting as an "ombudsman" in trying to develop good public relations between the office and the city. The last function is one of Mr. Duncan's creations. He feels that someone ought to be available to listen and act to the myriad complaints running from poor trash collection to a plea for licensing cats to the classic "why do I keep getting parking tickets?"

He remarked that to his surprise he found the general quality of lawyers in the office to be extraordinarily high. The office employs sixty-seven lawyers thus making it the second largest "law firm" in the city.

In responding to questions, Mr. Duncan said the complexion of the personnel within the District was changing gradually to younger men and women more attuned to the problems of the District and the needs of the urban populace. He said he was trying to have a night court established for the convenience of the employed. He felt that landlord tenant laws would be changed more by judicial action than by legal alterations from Capitol Hill.

Mr. Duncan generally agreed with the crime commission's report of poor quality law enforcement in the City, saying the answer lay in speedy law enforcement as well as in social problems. Criminal prosecutions take too much time, he said. "I am utterly opposed to relaxing constitutional safeguards for the sake of law en-

Reed Accepts London Position

Brother Charles D. Reed, an alumnus member of Houston Chapter, has recently accepted the position of General Counsel in charge of the European Legal Affairs for the Badger Company, Inc., and its subsidiaries.

Brother Reed has just completed serving as clerk for Brother Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and Supreme Vice-Justice of PAD.

He was chosen for this position from among the other brothers of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity throughout the nation in the Clark Clerkship Program, because of his outstanding scholastic and extra-curricular achievements while at South Texas College of Law.

Brother Reed has credited PAD for the opportunity which has been made available to him. He stated, "As you know one of the most rewarding years of my life was spent during 1965-1966 as law clerk to our brother Justice Tom C. Clark. It was through Phi Alpha Delta that my name was submitted to the Justice pursuant to his request to the fraternity to suggest to him possible PAD law clerks. In addition to this opportunity, I look back with gratification on my experiences as an active member in the Samuel Houston Chapter at South Texas College of Law. Our Chapter, as I'm sure all PAD Chapters, provided a valuable program of activities which made the academic and the social life of the law school more enjoyable and more meaningful. Such activities in conjunction with the national programs of Phi Alpha Delta, continue to be professionally rewarding."

"For these, and other reasons, I stand indebted to the Fraternity. It would be a further honor, and a great pleasure, to reciprocate for the many benefits that I have derived from our Fraternity."

Brother Reed expects to be in London for several years and plans to work closely with Phi Alpha Delta from that position in continuing the fraternity's professional activities.

forcement" but admitted that part of the problem was due to the fact that the poor in the city despised the police force and had no respect for them nor for governmental agencies and officers including Mr. Duncan. The problem is worsened by pressure applied to policemen in that their efficiency ratings are based in part on the number of tickets issued by an individual police officer in a given time period.

Dakin Supervises Research Project

Brother Melvin G. Dakin, an alumnus member of Hammond Chapter, and professor of law at Louisiana State University Law School, was recently named to supervise a two year research program on expropriation law and practice. The project is designed to make more readily available the law of expropriation as developed in the appellate courts in recent decades.

The study is supported by funds from the United States Bureau of Public Resources and by the Louisiana Highway Department.

Brother Dakin said, "It is probably safe to say that in terms of dollars and economic impact, the highway building program is one of the prime economic factors within the state." Highway construction particularly the federally aided interstate program has brought large amounts of federal money into Louisiana and the program has also drawn large proportions of the State's annual budget." In addition, Brother Dakin said that funds from both sources seem destined to increase each year.

He pointed out that an important part of the cost of any highway program is the right of way acquisition and that this is becoming increasingly true as more highways are built which serve all the public instead of serving only the abutting property owners. In such situations, he pointed out, no right of way donations occur.

The work will entail analysis of the factual and legal situations involved in the expropriation cases previously decided. Identifying legal principles and the distinctive factual situations to which they are applied. The LSU Research is actually to create a tool by which the lawyer can better find how, where and when the legislature and the courts have said what the law is.

A major aim of the research project is not only to provide a compendium of eminent domain law for use in preparing expropriation cases for trial and appeal, but to make studies in depth of existing statutes and procedures which could result in improved administration of eminent domain law in Louisiana.

Leo Whinery Day

Harlan Chapter recently honored Dr. Leo H. Whinery, by proclaiming December 9, 1966 as Leo Whinery Day.

SUPREME JUSTICE VISITS COOLEY CHAPTER

Robert E. Redding honored the Thomas M. Cooley Chapter with a visit February 13th, 1967. He outlined the goals of the current Supreme Executive Board and explained some of the new programs P.A.D. has in the offing, which programs include the "no interest" student loan plan and the discount plan for books and office supplies. Brother Redding spoke about our alumni participation in our local activities and noted with pride that District Justice Allen Sultan and Brother Callahan, Associate Professor of Law, Wayne State University and Cooley Chapter faculty advisor, had attended on rather short notice. Naturally, the Supreme Justice made a very favorable impression on the membership who had not previously had the pleasure of meeting him.

Other Cooley Chapter Activities

Thomas M. Cooley Chapter has continued to press forward.

Washington Alumni Hear Neil Lamb

The Washington, D.C. Alumni Chapter sponsored a luncheon on March 6, 1967 at the Tom Ross Charcoal Restaurant in Washington.

