A TRIBUTE TO AN OUTSTANDING MAN — A SUPREME COURT JUSTICE AND A FRATERNITY BROTHER

The retirement of a United States Supreme Court Justice invariably elicits a moment of reflection on the man's accomplishments in that position. To Phi Alpha Delta, in the case of Brother Justice Tom C. Clark's retirement, it elicits a moment of reflection upon the outstanding contributions made by this brother to the profession of law and to the fraternity. The contribution in time and effort which he has made to either alone would stand as an outstanding achievement.

Justice Clark's Contribution To Government Service

The best tribute to Justice Clark's devotion to government service can be seen by quoting his own comments as given before the Federal Bar Association in 1964 while honoring Associate Justice Stanley Reed. He said, "As for me, I can only describe the career service in terms of my own experience. I well remember when I first came into it defending war risk insurance contracts of World War I. The first thing I learned was that a private office was a sure sign of prestige. And if it had a rug on the floor this meant that you were in a higher echelon. I had neither. Indeed often was the time when I returned to Washington from the trial of a case to find that I had been moved to another room and with another roommate. At first this troubled me — not only for the loss of some of my papers and gadgets on the top of my side of the desk, but the more because of my ego. Well, I soon got over that. I found that Government administrators — if you could find the one that moved you — were an impersonal lot. A year later I was transferred to the Antitrust Division. I found there that Government functions not only to prevent "wrong" but to promote "right." As a result of this transfer my problems increased. There were wage-hour prosecutions, restitution for victims, milk order regulations, federal trade orders, I.C.C. cases war frauds, RFC and SEC matters and a host of others coming under the category of business laws. I found that not only railroads but bankers — business and labor — all had turned to Government for assistance and protection in depression days; that milk producers wanted price fixing; small business wanted financing and open competition; dirt farmers wanted their lands protected from foreclosure and their grain dumped in Government bins and big business wanted more and bigger mergers. And then I was transferred to the Criminal Division. There I found that the National Training School was jammed with recalcitrant kids who had been neglected by their parents and left to Government correction officers; crime was at an all-time high with federal prosecution running in the 60,000's; husbands and wives were on the rampage and the courts were becoming loaded with domestic problems; General Groves was building out in the desert of the West what he called secretly under his breath the atomic bomb; our foreign commitments in money and men had gone sky-high and our foreign relations occupied the minute attention of additional thousands of service officers. Communism had gone world-wide like mad and the

PAD DAY AT SUPREME COURT

Monday, May 29, 1967, marked the first PAD day at the United States Supreme Court. On that day 38 members of the fraternity from 19 states and the District of Columbia were admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court. Many of them enjoyed a long weekend in Washington, D.C., and many of them brought their families for the ceremonies.

Approximately 75 persons assembled early Monday morning to meet Brother Justice Tom C. Clark at a reception in the West Conference Room of the Supreme Court Building. Mr. Justice Clark received a special certificate on behalf of the Washington Alumni Chapter and the Washington, D.C. active chapter in appreciation for his effort in making the event a success.

At 9:15 the admittees assembled in the East Conference Room in preparation to be escorted into the Court. At this time Supreme Justice Robert E. Redding presented a brief report on alumni activities in the fraternity.

D. C. ALUMNI HONOR CLARK

The Washington D. C. Alumni Chapter recently honored Justice Tom C. Clark, Associate of the United States Supreme Court, on his recent retirement from the Court by presenting him with the chair that he has used while a member of the Court.

The emotional ceremony took place in Justice Clark's chambers at the United States Supreme Court Building. The gift was made on behalf of the Washington D. C. Alumni Chapter and the five Washington active chapters.

The chapters made the presentation to the Justice as an expression of appreciation to him for the cooperation and help he has given to the chapters in the Washington D.C. area while he has been on the Supreme Court.

Message From The Supreme Justice

A Stewardship Report on What PAD is Accomplishing this Year

In presenting this first alumni edition of the Reporter to our 36,000 living alumni members, we want you to know what your fraternity is doing. We invite your participation in our programs, and your continued interest and financial support. Some of our program highlights of the year are briefly mentioned below:

1. The adjustment from 12 to 15 districts, and 13 dedicated District Justices, was completed. All districts held district conclaves this year—the first time in history!

2. A training session was held last February for all Supreme and District Officers. The many constructive actions then taken by your Supreme Executive Board were summarized in my March 1967 Message. Indicative of the "tight ship" policy on money is the fact that the actual cost of the Seminar was one dollar short of the budgeted expenditure quoted five months previous.

3. We will enter the fall season with two excellent and well trained Special Assistants to the Supreme Justice, Jerry Kaufman and Frank McCown, who will serve as our troubleshooters on active and alumni chapter expansion, reactivation, and revitalization. They will succeed the pioneering efforts of Sandy Rae and Ray Judice in this capacity.

4. The PAD reception at the annual meeting of the Association of American Law Schools last December in Washington was a highlight in our faculty relations program. More than 100 persons attended, including a dozen law school deans. This was the only law fraternity sponsored function at the meeting. A similar reception is scheduled at the Southeastern Regional Meeting of AALS in Charleston, South Carolina on August 23, 1967.

5. Our Faculty Relations Committee, under the leadership of District Justice and Dean Frank Maloney, produced a seven-point program for Supreme Executive Board consideration last February. The year's highlights included the honorary initiations of Dean Francis Allen of the University of Michigan Law School and Dean David H. Vernon of the University of Iowa Law School.

6. The 1966 Convention approved the adoption of Juris Doctor degrees at all law schools in substitution for the LL.B. degree. With the assistance of the Faculty Relations Committee, we have urged such action in letters to the deans of all such law schools at which PAD chapters are located.

7. Major emphasis has been given to the more effective use of faculty and alumni advisors for such active chapter, led by a special committee chaired by Supreme Advocate Henry C. Rohr. Such areas include the goal of complete chapter coverage by this fall, distribution of the PAD Tool Kit and duties manuals, certificates of appointment, and closer reporting liaison with the District Justices.

8. The active chapter treasurer's manual has become the model for use by other fraternities and sororities during the year.

9. Our financial status has continued to stabilize this year, with new quarterly audit reports to the Supreme Executive Board and considerable progress toward the objective of a full year's operating reserves in our General Fund to meet any kind of emergency condition. A forthcoming report by Supreme Treasurer Rae resulting from his financial stability survey of active and alumni chapter will be enlightening.

10. We have continued the granting of student loans from the Endowment Fund, reflecting the enlarged terms approved at the 1966 convention, availed of by active chapter members in the District of Columbia, Idaho, Michigan, New York, Texas, and Virginia.

11. It is no longer necessary to utilize initiation fees to operate our Executive Office, now funded by either the alumni dues or our insurance dividends. We calculate that 89 cents of every dollar of the $25.00 initiation fees is returned for the use and benefit of our student members.

12. During the year our insurance program was expanded by making available the new PAD professional liability "umbrella" coverage, an additional $1 million of protection.

13. A major breakthrough on the Fraternity's alumni relations program was achieved under the leadership of Supreme Marshal Hutson, chairman of a new Alumni Service Committee. The Supreme Executive Board last February approved a 14-point program and will continue to work on this top priority problem area.

14. Your Supreme Justice is particularly concerned about the importance of leadership capability in a lawyer and hopes to expand the Fraternity's interest in helping to develop our active members as a "complete lawyer."

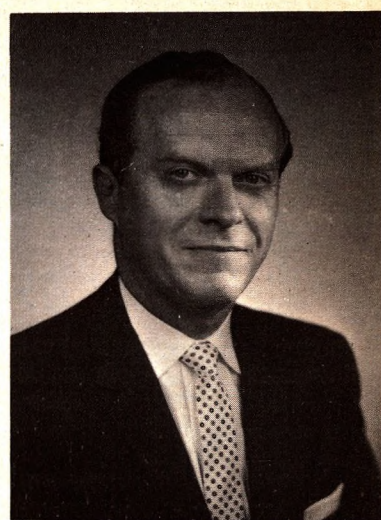

15. A personal highlight of the year was the induction on May 4, 1967 of the Honorable Charles E. Whittaker, past Justice of the United States Supreme Court, into the Fraternity's new distinguished Service Chapter, the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a PAD.

16. High honor was also conferred in recent weeks upon Supreme Vice Justice Tom C. Clark, who retired as a Justice of the United States Supreme Court. Such activities include the presentation by PAD to him of his chair utilized in the Supreme Court chambers and by the completion of plans to establish, next fall, a Tom C. Clark room at the University of Texas Law School, the site of our Tom C. Clark Chapter.

17. Our Fraternity honored several outstanding members of the legal profession by inducting them as honorary members of Phi Alpha Delta. They included: Dean Francis Alfred Allen, Dean of the University of Michigan Law School; Judge Bailey Brown, Judge of the United States District Court for the Western District of Tennessee; Judge Fred K. Caplan, Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia; Representative William C. Cramer, United States Representative from the state of Florida; Honorable Leroy Blackstock, President of the Oklahoma Bar Association; Honorable Abe McGregor Goff, Commissioner of the Interstate Commerce Commission; Justice Robert Lavender, Justice of the Oklahoma Supreme Court; Honorable Gerald A. Lewis, Member of the Florida House of Representative; Professor Joseph A. Page, Professor of law at the University of Denver; Judge James Benton Parsons, Judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois; Honorable Daniel P. S. Paul, a practicing attorney in the state of Florida; professor William D. Rollison, Professor of law at Cumberland School of Law; Honorable John J. Stamus, Assistant States Attorney for Illinois; Judge Francis J. Talty, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, Cuyahoga County, Ohio; Judge Homer Thornberry, Judge of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals; and Dean David H. Vernon, Dean of the University of Illinois College of Law.

