NEW ORLEANS TO BE HOST TO 1970 CONVENTION

New Orleans, Louisiana will be host to the 38th Biennial National Convention of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity September 2, 3, 4 & 5, 1970. Delegates from 112 active and 54 alumni chapters will convene in the city on the Mississippi River known as "America's most extraordinary city."

One of America's most beautiful and historic hotels, The Roosevelt Hotel, has been selected as headquarters for the convention. A colorful past blended with a progressive present and a promising future makes New Orleans one of the truly distinctive cities of the United States.

It is the home of the Mardi Gras, the Sugar Bowl, the unique French Quarter with its historic buildings and fine restaurants and unmatched Southern hospitality.

New Orleans is a gourmet's delight — known the world over for its creole cuisine and its famed restaurants. Ships from many nations — some 5,000 each year — visit the nation's second largest port. And one of the most intriguing aspects of the city is, of course its authentic New Orleans jazz.

Host Committee Announced

The Honorable John Minor Wisdom, Judge of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and an alumnus of Martin Chapter at Tulane University has accepted the position of Honorary Chairman for the Convention.

Serving as members of the Host Committee will be Professor John J. McAulay, Chairman; Gerald T. LaBorde, Vice Chairman; James D. Johnson, Jr., Professor Melvin G. Dakin and Maurice S. Cazabon, Jr.

Each active and alumni chapter is entitled to have two delegates and two alternate delegates at the Convention.

The Supreme Chapter provides the actual cost of one round trip airline coach fare to New Orleans, hotel accommodations and a subsistence allowance for each day of travel to and from the Convention and each day at the Convention for one delegate from each active and alumni chapter in good standing.

Each chapter is urged, however, to send as many members as possible for the New Orleans Alumni have promised that the Convention will be a truly unforgettable experience.

In order for an active chapter to be in good standing, all fees and forms must have been filed prior to the Convention. Each active chapter will receive notification prior to the convention as to any deficiency existing.

In order for an alumni chapter to be in good standing it must have met the following requirements:

1. The annual alumni chapter tax of $15.00 per year must be paid for two fiscal years subsequent to the 1968 biennial convention.
2. Each alumni chapter must hold at least two meetings during the period August 1, through July 31, 1970, with an attendance of at least 10 persons at each meeting.
3. Each alumni chapter must have duly elected officers properly reported to the National Executive Office.

Further details of Convention activities will be provided in the next issue of The Reporter but all members are urged to reserve the dates of September 2-5, 1970 NOW.

WEINBERGER BECOMES FCC CHAIRMAN

Brother Caspar Weinberger, a member of Temple Chapter, Hastings College of Law, is the new chairman of the Federal Trade Commissions.

Prior to his appointment he was State Director of Finance of the State of California and prior to that served as California State Assemblyman.

The President of the United States made the following remarks at the swearing in of Brother Weinberger as Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission:

"Before the swearing in I would like to say a personal word. I know the new chairman of the Federal Trade Commission. I have known him, I think for over 20 years.

I have known him as one who has been and could be an enormous success in the practice of law, who has a distinguished career in state government and one who comes to the federal services as well qualified as any man who has ever received an appointment from this administration.

I know these are glowing words but they are deserved in the case of Caspar Weinberger and we are most fortunate that we were able to get him and his wife to leave California, a state which they love as I do, to come to Washington and to take this very important assignment as Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission."

Income of Law Partners Increases

Gross receipts and net income of both sole proprietors and partners engaged in law practice were higher in 1967 than in any prior year. Net average earnings of law partners increased by $3,480 over 1966, or 14%, to the new high of $28,029. The improvement for sole proprietors was far less dramatic, and did not keep up with inflationary trends. Average net income from practice for these lawyers was $12,372, an increase of $332 or less than 3% over the prior year.

The raw information was recently released by the Internal Revenue Service, and has been analyzed by Daniel J. Cantor & Company, consultants to the legal profession with offices in Philadelphia and San Francisco. In computing the information, the consultants used primarily data for law offices which showed a net profit, to the exclusion of those which did not.

The overall gross receipts of lawyers in private practice, excluding only those who may have filed tax returns as corporations, amounted to $6.3 billion dollars. Of this, 58% was taken in by partnerships. The average sole proprietor spent 44c of each fee dollar on overhead, and the average partnership spent 43c, including the compensation of associate lawyers.

131,894 sole proprietors filed a Schedule C Return for 1967. Of these, 117,550 reported a profit from practice. Partnership Returns were filed by 23,697 firms with 76,847 partners. Those showing a profit amounted to 22,078 firms with 72,753 partners.

The average partnership spent 20 percent of its gross receipts on the wages and salaries of employees, and an additional five percent on rent. Neither partnerships nor sole proprietorships deducted a significant amount for retirement plans.