The luncheon featured an address by Neil Lamb an engineer for the Apollo Program Control Office in the office of manned space flight. This was a very informative program illustrated with slides and film clips on the present and future of the Apollo project.

Past Justice, Brother Hal Leon was presented with a copy of a resolution commending his continued service to the local chapter at the January meeting. Brother Leon, who heads the legal staff of the Advertising Dept. of the J. L. Hudson Company, served the local chapter as an officer and delegate to the National and District Conventions as well as acting as liaison between the active and alumni chapters. Brother Leon was impressed with the forty minute discussion on "Preparing For and Passing the Michigan Bar" presented by Nick Markakis and Richard Haskins, Juris Doctorates and 1966 graduates of Wayne State University Law School.

Six days later Cooley Chapter initiated nine more pledges into active membership. Jim McCarthy, alumni advisor, Associate Professor, Kenneth Calahan, faculty advisor, and Brother Nick Markakis, Past Justice, represented the Alumni Chapter. The new Brothers are Daniel Atkins, John Ciaramitaro, Gary Difalco, Raymond Petrauskas, James Pholey, Duane Triemstra, William Wyss, William Shaw, Jr., and Bill Jenner. The Cooley Chapter has initiated twenty-five new members in the 1966-1967 school year.

One day later, January 27th, 1967, five Cooley men journeyed to Columbus, Ohio to assist the McKinley Chapter at their Rush Function. The two hundred mile trip, made the day after a record snowfall, took six hours one way. The five brave souls who piled into Pledge Brother Ed Wick's station wagon were Chapter Justice Russ Hughes, Chapter Clerk Hank Prager, Pledge Brothers Bob Roether, Mike Jordan and Ed Wick.

In furtherance of service to the student, Brother Justice Russell Hughes welcomed alumni Brothers Kenneth Morris and John Spies who held a study table on negligence pleading and practice February 1st. This served to place the theoretical studies on negligence in a practical context. The negligence study table is one of a series of study tables which Cooley Chapter has been holding. The following week Brothers Phil Dulmage, Vice Justice, and Clark Davis, Marshal, held a study table on the substantive law aspects of personal property.

The Pledges, who have been on the receiving end of much of the local Chapter's "service to the Law Student" through the aforementioned study tables, took a great stride forward in repayment of the debt with an outstanding speaker's meeting on February 10th. The meeting concerned the legal problems created by the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

According to the panel consisting of Tom Downs, staff representative of the Michigan State A. F. of L.-C.I.O., Instructor in the College of Sociology at Wayne State University; Raymond A. Ballard, partner, Foster, Meadows and Ballard which firm represents Lloyds of London; and Victor G. Hanson, general counsel, Seafarers International Union. It was learned that changes in the law were necessitated by the St. Lawrence Seaway and Port of Detroit's expansion from a prime Great Lakes Port to one of the larger international ports of the world.

A spirited question and answer period was carried on between the 50 Cooley Chapter members and their guests with the panel.

Mr. Tom Downs, who served to moderate the views of labor advocated by Vick Hansen and those of management proposed by Raymond Ballard, was invited by the Chapter Officers after the meeting to become a member of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity. Mr. Downs accepted the offer and was initiated March 4th at Cooley Chapter's annual dinner dance.

The dinner dance, held at the Red Mills, was attended by over thirty couples. Russell Hughes, Justice, presented the certificates of membership and membership badges to new members. Seated at the head table were District Justice Sultan and his wife, Alumni Advisor James McCarthy and his wife, Flo, Tom Downs, newest alumni Brother, Chapter Justice Russell Hughes and Phyllis Torres, his date, and Chapter Vice Justice Philip Dulmage and Jeanne Worley, his date.

CRIME AND MENTAL ILLNESS PANEL SPONSORED BY HICKMAN CHAPTER

Hickman Chapter recently sponsored a panel discussion on "Crime and Mental Illness."

The panel explored the role of the concept of mental illness in the administration of criminal justice focusing on three identifiable stages of the process. These stages were the issue of fitness to stand trial, the issue of criminal responsibility and the disposition of persons found unfit to stand trial or found not responsible because of insanity.

The panel considered the verbal formula tests or standards presently used or proposed in resolving the issues; the nature of the actual or real underlying issues involved in the questions posed in each of the three stages of the proceeding; the role of the psychiatrist and other expert testimony; and the role of the court and the jury.

The moderator for the panel discussion was Burton C. Agata, Associate Professor of Law at the University of Houston. Professor Agata received his J.D. Degree from the University of Michigan and his LL.M. Degree from New York University. He practiced law in New York as counsel for the New York State Banking Department.

His subjects include criminal law and constitutional law.

The panelists included Professor Newell H. Blakely; Attorney Clyde Woody; Dr. Sanford Goldstone; and Dr. Richard I. Evans.

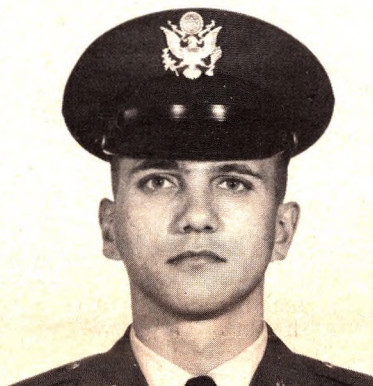

Professor Newell H. Blakely is presently teaching at the University of Houston's School of Law. He received his LL.B. Degree from the University of Texas and his LL.M. Degree from the University of Michigan. He has taught at the University of Houston since 1949 and was Dean of the law school from 1957 to 1965.

