DISTRICT JUSTICE DAN HALPIN presents the PAD History to Charles Phucas, the student at the University of Baltimore who planned and guided the founding of LaBrum Chapter. Phucas, a graduating senior, felt that Phi Alpha Delta at the University of Baltimore would significantly enhance student opportunity and provide avenues in the legal profession heretofore unavailable to the students. Phucas is an internationally known executive with the National Bureau of Standards in his present career.

PAD Establishes Placement Office

Pursuant to 1972 Convention action, a PAD Placement Office was established on January 1, 1973. In order to stay within budgetary limitations set by the Convention and to facilitate Fraternity operations, the office is housed in the Executive Offices in Granada Hills. The initial Placement Director appointed was Michael B. Harwin. Brother Harwin graduated from NYU Law School, where he was reactivation Justice of Rapallo Chapter in 1971. He has since served as Executive Secretary and as such has visited almost all active, and many alumni Chapters.

The scope of the intended program will include information on summer, part-time, and full-time jobs.

Since Placement is most effectively organized on a local level, it has been determined to have each Active Chapter form a Placement Committee.

Information has already been sent to each Active Chapter regarding the program. Each Chapter's Placement Committee will be responsible for calling law firms and government agencies in its city and distributing information about availabilities to its members. Forms have been provided each Chapter so that it can keep records of its calls, summarize information obtained and report to the Placement Office. The reports to the Placement Office are necessary so that the office can evaluate the program and so that if Brothers from other geographic areas desire information, it will be available.

Information from the Placement Office will be disseminated to the Chapters through the use of "Placement" Bulletins with a hopefully high degree of frequency.

There will be some information about concrete job openings and also lists of suggested places to apply. This concept of Placement leaves the initiative to the individual applicant. Rather than trying to match thousands of applicants with specific jobs, it was felt that our members should be able to choose where they wish to apply. The Placement Office can serve a worthwhile function as an informa-

Farrer Elected to ABA Bd. Governors

Brother William C. Farrer, a member of Holmes and Rutledge Chapters, was recently elected to the Board of Governors of the American Bar Association. He was one of five persons so elected.

Farrer, a senior partner in the Los Angeles Law Firm of Hill, Farrer and Burrill, has been serving as California State Delegate to the American Bar Association. He has been Vice Chairman of the Rules and Calendar Committee of the ABA House of Delegates and a member of the Standing Committee on Constitution and By-Laws.

He also is a Director of the American Judicature Society.

As a member of the Board of Governors he will represent the states of California, Hawaii and Nevada on the ABA Board.

tion gatherer, suggesting additional places to apply. This will also eliminate the time lag which would result if applications had to be sent to a third office.

In summary, if the individual Chapters are willing to work hard in finding openings at the local level, this plus the information suggested by the central office should result in a high level of success in Placement for members of PAD.

U. of Idaho Chap. Reactivated

James Kent Chapter at the University of Idaho School of Law was formally reactivated on February 17, 1973. Kent Chapter in Moscow, Idaho is one of the oldest chapters in the Fraternity having first been granted a charter in 1914. The reactivation was presided over by Supreme Justice Matthew S. Rae. Other members of the reactivation team ceremony included District I Justice Ernie Greco, and brothers Laurel Peterson and Angus Coghill of Connelly Chapter. Among the alumni in attendance were Past Justice of Kent Chapter Marcus Ware and University of Idaho Professor of Law Robert Jones. The ceremony was held in the Moot Courtroom at the Law School.

Following the ceremonies which in keeping with Convention resolution were open to the public, a dinner was held for all attending. Ad-

129th Active Chapter Charter Granted To U. of Baltimore

January 19, 1973 marked the formal installation of the J. Harry LaBrum Chapter at the University of Baltimore School of Law in Baltimore, Maryland. Supreme Justice Matthew S. Rae acted as the installing Justice, Robert E. Redding, Vice Justice, Frank Caciapaglia, Clerk, Donald R. Moore, Treasurer and Glen Perry, Marshal, a student member of Darrow Chapter. The alumnus on the team was Kenneth Masters, an alumnus of Darrow Chapter. The formal ceremonies in the Lansdale Library were attended by District XV Justice Dan Halpin, students from Darrow Chapter at the University of Maryland and also by Dean Joseph Curtis, Dean of the University of Baltimore School of Law and a long time member of Phi Alpha Delta.