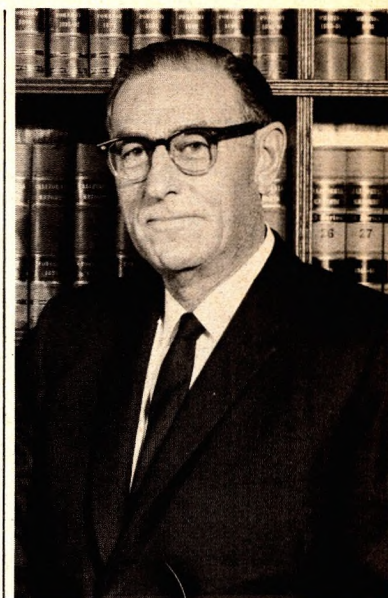

Message from The Supreme Justice

During the months of February, March and April the District Conclaves are being scheduled, and as your Supreme Justice, I urge the members of each chapter in each district to support the Conclave. The programs and speakers are always excellent. The principal purpose of the conclave is to provide the members of each chapter, through their delegates or others who attend, a realization of the value of membership in Phi Alpha Delta; also, to provide an educational program by means of the Career Day Panels or by speakers who are authorities in their respective fields of law.

Again I call to the attention of both the active and alumni members two of the professional programs which are of great value both to those who participate and those who are helped. I refer to the "Student Advocate Program" and the "Student to Student" Program.

Each chapter justice and alumni advisor has recently received complete information about the Student Advocate Program. Many chapters have already undertaken this program and many others had already, to some extent, commenced such a program. The reports from chapters reveal that the program has been enthusiastically received. While the first release on this program only referred to Federal Penitentiaries the program can and should be extended to State Prisons.

The other program about which you will receive more complete information is the "Student to Student" Program. This program involves the appearance of law students before assemblies or meetings at Junior High Schools, High Schools, and Grade Schools. The content of the speaker's remarks is directed to informing these young persons of their legal rights, and correspondingly, their legal responsibilities. because of the generation gap or many other reasons, an adult much older than the law student will be able to talk to the students on a level that will be understandable. This program should bring great recognition to Phi Alpha Delta and also benefit those law students who participate. And even more important, if the students who listen are made more aware of their responsibilities as well as their rights, those young persons may be better able to cope with the problems that will confront them during their early educational period. This program has been initiated by some of our chapters and the reports have been encouraging. The attitude of the audiences has been attentive and respectful, and the question period has fully demonstrated the need and success of this program. I urge the members of each chapter to actively support this program.

Fraternally

Board Announces Redistricting; also Appoints New District Justices

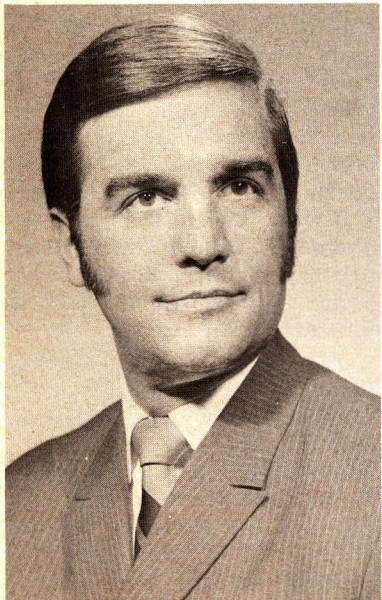

Because of the continued expansion of the Fraternity, the Supreme Executive Board has found it necessary to redistrict the Fraternity. Two new districts have been created in order to make for more efficient administration by District Justices. The new alignment of districts appears in map form on the back page of this issue.

The Supreme Executive Board also announces the appointment of three new District Justices who are as follows:

JAMES M. BIERCE

Brother Bierce is presently in private practice in Akron, Ohio. He was a co-founder and charter member of Grant Chapter at the University of Akron School of Law.

He has served as Justice of the Akron Alumni Chapter for two consecutive terms.

JAMES M. BIERCE

For two years he was Assistant Director of Law for the City of Cuyahoga Falls and is presently the senior member of the law firm of Bierce, Manning & Metz of Akron, Ohio. All members of the firm are members of PAD. District Justice Bierce will have jurisdiction over the new District IX which consists of Michigan, a portion of Canada and the northern portion of Ohio.

WEBSTER L. BREWER

Webster L. Brewer has been selected as Justice of a newly formed district which will consist of the southern portions of the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and all of the state of Kentucky.

Brother Brewer has lived in Indianapolis for 32 years and holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Indiana University which was obtained in 1957. He obtained his J.D. degree from the same university in June of 1969.