18. As an outgrowth of the pioneering work of past Supreme Justice Anthony A. DiGrazia, a precedent-making PAD Day at the Supreme Court was enjoyed on May 29, 1967. A total of 38 PAD's from 19 states and the District of Columbia were admitted on motion by your Supreme Justice to practice at the U. S. Supreme Court bar. Under the future guidance of a newly established committee on Supreme Court relations, chaired by Eugene L. Stewart, PAD Day is planned as an annual occasion, now scheduled next year on June 3, 1968.

19. The Fraternity's effective speaking program has been reviewed and plans will be completed at the next meeting of the

ROBERT E. REDDING

Supreme Executive Board for its expansion and more effective operation.

20. In the field of professional programming, all chapters were encouraged to participate in the annual Law Day, U.S.A. observances, and under the leadership of Judge Marshall, programs are being developed (1) for the defense to the indigent, (2) to provide trial experience for law school PAD's within the limits of bar associates activities, and (3) to encourage active chapters to provide volunteer speakers for public school, civic groups, and other public gatherings on the subject of legal traditions and respect for the law.

21. We now have available, for the first time, PAD coat-of-arms blazer emblems for purchase by Fraternity members.

22. A new PAD Inns of Court program was developed in the Washington area during the year under the leadership of Brother Warren E. Burger, Judge, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Washington, D.C. Circuit. This four-meeting program, sponsored by the local alumni and active chapters, is designed to establish and maintain high standards of professional conduct, etiquette, and ethics for members of the bar. Plans for wide publicity in professional journals have been completed and it is hoped that this program will be expanded next fall into the metropolitan areas of Los Angeles, Kansas City, Philadelphia, Chicago, Houston and New York City.

23. Although there are indications that most PAD law school graduates do not appear to face a serious placement problem, your Supreme Justice is concerned about the matter and will soon announce a Placement Committee to work in this important service area for both active and alumni members.

24. We have placed emphasis this year on active chapter fund-raising activities to finance their chapter programs. They include book exchanges and book stores, coffee and doughnut service, election day reporting, window washing, duplication machine service, sale of rings, flower sales, etc. More will be listed in the forthcoming professional activities survey report by our Director of Professional Activities, Supreme Secretary Hotchkiss.

25. Also worthy of comment is the growing interest of active chapters in area-wide seminars of interest to the local profession. Several were held this year, including one on "Modern Criminal Defense" and another on "Practical Aspects of Doing Business Abroad" sponsored by five active chapters in Chicago. Others included a Paterson Chapter seminar, co-sponsored with the American Law Student Association, on landlord, tenant relationships, plus others on bail release programs, corporation attorney functions, police radar use, etc.

26. The Supreme Executive Board approved a financial contribution to LAWBOOKS U.S.A., a "Lawyer to Lawyer" program for the distribution abroad of books regarding American Jurisprudence. We encourage all interested alumni members to do so.

27. Your Supreme Executive Board members have each affiliated with the American Bar Association Section of Legal Education.

CHRISTOPHER IS NAMED DEPUTY U. S. ATTORNEY GENERAL

Brother Warren M. Christopher, a member of Holmes Chapter, was recently named Deputy Attorney General of the United States.

Brother Christopher obtained his college education at Redlands and the University of Southern California where he graduated magna cum laude and was a member of Phi Kappa Phi scholastic honorary society. He entered the United States Navy as an Apprentice Seaman in 1943 and was discharged in 1946 as a Lt. (j.g.), having served in the Pacific Theater.

Upon his discharge, Brother Christopher entered Stanford University Law School and obtained his LL.B. degree in 1949, and earned the Order of the Coif. While at Stanford he was President of the Board of Editors of its Law Review.

Following graduation he became law clerk to Mr. Justice William O. Douglas in the 1949 term of the United States Supreme Court.

Since 1950 he has been associated with O'Melveny & Myers of Los Angeles. He has been a member of the firm since January 1958.

Brother Christopher's other activities include membership in the California Coordinating Council for Higher Education of which he was president from 1963 to 1965; member of the Board of Trustees of Occidental College and of the Visiting Committee of the University of Chicago Law School; Chairman, Standing Committee on Aeronautical Law of the American Bar Association, since 1966; Member of the Board of Bar Examiners of the State of California since 1966.

In Governmental work Brother Christopher served as Chairman of the United States Delegation to the United States-Japan Cotton Textile Negotiations in 1961; Chairman of the United States Delegation to Geneva Conference on Cotton Textiles, 1961; Special Consultant on Foreign Economic Problems to the Undersecretary of State since 1961; Special Representative of the Secretary of State for wool textile meetings in London and Rome in 1964 and in Tokyo in 1965; Civilian Aide to the Secretary of the Army for the Southern California area from 1962 to 1966; and in 1959 he served as special counsel to California Governor Brown.

In 1957 Brother Christopher was invited by the United States Supreme Court to file a brief and present oral arguments as a friend of the Court in Lambert v. California.

His writings include: The Constitutionality of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, Stanford Law Review (Vol. 18 Special Issue); and The Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act: Key to a New Frontier, 6 Stanford Law Review 23.

Brother Christopher served as Editor-in-Chief of the Los Angeles Bar Bulletin from 1955 to 1966.

President Johnson, in announcing his nomination, said: "We think we are fortunate to have this very able, experienced young man join the very fine team that we have in this administration, particularly in the Justice Department, headed by Mr. Clark."

PAD ASSISTS LAW BOOKS U.S.A.

Law Books U.S.A. is a non-profit organization organized to meet the need of foreign countries for books concerning the American legal system.

The idea for this program arose from a governmental organization entitled Books U.S.A. sponsored by the United States Information Agency.

The need for such a program was apparent from reports from such organizations as United States Information Agency, the Department of State, and from Peace Corps Volunteers returning from their foreign posts. The Communists have also noticed the thirst for books among other countries as is shown by the fact that they export books in dozens of different languages to some 68 non-communist countries. One year they distributed an estimated 40 million volumes.

Law Books U.S.A. will distribute or assist in the distribution abroad of some 6 million volumes. It encourages the American public, the publishing industry and the United States Intelligence Agency to join in a non-profit campaign to ship large numbers of English language paperback overseas.

Law Books U.S.A.

Of specific importance to attorneys is the fact that Americans abroad have reported a profound interest in the American jurisprudence, particularly among the emerging nations. Many of these nations are formed of British colonies and the local leaders have been educated in English schools and are familiar with the common law system.

The lawyers and law students in these new countries also contribute the greatest single source of political and intellectual leadership. A great proportion of the educated population have studied law and these lawyers serve as statesmen, politicians, civil servants and administrators in the developing countries. Law Books U.S.A. was thus formed.

It is headed by a team of young lawyers selected on a national basis, has the full support of the American Bar Association World Peace Through Law Committee, and the Junior Bar Conference, the Federal Bar Association and the United States Information Agency.

The Board of Trustees chosen for this organization include Justice Tom C. Clark, United States Supreme Court (retired); Dean Florence Ferguson, Howard Law School; Dean Irwin N. Griswald, Harvard Law School; Earl W. Kintner, Past President of the Federal Bar Assoc.; Honorable Thomas Kuchel, United States Senator; Barratt O'Hara, United States Representative from Illinois; Charles S. Rhyne, Past President of the Amer. Bar Assoc.; Honorable Harold Stassen, former governor; Honorable G. Mennen Williams, Assist. Secretary of State.

For each $8.00 contributed a packet of basic paperback books concerning the nature of the American legal system can be sent to selected lawyers, jurists, teachers and law students abroad. The bearer's name is enclosed with the packet of law books and the recipient will be encouraged to correspond directly with the American donor on a lawyer to lawyer basis.

Gifts of any amount are encouraged and where less than $8.00 is contributed several donations will be aggregated to form a single packet. Oceana Publications, Inc. has undertaken to coordinate the program on a non-profit basis, although the

PAD Alumni Benefits

Many members of Phi Alpha Delta after graduating from law school fail to avail themselves of the services and benefits offered by Phi Alpha Delta. Some of the highlights of these benefits which accrue to active members in the fraternity are as follows:

1. The availability of our numerous PAD insurance programs, including group life, long-term disability income, business overhead expenses, and professional liability insurance.
2. Alumni assistance in seeking membership before the bars of various courts and in business clubs, local organizations, and political affiliations.
3. Free receipt of the Fraternity Directory by those alumni members in good standing.
4. Free receipt of The Reporter, mailed to all alumni members for life without charge, a practice followed by no other law fraternity.
5. Eligibility for the emerging benefits of our Leadership Development Program intended to develop the complete lawyer.
6. Availability of the PAD Inns of Court program, designed to assist younger alumni in establishing and maintaining books comprising the packet have been selected from the lists of several publishers.

The eight paperback books in the packet have been selected by lawyers, law students, and law teachers in this country. In keeping with the spirit of the program, technical legal treatises have been bypassed in favor of popular paperbacks readily understandable by fellow attorneys abroad. A typical packet will contain the following: Spirit of Liberty, by Leonard Hand; The Nature of the Judicial Process, by Benjamin Cardozo; Tax on American Land, Harold Berman; Brandeis Reader, by Irwin Pollack; Equal Justice Under the Law, Kaioll M. Faiand; The Freedom Leader, by Edwin Newman; American Constitution Reader, by Robert McKay; and American Jurisprudence Reader, by Thomas Kowan.

Final selections of recipients are made by the United States Intelligence Agency. A list of prospective recipients are furnished by the American Bar Association, the Federal Bar Association and the American Attorneys serving with the Peace Corps. An individual American donor may leave the choice entirely with the United States Intelligence Agency or may indicate a particular country within which he prefers his packet distributed.