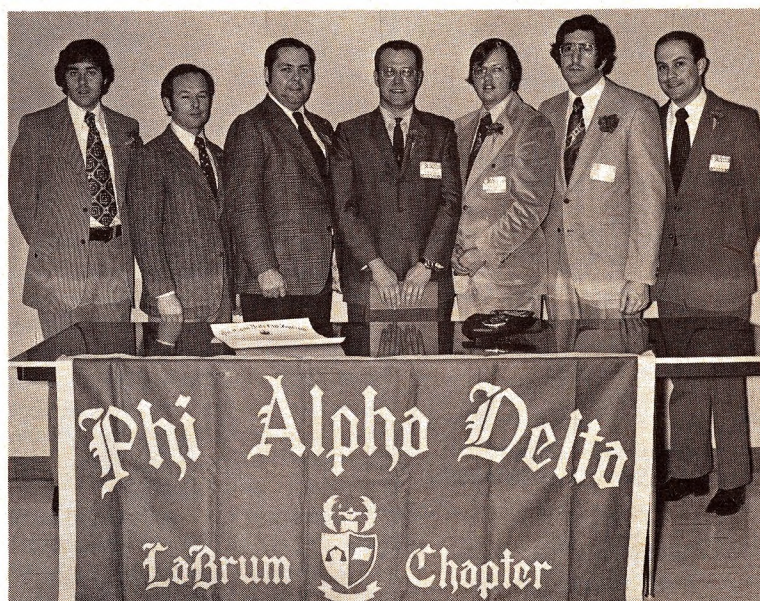

In a separate ceremony during that evening, former Supreme Justice Robert E. Redding was presented with the plaque signifying his election to membership in the Distinguished Service Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta. Brother Redding had been selected for this honor during the past convention.

The new chapter was named after a former Supreme Justice of Phi Alpha Delta. J. Harry "Hap" LaBrum was also a member of the Distinguished Service Chapter, an honor conferred upon only eight people.

The law school at the University of Baltimore was founded in 1925, has both day and night law curriculum and is accredited by the American Bar Association.

The charter members of the fraternity's 129th active chapter are: R. David Ayers, Jr., Bruce M. Barret, John P. Bernard, Tony Bruce, Joseph J. Castoro, Charles E. Creager, Samuel B. Dolcimascolo, Gary E. Dwoskin, Paul B. Essex, Thomas Oliver Evans, William R. Evans, Nathaniel C. Fick, Jr., John Guida, Daniel Garvin Hall, Chuck F. Gossart, Jr., Nicholas L. Gounaris, Maurice B. Message from the Supreme Justice

Two interrelated areas of major PAD activity have been developing during the current school year. These involve both placement of law students and clinical education programs. As to the latter, one of the leading exponents of clinical education in this country has been Brother Tom Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court (retired). I have had the pleasure of hearing Brother Clark on three occasions expound to PAD groups his views on the future of legal education. To oversimplify his theme which I wish you all could hear him state, it is his position that the third year of law school in the traditional form is expendable. According to Justice Clark, the third year is "like a squeezed lemon." Brother Clark would see it converted into an internship by the great expansion of the clinical education program which now has been adopted with a fair degree of uniformity throughout the nation. Only a few backward states and areas still resist the concept of permitting third year law students to participate in the legal process and deal with real facts and live clients. Brother Clark has suggested that PAD adopt as a goal the leadership of legal education into a new era where the young lawyer will have the opportunity for an internship before he is loosed upon the public.

The second major development is in the field of legal placement. As was reported in a previous edition of The Reporter, the convention in August mandated the establishment by the International Fraternity of a full-time, funded placement office. This has been done with Mike Harwin serving as the first International Placement Director. Although not assuming this position until January 1, 1973, Brother Harwin already has developed a complete and detailed placement program from both the active and alumni chapter standpoint. In addition, he has collected and published in the first place that I am aware of, a complete list of all major opportunities for young lawyers in government, both federal and state, with details of how to apply for these openings. Whether his program will bear fruit now depends upon the cooperation of the students and the alumni.

Using the program which he has devised, the next step now is up to our members, both student and alumni, to create the local machinery to locate, develop and exploit opportunities for PAD placement.

These two programs — clinical training and placement — are inextricably interrelated. No longer can we wait until the student graduates from law school to concern ourselves about his future employment. No longer can we continue the attitude of the profession that a young law graduate is an economic detriment or that the law clerk is of no benefit to the office. Our practicing brothers have a responsibility to the profession to participate in the educational process by cooperating with local clinical programs. We as lawyers also have a responsibility to ourselves to reconsider the methods whereby we hire and train our new associates.

No system of clinical education can be made effective without the full cooperation of the organized bar. Attorneys are needed to supervise the work of the law students. A partnership must be re-established between the practicing bar and the members of academe to improve the caliber of attorney being graduated from our law schools. In other words, those of us who would return to basics need to consider returning to the original concept of legal education which in the early days encompassed "reading" under the supervision of a practicing attorney. The modern version, of course, is the participation of the law student in the actual practice of law under the firm guidance of a practicing attorney and with the academic enrichment of faculty programming.