While attending Indiana University he served as President of Kappa Alpha Psi social fraternity, served as Commander of the Air Force ROTC Drill Team and became a member of Hammill Chapter of PAD and subsequently its Justice.

He was Student Conclave Justice for District VIII in 1969 and was his chapter's delegate to the 1968 National Convention.

District Justice Brewer served from 1958 until 1960 as a Probation Officer with the Marion County Juvenile Court. He has also taught courses in public institutions and public affairs, American history, government and economics.

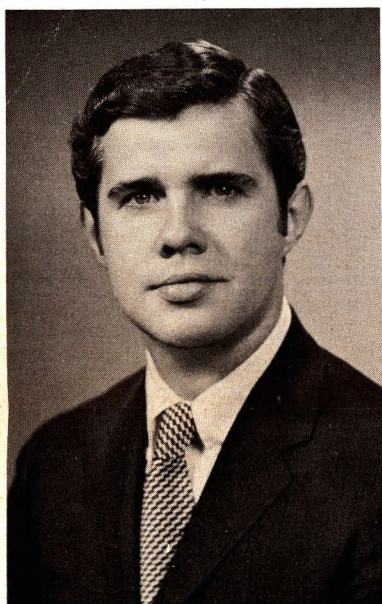

From 1960 until 1964 he was employed by the Federal Bureau of Prisons as an Institutional Parole Officer assigned to the United States Penitentiaries at Terre Haute, Indiana and McNeil, Washington. As an Institutional Parole Officer he was responsible for designing treatment programs for some 200 inmates. From 1964 until 1968 he was employed by the United States District Court for the Southern District of Indiana as a Federal Probation Officer. In this capacity he prepared presentence reports for federal judges, supervised those defendants placed on probation and also served as a parole officer supervisor to those individuals released on parole by the United States Board of Parole.

Since November 1968 he has been employed as Executive Director of the Indianapolis Lawyers Commission which was created by the Indiana Bar Association in August of 1968. Among its purposes is that of taking such action as will bring about greater respect for law and the proper method of its enforcement among all persons in the community.

WILLIAM C. CAREY

Brother William C. Carey, a member of Paterson Chapter at Seton Hall School of Law, has been appointed Justice of District XIII which includes the city of New York and the northern portion of the state of New Jersey.

WILLIAM C. CAREY

Brother Carey attended Xavier High School in New York, Fairleigh Dickenson University in New Jersey and Seton Hall School of Law in Newark, New Jersey. While in law school he was managing editor of the Seton Hall Law Journal, took first place in the Appellate Moot Court competition, was on the Seton Hall National Moot Court team for 1968, and was presented with the Silver Key award by the Law Student Division of the American Bar Association. He also served as Vice Justice of Paterson Chapter and as delegate to the 1968 National Convention.

He is presently engaged in the practice of law with the law firm of Charles J. Kahwaty in Paterson, New Jersey.

Dean Woodbridge Passes

Dudley Warner Woodbridge, 73, Dean Emeritus of William and Mary College's Marshall-Wythe School of Law, died last October in Williamsburg Community Hospital.

Dean Woodbridge began teaching law at William and Mary in 1927 and served as Dean of the school from 1950 to 1962. He continued to teach after his retirement as dean.

For more than 30 years he was editor of Virginia Bar Notes. He is credited with reviving the law school at a time when it was unaccredited, and building it into a nationally recognized institution.

Except for five summers, Dean Woodbridge's entire teaching career was spent at William and Mary.

Carl E. Dietze Passes

Brother Carl E. Dietze, a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter of the Fraternity, passed away January 8, 1970. Brother Dietze, 83 years of age, had attended every national convention of the Fraternity since 1936 and had served on more convention committees than any other living PAD.

From 1950 to 1952 he served on the Board of Trustees of the Endowment Fund. He was appointed Chief Tribune to fill the vacancy left by Col. John Doyle Carmody and served as such until 1954.

He also served as Treasurer of the Milwaukee Alumni Chapter since its chartering in 1950.

Brother Dietze was a devotee of golf. He did not take up the sport until 1940, but since that time certainly made up for time lost. He had played on over 1,000 courses throughout the world and each year took a trip abroad to play on new and different courses.

He was a member of Ryan Chapter at the University of Wisconsin where he obtained his LL.B. in 1915.

CARL E. DIETZE

Dietze Requests $2500 to Endowment Fund

The Supreme Executive Board has just been advised that Brother Carl E. Dietze, who became deceased January 8, 1970 left a cash bequest of $2,500.00 to the Endowment Fund of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity.

The Endowment Fund is utilized for student loans to members and for the making of scholarships to students.

Brother Carl E. Dietze was one of only five PADs upon whom membership in the Distinguished Service Chapter had been bestowed. The Distinguished Service Chapter was an award created in 1966 to recognize members of the Fraternity for outstanding fraternal service. The award is the highest which can be bestowed by the Fraternity other than the election to National Office.