The Supreme Executive Board of Phi Alpha Delta has found this program to be of such importance that it has made a contribution to it on behalf of PAD.

In the event any member wishes to follow the fraternity's lead he may make a donation to Law Books U.S.A., Suite 4400, 1 North La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois 60602.

high standards of professional conduct as to court-room manners, decorum, and legal etiquette, as they pertain to clients other attorneys, the judiciary, and the general public.

7. Participation in Fraternity-sponsored professional programs designed to meet practical problems of law practice.

8. The utilization of alumni contacts to facilitate changes in legal positions and other placement problems faced by alumni brothers.

9. The tangible benefits soon to be offered to PAD alumni members from the "PAD Plan," which will make possible the purchase of library materials, office equipment and machinery, and office supplies at a substantially reduced cost.

10. A national fraternity affiliation leading to lifetime friendships throughout the world, a priceless jewel in our professional lifetime.

11. Finally, PAD stands as a bulwark to remind each brother of his obligations as a lawyer and as a stimulus for professional responsibility. These areas include (1) rendering legal service without expectation of compensation when justice cannot otherwise be maintained, (2) individual contributions in time and effort toward the improvement of the administration of justice, (3) constant and exacting adherence to high ethical standards, (4) attaining and maintaining a high degree of competence as a legal technician and craftsman, and (5) seeking and accepting leadership in educational, cultural, patriotic, charitable, and political life.

ABA Honors Tom C. Clark

Justice Tom C. Clark was honored on June 12, 1967 at a banquet sponsored by the Committee for the Effective Administration of Justice of the American Bar Association.

Mr. Justice Clark was introduced as the first and only chairman of the Joint Committee for the Effective Administration of Justice.

ABA President Marden said of Justice Clark, "to lose him from the Court is a grievous loss indeed — for he has been a very great Justice."

"Justice Clark has gladly given us virtually all of his past time in the past decade. He has been correctly called the traveling salesman of justice and selflessly we want more — much more of his time and of his unique talent."

"And so — though saddened by his loss from the court — we rejoice that he will now be able to give more and more improvements for the administration of justice."

"Elder brother of the discouraged, is a title we might well confer on Mr. Justice Clark."

"History will group him with Arthur T. Vanderbilt and John J. Parker as the triumvirate who modernized the machinery of justice in our time."

As chairman of the ABA Section of Judicial Administration, Justice Clark spearheaded the movement leading to the establishment of the National College of Trial Lawyers for training of newly elected or appointed State Court Judges.

Notice To All Alumni Chapters

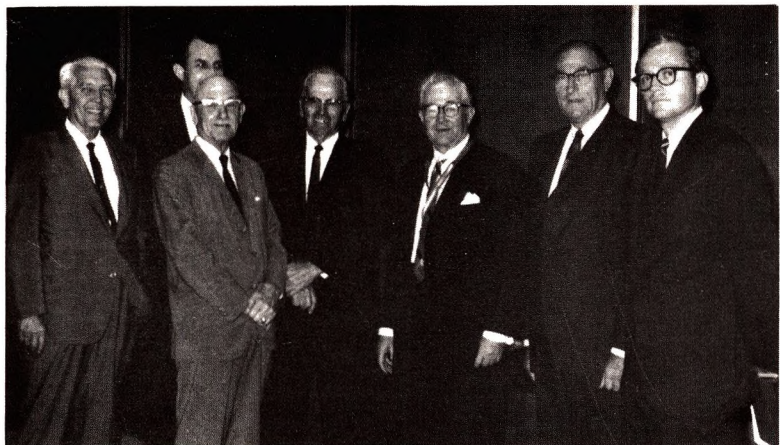

The 1968 National Convention will be held in Washington, D.C., August 28, 29, 30 and 31, 1968.

The National By-Laws were amended in 1966 to provide that the National Fraternity will pay the necessary traveling expenses and hotel expenses of one delegate from each alumni chapter.

This means that the actual cost of air coach fare, hotel accommodations, and at least $4.00 per day subsistence for each day of travel to and from the convention and each day at the convention will be paid for one delegate from each alumni chapter.

The Supreme Executive Board has adopted the following requirement in order for alumni chapters to be eligible for payment of travel expenses on the one delegate:

1. The annual alumni chapter tax of $15.00 per year must be paid for the two fiscal years subsequent to the 1966 convention.
2. Each alumni chapter must hold at least two meetings during the period August 1, 1967 through July 31, 1968 with an attendance of at least 10 persons at each meeting.
4. Each alumni chapter must have duly elected officers.

PRESENT TO HONOR JUDGE THORNBERRY upon his initiation as an honorary member of Tom C. Clark Chapter were, left to right: State District Judges Charles O. Betts and Tom Reavley; Associate Justice of the Texas Supreme Court, Meade Griffin; Judge of the Court of Criminal Procedure, K. K. Wodley; Judge Homer Thornberry; Supreme Advocate Henry C. Rohr; and Tom C. Clark Chapter Justice, William F. Douglass.

THORNBERRY BECOMES HONORARY MEMBER

Tom C. Clark Chapter recently initiated the Honorable Homer Thornberry, Judge of The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, as an honorary member of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity.

The ceremony took place in the chambers of the Texas State Supreme Court.

Brother Judge Thornberry was born in Austin, Texas in 1090 and obtained his LL.B and LL.D degrees from the University of Texas.

He was admitted to practice before the Texas Bar in 1936. In 1941 he became a member of the Austin City Council and from 1947 to 1948 served as Mayor Pro Tem. Prior to becoming a member of the City Council he served in the House of Representatives of the Texas Legislature from 1937 to 1940.

Brother Thornberry served in the 81st through 87th Congresses.

In 1963 he became a United States District Judge and served in that position until his appointment as Judge in the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in 1965, a position he holds at the present time.

Among those in attendance to witness Judge Thornberry's initiation included: Associate Justice Meade Griffin of the Texas State Supreme Court, and Henry C. Rohr Supreme Advocate.

Caplan Joins Willey Chapter

Honorable Fred H. Caplan, Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia, recently became an honorary member of Willey Chapter.

Judge Caplan is presently the President of the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia, a position which he holds for one year.

The ceremony was conducted in the United States District Court Room with a large number of members present.

Brother Caplan obtained his A.B. degree from the University of West Virginia and his LL.B. degree from the University of Richmond. Following his admission to the West Virginia Bar

HAMMOND HONORS VERNON

David H. Vernon, Dean of the University of Iowa, College of Law, was recently initiated as an honorary member of Hammond Chapter.

Dean Vernon obtained his LL.B degree at Harvard University and his LL.M and J.S.D. degrees at New York University.

He was admitted to practice before the Massachusetts State Bar in 1952. In 1943 Brother Vernon commenced his work in the field of education as an instructor at New York University. In 1954 he accepted an assistant professorship at the University of Houston, the following year going to the University of New Mexico. In 1958 Brother Vernon became an associate professor of law at the University of New Mexico and in 1963 he received his full professorship there.

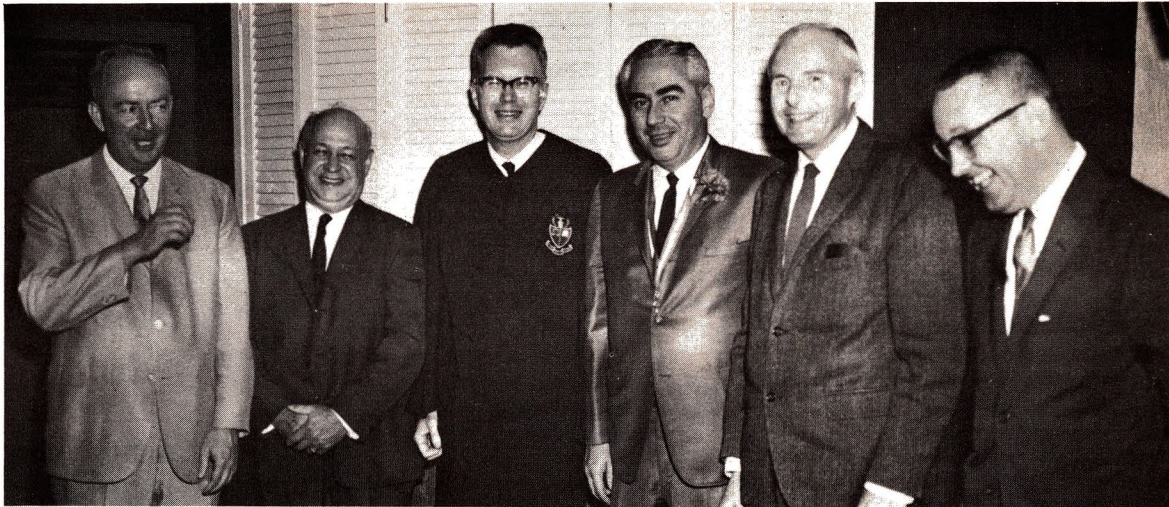

Dean Vernon transferred to the University of Washington to become Associate Dean in 1964. He has also taught at the University of Texas and Hastings College of Law.

His subjects include: research in writing, constitutional law, corporations suretyship, negotiable instruments, bankruptcy, Federal Food Drug and Cosmetic Act, property I, admiralty, conflicts, contracts, administrative law, brief and argumentation, commercial transactions, remedies, family law, debtors estates, and commercial code seminar.