Placement no longer is limited to the correlation of job opportunities and qualified law school graduates. It is now incumbent upon practicing members of the profession to volunteer to participate in the education of law students. In my travels I have seen several areas of the country where clinical programs of necessity are limited to the practice of poverty law because the private bar has not provided the openings to gain experience in the many fields of private law practice with which we all wish the law school graduate had some familiarity. A partnership is needed between the private bar and the law schools so that the faculty may structure meaningful and well-rounded educational programs, particularly for the third year students, which can utilize the services of lawyers in providing the clinical experience. The fears of the practicing attorney of temporary economic detriment should he volunteer to participate in such a program may be well-founded. However, in the long run we will all gain by an improvement of our profession and an increased efficiency and ability on the part of the recent admittees whom we hire. In addition, the utilization of law students before graduation will give the private attorney an opportunity to observe the rising class of graduates. No longer will the attorney be forced to hire an associate on the basis of a scholastic record and an interview where personality is judged. The attorney participating in a clinical program will have met a number of law students and had the opportunity of observing their performance. His chances to employ the type of personnel which he desires for his office will be greatly enhanced.

It therefore becomes incumbent upon Phi Alpha Delta to take the leadership in this developing area of the law. A first step is to cooperate with the National Placement Director. The students in the active chapters must be encouraged to appoint a placement director in accordance with the outline provided by Mike Harwin. At the same time, the alumni must volunteer, not only to provide a placement service in the locality, but to provide a substantial number of attorneys who will participate actively in the training of law school students and in assisting them with finding positions upon graduation. As he has done so often in the past, Brother Justice Clark has pointed the way toward a new field of service to the student, the school and the profession of Phi Alpha Delta International. Let us now take up his challenge.

We cannot all have an opportunity to hear Brother Justice Clark present his program in person. Therefore, I suggest to each organized alumni chapter that a program be planned in the immediate future where representatives of the local law schools are asked to present a seminar explaining to the practicing bar exactly what the clinical program being conducted in the community consists of and how the bar may be of assistance to it. In those areas where we do not have organized alumni chapters, I recommend to each active chapter that the local alumni be invited to such a seminar.

In order to assure attendance at such a function, I suggest that the full cooperation of the local members of the judiciary who are PAD's be sought in sponsoring such a program. PAD at the alumni or the active level should become the catalyst between the law school, the judiciary and the bar for a massive program of education of the bar to the importance of the clinical training of young lawyers. The barriers of communication between the bar and the academic world which have grown up only in recent times must be broken down for the good of the profession. Justice Clark has pointed the way for his brothers. If we are effectively to utilize the tremendously increased number of law school graduates and at the same time to follow the mandates of the courts to provide legal service to all who are in need thereof regardless of economic circumstances, we must follow his guidance.

Fraternally,
MATTHEW S. RAE, JR.
Supreme Justice

Gene Jones New District VII Justice

Gene Jones, Assistant Dean and Professor of law at South Texas College of Law, was appointed Justice of District VII effective with the Fall 1973 school semester.

District Justice Jones was born July 21, 1934. He attended the University of Houston for his undergraduate work and obtained his J.D. Degree from South Texas College of Law in 1968. He was recently elected to the Texas Legislature from District 97.

His activities in PAD have included serving as Vice-Justice of Houston Chapter; Clerk, Vice-Justice and Justice of the Houston Alumni Chapter during the period when it was the Outstanding Alumni Chapter and having served as the delegate to the 1970 and 1972 International Conventions.

KEVIN BLANEY ELECTED TO S.E.B.

The October 1972 issue of the Reporter inadvertently omitted a story reporting the election of District XII Justice Kevin Blaney to the position of Supreme Marshal on the Supreme Executive Board at the 1972 San Diego Convention.

Brother Kevin Blaney was born July 21, 1940, in Hudson, New York. He obtained his A.B. from Boston College in 1962 and his J.D. from Syracuse University College of Law in 1968.

From 1962 to 1964 he served on active duty in the United States Army Intelligence Corps. He is now a Captain in the United States Army Reserve.

He was Justice of Carmody Chapter at Syracuse University and prior to his election to the Supreme Executive Board served as District XII Justice for several years.

Brother Blaney is presently engaged in private practice.

PAD Placement Column

(This column will be a regular feature of The Reporter)

National D.A.'s Ass'n. and PAD Launch Prosecutor Placement Bureau

The National District Attorney's Association (NDAA) has recently formed a Placement Bureau in conjunction with Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity, International, designed to fill the need for matching career-minded school graduates with prosecutors' offices around the country. Law students in their senior or final year are invited to visit their PAD Chapter or write to the Association's Executive Offices in Chicago for a placement questionnaire which, when completed and returned, will give the complete background of the student applicant, including education, experience and placement interest. These forms will be placed on file and matched with other questionnaires solicited from NDAA member offices around the country. The respective offices will then contact the applicants directly and set up interviews. Effectiveness of the program is virtually assured because NDAA is the only national organization representing the prosecuting attorney in America.