Clyde Woody is a practicing attorney who has been admitted to practice to all state and federal courts. He has prevailed in four landmark criminal cases involving search and seizure including Aguilar vs. Texas before the United States Supreme Court.

Attorney Woody told those in attendance that "any nut a lawyer defends will say he knows right from wrong." He also said that in considering a man fit to be tried if he knows right from wrong the state is following a 200 year old unrealistic approach which ignores the advance of medical science. He said the most human approach would be to consider that a man not in control of himself is not responsible — if he is not criminal in mind he is not punishable.

Dr. Sanford Goldstone received his Ph.D. from Duke University where he served in the department of psychology as a clinical psychology intern.

Dr. Goldstone was a consultant to the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Durham, North Carolina and is consultant to the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Houston, Temple and St. Louis at the present time. In addition, he is professor of psychology at Baylor University College of Medicine and is head of the division of crime and delinquency of the Houston State Psychiatric Institute.

He told those present at the discussion that psychologists and psychiatrists do not necessarily want to go into the courtroom because their role is not well defined for them. He said they often seem to be expected to invade the area of the jury as far as functions go.

Dr. Richard I. Evans received his Ph.D. Degree in psychology from Michigan State University. He is presently a professor of psychology at the University of Houston. Dr. Evans questioned the fairness of a short examination of the defendant by state psychiatrists without an additional examination by a psychiatrist for the defense.

How PAD Chapters May Participate in Law Day

By Al Figinski, Past Justice of Darrow Chapter

First of all it should be said that the degree in which each chapter may desire to participate in the law day observance will be determined to a large extent by the scope of the present law day observance sponsored by state and local bar associations as well as the size, financial strength and standing of the chapter in the community in the law school.

Participation Within the Law School

Law Day observances at the law schools are generally handled by the school administration and student bar association. The scope of such program as well as whether or not classes are suspended on that day will determine the scope of the PAD program. In addition to any assistance which the local chapter provides to the student bar association in getting speakers and carrying off its program, the chapter may consider sponsoring a lecture or seminar with the aid of the local alumni. Specific topics such as professional ethics, lawyer as public servant, scope of legal practice would be appropriate for such lectures or seminars.

Sponsorship of a banquet or luncheon not interfering or detracting from the student bar association sponsorship of such a banquet or luncheon would provide a valuable service in bringing the PAD actives and alumni closer together and in serving as a stimulus for encouraging alumni attendance during the law school observance of Law Day.

Outside the Law School

If the local bar association is not already assisting schools, colleges, civic and fraternal organizations and presenting adequate Law Day programs, it would be appropriate for the PAD Chapters, alumni and active, to work through the local bar association to provide aid to these organizations. Mock trials, assembly programs and the presentation of legal films would all be within the confidence of PAD and auspices to the occasion.

A mock trial using law students as participants with lawyers examining the procedures and techniques would be especially appropriate to school assemblies and other large gatherings to delude any false impression fostered by television trials.

Assembly programs at the neighborhood schools and colleges could take the form of a mock trial or they could include panel discussions on such topics as individual freedoms guaranteed by the Bill of Rights, responsibilities of the United States citizenship or history of the legal system of the United States. The assembly program could also take the form of addresses by prominent members of the fraternity on such topics as origins of individual freedom, what courts do for the individual, respect for the law, world peace through world law and ethics.

A chapter may wish to design an exhibit for display in the downtown area. Such exhibit could be developed along the lines of the suggested topics noted above.

Irrespective of the particular activity chosen by the local chapter, the participation in observance of Law Day in and of itself will provide the individual chapter with good training and create a good reputation in the school and community.

Brother Davis became interested in politics by holding the office of temporary secretary of the first "Roosevelt for President Club" in the United States. He was elected to be the magistrate of the 7th District in Jackson County, Missouri in 1958 and is now beginning his ninth year as Magistrate.

He is an active member of Temple B'nai Jehudah in Kansas City, Missouri and is on the Board of Directors for the McCoy House. He is a member of the Democratic Council of Jackson County, Executive Board Member of the Democratic Forum, Inc., a member of the Kansas City Bar Association, and is President of the Missouri Traffic and Municipal Judges Association. He is also active in many civic projects being developed in the Kansas City area.

Following the initiation of Judge Davis the principal address was delivered by the Honorable Russell Millin, United States Attorney for the Western District of Missouri. He spoke on the subject of "Individual Rights Vis-a-Vis the Rights of the Public in the Field of Criminal Law."

The event also marked the installation of the newly elected officers of Benton Chapter. Those installed by District Justice Robert VanHorn were: Walter R. Simpson, Justice; B. John Readay, Vice-Justice; Thomas A. Thompson, Clerk; David E. Welte, Treasurer and John T. Peak, Marshal.

Grant Chapter Pledges Sixty Men

Grant Chapter recently completed a successful rush program by pledging over sixty men at their recent pledging ceremony.

Those in attendance at the ceremony included Kenneth Segal, Associate Tribune; Allen Sultan, District IX Justice; James Bierce, Clerk of the Akron Alumni Chapter; and Dean Stanley Sanad, Dean of the University of Akron College of Law.

Grant Chapter attributes the success of their rushing program to the many activities which they sponsored.

On October 28 Grant Chapter sponsored a rush smoker during which Ohio Supreme Court Justice Louis J. Schneider addressed those in attendance on the topic "The New Concept in the Pursuit of Law and Order."