Preceding the presentation a luncheon was hosted by Past Supreme Historian and Chapter Alumni Advisor T. Julian Skinner, Jr., District X Justice Walter Bridges, Chapter Justice James Gill, Jr. and former Chapter Justice Norman Brock.

Following the luncheon Dean Arthur A. Weeks and other faculty members conducted the Supreme Justice on a tour through the Cumberland Law School showing him extensive facilities available to the students. After the tour through the law school the Supreme Justice visited Morgan Chapter at the University of Alabama where he was hosted by Morgan Chapter Justice Charles Cochran, Jr. and Faculty Advisor Clinton McGee and other faculty members.

After meeting with Morgan Chapter the Supreme Justice returned to Birmingham to the Relay House to attend the banquet at which time the presentation took place. Other prominent personages in attendance were faculty Advisor Commander James Hughes, Jefferson County Alumni Association President Richard Vincent, Birmingham Bar Association President Drew Redden and Bessemer Bar Association President W. Powell Lipscomb, III.

The Birmingham City Council presented Supreme Justice Henry C. Rohr with a key to the city and expressed delight that the Birmingham Chapter had won the coveted number one place award.

Both Supreme Justice Rohr and Dean Arthur Weeks stressed that winning the award was the result of many years of dedication on the part of officers and members of the chapter to achieve the perfection necessary.

Hull Chapter has been selected as first place in its district five out of the last six years, selected as the number two chapter in the nation.

Butler Chapter Officers Meet Chief Justice Burger

Chief Justice of the United States Warren E. Burger, a member of Jay chapter, and his family interrupted a busy schedule during their recent trip to the Minnesota twin cities to meet with two officers of Butler Chapter at Mitchell College of Law.

The interview was arranged by Butler Chapter Justice Walt Nelson and Vice Justice Frank Seifert. It followed a reception and commu-ity recognition dinner which they attended for the new Chief Justice at the St. Paul Hilton.

The PAD delegation joined the Chief Justice's motorcade at the airport and accompanied the Burgers to their plane which returned them to Washington, D.C.

Chief Justice Burger is a graduate of the St. Paul College of Law, predecessor to the Mitchell College of Law.

A FEW RULES ON PUBLIC SPEAKING

by Raymond W. Miller

(Brother Miller, a member of Brandeis chapter, for a great many years averaged at least one personal appearance per week before audiences ranging from a dozen to several thousand persons. For a period of almost 20 years he taped a radio program each week which was called "World Views." He is a lawyer and is president of Public Relations Research Associates, Inc. and World Trade Relations, Ltd. For many years he was a visiting lecturer at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration and at the Graduate School of Public and International Affairs at the University of Pittsburgh.

1. Always acknowledge the introducer and those whom you know in the audience. If possible, say some friendly, intimate thing about the person or group that will catch the heartstrings and attention at the first moment. You can save time thereby. Without this appeal, it could take three or four minutes to "get the crowd." For instance, if they are engineers, you might say how grateful you are to their profession, since otherwise you might have had to come to the meeting on horseback. If farmers, you can say you are glad to be with the people who provide you with three pounds of food per day. If clergymen, you might include in your opening statement a reference to those "whose profession, beginning with St. Paul, made a civilized Europe a reality, and from it came America." Never exaggerate, but comment on any accomplishment of the group of which you know and of which you feel they are proud. In case of doubt, understatement is better than overstatement.

Presentation

2. Be natural in your stance, hand movements and posture. Do not overdo with wild arm-waving, nor underdo with hands in pockets. Practice to achieve a happy medium.

3. Speak slowly, and you will be better understood. Do not preach and do not deceive. Speak the truth. Try to conclude every speech on an optimistic or constructive note and leave your audience in a happy frame of mind.

4. Use the pronoun "I" as seldom as possible, and the one "we" often. Never give the impression that you know all the answers.

5. Use common pronunciations of words and ones that are easily understood by the majority. No one wants to expose his ignorance, but neither should he have to come to a meeting figuratively carrying an unabridged dictionary.

6. Assuming you have something worthwhile to say, do not use double or triple talk. Similes and metaphors come in handy, but do not be flowery.

7. A speech with notes is preferable to one that is read, but reading a speech is preferable to giving a rambling, unorganized talk. A combination is often the best. It may be helpful to write out the speech, memorizing some parts and leaving others to be read, supplementing with a few ad libs.

Timing

8. The most important thing about a speech is its length. Never go overtime even though the chairman gives you permission to do so. You should quit on time or, better yet, one minute or so ahead. Look at your watch rather than having members of your audience looking at theirs.