The Placement Bureau is the direct result of the dramatic increase in law student interest in prosecutors' offices that has grown up in recent years. This interest has been fostered primarily by student exposure to such offices in clinical and intern programs and the growing awareness that public prosecution has great potential for community involvement and betterment. Many students have expressed the view that reform of the criminal justice system must begin with reform of the court system, including the office of public prosecutor. The goals of NDAA coincide with that view.

The total program of NDAA encompasses not only the upgrading of the prosecutor's office, but also programs of public education and professional training in the fields of narcotics abuse, juvenile delinquency, consumer protection, environmental law enforcement and the police. These wide-ranging goals and programs in prosecutors' offices around the country and an increased interest in employing graduating seniors and recent law school graduates.

The NDAA Placement Bureau will be available not only to law students, but also to legal interns and already admitted attorneys seeking employment in prosecutor's offices or seeking to change their present positions. Placement questionnaires are being mailed in quantity to members of the National Association for Law Placement and other law school placement officers. Interested students should contact their placement officer or write directly to NDAA. There is a five dollar charge for the placement service but the service is free to NDAA student members. Student membership in NDAA is five dollars per year. Further information and the forms are available from Patrick F. Healy, Executive Director, National District Attorneys Association, 211 East Chicago Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Positions Available For Alumni

There are currently several openings in the National Credit Union Administration Merit Promotion Program for the position of Staff Attorney in the Office of the General Counsel. Functions will involve advice regarding the effects of provisions of proposed legislation or proposed changes in administration policies or regulations. Also included will be some research with regard to laws, regulations and legal precedents. In addition, the job will require preparation of reports and letters to Congressional Committees, the Office of Management of Budget, and other agencies relative to proposed Federal legislation affecting the National Credit Union Administration. Finally, there will be drafting and reviewing of contracts between the Administration and other agencies.

Prerequisites are that an applicant be a member of the Bar and have two years of professional legal experience to qualify for a GS-12 and three years of professional legal experience to qualify for a GS-13 rating.

Those interested in applying should forward standard form 171 to Director of Personnel, National Credit Union Administration, Washington, D.C. 20456.

ACTIVE CHAPTERS NOTE

Those Chapters which have not yet done so:

1. Please select your Placement Chairman and Committee and forward their names, addresses and phone numbers to the Placement Office.

2. Please select a PAD Alumnus in your city to head an Alumni Coordination Committee and send his name and address and phone number to the Placement Office.

Bulletins have gone out to Chapters thus far regarding: A. Offices of the General Counsels of Federal Government Agencies, B. State Court Positions, C. State Planning Agency's Positions.

Placement "Flavor of the Month":
Federal Government
"Mid-level Positions":

Certain positions at GS 9-12 level which are not in the Office of General Counsels require legal background. Much of the work is quasi-legal.

It is possible that one who is not in the top part of the class but who wishes Government employment might start off in a quasi-legal position within the Government and after a period of good work apply to the General Counsel once already in the agency.

Information about this type of position can be obtained by writing any office of the U.S. Civil Service Commission and asking for Announcement No. 413 as revised September, 1972, entitled "Mid-level Positions."

Any information from alumni who wish to advertise openings in their offices may be sent to this column care of the Executive Office in Granada Hills.

PAD Joins With Legal Aid Ass'n. In Placement

The National Legal Aid and Defender Association, organized in 1911, is the only national coordinating and planning agency for legal assistance and defender work in the United States and Canada. It plays a distinctive role in assuring equal justice under law and provides a representative central body with defined duties and powers for the guidance and assistance of its members. It has two basic constituencies — more than 1,000 legal assistance and defender offices throughout the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and the Philippines that provide free legal assistance for persons unable to hire a lawyer and the poor themselves. NLADA is supported by over 4,000 individuals, many of them lawyers, state and local bar associations and the American Bar Association itself.

Pictured above are, seated, left to right, Diana Champagne, Paul Champagne, Patricia Wallace, John O'Donnell, Natalie Krok, Nicholas Kapelos, Joan Macklin. About 5,000 attorneys are currently employed in legal assistance and defender offices in this country. The road to legal services for all has been a long and arduous one to build. The first organized legal assistance program in the United States was created in 1876 when the German Society of New York incorporated the Deutscher Rechts — Schutz Verein "to render legal aid and assistance gratuitously to those of German birth who may appear worthy thereof, but who from poverty are unable to procure it." This organization evolved into the Legal Aid Society of New York, which today is the largest legal assistance and defender office in the United States. The first organized defender service was established in Los Angeles in 1911, and continues today to be the largest office exclusively devoted to the defense of the indigent in criminal cases.