Grant Chapter also sponsored a series of legal films which were open to all students of the law school.

In December Grant Chapter sponsored a bus trip to Cleveland to see the Cleveland Browns play the New York Giants. PAD Rushees were invited on this trip.

Later in December Grant Chapter conducted an informal discussion on "Preparing and Studying for your Law Examinations" and all members of the freshman class were invited to attend. Grant Chapter brothers having a high scholastic record were the panelists and over 75 freshmen were in attendance at the seminar.

Grant Chapter is especially proud of the fact that it pledged 40 of the 45 Day Division Law Students who became scholastically eligible to join the fraternity.

Federal Government Job Opportunities

For the fullest and most complete details on lawyer employment in the federal government, the ALSA's 1967 edition of Federal Government Job Opportunities for Young Attorneys, a 120-page booklet, will be available in late March, 1967, from the ALSA at $1.50 a copy.

To illustrate the attractiveness of federal government employment, the ALSA reported, the Civil Service Commission has recently promulgated the following hiring pattern for recent law school graduates:

GS — $6,451 (first professional degree in law); GS-9 — $7,696 (first professional degree in law with academic standing in the upper 50% of graduating class, or other equivalent or superior achievement in law school); and GS-11—$9,221 (first professional degree in law plus one year of professional legal experience at, or equivalent to, the GS-10 level, or first law degree with academic standing in the upper 20% of graduating class and second professional law degree [LL.M.]).

MAY PAD DIGNITARIES WERE PRESENT FOR THE HONORARY INITIATION OF DEAN FRANCIS A. ALLEN, DEAN OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LAW SCHOOL, AS A MEMBER OF CAMPBELL CHAPTER. Left to right are: Judge James R. Breakey, Jr., Washington County Circuit Judge; Judge Wade McCree, U. S. 6th Circuit; Justice Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court; Judge William Ager, Washington County Circuit Judge; Mr. Ehlmen, Federal Trade Commissioner; Dean Francis A. Allen, Dean of the University of Michigan School of Law; Professor Theodore St. Antoine, Faculty Advisor for Campbell Chapter. All are members of Phi Alpha Delta except Mr. Ehlmen.

CAMPBELL CHAPTER ACTIVITIES

Campbell Chapter has recently completed its annual program of rushing and initiation of new members. After successful rushing efforts in September and January, the chapter initiated twenty-one new members on February 12. Following the formal ceremony, there was a banquet for the new and old members and their guests. Dean Francis Allen of the University of Michigan Law School was the featured speaker.

Last October, Prof. B. J. Poolly was initiated into the fraternity as a Faculty member, and on March 8, 1967, Dean Francis A. Allen joined the Fraternity as an honorary member. Justice Tom Clark visited Campbell Chapter on that date and performed the initiating ceremony. Also in attendance was District Justice Allen Sultan.

Campbell Chapter's professional programs have continued to expand this year. Previously it has conducted an "indigent defense" program and a "law office internship" program. This fall a judicial clerkship program was added which involves serving the local circuit judges, and a municipal judge as regular clerks. At this point the program seems to be an unqualified success.

On the social front, the chapter has formed a new intramural sports program. The fraternity teams participate in the University Professional Fraternity League. Although prowess is yet to be shown, the program has attracted quite a bit of interest.

Elections for new officers have just been held. The new officers are: Justice, Tom Smithson; V-Justice, Elden Butzbaugh; Clerk, Frank Postelli; Treasurer, Robert Tepper; Marshal, Donald Shelton.

RANDOLPH DIES

Brother John P. Randolph, an alumnus member of Lawson Chapter recently passed away after a long illness at the age of 71.

Brother Randolph was a former member and chief counsel of the Missouri Public Service Commission. In 1951 he was named general solicitor for the National Association of Railroads and Utilities Commission. In 1953 he took the position of Associate Counsel for the Columbia Gas System Service Corporation which he held until his retirement in 1961.

An active member of the Republican party, he was twice a candidate for the House of Representatives from Buchanan County. He was chairman of the St. Joseph Republican City Committee from 1938 to 1942.

Brother Randolph was a member of the St. Joseph Bar Association and the Missouri and American Bar Associations, the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was a former judge advocate of the Missouri Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Brother Randolph entered the School of Engineering at the University of Missouri in 1914 and later switched to the University School of Law, then attended the University of Kansas Law School.

In November 1917 he enlisted in the United States Army Quartermaster's Corp and served at Camp Johnson before going to France. He was discharged in July 1919. He joined the reserves and held the rank of Captain. He re-entered the University of Missouri Law School and was graduated on April 27, 1921.

He is survived by his wife, one son and one daughter.

Ford Chapter Activities

Ford Chapter is enjoying one of its most successful years at Loyola University School of Law in Los Angeles. In addition to its 56 active members it has pledged 74 additional first and second year students.

The chapter is also providing its activities and pledges with an outstanding schedule of social and professional activities.

The professional activities of the chapter to date include participation in Los Angeles County Judges' Night acquainting the student with the many Phi Alpha Delta alumni holding positions in the California Judiciary; a luncheon featuring a talk by the President of the Los Angeles Chapter of the Plaintiff Trial Lawyers Association, Sam Dana; a tour of the Los Angeles county jail; and also a tour of the Sheriff's crime lab.