9. Never accept an invitation to speak for more than forty minutes. If you know that the subject cannot be covered in that time, ask for more time in advance and have a subsequent question and discussion period following your talk. Even though this goes on for an hour or longer, there will be no adverse comment and you will have the crowd with you because the length of the discussion is of their own choosing. This will also give you a chance to clear up possible misunderstandings of your views, and you may find yourself on the way to cultivating a few personal friendships.

Audience Attention

10. Talk with an audience, not at it. Select someone in the audience who appears to represent the average member of the group, and talk to him. If you keep him interested, you probably have interested the crowd. This forensic rule is universally followed by successful attorneys in addressing juries.

11. Personalize your speech. If possible, speak of and to someone in the audience whom you know (and who is well known) during the speech; it works.

12. Give honest and sincere credit to others whenever possible, especially to anyone respected by your audience.

13. Respect your audience even if some members do not deserve it. Never allow a heckler to disturb your tranquility. Acknowledge his asininity, and try to get rid of him with a witty remark accompanied by a smile. Your public will be with you. Kindness, humility and gentility are invincible.

14. Terms of the trade and "words of the art" are important. State your message as you want, but include some of the professional words and phrases of the group you are addressing, having first made certain they are right and appropriate. For instance, for a farm audience, "on the hoof" might be appropriate; for Pure Food and Drug people, "food sanitation;" for medical men, "Hippocratic Oath;" for dairy people, "pasteurization;" for clergymen, "men of the cloth;" for labor, "yellow dog;" for lawyers, "ultra vires;" for teachers, "progressive education;" and so on.

15. If you lose the attention of your audience, or of a portion of it, lower your voice for a few seconds so that, unconsciously, the audience has to lean forward to catch your words. Then raise your pitch much higher than normal for a moment and you'll have the crowd back again.

Content

16. In most cases, devote only about 10% of your speech to brand new ideas. Generally speaking, a crowd wants to hear things it already knows, with a little added flavor of new thoughts for contrast. This holds true even for scientific and other specialized groups. Build your speech around the experience of the audience, confirming, in effect, their own knowledge. This is a must for service club groups, if you do not want to lose them.

17. Know your audience by informing yourself in advance. An affront or an offensive remark of any type inadvertently slipping off your tongue can ruin your presentation.

Stay clear of religion, politics, racial matters and any other emotionally controversial area unless it happens to be the specific topic on which you have been invited to speak. It is often dangerous even to praise unless you are completely familiar with your audience's prejudices, passions or preferences on touchy subjects. Everyone loves his illusions. This does not hold true on purely technical, unemotional subjects involving strictly factual treatment. There you can talk "cold turkey," and slice it thin.

18. If your discourse is serious in nature, use a few references to generally accepted and known authorities in the field and quote the essence of their findings in short sentences. Do not read long quotations. The people came to hear you discuss the subject from your point of view, and not to hear a "reader." However, a reference to an authority on the subject, aside from yourself, is always in order and indicates humility. This quality will win a crowd where arrogance loses it.

19. There is nothing like humor or wit to relieve tension during a speech. The most effective stories are often those with yourself as the "victim."

20. Divide your speech so that at least every seven minutes you take a break for a short story, always illustrative of the subject. Keep your stories brief as you can; long ones are a bore.

21. Never tell a story or relate an anecdote to hurt anyone. Leave that for grand juries and politicians.

The Press

22. If you make speeches you are apt to be misquoted. Expect this and do not forget that it is a professional hazard, and one that can be increased by the speaker's inept use of words.

23. If the meeting is being covered by the press, it is always courteous and helpful to have at least a brief summary or outline of it to distribute in advance to the members of the press. If your speech is fully written out, have advance copies ready.

24. Never say "off the record." It has a superiority complex connotation that is bad. Likewise, never say in a speech or write in a letter anything you are not willing to admit if published by the press.

25. Be sure the reporters are well fed if food is being served.

The End

26. Do not announce, "I will conclude by saying . . ." You thereby lose your audience at that moment. End with a flourish in your own way, with rising tempo, and your crowd will usually agree when you are through that the time has passed quickly. A good speaker makes his audience insensible to time.

Hayes Chapter Charts Busy Year

The Rutherford B. Hayes Chapter, one of PAD's newer chapters, after a very successful schedule of activities during the Spring Semester, continued its rapid pace throughout the Summer Term and the Fall Semester. Officers of Hayes Chapter are: Larry Singer, Justice; Jon Marshall, Vice-Justice; Jerry Portugal, Treasurer; Nick Pittner, Clerk; and Glenn Redick, Marshal. Robert A. Butler is Alumni Advisor and John W. Palmer is Faculty Advisor.