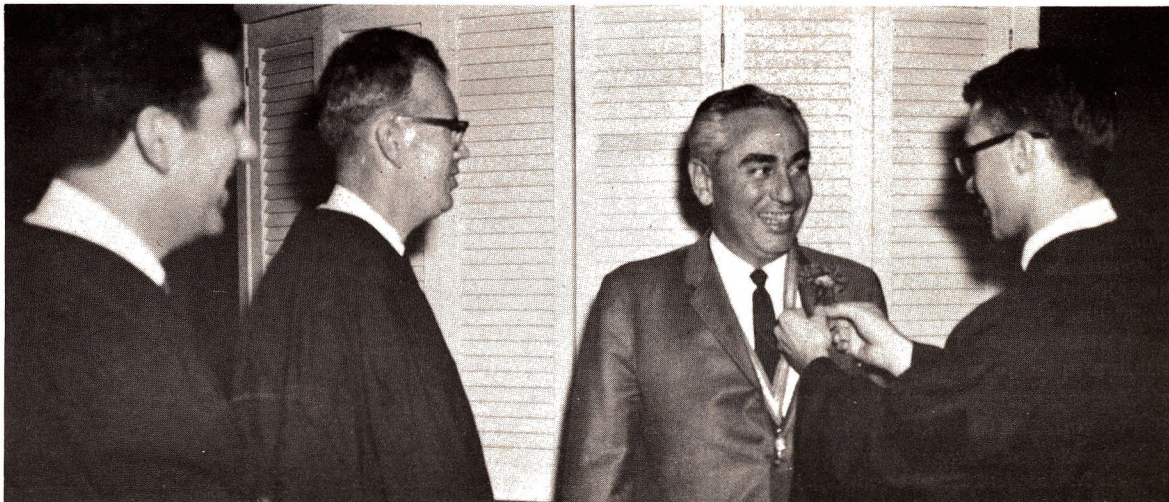

He is the editor of General State Food and Drug Laws Annotated.

in 1941 he entered the United States Army and served until 1946.

Since that time and until his election in 1962 to the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia, Brother Caplan has served in many distinguished positions. He has served in the West Virginia House of Delegates for two terms, served as Assistant Attorney General under three successive Attorney Generals, appointed to the West Virginia Public Service Commission by the Governor, and appointed to the Supreme Court.

LEWIS IS NAMED TO INDIANA SUPREME COURT

David M. Lewis an alumnus of Marshall Chapter, is an "attorney's attorney," a lawyer who knows law from the eminences of the corporation field to the hurly-burly of the criminal trial. His sense of justice, of equity, is acute.

His qualities are well recognized in Indiana political and legal circles. He has escaped the pitfalls of overspecialization and acquired a breadth of understanding and experience of the variety seen among the men who drafted the country's basic law.

His insight into the motivations of people and groups, their meanings and their relationship to a society governed by law are certain to serve the people of his state and country well in the months and years to come.

INDIANAPOLIS ALUMNI PLANS ELECTION

The annual election for the Indianapolis Alumni Chapter will be held at the ISTA building on September 13, 1967, at 12:00 noon.

All alumni members are urged to attend this important meeting. Judge William Sharp has been appointed chairman of the nominating committee and will make a report on its recommendation at the August meeting.

PAD INNS OF COURT

It was Shakespeare who spoke of the English Inns of Court: "Strive mightily and then eat and drink together."

The "PAD Inns of Court," a program designed to enhance the professional conduct of lawyers, has now become a working reality in Washington, D.C. Guided by the founder of the program, Judge Warren E. Burger of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, the five active Washington, D.C. chapters and the Washington, D.C. Alumni Chapter have jointly sponsored during the 1966-67 academic year a series of four seminar programs in the area of professional decorum, etiquette, and ethics relating to courtroom conduct. Some of the outstanding trial lawyers in the country participated.

The concept of a "PAD Inns of Court" program was first discussed by Judge Burger at the Spring Banquet of the Washington, D.C., active chapters in May 1966, when Judge Burger became an honorary member of John Jay Chapter at George Washington University Law School. Brother Burger spoke at the banquet of the need for a Fraternity program dealing with professional conduct, etiquette and ethics. Tentative plans for the program were developed during the summer of 1966.

The program began in the fall of 1966, largely due to the efforts of Brother Warren E. Burger, Supreme Justice Robert E. Redding, District Justice Dan Halpin, and Fred Warren Bennett, past Justice of John Jay Chapter and a member of the Washington, D.C., Alumni Chapter. After much discussion it was agreed that the project name would be "PAD Inns of Court—A Program to Establish and Maintain High Standards of Professional Conduct, Etiquette and Ethics." The basic purposes of the program are as follows:

1. To facilitate a growing awareness to the needs of a lawyer to practice professional conduct of the highest order in legal proceedings — both in court and out of court;
2. To bring about a greater emphasis on the need for training in the law schools in the area of legal ethics;
3. To encourage law students and young lawyers to take interest in this program so that they can obtain knowledge and practical experience in proper courtroom conduct and ethics;
4. To contribute to a higher level of esteem for the legal profession in the mind of the general public;
5. To encourage all PAD active and alumni chapters to adopt and implement such a program; and
6. To bring the legal fraternity into a closer relationship with other professional organizations within the legal profession.

The "Inns of Court" program in the Washington, D.C., area has been sponsored by the John Jay Chapter at George Washington University, Taft Chapter at Georgetown University, Brandeis Chapter at The American University, Cardozo Chapter at Catholic University, newly installed Langston Chapter at Howard University, and the Washington, D.C., Alumni Chapter. Prospective rushees at all law schools were invited, as well as their wives or dates. The programs have been speaker programs — lectures followed by questions and answers. Two outstanding speakers and a moderator has been the format for three programs and the last program featured one speaker and a moderator.

The first PAD "Inns of Court" program was held on October 28, 1966. Brother Edward Bennett Williams, noted criminal trial lawyer, and Samuel Dash, Director of the Institute of Criminal Law and Procedure at Georgetown University Law Center, were the speakers, and Brother Judge John J. Sirica of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia was the moderator. Brother Williams and Mr. Dash discussed the "Professional Responsibilities of the Defense Lawyer in a Criminal Case" before a large audience of several hundred people.

The second "Inns of Court" program was held on January 6, 1967. Judge William B. Bryant of the United States District Court, former attorney in the landmark case of Mallory vs. United States; 354 U. S. 449 (1957), and Thomas A. Flannery, Esquire, former prosecuting attorney in Washington, D.C., were the speakers, and Brother Richmond B. Keech, Senior Judge of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, was the moderator. Judge Bryant and Mr. Flannery spoke on "Problems of Trial Preparation in a Criminal Case — Covering Relations with Defendant, Opposing Counsel, Witnesses and Law Enforcement Agencies."

The third program was held on March 10, 1967. Myron Ehrlich, Esquire, noted criminal trial lawyer in Washington, D.C., and Francis L. Casey, Esquire, a leading trial lawyer in the torts field and a partner in the firm of Hogan and Hartson, were the speakers, and Brother James E. Starrs, Professor of the George Washington University Law School, was the moderator. Mr. Ehrlich and Mr. Casey discussed the "Lawyer in Court" and the lectures covered the trial of a criminal and civil case.

The fourth "Inns of Court" program during the 1966-67 academic year was held on April 14, 1967. Jack G. Day, Esquire, noted criminal trial lawyer from Cleveland, Ohio, and the current president of the National Association of Defense Lawyers in Criminal Cases was the speaker; Samuel Dash, a former participant in the program, was the moderator. Mr. Day spoke on the "Overall Responsibility of the Defense Lawyer in a Criminal Case."

The "Inns of Court" program should directly benefit the younger member of the alumni chapter of PAD. The lectures have done much to bridge the gap between law school learning and actual trial practice. The lectures have placed heavy emphasis on courtroom conduct, etiquette and ethics — a subject virtually untouched in the law schools. According to Judge Burger, the program could well "become a landmark in legal education."

Four programs are being planned for the Washington, D.C., area during the 1967-68 academic year, to be scheduled September 29, 1967, November 3,

THOMAS A. FLANNERY, ESQ., NOTED WASHINGTON DEFENSE ATTORNEY, addresses those in attendance at the PAD Inns of Court Program on etiquette, ethics, and conduct of attorneys in adversary proceedings.

1967, February 16, 1968, and March 15, 1968. Greater emphasis will be placed in areas other than Criminal Law — such as domestic relations, torts and commercial law.

It is hoped that the "Inns of Court" program will become nationwide in scope. At the PAD Supreme Executive Board meeting held in Washington, D.C., on February 25, 1967, a progress report on the PAD "Inns of Court" program was given by Chairman Bennett. The program was enthusiastically received by all the Supreme officers.

In order to help establish a national program, Brother Bennett has been appointed National Chairman of the PAD "Inns of Court" program. Furthermore, plans are being formulated to begin the "Inns of Court" program in selected cities throughout the United States. Expansion cities being considered for next year, in addition to the program now underway in Washington, D.C., are as follows: Los Angeles, Kansas City, Philadelphia, Chicago, Houston, and New York City. Eventually, it is hoped that all PAD active chapters and alumni chapters will initiate the "Inns of Court" program.

The "Inns of Court" program now operating in Washington, D.C. has also served as an excellent vehicle for rushing purposes. The top-notch speakers who have lectured at the programs in Washington, D.C., have drawn many prospective rushes in addition to the members of the various chapters. For example, the first program attracted 82 rushees for Jay Chapter alone. All chapters in Washington, D.C., have witnessed tremendous growth the past year in terms of chapter size, and the "Inns of Court" program has been a prime factor in such growth.