Socially, the fraternity has held three hugely successful pledge parties, three theater parties, a pledge-active football game, a "Night at Harold's Club," and still on the drawing board for this year are a tri-chapter pledge activation, a private showing of collector's films of the past, and the Spring Dinner Dance which will climax the social calendar at which next year's officers will be installed and this year's officers honored.

Supplementing these social and professional activities, the chapter provides academic aid in the form of seminar programs designed to help the freshmen students survive the hurdle of their first examinations.

Rounding out the time of the active members is their involvement in School and Fraternity functions. All of the male officers of the Loyola Student Bar are Ford Chapter members, including President Jerry Berger, Vice-President Burt Schneirow, Treasurer Stan Chernoff, Editor-in-Chief of the Law Review (Loyola Digest) David Finkle, and many of the class representatives. The Justice of Ford Chapter, Myles Mattenson, is chairman of the District Conclave to be held in Los Angeles this year.

Other officers of the fraternity this year are: Alvin Loskamp, Vice-Justice; John Loggins, Night Vice-Justice; Paul Metzler, Clerk; Nick Micelli, Treasurer; Stan Chernoff, Marshal; and Cary Rosen, Historian.

Boring Passes Away

Brother Jesse Williams Boring, an alumnus member of Fletcher Chapter recently passed away at the age of 54, in Vero Beach, Florida.

He received his LL.B. Degree from the University of Florida School of Law in 1936 where he became a member of Fletcher Chapter.

Following graduation he entered military service with the rank of First Lieutenant and was assigned to the field artillery. He served with the United States Army during World War II and was discharged in 1946.

He was associated in the practice of law L. M. Merriman for 25 years. In 1965 he went into partnership with his son James L. Boring under the firm name of Boring & Boring.

Brother Boring was a member of the Indian River County Bar Association, the Florida Bar Association and the American Bar Association. He was president of the Indian River County Bar Association for the 1964-1965 term. He was chairman of the Uniform Title Standards Committee of the Florida Bar and served as City judge for the City of Vero Beach

McBurney Dies

Brother Floyd W. (Mike) McBurney, Jr., an alumnus member of Ryan Chapter recently passed away at the age of 29 years.

Brother McBurney overcame the awesome handicap of near total paralysis to become a successful lawyer and to win election as Dane County District Attorney at the young age of 29 years.

His short life was a success story before and after his paralysis. One of his proudest moments was last November when he was elected District Attorney. He was the first Republican candidate in eighteen years to win any of the eight Dane County elective offices.

The youthful District Attorney ran his campaign from a wheel chair, a place from which he saw his success since 1954.

In 1954 Brother McBurney suffered almost total paralysis when he broke his neck in a driving accident in Lake Mendota. After the accident he was left with partial use of his shoulders and arms but his hands and his body from his chest down had no feeling.

He completed his high school education, went on to college and finished law school with only the ability to move his shoulders and part of his upper arms.

Cheerful and quick witted, Brother McBurney kept himself in the top 5% of his class. He was a sociology major at college and graduated Phi Beta Kappa.

Despite his physical handicap, he contributed articles to law reviews, edited the "Advocate," a semi-official, semi-humorous publication for law school alumni, wrote a bulletin on the legislative activities for the Wisconsin Protestant Legislative Council, made speeches, appeared on several television shows. For a time he hosted the "The Topic for the Day" television show.

He also found time to work three days a week in his father's law firm.

He won the Joseph Davies Award and the Faculty Book Award.

He was graduated from law school in 1963 and joined his father's law firm McBurney and McBurney.

Brother McBurney used three electric wheel chairs and a van type truck with a hydraulic lift to get around.

His sense of humor never failed him. He lived with his parents and said he once remarked that he was happy that he "chose the right parents."

His other activities included Secretary of the Dane County Bar Association, member of the State Bar of Wisconsin, the American Bar Association, the American Judicature Society and the American Arbitration Association. He served as State Chairman of Governmental Affairs for the State Junior Chamber of Commerce.

BEROTH DIES

Brother Carl O. Beroth, an alumnus member of Webster Chapter recently passed away.

He had practiced law in Chicago many years before entering the oil business in 1914. In 1917 Brother Beroth founded the Acme Petroleum Company in Chicago and remained with this company for 49 years.

When he recently passed away at the age of 85 years he was Chairman of the Board.

He leaves surviving a wife Lillian and a son Charles.

from 1940 to 1941, 1947 to 1948 and 1951 to 1952.

Brother Boring was active in the Kiwanis Club having at one time served as Lieutenant Governor. He was also a member of the Elks Club, a Shriner and a Mason. He was a past moderator of the Vero Beach Community Church.

Brother Boring is survived by his wife and two children.

Lamar Chapter Initiates Legal Research Exchange

The brothers of Lamar Chapter recently initiated a legal exchange program at the University of Mississippi.

This program makes Mississippi's fine Legal Library available to all Mississippi attorneys who pay law students to research problem cases. The students learn at the same time that they earn money and the participating attorneys obtain top flight research and the cost of the research is entirely tax deductible.

The exchange's reports to attorneys include a search of up to the week reports and advance reports on recent cases as well as cases in progress.

The program has been highly successful and well received by the attorneys in the state. Lamar Chapter has had plenty of work to keep it busy.

In order to participate in the legal research exchange an attorney contacts the exchange office with a problem for research. The case is examined, a student researcher is selected and briefed on the case. The research is begun after a deadline is set in consultation with the attorney. After the research is completed a report is made to the attorney. Each report is checked for accuracy and to see if it is properly documented before being typed in final form and turned over to the participating attorney.