The first function of the chapter for the Summer Term was a golf outing, sponsored by the Social Committee under the Chairmanship of Jed Dodd. This golf outing was held at the Granville Golf Course and was well attended by the members. A 9-hole Scotchball Foursome Tournament was held during the afternoon with prizes awarded to many different winners. This was followed later in the evening by a corn roast.

The Social Committee sponsored a reception for new alumni members initiated under the Alumni Membership Drive. This was held at the Southern Hotel in December. The Social Committee and Membership Committee also jointly sponsored receptions held after both of the initiations for new members.

The Membership Committee, under the co-chairmanship of Don Love and Steve Boley, was responsible for the pledging and initiations of many new members during both the Summer Term and Fall Semester.

The Summer Initiation was held on July 11, 1969. New initiates included William Cromley, John Everett, Robert Hammersmith, Bruce Powell and Russell Steiner. Following the initiation, a reception honoring the new initiates was held at Plank's Beer Garden in German Village.

The Fall Initiation of new members was held on October 10, 1969. New initiates for the Fall Semester included Charles McCall, Richard Melfi, John Palmer, Gary Pizzedaz and Kenneth Underwood. Following the formal initiation, a reception honoring the Fall initiates was held at The Arlington Inn.

Future plans of the Membership Committee include Rush functions for both the day and night divisions beginning with the Spring Semester.

The Special Projects Committee under the Chairmanship of Jerry Portugal, continued its very successful Police Ride Program into the hot Summer Months. Students reported much activity on these rides, especially in the inner-city during the Summer. During the Fall Semester, this Program was open to the entire Student Body. Over one-half of the students at Franklin Law School have participated in this Police Ride Program.

The Special Projects Committee started its drive for Alumni Membership in the Fraternity early in the Fall Semester. The object of this program was to give all Alumni of The Franklin Law School an opportunity to join Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity. The response from the past graduates of our school was gratifying. The formal initiation of the Alumni Members was held on December 13, 1969 and the reception honoring these new initiates was held later that evening at The Southern Hotel.

The Special Projects Committee plans to offer membership in the Fraternity to all Alumni once again early in the Spring Semester.

In keeping with the professional aims of the organization, the Program Committee under Chairman Jerry Kaplan, offered two Programs of great value to the members. A Criminal Law Program was presented by Judge Robert M. Draper on July 2, 1969. Judge Draper is a former Common Pleas Court Judge and United States District Attorney, and his valuable insights in the area of Criminal Law enlightened the members.

On November 1, 1969, a Domestic Relations Program was held at The Franklin County Court of Domestic Relations. The Honorable Donald C. Breckenridge, Judge of the Domestic Relations Court, explained and discussed the numerous functions of his Court. A tour of the Court facilities followed this program. The Program was not only enjoyable, but of great practical benefit to the members as well.

The Phi Alpha Delta Basketball Team, under Coach Dan Massey, began play in the University Intramural Basketball League in late November. The team plays each Tuesday and Thursday night against other teams from throughout the University undergraduate departments. The goal of the team is to prove that youth and conditioning are not substitutes for age and experience. As of this writing, the team had moved toward that goal by winning their first game.

At the last regularly scheduled business meeting of the Fall Semester, new officers for the 1970 School Year were elected. The new officers are: Richard Gross, Justice; Russell Steiner, Vice-Justice; Gary Pizzedaz, Clerk; Keith Dobbs, Treasurer; and Terry Ryan, Marshal.

At this meeting awards were presented for the chapter's first year of existence. Gerald Portugal was named the outstanding active of the chapter; Jerry McDowell was presented the award for the graduating senior with the highest academic average, and Robert A. Butler was presented the award for the outstanding alumnus of the year.

Greener Chapter Installed at Texas Southern University

On December 6, 1969, thirty men were initiated as charter members in Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity during impressive ceremonies in Brother John V. Singleton's Federal Court Room in Houston, Texas.

The installation of Richard Theodore Greener Chapter at Texas Southern University School of Law marked the culmination of several months of active organizational work by John Crump, Jethro Currie, and James Bullock. With the help of faculty advisor, Albert M. Lehrman and Kenneth S. Tollett, Dean of the School of Law, the dreams of having a PAD Chapter were finally culminated.

The installation team was composed of Henry C. Rohr, Supreme Justice; Judge C. Raymond Judice, Supreme Secretary; Professor Walter Ray Phillips, District Justice; John F. Nichols, Justice, Houston Alumni Chapter; Kenneth Judice, Vice Justice of Sam Houston Chapter; Judge Joseph M. Guarino; and John Elder, Clerk, Houston Alumni Chapter.

The new chapter was named for former Educator, Lawyer, Ambassador, and Writer, Richard Theodore Greener, who did much to further the legal education of minorities.