By 1964 there were 244 legal assistance offices and 136 defender offices serving the country's poor. By the middle of 1972 the number of civil offices had grown to 736 and defender services to well over 400. The recent proliferation of offices can be attributed in large part to the infusion of federal funds ($71.5 million in 1972) into civil programs and the last decade's Supreme Court decisions which greatly expanded the right to counsel in criminal cases.

Unfortunately, the services these offices provide are subject to political pressures, and, at times, they have been threatened with extinction. At present it appears the continued federal support of legal services depends upon the creation, by Congress, of a Corporation for Legal Services. Such a corporation would help insulate programs from the political pressure and allow them to provide services more efficiently.

It is expected that defender services will soon be greatly expanded due to a great increase in funding by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. NLADA is working hard to ensure that the Corporation for Legal Services is created and that increased defender funding becomes a reality.

NLADA, with its national headquarters office in the American Bar Center in Chicago, in addition to providing administrative supportive services to member programs, is conducting a national survey of defender needs. It is anticipated that this exhaustive study will not only reflect the exact extent of the availability of legal services for the indigent in criminal cases, but precisely delineate the areas where services are either inadequate or non-existent.

In 1971, NLADA established a Washington office to become a more effective voice in national policy making. The Washington staff works with governmental agencies and Congress to ensure independent and quality legal assistance for the poor. NLADA's Washington office also works closely with many other national organizations, including labor unions, citizens' organizations, client groups and public interest law firms.

NLADA's Washington office contains the National Law Office which works for litigative solutions to national problems of the poor. The NLO has recently achieved significant results in reform of correctional institutions, in establishing the right of the mentally retarded to receive habilitative institutional care, and in affirming the right of handicapped children to a public education.

Another division of NLADA in Washington is the Technical Assistance Project which helps programs utilize their resources in the most efficient and effective manner.

Markey C. J. U.S. Ct. Customs

Brother Howard T. Markey, a member of Webster Chapter at Loyola University School of Law in Chicago, is presently serving as Chief Judge of the United States Court of Customs and Patent Appeals.

Brother Markey was one of the earliest jet plane test pilots in World War II. He served five years in World War II and later was recalled for the Korean Conflict and served as Deputy Commander of the 315th Air Division.

He became a Brigadier General

International Alumni Chapter Established

On January 26, 1973, the first International Alumni Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta was installed in Toronto, Canada. Members of the new alumni chapter are all graduates of Windsor School of Law where Macdonald Chapter is located.

In fact, all of the past Justices of Macdonald Chapter were present for the installation of the alumni chapter. Representing the International Fraternity were Supreme Treasurer Frank J. McCown, from Ironton, Ohio, and District IX Justice James M. Bierce from Akron, Ohio.

The Justice of the newly installed Toronto Alumni Chapter is John O'Donnell who accepted the Charter on behalf of our newest alumni chapter.

All in attendance were extremely pleased at the news conveyed by Supreme Treasurer Frank McCown that the 1974 International Convention of the Fraternity would be held in Toronto, Canada.

at age 38 and is the holder of numerous citations.

He has served as National President and Chairman of the Board of the Air Force Association and as a Director of the National Aeronautic Association.

On the occasion of his being sworn in by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger (also a PAD), the courtroom was jammed with members of the White House Staff, Senators and Congressmen.

PADs Enjoy Reception at AALS

As has been the custom for many years, PAD again hosted a reception at the Annual Meeting of the Association of American Law Schools in Chicago this past December. The reception, held in the West Foyer of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, the main hotel, was an overwhelming success. Well over 50 law schools were represented at the reception, which was hosted by past Supreme Justice Magaw, assisted by Dean Leo O'Brien of Loyola Law School at Los Angeles and former dean Frank Maloney of the University of Florida School of Law. Chairman of the Committee on Local Arrangements was Frederick A. Organ, District Justice of District XIII of the fraternity. He was ably assisted by members of Rapallo Chapter from New York University School of Law, who manned the registration table, and saw that all went smoothly at the reception.

faculty from every accredited law school in the nation. This year's meeting emphasized problems of professional responsibility and explored problems of specialization at the bar and in legal education as well as exploring in depth problems of clinical legal education, legal aid to the indigent, provision of legal services for people of moderate means and the problems of the public interest law firms. PAD was proud to be able to contribute to the success of this outstanding meeting.

Lower New Dean Loyola—L.A.

The new Dean of Loyola University School of Law in Los Angeles is Brother Frederick J. Lower, Jr., a member of Ford Chapter at Loyola University.

Brother Lower obtained his B.S. Degree from Loyola University in 1956 and his J.D. Degree in 1964 from Loyola.

FREDERICK J. LOWER, JR.