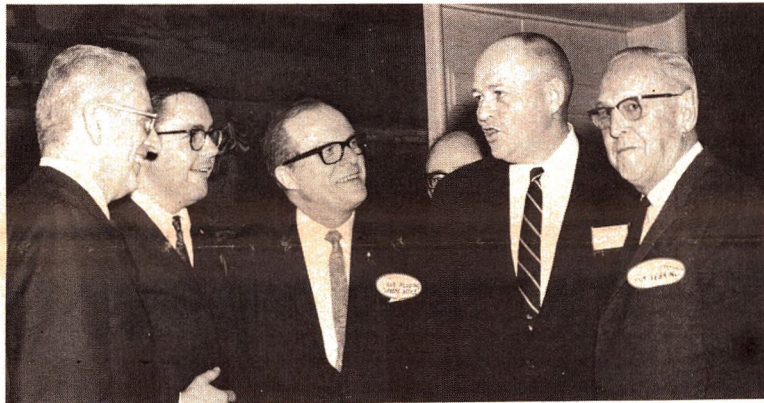

The exchange is a little over one year old and now employs a part time secretary. It has a private bank account and separate books are maintained.

Attorneys pay $4.00 per hour plus an exchange handling fee of $5.00 per case for the services of the legal research exchange. This also includes a copying system which allows the exchange to send the attorneys exact copies of pertinent case material at a cost of ten cents per page.

The proceeds from the exchange are turned over to the University of Mississippi's Law Alumni Library Fund. They turned over $500.00 last year alone.

Judge Bryant reflected both on the lack of attention given to criminal law in the law schools and the unfavorable image lawyers have in the eyes of the public because they represent those charged with crime. Judge Bryant, who was attorney for the defendant in the landmark case of Mallory v. United States, reminded those present of the need for total preparation of the client's case regardless of whether you were going to plead guilty, or not guilty, and proceed to trial. He also stressed the point that the lawyer should deal with all witnesses, the police, and the prosecuting attorney with all possible candor to gain their respect. He reminded us that when in the courtroom, the lawyer should always remember to separate what he knows as facts from mere beliefs or opinions in order to keep his case on the side of credulity. He concluded by saying that while deviation from the norms of candor and courtesy before the court might be momentarily profitable, such conduct would irreparably harm such a lawyer in the long run and sully the image of the profession.

Mr. Flannery reminded us that the legal profession is an association of gentlemen, not liars. In his opinion, those who lie to a court or to a jury have no place in either the courtroom or the profession. He reminded us that the lawyer must be very careful in dealing with a client indicted for crime, particularly in the District of Columbia, where 14 per cent of those arrested are ever indicted. In other words, in almost every case, it is likely that your client is morally guilty, though he may not very well be legally guilty. This means that the lawyer has to remember two things. First, such a client is likely to lie to you in an attempt to avoid conviction, but secondly, even though the lawyer may think or know that the client is morally guilty, the lawyer has the right and even the duty to avail himself of every possible legitimate legal maneuver on behalf of his client. He also advised that the lawyer should never let the defendant tell you how to conduct his case if he wants to perjure himself; thus the lawyer should always be careful to protect both the defendant and himself. To reduce the possibility of the client telling a lie, Mr. Flannery recommended the following steps in the initial preparation of the case for the defendant. First, let the defendant tell his story to you before giving any advice whatsoever; otherwise, the client is likely to adjust his facts to fit the legal advice given him. Secondly, he reminded us that the lawyer has the right to question any witness whatsoever in a criminal case. There is no such thing as a "government witness." Thirdly, after these steps, advise the client appropriately.

A questioning session followed which evoked interesting answers from the participants, was spiced with some sharp wit. Judge Keech posed a question regarding dealings with the news media, particularly in light of the Sam Sheppard case to which Judge Bryant responded that for a lawyer, he who lives by the newspapers dies by them. He recommended that the lawyer never talk to the press, whether prosecutor or defendant's attorney. As he put it, "I have an allergy to printer's ink." Judge Bryant discussed the Mallory case by saying that sometimes one keeps his client off the witness stand, particularly when one has a client who can't tell the truth or remember what happened. However, if the client insists on taking the stand, you must let him do so. All participants agreed that if the client then lies to the court, there really clavé site and elect new student district officers. Wake Forest College of Law was chosen as the site for the next conclave. The newly elected student district officers are: Jerry Frieden, Student District Justice; Gary Hofarth, Student District Vice-Justice; John McKinney, Student District Clerk; Nolan Maddox, Student District Treasurer; and Gary Siniscalco, Student District Marshal.

In addition, the delegates approved a proposed amendment to Article III, Sections 4b and 5d of the Constitution, which effect would be to require a larger percentage of members present in order to restrict prospective candidates for membership.

Following adjournment of the business meeting, the delegates, their wives and dates enjoyed a Conclave Banquet which featured Mr. John Fanning, a member of the National Labor Relations Board, who described the Board's functions. Mr. Fanning has been exceedingly helpful in cooperating with the placement committee of the Washington Alumni Chapter.

The conclave was officially concluded Sunday morning with a breakfast of the old and new District Officers.

isn't much of anything that you can do about it.