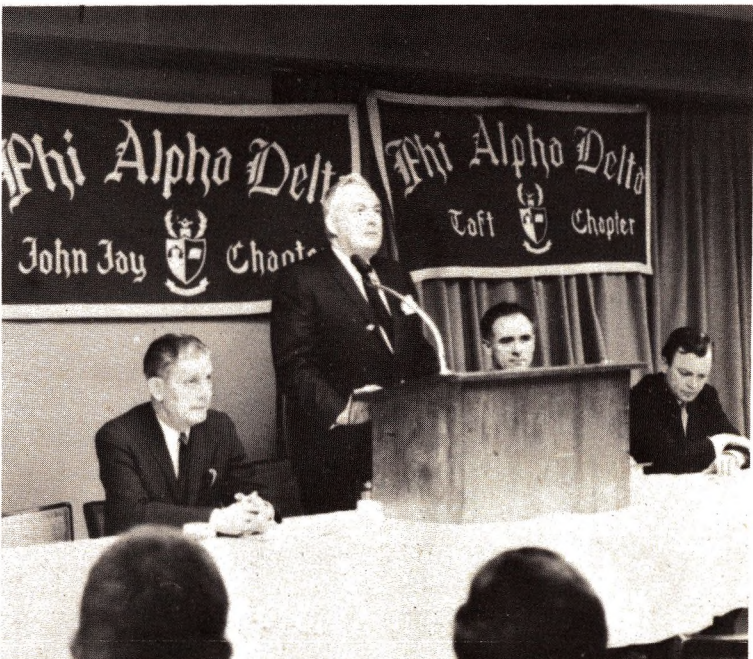

Most important, however, is the fact that PAD has started a program dealing with professional conduct, etiquette and ethics — an area heretofore neglected by professional organizations. The PAD "Inns of Court" is the kind of imaginative and provocative concept which will make significant contributions to the formation of professional attitudes and to the needed increased esteem for the legal profession on the part of the general public. The role to be played by Phi Alpha Delta in this process will become increasingly effective if the active and alumni chapters can develop their own "Inns of Court" programs. Moreover, by developing such a program all chapters will surely be living up to Phi Alpha Delta's motto — "Service to the Student, the Law School and the Profession."

JUDGE WARREN BURGER, OF THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA CIRCUIT, the initiator of the Inns of Court Program.

JACK G. DAY, noted criminal trial lawyer from Cleveland, Ohio, and the current president of the National Association of Defense Lawyers in Criminal Cases, spoke on the "overall responsibility of the defense lawyer in a criminal case," as part of the Inns of Court program. Seated left to right are: Samuel Dash, moderator, Fred Bennett, chairman, and Jack G. Day.

JUDGE WARREN BURGER, JUDGE OF THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA and the initiator of the Inns of Court Program, briefly addressed those present for the PAD Inns of Court Program featuring Myron Ehrlich and Francis L. Casey, who discussed the "lawyer in court."

EDWARD BENNETT WILLIAMS

Williams Evaluates "Inns of Court"

"I was pleased to have been able to participate in the PAD program, 'Inns of Court.' I think it important that law students and young lawyers acquire a sense of the duties of the advocate, and a program drawing upon the experience of judges, professors and active practitioners fills that need. I was particularly impressed by the 1966-67 program's emphasis upon the duty of all lawyers to undertake the defense of persons accused of crime and upon the necessity for maintaining the highest standards of professional conduct both in and out of the courtroom."

THIS YEAR'S HONORARY INITIATIONS

This year Phi Alpha Delta initiated 16 honorary members into the Fraternity, thereby bringing in outstanding men who have achieved unusual distinction in the legal profession or in the field of law on at least a statewide basis. They were:

Dean Francis Alfred Allen

Brother Francis Allen, Dean of the University of Michigan Law School, was initiated by Campbell Chapter on March 9, 1967.

Brother Allen obtained his LL.B. degree from Northwestern University and his Doctorate of Jurisprudence from Cornell College of Law. He became Dean of the University of Michigan Law School in 1966 after having had 18 years of experience in education.

Judge Bailey Brown

The Honorable Bailey Brown, judge of the United States District Court for the western district of Tennessee, was initiated as an honorary member of McKellar Chapter.

Brother Brown became a United States District Court Judge in 1961 and became chief judge of the court in 1966. Prior to being elevated to the bench, he practiced law with the firm Burch, Porter and Johnson in Memphis, Tennessee.

Judge Fred H. Caplan

The Honorable Fred H. Caplan, judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia, was initiated as an honorary member of Willey Chapter. A story on this initiation is contained on page 4 of this issue.

Honorable William C. Cramer

Brother William C. Cramer, United States Representative in the State of Florida, was initiated as an honorary member of Brandeis Chapter.

Representative Cramer obtained his LL.B. degree from Harvard Law School in 1948. He served in the Florida Legislature from 1950 to 1952. In 1954 he was elected to the United States House of Representatives and assumed the distinction of being the first Republican elected to the House from Florida since 1875.

Honorable Lou Davis

Brother Lou Davis, Judge of the Seventh District Magistrate Court of Jackson County, Missouri, became an honorary member of Benton Chapter.

Judge Davis obtained his LL.B. degree from Boston University of Law in 1932. He is presently in his ninth year as magistrate of the 7th District in Jackson County, Missouri.

Brother Leroy Blackstock, President of the Oklahoma Bar Association, was initiated as an honorary member during the District VI Conclave.

Abe McGregor Goff

Brother Abe McGregor Goff, Commissioner of the Interstate Commerce Commission, became an honorary member of Kent Chapter. He obtained his LL.B. degree at the University of Idaho, College of Law and was in the private practice of law for 23 years after having been elected to the United States Congress from the 1st District of Idaho. In 1954, he entered government work as the solicitor for the United States Post Office Department and in 1958 he was appointed to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Justice Robert Lavender

The Honorable Robert Lavender, Justice of the Oklahoma Supreme Court, became an honorary member of Hardy Chapter during the District VI Conclave.

Brother Lavender obtained his LL.B. degree from the University of Tulsa and served as Assistant City Attorney for the City of Tulsa following his admission to the Oklahoma Bar. He was appointed Associate Justice of the Oklahoma Supreme Court in 1965 and was elected to a full term in 1966.

Gerald A. Lewis

Brother Lewis was initiated as an honorary member of Roscoe Chapter. He obtained his Law Degree from Harvard Law School and is a member of the Florida House of Representatives. He gained statewide prominence in fighting for conservation and anti-pollution bills.

Joseph A. Page

Brother Page, a professor of law at the University of Denver, became an honorary member of Hughes Chapter. Professor Page obtained his LL.B. and LL.M. degrees from Harvard Law School. He is also editor-in-chief of the NACCA Law Journal and has written for the National Observer.

Judge James Benton Parsons

Honorable James Benton Parsons, United States District Judge for the Northern District of Illinois, was initiated as an honorary member of Story Chapter.

Upon obtaining his LL.B. from the University of Chicago Law School, he was admitted to practice in the State of Illinois. He is also a member of Phi Beta Phi, honorary society, Kappa Alpha Psi, and Sigma Phi Psi.

Daniel P. S. Paul

Brother Paul, an attorney licensed to practice in the State of Florida, was recently initiated as an honorary member of Roscoe Chapter.

Brother Paul obtained his LL.B. degree from Harvard Law School. He is the President of the Government Research Council and is the author of the Miami Metropolitan Charter.

He has led a successful legal battle for reapportionment in Florida and is now leading legal fights for Congressional redistricting and reduction of state utility rates.

Professor William D. Rollison

Brother William D. Rollison, professor of law at Cumberland School of Law, was recently initiated as an honorary member of Hull Chapter.

Brother Rollison obtained his LL.B. degree from Indiana University and his LL.M. from Harvard Law School. He was admitted to the Bars of Indiana and Alabama.

Professor Rollison is professor of Law Emeritus from Notre Dame and Distinguished Professor of Law at Cumberland School of Law. He is the author of Rollison of Wills, Will Clauses annotated, Estate Planning and

Government was being charged with being soft about it. Excitement! There was never a dull moment. The science of Government had changed because of the exigencies of these situations from fixed principles to little more than the exercise of a sound discretion applied to public problems as they arose. It had become the science of experiment. This wholesale demand for additional Government service could only be met by huge additions to the career service. From George Washington's time it jumped from 780 to 2,500,000. And the caliber of the service changed from policeman to big brother. The Government lawyer's job was to see that justice was done in the courts between man and Government.

As Attorney General I was proud of the accomplishments of the career service lawyers scattered throughout the Government establishment. They were men not only learned in the law but men of intention and ideas. They knew why they were in the public service. It was because there was a job to be performed and they felt that it was their duty to perform it. Neither salary nor overtime deterred them in this overall purpose. They were perfectionists as well as idealists with an insight far beyond themselves. They also had a capacity to strive for higher things and to attain them. In short, they always had a cause to which they were devoted — but they were not rebels. They worked within and were part parcel of what I called the symphony of Government. The drummer in that symphony was as indispensable as was the first violinist."

What Justice Clark had to say about those under him applied equally well to himself as he served in the position of the United States Attorney General from 1945 to 1949. As Attorney General, he was active in the field of Civic Affairs, organizing the National Conference of Citizenship. He also sponsored the "Big Brothers." For his work in Civil Rights he received special citations from the American Legion, The Army-Navy Union, the National Catholic Veterans' Association, and the B'nai B'rith.

During his tenure as Attorney General, 414 cases were presented before the Supreme Court of the United States. In these the Government's position prevailed in over 75% of the cases. He personally argued three cases in the Supreme Court while Attorney General. The first, the United Mine Workers and John L. Lewis vs. the United States, brought to an end the coal strike of 1946; in 1937 the Supreme Court in the United States vs. California, et al, sustained his position that it was the United States rather than any individual coastal state that has the paramount rights in the land, oil and other minerals under the marginal sea; in the third case Paramount Pictures, et al vs. the United States, an antitrust proceeding involving the large motion picture producers and distributors was not only personally directed by him through the lower courts but in 1948 was successfully argued in the United States Supreme Court.