He has served the law school as a lecturer in law from 1966 to 1968, acting Associate Professor of Law from 1968 to 1971 and has been a full Professor of Law since 1971.

He has also served as President of the Loyola University Alumni Association and is a member of the State Bar of California, the Federal District Court, the American Trial Lawyer's Association, the American Arbitration Association and the American Judicature Society.

An Untimely Death

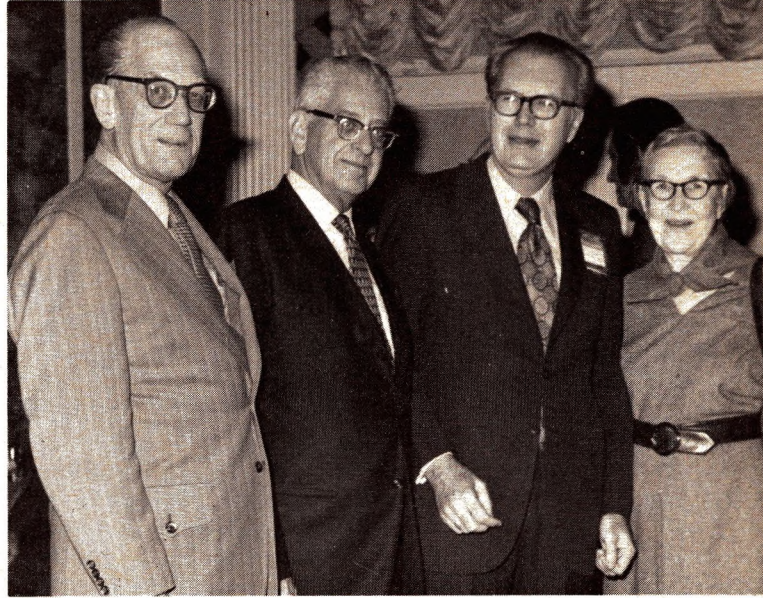

One of those sudden, inexplicable tragedies took place recently when Wyandotte County Juvenile Judge Patricia Kiely died of cancer. The first woman to ever be elected Juvenile Judge in Kansas, she was only 44 years of age.

Judge Kiely was a member of Phi Delta Delta Legal Fraternity which was merged with PAD at the 1972 Convention.

She had established three careers — as a teacher, a newspaper reporter and as a lawyer. In addition, she had already distinguished herself in a fourth by serving pro-tem Juvenile Judge.

She was elected to her judgeship on November 7, and shortly thereafter an illness was diagnosed terminal cancer. A special ceremony was conducted at her bedside to administer her the oath of the office she had won.

She was a partner in the law firm of Phillips and Kiely and was active in Juvenile court representing parents and children. Prior to entering law she taught on the grade, junior high and high school levels. She also worked on newspapers in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

RECEPTION PRINCIPALS— Principals at the PAD reception at AALS meeting were, left to right: Maj. General Albert Kuhfeld, former Judge Advocate General, United States Air Force, and now Associate Dean, Ohio State University School of Law; Past Supreme Justice Elden S. Magaw, Temple University School of Law; Professor Frank E. Maloney, University of Florida School of Law, and Mrs. Kuhfeld.

T. CLARK INITIATES

The Tom C. Clark Chapter at the University of Texas recently held an initiation ceremony in the Texas Court of Appeals. Following the ceremony the Chapter held a banquet at which the honored guests were the Hon. Tom C. Clark, Supreme Court of the United States (retired), Mrs. Clark, Gene Jones, District VII Justice and Assistant Dean of South Texas College of Law; Texas Judge C. Raymond Judice, Supreme Vice Justice, and Texas State Senator Bob Gammage, a former Vice Justice of Tom C. Clark Chapter.

After the banquet an open reception was held at the alumni center on the University of Texas campus where those attending were joined by the Hon. Tom Reavely and the Hon. Jack Pope, of the Texas Supreme Court.

AKERS NEW D.J. DISTRICT XIV

William J. Akers, a practicing attorney in Princeton, West Virginia, has been named District XIV Justice to succeed Allan McClain who was elected to the Supreme Tribunal by the 1972 Convention.