In response to a question regarding the practice in Britain of preventing the publishing of the facts of a criminal case until the trial is concluded, it was felt that such a practice was unfeasible here, in light of our traditions and notions regarding freedom of the press. The panel was then asked why a plea of nolo contendere under the Fifth Amendment as a half-way house between the plea of guilty and not guilty could not be provided. The answer was that by not pleading a client "guilty," one could do the client a great disservice. Mr. Flannery said that the prospects of a "morally guilty" defendant being found not guilty didn't particularly bother him. Under our system, the government should have to prove its case.

Judge Keech was asked if the up-town Gold Coast lawyers who act as part-time criminal trial lawyers have any ability in criminal law. Judge Keech responded by saying that invariably they did an excellent job because their "egotism and experience" required it of them. Judge Keech concluded the seminar by stating that even in a case where the evidence against your client is so overwhelming that you can "smell him burping" it is possible to gain the client's confidence and respect by dealing with the client honestly, and by doing a thorough job in his behalf.

population, according to the ALSA study.

In 1966, the median ratio was one teacher for every 18 law students. However, only five years ago there was a law school teacher for every 14 students, the same median ratio applicable in 1956.

Full-time and part-time faculty members were counted in computing the ALSA ratios.

From 1956 to 1961, student enrollment in law schools increased by 9%, and faculty forces went up 10%. However, since 1961, the law student population has ballooned by 51%, whereas the ranks of law school teachers have been expanded by only 27%.

fraternity were discussed and the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D.C. was chosen as the headquarters hotel for the convention. The dates for the convention were chosen and will be August 28, 29, 30 and 31, 1968.

It was also resolved that the registration fee established for the 1968 convention be included as part of the subsistence allowance for the principal delegate from each active chapter.

Thereafter, the financial report for the General Fund and the Endowment Fund were presented and discussed and the financial condition of the fraternity was found to be excellent.

The Supreme Executive Board considered the vast array of professional activities conducted by the fraternity. It resolved that the fraternity should undertake an additional program of proceeding in all proper ways to implement a program for the defense of indigent and to provide trial experience for students in law school within the limits of bar associations, and further to establish a committee to investigate procedures to accomplish these goals.

The Supreme Executive Board also discussed the value of chapter participation in Law Day USA and concluded that all measures should be taken to encourage such participation.

It was also concluded that Brothers can gain invaluable experience by speaking to organizations and concluded to encourage all active chapters to provide volunteer speakers through bar associations or other appropriate auspices to speak to public schools, civic groups and other public gatherings on the subject of legal traditions and respect for the law.

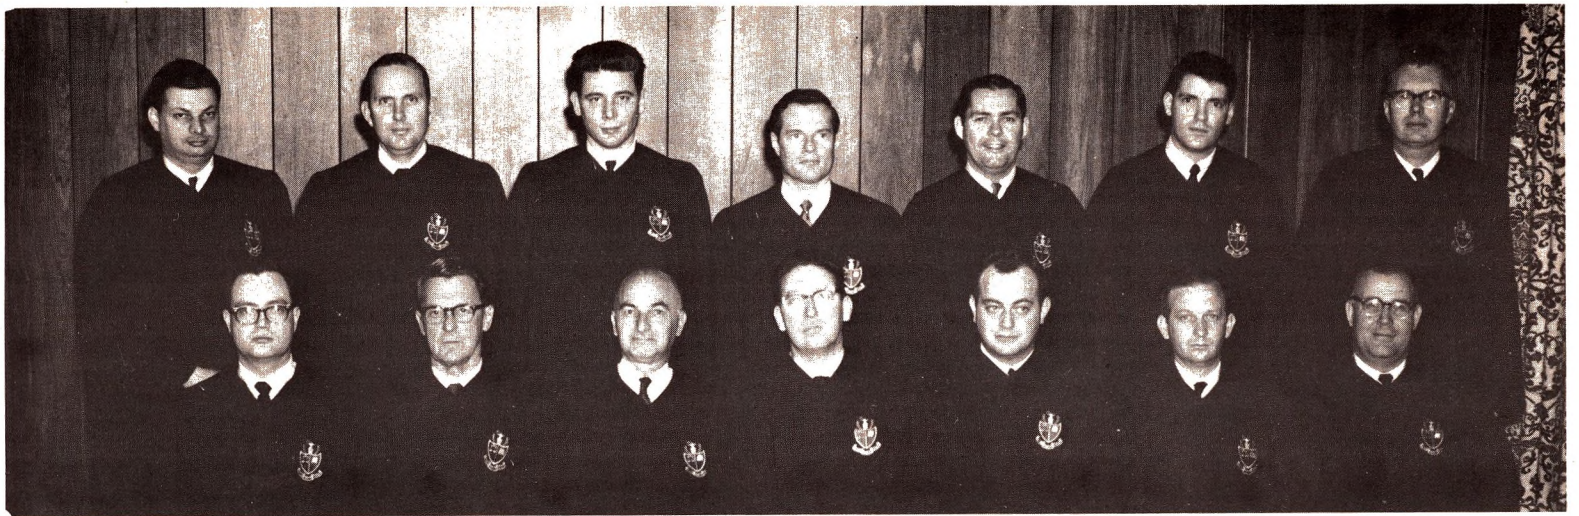

The vacancy established in the office of the Assistant to the Supreme Justice caused by the election of Brother C. Raymond Judice to Supreme Historian, was considered by the Board. There were two applicants to the position, Brothers Jerry Kaufman and Frank J. McCown. After considering the qualifications of both brothers, the Supreme Executive Board concluded that both would be accepted in the positions of Special Assistants to the Supreme Justice in lieu of choosing one as Assistant to the Supreme Justice.