Texas Southern University is Houston's third PAD Chartered Institution. The School of Law in 1948 as a result of Sweatt V. Painter, 339 U.S. 629, operated under a State order from 1966 to April 2, 1969 when the order was lifted giving the School a new lease on life. The original "phase-out" had not been for academic reasons, but rather for a legislative argument that the low enrollment made its existence uneconomical. The average enrollment during the "phase-out" period had been around thirty-five students. With the lifting of said "phase-out," the 1969-70 current enrollments stands at 149 students. Having received $550,000 from the Ford Foundation, the prospects for the School of Law's future look very bright.

The School of Law is accredited by the American Bar Association, the Board of Law Examiners and is a member of the American Association of Law Libraries.

Following the initiation of the members and installation of the Chapter, the first set of Chapter officers were installed as follows: John Crump, Charter Justice; James Bullock, Justice; Jethro Currie, Vice-Justice; Jesse Funchess, Treasurer; Curtis McDaniels, Clerk; and Robert Anderson, Marshal.

Charter members were Robert L. Anderson, James Bullock, Earl L. Bush, Osborn L. Caldwell, Earl L. Carl, Willard P. Conrad, Gordon R. Cooper II, John L. Crump, Jethro Currie, Niles C. DeGrate, Jesse R. Funchess, Marvin B. Garner, Harrison M. Gregg, Jr., Isaac E. Henderson, Thurman L. Johnican, Charles D. Johnson, Francis Keating, Curtis J. Lacy, Albert M. Lehrman, Curtis A. McDaniel, Jr., Ronald McKinney, Kermit C. Morrison, James R. Pierce, Floyd C. Prevost, Thomas H. Routt, Hosea E. Sowell, Craig Anthony Washington, John H. Whaley, Ray F. Wilson, Maxwell C. Wright.

The officers and Charter members of Greener Chapter are looking forward to the coming year as an active PAD Chapter.

Fauver Dies in D.C.

Brother Clarke L. Fauver, 54, Director of the Office of the Federal Home Loan Bank operations in Washington, D.C., was shot to death on November 3, 1969 while he conferred in his private office with two subordinates about personnel changes.

He had been politically active in Montgomery County and served as Assistant to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System before joining the Home Loan Bank Board.

He was also a past president of the Silver Spring Hospital Association.

Fauver was a close personal friend of Past Supreme Justice Robert E. Redding who, on learning of his passing, stated that he felt the following words were descriptive of him:

"And when he fell in whirlwind,
he went down,
As when a lordly cedar, green
with boughs,
Goes down with a great shout
upon the hills,
And leaves a lonely place against the sky!"

New Chapter at Florida State Forges Ahead

The Glenn Terrell Chapter at Florida State University, one of PAD's newest chapters, is making substantial progress in its second year of existence.

Last summer the chapter held a keg party to which freshmen non-fraternity men were invited.

In July the chapter held a hamburger cookout at the home of Assistant Dean Anderson and a PAD Inns of Court program was also held last summer with the Alumni Advisor, Tom Irvin, Jr., speaking on the topic "Young Attorneys in Private Practice."

In the fall, a letter of welcome was sent by the chapter to each entering student. Members of the chapter participated in the Student Bar Association orientation program and a beer party at the home of Assistant Dean Anderson kicked off the rushing season.

Another PAD Inns of Court program was held with Joe Sole, Treasurer of the Tallahassee Alumni Chapter, speaking on "Young Attorneys in Government Service."

One of the rushing highlights of the season was a steak barbeque at the home of Charles Tom Henderson, former national vice president of the fraternity and former assistant attorney general of the state of Florida. One hundred thirty actives, alumni and freshmen attended.

Saturday, Nov. 1, the chapter held its first annual PAD Homecoming Breakfast with Congressman William C. Cramer as guest speaker.

Grant Chapter Goes Athletic

Grant Chapter at the University of Akron School of Law recently held two events of an athletic nature. First was the second annual PAD open golf classic. This was held October 14, 1969 at the Turkeyfoot Golf Club. One of the purposes of the classic was fund raising for the chapter.

The second event took place November 2, 1969 when PAD actives, pledges, rushees and alumni journeyed to Cleveland Municipal Stadium to view a football game between the Cleveland Browns and the Dallas Cowboys.

Kent Chapter Enjoys Successful Year

Kent Chapter at the University of Idaho College of Law is enjoying one of its most successful years. Members of the fraternity have exhibited their leadership qualities by serving as President of the Student Bar Association filling four of the six positions on the editorial board of the Idaho Law Review, including the editor-in-chief, and filling three of the four positions on the National Moot Court team.

The chapter's rush program has been highly successful. Almost one-half of all new students have signed agreements to pledge. As soon as they have been initiated almost one-half of the total number of students at the University of Idaho College of Law will be members of PAD.