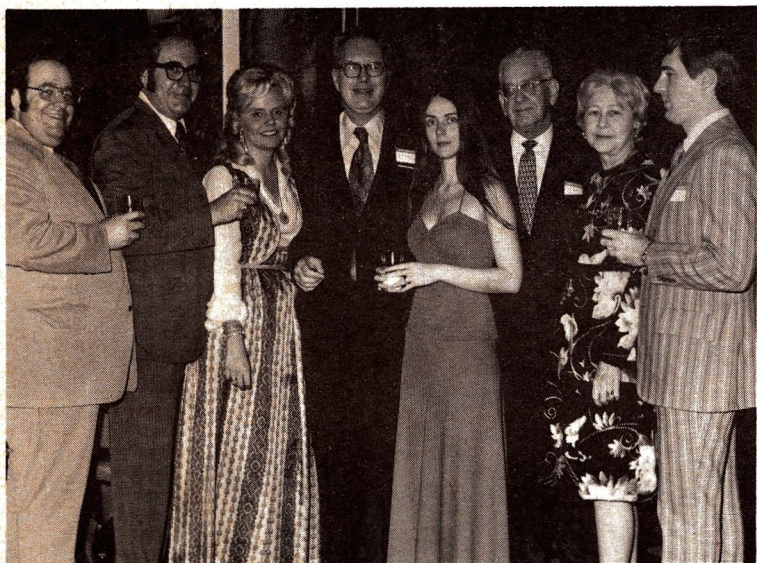

Brother Akers was born in Princeton, West Virginia where he attended public schools and then graduated from Concord College in Athens, West Virginia in 1966, where he was president of the student body.

He taught in the public schools before entering West Virginia University College of Law in 1969. He became Justice of Willey Chapter and built that chapter into one of the most outstanding in the District.

He is active in the Democratic party, in the Presbyterian Church, in Bar Association work and in service club work.

The Los Angeles Alumni Chapter had the opportunity of hearing PAD Brother Tom C. Clark, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court (retired) at its meeting held February 14, 1973. Shown with Mr. Justice and Mrs. Clark (foreground) are: left to right, Past Supreme Justice Henry C. Rohr, Program Chairman Arthur K. Marshall of the Los Angeles Superior Court, Los Angeles Alumni Chapter Justice Laughlin Waters and Supreme Justice Matthew S. Rae.

Nelson New Pres. Ark. La. Gas

E. Sheffield Nelson, newly appointed President of Arkansas Louisiana Gas, received a Certificate of Appreciation from the Robinson Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta at the University of Arkansas, Little Rock Division. On behalf of Robinson Chapter, Brother Robert Marquardt, retiring Justice, and Brother Tony R. Skogen, current Justice commended Brother Nelson for his efforts in bridging the gap between the student and the working graduate among members of the state's legal profession. Appreciation was also expressed to Nelson for his aid and support of several fund-raising functions of the Robinson Chapter.

Brother Nelson, a charter member, was the first justice of Robinson Chapter and was instrumental in its formation in 1967. He received a B.S. in math from State College of Arkansas in 1963, where he was a member of Sigma Tau Gamma, Vice President and President of the Student Senate and Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities both his junior and senior years. Nelson received his LL.B. from the Arkansas School of Law as well as a J.D. from the University of Arkansas, Little Rock Division. Besides being the first justice of Robinson Chapter, Nelson served as Vice-President of the Student Bar Association.

In 1963, Brother Nelson started as a Junior Engineer for Arkla Gas and has worked himself up to the top position of the company. At the age of 31, Brother Nelson is president of a company serving 620,000 customers in Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas.

Former Dean To Ill. Appellate Ct.

Brother John C. Hayes of Chicago, a Loyola University Law Professor was recently appointed to the Illinois Appellate Court.

Brother Hayes, former Dean of Loyola Law School, fills the first District vacancy caused by the 1971 retirement of Judge Allen B. McCormick. Judge Hayes is a member of Webster Chapter at Loyola University School of Law.

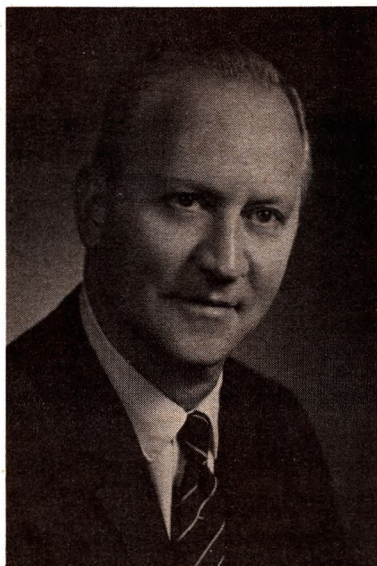

A RECENT LUNCHEON AND SOCIAL PERIOD that followed gave members of Grant Chapter at the University of Akron School of Law an opportunity to meet with local attorneys and judges. Deep in discussion are, from left, James McGray, a student; Common Pleas Judge James Barbuto; unidentified; and Richard Bernstein, also a student.

Scheib to Pa. Post

Raymond L. Scheib was recently appointed Chairman of Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board. Brother Scheib is a member of Watson Chapter at the University of Pittsburgh.

A lifetime resident of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, Brother Scheib holds Bachelor and Juris Doctor Degrees from the University of Pittsburgh.

RAYMOND L. SCHEIB

He engaged in the general practice of law commencing in 1940 and has specialized as an arbitrator in Labor-Management Disputes by selection of parties from 1964 to date.