The Distinguished Service Chapter award was considered and it was concluded that the recipient of this award shall receive a certificate and a lifetime waiver of the payment of alumni dues in recognition of his outstanding service to the fraternity.

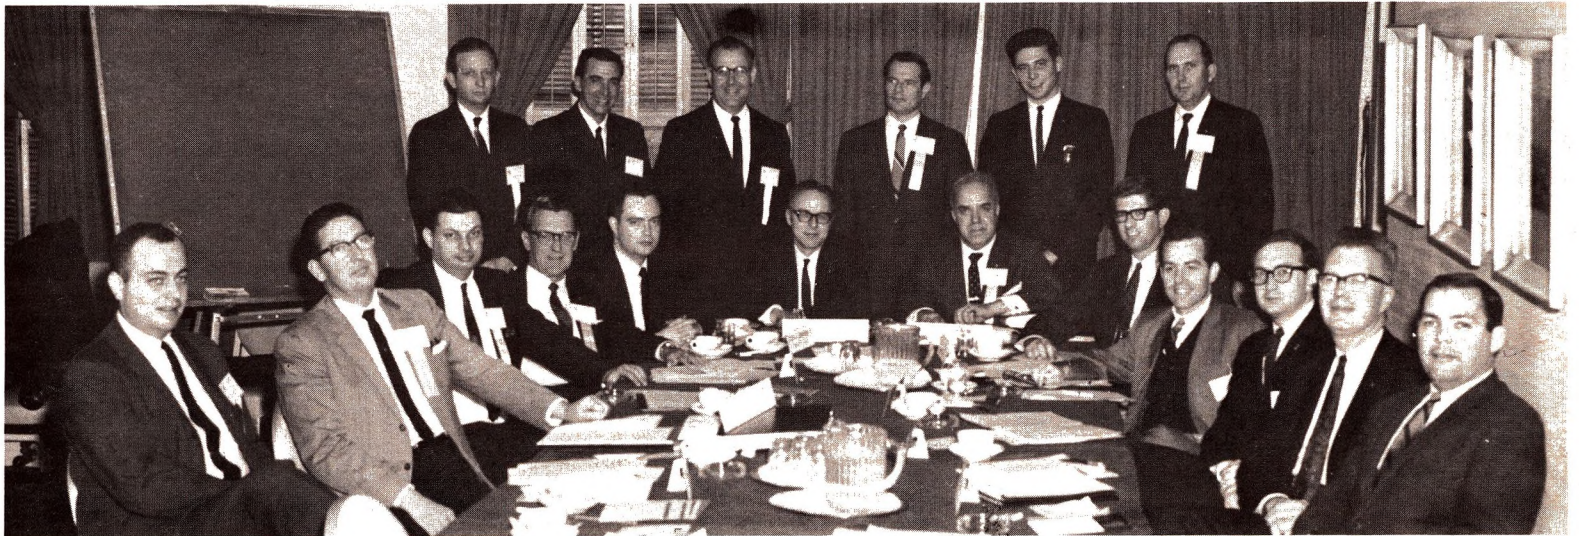

Many items were considered of sufficient importance to be referred to committees for additional study. Among those, were the possibility of the national fraternity establishing a professor exchange program with England, Canada and Mexico; the possibility of establishing a student exchange program for graduate students with England, Canada and Mexico; the possibility of the fraternity sponsoring a judicial exchange program with foreign countries; the possibility of sponsoring a judicial seminar team to travel throughout the country discussing the topic or topics of universal interest to members of the bar; and the possibility of conducting a survey of PAD judges to determine the availability of clerkship positions which could be filled on a basis similar to the Tom C. Clark clerkship program.

The question of placement was discussed by the Supreme Executive Board and it was concluded that a section of The Reporter should be reserved for available positions and positions sought and for selling of law books, furniture and other office equipment on a one year trial basis.

While the Supreme Executive Board was meeting, the District

Justices and the Supreme Tribunal met for a District Justice workshop.

Those in attendance first discussed chapter visitations including the topics of scheduling visitations, an appointment with the dean and advisors of the chapter, inspection of chapter records, meeting with chapter officers and members, completion of the visitation report and a follow-up on the visitation.

The workshop then considered means of detecting problems in active chapters and ways in which they can assist the chapter in overcoming the problems.

Communication between the District Justice and the chapter and the District Justice and the Executive Office were discussed, including the desirability of news letters, frequency of visitations and the use of the telephone and telegraph.

District Conclaves were extensively discussed and ideas regarding scheduling, selection of site, financing, programming, publicity and control were exchanged.

The value of faculty and alumni advisors was clearly exemplified as those in attendance discussed their duties and the ways in which they can be of value.

Finally the District Justices and the Supreme Tribunal discussed how the fraternity funds could be best utilized in assisting active and alumni chapters. Travel expenses and telephone expenses were compared and discussed as well as other methods by which the fraternity could derive the best benefits from its resources.

While a great deal of work was accomplished during the Supreme Officer's Seminar, those in attendance had an opportunity to relax at a reception sponsored by the Washington, D.C. Alumni Chapter in the new Senate Building at which Brothers from the local active chapters were present and had an opportunity to meet the national officers.