Brewer's Inns of Court Program

On October 24 Brewer Chapter at Stetson University sponsored an Inns of Court program attended by some 200 people.

The principal speaker was the Attorney General of the State of Florida, Earl Faircloth. News coverage of the program was had by local newspapers as well as nationwide television.

AN INTRODUCTION TO PAD

(This article was prepared by Robert Levine, Vice Justice of Wilson Chapter at Cornell Law School and is reprinted here for the benefit of other active chapters who may wish to pattern articles for their own law school publication after this one.)

A sage once remarked that the more things change, the more they remain the same. It is quite reasonable that many of the Class of '72 who begin to read this article, after a moment of skimming, will say to themselves: "It's just another fraternity trying to compensate with rhetoric for what it's failed to do with conduct. I thought I'd left all this rushing and fraternity stuff behind me in college." This reaction is expected and has predetermined the purpose of this article, i.e., to answer the twin questions of 1.) Why a legal fraternity, and 2.) Why is this fraternity, Phi Alpha Delta, different from all other fraternities? These two questions will be merged into one.

I feel that one of the best statements of purpose of legal fraternities is contained in Article II of the Constitution of P.A.D. Article II states the following:

The purpose of this fraternity shall be to form a strong bond among the members of the different classes at the various law schools; to form a strong link between the school and their former students; to establish a widespread exchange for the interchange of business, information, and matters of common interest to the members of the fraternity; to promote social and intellectual intercourse among its members; to aid the development of fraternal and brotherly sentiments; to cultivate a closer bond of friendship . . . and to foster, under the influence of intimate friendships, those principles that tend to form higher type of manhood.

At this point I expect that the student's reaction is: "Well, that's what I thought they'd say. Just another conglomeration of verbiage, high thoughts, noble sentiments, and initiation fees." This charge, however, is unwarranted, for P.A.D. backs up this declaration of purpose with corresponding actions at both the local and national levels which I will discuss later.

Criticism of a legal fraternity can be met on two fronts. The first is to state the difference between a legal and a college fraternity. The second is to list the fraternity's actions, not its rhetoric.

Unlike a college fraternity, a legal fraternity is a professional organization. It is always conscious that its members are professional aspirants who join the fraternity in the hope that they will derive something that will assist them in their professional careers. The accent is on professionalism and professionals, but the social aspects of such an organization are not forgotten either. P.A.D. fills the bill in both respects.

Concerning P.A.D.'s national organization, let me cite a few of its programs and advantages. There is a nationwide Scholarship Grant Program, a Congressional Staff Assistance Program for summer internships or regular employment, a Judicial Clerkship Program now under survey at the federal and state levels, numerous fraternity publications of practical and professional interest, placement activities, and biennial conventions for both social and professional purposes.

Concerning the fraternity at the local level, let me present the

P.A.D. plan for the 1969-70 academic year. As there are two basic sides to the life of every law student—the academic-professional and the social—so too there are two directions in which the fraternity directs its efforts and activities. During the first month of the fall term the fraternity will concentrate on the academic. There will be three speaker functions, the dates to be announced shortly. At one of these events Professor Robert Anthony, Director of the International Legal Studies Program at the Law School, will lecture on and discuss several aspects of the field of international law. At a second of these meetings Professor John MacDonald, Chairman of the New York State Law Revision Commission, and Professor Kurt Hanslowe, professor at both the Industrial & Labor Relations School and the Law School and a consultant to the Law Revision Commission, will discuss a major bill that the Commission has pending in the Legislature, i.e., the Administrative Procedure Bill. The third event will feature Professor Ian Macneil of the Law School and Bruce Campbell, a third-year law student, who will discuss a mutual pet project—teaching law in the secondary schools in Ithaca and evaluating its possibilities in the general educational process.

Concerning the social side of the fraternity, we will attempt to blend the best of a German beer hall, a college mixer, and scenes from Playboy After Dark into a party which we will sponsor.

Also, during the course of the term the fraternity will sponsor the presentation of several movies. Among the films we are expecting to show are Orson Wells's Compulsion, The Conduct of Congressional Investigations, The Nuremberg Trial and Its Lesson for Today, A Real Case of Murder, plus other films dealing with international law, criminal, and Constitutional law.

In the spring the fraternity will continue a tradition which it has proudly followed since 1956 — the presentation of the Robert S. Stevens Lecture. In the past we have had such distinguished speakers as Senators Muskie, Keating, and Fullbright, as well as Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, Tom Clark, the Reverend Pike, and Theodore Kheel. This past year we were honored to have the Hon. Constance Baker Motley, Judge of the Federal District Court of the Southern District of New York, deliver the Lecture.