He also created the Attorney General's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency which performed great service during the post World War II period. He sponsored the idea of the "Freedom Train" which carried our original historic documents on exhibition across the country and co-sponsored the "I Speak for Democracy" program in High Schools of the Nation.

Justice Clark As Associate Justice of the Supreme Court

Justice Clark was nominated to the United States Supreme Court by President Harry S. Truman, on August 2, 1949. On October 3, 1949 he took his seat as successor to Mr. Justice Murphy.

As an Associate Supreme Court Justice he has been described by some as "the Traveling Salesman of Justice." Those who have so labeled him have stated that the description is apt in that with only one or two exceptions no member of the Supreme Court has ever done so much to improve the administration of Justice in this country. They say that he has traveled thousands of miles and spent thousands of hours trying to convince judges and lawyer all over the country that much is needed to be done in large courts and small ones to speed our court calendars, improve the quality of judges, modernize the methods of courthouse management and increase the quality of justice.

Brother Justice Clark has contributed much more to American law than just the modernization of administration. His opinions for the court have been precise and clear. He has enjoyed the reputation of being a friend of the police and the Government. To a large extent this reputation is merited, for the Justice often voted to uphold Government action in the field of criminal law and subversion which his more liberal brothers found unconstitutional.

Justice Clark has been probably the least controversial of the justices in the present court. He has led no blocks within the court, pursued no well defined theories of law or Government action. He sometimes joined and sometimes dissented when the court made landmark rulings. He held opinions that mostly settled cases rather than arouse criticism.

Justice Clark has authored some of the present court's more drastic decisions however. For example, he wrote the much criticized 1963 opinion on the prayer prohibited by the reading as a religious ceremony in public schools.

Justice Clark offered the 1952 opinion that justified freedom of speech protection for movies challenged as obscene or otherwise offensive.

In 1956 he wrote the precedent setting ruling giving Public Employees the right to plead the Fifth Amendment.

His most recent highly publicized decision was ordering a new murder trial for Dr. Sam Shepard, because of too much publicity.

From Justice Clark's opinions many persons feel that he looked to the case, not the broad theory, in deciding his vote in that in the controversial areas of religious freedom, obscenity, and the rights of the accused, Brother Clark at other times had voted a different way.

Whatever his decision, the strength and vigor of his arguments were unexcelled.

Justice Clark's opinions not infrequently contained something rare in Supreme Court literature that being amusement, the usually mild Justice was at times also capable of indignation, for example, in the Fanny Hill decision. Brother Clark said in dissent: "the public should know of the continuous flow or pornographic material reaching this court — I have 'stomached' past cases for almost ten years without much outcry. Though I am not known to be a purist — or a shrinking violet — this book is too much even for me."

Brother Justice Clark has applied the same untiring devotion to his duties as Associate United States Supreme Justice as he did as Attorney General. As he stated on one occasion "being a judge is a very high honor, but it is hard work. We studied over 2300 cases last year and wrote 111 different opinions for the court. We also have a lot of homework every night just like you do except ours runs over into Saturdays and Sundays."

Justice Clark's reputation while a member of the United States Supreme Court has been that of a friend of the police in the Government, one who voted consistently against the trend of the court's majority to protect and expand the citizen's personal rights. To a large extent, this reputation is merited for the Justice has often voted to uphold Government action in the field of criminal laws and subversion, which his more liberal brothers found unconstitutional.

Ironically, however, Justice Clark's last opinion for the court gave constitutional protection for the first time to the privacy of communication. This opinion certainly will be unpopular with law enforcement officials. However, it may turn out to be the most important decision that the Justice ever produced. It stands on a plane with his opinion establishing that motion pictures are a form of speech protected by the first amendment, that states can not constitutionally use evidence illegally seized, and that religious observances have no place in normal public school activity.

The Justice's first task in retirement is an international goodwill trip made at the request of the President.

His Honors and Organizations

Justice Clark has been honored on many occasions for his Government service. He has received honorary degrees from Bethany College, John Marshal College, Centre College, Missouri Valley College, Texas Technological College, Dickerson School of Law Vincennes University, Northwestern University, University of Montana, University of Maine, St. Louis University, Boston University, Ohio Wesleyan, St. Johns, University of San Diego, Sepeock University, Syracuse University, University of Colorado, and George Washington University.

He has received a number of awards including the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the X Students Association at the University of Texas; the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the University of Texas, School of Law; the St. Thomas Moore Award from the University of San Francisco and the President's "Key" from Loyola University of Chicago. He is a member of the visiting committee for the University of Chicago Law School.

His organizations include: Burning Tree Club, Chevy Chase Club, Alfalfa Club, University Club National Lawyers Club (Chairman Advisory Committee), Post Mortem, City Club of Dallas, 33 Mason (Scottish Rite), Distinguished Achievement Award from Grand Lodge of Masons of The State of New York, Philosophical Society of Texas, Delta Tau Delta, (Distinguished Service Chapter, Vice President, President, 1966-67), Order of the Coif and Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity. He is a member of the American, Texas, and Federal Bar Associations (President, 1944-45); Department of Justice Post 41, the American Legion (life); Veterans of Foreign Wars, Justice Post, Eagles (life); Exchange Clubs (life); and Rotary International (honorary). His activities include: Chairman, Section of Judicial Administration of the American Bar Association. He was presented the American Bar Association's Gold Medal Award "for conspicuous service in the cause of American jurisprudence" in 1962. He is the Chairman of the Joint Committee for the Effective Administration of Justice. He is a Fellow at the Institute of Judicial Administration. (President elect in 1964 and president in 1966). He is an honorary Fellow, American College of Trial Lawyers; Chairman of the Board of Directors of the National College of State Trial Judges and in 1962 he was presented with the first American Judicature Society award "distinguished service as Chairman of the Joint Committee for the Effective Administration of Justice." He received the Loyalty Day Award from the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States for "outstanding example of devotion to duty and loyalty to the country." He is a member at large of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America; Member of the Committee on Rural Service, Boy Scouts of America; Knights of Dunamis, Boy Scouts of America; and has received the Silver Buffalo Award and the Silver Beaver Award from the Boy Scouts of America.

The Justice as a Member of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity

Justice Clark began his life with Phi Alpha Delta on November 3, 1945 when he was inducted as an honorary member of Taney Chapter.

At this time Phi Alpha Delta recognized Justice Clark for his high service and unswerving devotion to the law and presented him with the Honorary Initiation in token of his championship of those things devoted to the maintenance which the fraternity is dedicated and as evidence of the high esteem in which he is held by the fraternity.

On the occasion of Justice Clark's honorary initiation, Dwight H. Green, governor of Illinois and Supreme Tribune of the Fraternity, said that the fraternity "is honored to have this great American come into its ranks and march side by side with other great men in the organization."

"He is a great man with tolerance and understanding in his soul. By his actions he already has shown that he will go down in history as one of the greatest and strongest attorneys in the annals of the United States."

On this occasion Justice Clark said, "I have been familiar with your great organization for a long time but I had not anticipated this magnificent welcome. I am deeply touched and will try to uphold the standards of Phi Alpha Delta as best I can."

He went on to say, "I feel deeply honored that I have achieved the rank of honorary member here, along with the late President Taft, General Pershing, and President Truman. The steady growth of this organization since its beginning in Chicago in 1902 is remarkable and it is an indication that you have sought and acquired the right sort of men in our profession. The list of luminaries of bar and bench is impressive."

Justice Clark has truly lived up to his vow to "uphold the standards of Phi Alpha Delta as best I can." This is true in both his professional and fraternity life.

No sooner had the Justice been initiated then he went to work on the initiation of Senator Robert A. Taft and was present for his honorary installation, on April 5, 1947.

In October of 1947, Justice Clark was again honored by the fraternity. This time the honor was in the form of naming a chapter after him at the University of Texas Law School.

His son Ramsey then a student at the University of Texas Law School, was among the welcoming group when Justice Clark arrived.

Justice Clark, then United States Attorney General, was the principal speaker at the installation. His address was carried over a statewide radio hookup and was devoted almost exclusively to the fine doctrines, traditions, and principles of Phi Alpha Delta and the influence which they bear upon a worldwide crusade in education for world citizenship.

Justice Clark did not hesitate when asked to speak at the 28th Biennial Convention in French-lich, Indiana. He told those present that "the occasion of my becoming a member of the fraternity came much later in my life than your own. I am an honorary member, in fact I was Attorney General of the United States at the time. I have always been very grateful to Taney Chapter for its invitation to be initiated into the fraternity. Since then I've followed the affairs of the fraternity with great interest, admiring its able leadership and its role in the affairs of our profession. I've enjoyed particularly the friendship of the student and alumni chapters which with I have been privileged to meet in recent years."

His enthusiasm for Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity is exemplified by his statement during the 28th Biennial Convention that "Our chapters have brought distinction to the Law School and to themselves by sponsoring bench and bar lectures, by orienting beginners in the study of law, by administering extra curricular programs, by recognizing superior scholarship, by supporting an honor system, and through other similar activities. Undertakings of this kind have demonstrated the usefulness of the professional groups and have contributed to the esteem in which they are held by both lawyers and law school administrators."

He said to those assembled, "I would like to see Phi Alpha Delta become a group that makes all law schools conscious of our professional needs and that stimulates state and local bar activity to expand present services to handle these problems forcefully and efficiently. I would like to see it become known as the University group which has seen the opportunity for law school men to join in the worthiest phase of the public relation program of the legal profession in the United States."

Brother Justice Clark has always been ready on request to be present for honorary initiations, district conclaves, or chapter activities. He was present in 1952 for the honorary initiation of Chief Justice Edward W. Hudgins of the Virginia Court of Appeals into Patrick Henry Chapter at the University of Richmond. He was also present at a dinner banquet given by Wythe Chapter in 1955.

That year he also visited Jefferson Chapter and spoke to the University of Virginia student body during a program hosted by Jefferson.

Two months later he was at Jay Chapter outlining the handling of a typical 5 to 4 decision of the United States Supreme Court.

May, the following month of the same year, Justice Clark was present for the installation of Robert H. Jackson Chapter at Rutger University School of Law.

Justice Clark readily accepted an invitation to speak at the District XII Conclave the following year.

Also that year, he was present at the annual PAD reception during the American Bar Association Conference in New York.

The District VIII Conclave in 1958 was honored by the presence of Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark who installed New York Assemblyman Anthony P. Savarese, Jr., as an honorary member and addressed those in attendance emphasizing the importance of the defense of the indigent and the professions responsibility attended there to and also the characteristics and benefits of the fraternity.

He also was present at the District VIII Conclave that year. On that occasion he spoke on the modernization of the judicial system.

He was also present in November, 1958 when the Washington, D.C., alumni honored Justice Harold H. Burton upon his retirement from the United States Supreme Court.

Alumni member and chairman of the National PAD Inns of Court Program; and Don Moore, Associate Tribune.

JUSTICE CLARK

Those present at the District XI Conclave in 1960 had the privilege of meeting and listening to Justice Clark. While in New York on this occasion, Justice Clark also found time to attend the Golden Anniversary dinner of the New York Alumni Chapter. On this occasion he stressed the practical role of Phi Alpha Delta and its many advantages to young prospective attorneys as well as practicing lawyers.

The next month, the members of Fuller Chapter had an opportunity to discuss legal, fraternal, and personal topics with the Justice, following dedication on Northwestern University's new McCormack Hall. Again Justice Clark spoke of the significance and importance of membership in Phi Alpha Delta both in law school and in later life. He said that PAD through its great contacts has achieved a brilliance in its service to both the law and its membership.

On and on the story goes, Associate Justice Tom C. Clark with the Mississippi PADs, Justice Clark honors Indiana's 50 year members, Justice Clark speaks at Indiana PAD Day, Cleveland Alumni Chapter meets with Justice Tom C. Clark, Justice Tom C. Clark of the United States Supreme Court addresses those assembled at the District VIII Banquet, Justice Clark addresses Jay Chapter, Justice Clark present for the honorary initiation of Justice Arthur J. Goldberg, Justice Clark hosts PAD reception at the United States Supreme Court for Jay Chapter, and Justice Tom C. Clark welcomes members of the Chicago Alumni group following their admission to practice before the United States Supreme Court.

In recognition of the untiring service that he has contributed to Phi Alpha Delta the 35th Biennial Convention elected him to the position of First Supreme Vice Justice in 1964. Since that time, Justice Clark has devoted even more time to the brothers of the fraternity. In 1965, he attended the District VIII Conclave, visited the Minnesota Chapters at their joint initiation, was present for the law day observance at the Chattanooga Alumni Chapter, the Seattle Alumni Chapter Breakfast in conjunction with the Washington State Bar Convention, and was in attendance at the Tom Clark Chapter presentation of his portrait to the University of Texas School of Law.

In 1966, Brother Clark actively participated in the presentation of the Burton Memorial at Western Reserve University School of Law, was present at the Washington, D.C., Judicial Congressional Reception, was instrumental in the honorary initiation of all of the Supreme Court Justices for the States of Maine, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts, and was present for the installation of the Gainesville Alumni Chapter.

This year, Brother Clark has already visited the University of Michigan Law School where he participated in the Honorary initiation of Dean Francis A. Allan attended the Supreme Officers Reception sponsored by the Washington, D.C., area chapters, and attended the Supreme Officers Board Meeting in Washington, D.C.

As can readily be seen by the foregoing, Brother Justice Tom C. Clark has been a "traveling salesman of Phi Alpha Delta" as well as a "traveling salesman of justice."

Justice Clark at Present

Justice Clark's first task at retirement is an international goodwill trip made at the request of President Johnson.

On returning Brother Clark will occupy offices in the Supreme Court Building and stand prepared to be of assistance when needed.

Legal Aid Handles A Heavy Load

Legal aid and defender offices over the country handled over 825,755 civil and criminal cases last year, according to statistics released by National Legal Aid and Defender Association (NLADA). The gross operating cost for these services was nearly $23 million. Major support for legal aid services came from the federal Office of Economic Opportunity Legal Services Program (55%) and from United Funds and Community Chests (22%), while most defender offices were supported from local (state and county) tax funds.

Commenting on this year's statistics on legal services for the poor, NLADA Director of Membership Services Mayo H. Stiegler said: "The gain in number of persons served over last year is, in fact, modest in light of the doubling of funds invested in these programs. Because many of the more than 200 government financed legal service programs were just becoming operational in 1966, the full impact of this growth will not be experienced until 1967 comes to a close."

NLADA, with headquarters at the American Bar Center in Chicago, is the national coordinating body of local legal aid and defender offices that provide legal services for the poor. There are 411 legal aid (handling civil cases) and 273 defender (handling criminal cases) offices in the United States today. Last year, these offices provided over 825,000 clients with legal advice and representation at a gross operating cost of nearly $23 million.

The 1966 statistics reveal an increase over 1965 of 65,289 (15%) civil cases and of 89,164 (36.4%) criminal cases handled by local legal aid and defender offices. At the same time, money expended on services has increased 96% for civil cases and 23% for criminal cases.

The statistics, now available from NLADA on request, list the services by cities. Each is classified according to the way it is organized and figures are given

A Supreme Court Justice's Thoughts On PAD

The following are the thoughts of United States Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark about PAD as expressed in a letter sent recently by him to the new initiates of Cardozo Chapter at Catholic University.

"Welcome to Phi Alpha Delta and my best wishes to Cardozo Chapter of Catholic University. I sincerely wish that I could be with you but a prior engagement with the New York Patent Bar prevents it.

We on the Supreme Executive Board are proud of the distinguished Cardozo Chapter. It has rendered effective service to the law school, the law students and the legal profession. Along with our 100 other active Chapters in the law schools across this land Cardozo has recognized its responsibility as a leader in its law school, among its students and particularly its members. In so doing the Chapter has inaugurated PAD programs that have emphasized the values of brotherhood in the development of the lawyer.

But PAD is more than just a friendly club for students. It is actively working for the benefit not only of its members but for the law school, the profession as a whole and the effective administration of justice. And it does so not by words but by deeds. All over the land PAD programs carry out this overall national purpose and right here in Washington projects have been developed among the Chapters and the alumni to achieve these ends. Seminars in advocacy, indigent representation, placement, ethics and the like—as well as receptions with government officials—affect PAD's stepping-stones to a successful practice.

Nor does PAD stop at graduation. Once a PAD always one! It thus extends a brotherly hand not only to the student but also the practitioner. Group insurance at low premiums, discounts made available on purchases of equipment as well as books, an alumni directory for business referral and an official publication—The Reporter—unite in giving practicality to fraternal bonds.

For a score of years I have been a member of this distinguished honorary fraternity; for some years now a Chapter has borne my name; for a shorter period I have sat on its Supreme Executive Board. It has been a rewarding experience. Together we shall continue to strive to uphold its national purposes, to enlarge its service and to make it an even more effective instrument in the improvement of our profession and the administration of justice.

Fraternally,
TOM CLARK"

tion which, if successful, will give PAD an "International" status.

35. Finally, we remind all PAD chapters and Brothers of our Founders Day ceremonies scheduled for November 8, 1967, commemorating our 65th anniversary.

Again my thanks to the Supreme and District Officers, Fred Weitkamp and our Executive Office staff, and all the PAD's for a fine year of accomplishment.

Respectfully submitted,
ROBERT E. REDDING,
Supreme Justice

WILSON WRIGHT

WRIGHT HONORED

Brother Wilson Wright of Tallahassee, Florida was recently honored by the Jaycees and commended by the State Legislature for his contribution to Good Government.

The resolution introduced before the State House and Senate recognized Brother Wright's expertise in several fields of law and manifested legislative appreciation for unselfish and exceptional contributions "in the field of Good Government."

The Jaycee honor came in recognition of the career public servant's daily behind the scenes for the total number of cases handled, the gross cost of operation, and the sources of financial support.

contributions to the smooth functioning of government.

Brother Wright was initiated at Rasco Chapter and was a charter member of the alumni at Tallahassee. He has served as Assistant Attorney General, one of the state's most responsible legal positions, for over ten years under three different Attorney Generals. Prior to that time he served as an Air Force Staff Judge Advocate and claims officer. He has actively participated in the American Bar and Florida Bar, having served on the state Bar committee on Municipal Law, Military Law and Legislation. As a members of the Junior Bar he served as State Chairman.

Brother Wright has been active in state and community affairs and has been recognized by the Editors of Whos Who in the South and Southwest.

WHAT WERE YOU DOING?

(Excerpts from Reports of Days Gone By)

A. FORTY YEARS AGO 1. May 1927

Brother Fred L. Wham (Ma-gruder) of Centralia, Illinois, has been appointed United States District Judge for the Eastern District of Illinois by President Calvin Coolidge upon the recommendation of Senator Charles S. Deneen of Illinois.

Brother John J. Pershing (Lawson) of Washington, D.C., sailed for France on the twenty-third of March. He is Chairman of the American Battle Monuments Commission is to select monuments for the graves of the 30,000 American war dead in France and Belgium.

Brother William A. Johnson (Green) of Topeka, Kansas, who is Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Kansas, is now in his forty-third year as a member of this tribunal.

The new directory is on the press in Chicago and will be published and ready for delivery about June 1. Brothers are requested to send Allan Gilbert $3.00 a piece.

The Supreme Secretary presented to the Supreme Executive Board a new uniform system of accounting to be used by all the chapters of this Fraternity.

Having completed the first semester's examinations, it is with pleasure that Martin Chapter announces that all the active members in the chapter successfully completed their work without failing in any one subject.

On March 24th, Sir William Searles Holdsworth, K.S., D.C.L., Vinerian Professor of the Laws of England at the University of Oxford, and author of A History of English Law, became an honorary member of the Fuller Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta.

2. November 1927

Brother John W. Martin Governor of Florida; Brother John E. Martineau, Governor of Arkansas; and Brother Adam McMullen, Governor of Nebraska, attended the Nineteenth Annual Conference of Governors at Mackinaw Island, Michigan, on July 24, 25, and 26.

Brother Eugene A. Gilmore (Ryan) became Acting Governor General of the Philippine Islands upon the sudden death of Major General Leonard Wood.

Brother Kenesaw Mountain Landis of Chicago, who is High Commissioner of Baseball, is looking forward to the day when the Czar of Baseball will make his daily rounds by airplane.

Brother William H. Ellis of Tallahassee, Florida, is now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Florida.

Brother William S. Culbertson (Calhoun), who is the American Minister to Rumania, represented the United States at the funeral of King Ferdinand at Bucharest the latter part of July. His spontaneous act of kneeling beside the monarch's grave and offering a prayer awakened new love in the hearts of the Rumanian people. It was the talk of all Rumania.

Brother Alex A. Hotchkiss (Benson) was appointed Assistant Reporter of the Supreme Court of Kansas at Topeka on the first of June.

Brother William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, delivered the address of welcome to the Right Honorable Lord Hewart, Lord Chief Justice of England, at the annual meeting of the American Bar Association at Buffalo New York, on September 1.

B. THIRTY YEARS AGO

1. October 1937

Fired by an intense desire to become a great lawyer, Frederick Dexter Corley rose from the obscure position of a four dollar a week stock boy to the President of one of the world's largest merchandising organization — Marshall Field & Company in Chicago.

The name of Brother J. F. T. O'Connor, Controller of the Currency, a Past Supreme Justice of Phi Alpha Delta, and prominent in the fraternity's activities over many years, is being more and more frequently mentioned as a suitable candidate for the office of Governor of the State of California.

James P. Aylward (Benton), of Kansas City, Missouri, urged Harry S. Truman, Junior United States Senator from Missouri, last July to support Alben W. Barkley for Majority Leader of the Senate to succeed the late Joseph T. Robinson.

William O. Douglas (Livingston), of New Haven, Connecticut, and Washington, D.C., a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission, was also prominently mentioned for appointment as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

William E. Borah (Knox), of Boise Idaho, senior United States Senator from Idaho, believes that the last session of the Congress is one of the most important that has ever been held. "History will look upon the first session of the 75th Congress as one of great importance — not because of what it did, but because of what it did not do."

Albert J. Harno (Calhoun), of Urbana, Illinois, was elected as Third Vice President of the Illinois State Bar Association at the annual meeting which was held at Chicago, May 19, 20, and 21, 1937. He is Provost of the University of Illinois and Dean of the College of Law. This is the first time that a law teacher has been elected as an officer of the Association.

J. Harry LaBrum (Taft), of Pennsylvania, submitted the report of the Committee on American Citizenship at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

Alfred P. Murrah (Harlan), of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, was appointed as Judge of the District Court of the United States for the Eastern, Northern and Western Districts of Oklahoma by President Roosevelt on the 8th of February to fill an existing vacancy. His appointment was confirmed by the United States Senate on the 25th. He was only thirty-three years old when he was appointed and is the youngest Federal Judge in the United States.

2. December 1937

Twenty PADs attended a meeting in Denver on November 15th, to formulate plans for the reorganization of the Denver Alumni. A committee of three was appointed to canvass the entire list of PADs in Denver for a luncheon meeting at a future date. John Griffith, Clerk of the Denver County Court was appointed Chairman of the committee.

Honorable Claude Pepper of Tallahassee, Florida, Junior United States Senator, was initiated as an honorary member of Duncan U. Fletcher Chapter of the Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity at Gainesville on Friday, October 29, 1937.

William O. Douglas (Livingston), of Washington, D.C., was elected as Chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission on the 21st of September.

Jonathan C. Gibson (Jay), of Chicago, Illinois, is a General Attorney for the A. T. & S. F. Ry Co. with offices at 1211 Railway Exchange. He is a former examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, D.C.

C. TWENTY YEARS AGO

1. April 1947

Rumor has it that Rep. Richard M. Nixon is going to accept Rutledge Chapter's invitation to become an honorary member of that Chapter. Congressman Nixon hails from California but is a graduate of Duke Law School, where he was president of the student body.

John J. Nangle of St. Louis, past Supreme Justice and Chairman of the Board of Trustees, was made a Knight of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta by Pope Pius XII, this honor being conferred on January 13 1947.

D. TEN YEARS AGO

1. February 1957

John Patterson, crime-busting Attorney General of Alabama, has been named as one of the ten most outstanding young men of the nation for 1956, a member of Morgan Chapter at the University of Alabama.

Charles E. Whittaker, a PAD from Benton Chapter at the University of Kansas City, was nominated to the U.S. Supreme Court by President Eisenhower as The Reporter was going to press.

The Hon. Douglas L. Edmonds, retired Justice of the California Supreme Court and past Supreme Justice of PAD, has just recently been re-appointed as the United States Delegate to the International Law Commission of the United Nations.

2. April 1957

The President of the American Bar Association, David F. Maxwell, was initiated into Phi Alpha Delta as an honorary member on Saturday, April 6, 1957, by Owen J. Roberts Chapter at Temple University School of Law.

PAD Eugene E. Murphy was elected January 1, 1957, as President and Chief Executive Officer of Brinks, Inc. and Subsidiaries, internationally known armored car service.

3. October 1957

Brother Tom C. Clark of the United States Supreme Court has succeeded Brother Elwyn Thomas as the Supreme Court of Florida as Chairman of the American Bar Association's Judicial What were you doing? 3rd Gal. Administration Section for this year.

Brother D. Arthur Connelly, Executive Secretary of the Chicago Alumni Chapter was elected Commander of the AMVETS in the state of Illinois last July.

Dr. F. Reed Dickerson, Assistant to the General Counsel of the Department of Defense, has been presented with the Civilian Award, the highest honor which the Secretary of Defense can bestow on civilians.

4. December 1957

The University of Kansas City Law School Alumni Association recently presented achievement plaques to PAD alums Elmer F. Pierson, Lathrop G. Backstrom, A. J. Stanley, Jr., and Edmond M. Field.

The new Attorney General for the State of New Mexico is Fred M. Stanley, a PAD from South-land Chapter at the University of Utah.

E. OTHER ITEMS

1. May 1928

If John Herbert Hedley, Ph.B., B. Com., LL.B.C.P.A., LL.M., and an alumnus of Webster Chapter does not deserve that title, probably no one does. He earned it by flipping out of a fighting plane minus a parachute, while in an engagement with German airplanes about three miles above the lines, and coming out smiling to tell the tale of the "luckiest man alive."

2. November 1923

Arthur J. Tuttle. "The Supreme Board on August 8, 1923 moved and carried that a resolution be presented to the 19th Convention establishing an endowment fund to be known as the Tuttle Endowment Fund in honor of the first contributor to such fund."

It is only on rare occasions that I feel any need or desire for riches. Occasionally situations arise which cause me to feel that I should like to do more for my family or for some of the organizations with which I am connected, than I am able to do from my modest income. One of the things I have been thinking about lately is that Phi Alpha Delta ought to start a trust fund to which members of the Fraternity might make gifts, the money to be held by the officer of the Fraternity in such a lawful way as the donors might limit and direct . . .

While I think that such a fund ought to be provided by our constitution and laws, I believe that the officers of the Fraternity could create such a fund and get it started. Believing that if this is done it will result in the constitutional enactment which I have suggested, I am enclosing herewith my check to your order for a hundred dollars which is my modest contribution for the purpose of planting a seed which I hope will grow and develop into something worth while.

3. December 1934

Brother Richmond B. Keech (Taft), former Peoples Counsel of the District of Columbia, has been elevated to the position of Public Utilities Commissioner in recognition of the distinction with which he performed his public duties as Peoples Counsel. Brother Keech is one of the most popular PADs and this honor is rightly deserved.

4. May 1936

Among the Rhodes scholars this year was selected Guy O. Farmer (Willey '34). This is not the only reason Willey Chapter has to be proud of this remarkable young man. For the past year he has been editor-in-chief of the West Virginia Law Quarterly as a result of his high scholastic standing throughout his Law School career. Before he came to Law School, Guy had little better than a B average; since he's been here he has made nothing below an A grade in any course.

5. March 1935

"This is Radio Station WIBA, Madison, Wisconsin. The time is now 5:35 p.m. The next feature on our program will be a talk by a prominent member of the Wisconsin Bar, Mr. Ernest H. Pett, who will open what is to be a National Celebration of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity." To Ernie Pett fell the honor of being the first Radio speaker on National PAD Night and he did a fine job.