He is a past Commander of Highland Park Post 715 American Legion and has served in many capacities as an officer and member of various civic and religious organizations.

MONTGOMERY IS BRIG. GENERAL

Brother Edmund W. Montgomery, II (L. Q. C. Lamar Chapter, University of Mississippi — 1946) who was appointed to the mobilization designee assignment of Chief Judge, United States Army Judiciary on November 1, 1971, has been promoted to Brigadier General, USAR, effective August 4, 1972.

The mission of the U.S. Army Judiciary is to administer the Army's Military Judge Program and its appellate judicial system in accordance with law and the policy of The Judge Advocate General.

There being only two General Officer positions in the United States Army Reserve for military lawyers of The Judge Advocate General's Corps, General Montgomery's appointment is especially noteworthy. The other General Officer position is also held by a brother Phi Alpha Delta, Brigadier

EDMUND W. MONTGOMERY II

General Robert D. Upp of Los Angeles, California (Ross — 1948) who serves in the mobilization designee position of Assistant Judge Advocate General for Special Projects.

General Montgomery has formerly held such positions as Commanding Officer of the 11th Judge Advocate General Detachment Headquarters (Mississippi, Alabama & Tennessee) and as Deputy Commandant (Mobilization Designee) The Judge Advocate General's School, United States Army, located at the University of Virginia, prior to his appointment as Chief Judge, U.S. Army Judiciary.

In civilian life, General Montgomery is engaged in the private practice of law in Jackson, Mississippi, as a partner in the law firm of Howie, Howie & Montgomery.

PYFER RECEIVES ABA AWARD

Brother John F. Pyfer, Jr., a member of Lurton Chapter at Vanderbilt School of Law, has received a $500.00 first place award from the American Bar Association for his thesis on "The Juvenile's Right to Receive Treatment."

His thesis also received the Dean's Award at the Vanderbilt Law School commencement earlier this year. Brother Pyfer is now practicing law in Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

PAD RECEIVES CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION—E. Sheffield Nelson, newly appointed president of Arkansas Louisiana Gas, recently received a Certificate of Appreciation from Robinson Chapter of PAD at the University of Arkansas Little Rock Division. Making the presentation was Robert Marquardt, retiring Justice (center) and current Justice Tony R. Skogen (right).

EDUCATORS AND MEMBERS OF THE BAR had an opportunity to discuss the law from their different perspectives when the University of Akron School of Law's Grant Chapter held a luncheon for its members and local attorneys and judges. Approximately 70 persons attended. At left is Ninth District Appellate Judge Myron Brenneman. On the other side of the table (left to right) are Akron University Professor Earl M. Curry, Jr., Ninth District Appellate Court Judge Arthur Doyle, Law School PAD Dean Stanley A. Samad, and Akron Attorney Bruce Wilson.

A Student Reports on a Meeting of the SEB

(In accordance with established policy of the Supreme Executive Board, a student member of the fraternity, John E. Maloney, of Webster Chapter, was invited to attend the December, 1972 meeting of the Board. His impressions follow.)

Snow was falling as I parked my car behind the O'Hare Regency in Chicago on December 9th. Little did I realize on that cold Thursday night that I would not reemerge from that circular building until Sunday, December 12th. The work schedule would keep me from my home which lay just three miles away. The first inclination that things would get hectic was when I called Fred Weitkamp. "What time shall I be there for the meeting tomorrow, I said. "We will start at eight o'clock and have all our meals delivered to us," he said. "How early do you think we will finish, tomorrow," said I, thinking about going to see my wife. "Until we are too exhausted to continue," he replied. He wasn't wrong.

The next morning when I came into our conference room there was a book waiting for me. For all the world it looked like the Federal Income Tax Slip Service from the year 1932 till present. Laying next to it was an agenda of about 150 items ranging in issues from a $22 request for a reimbursement to a $500,000 student loan program. These items were broken down into about 20 main topics, which corresponded to the literature found in the twenty sections of my aforementioned conference book. Audits, committee reports, merger plans, constitution, convention reports, etc. Everything was there. I have seen briefing books before, but none was as thorough as the one I had just received.

We immediately started into the agenda taking what we thought were some of the easiest items first. "Everyone agrees then," check, another item off the agenda. I was beginning to get my confidence back. "We'll be out of here by Saturday," I thought. Little did I know what lurked ahead. Finally it happened. "Will you turn to the item — District Conclaves," said Supreme Justice Sandy Rae. We soon learned that everyone had their own ideas on this item. With a dash of boldness I presented mine. Three hours later we were no further than we were when we started. "I am going to appoint a committee to look into this problem," said Brother Rae. "Brother Hutson, you will chair it, and I think I'll also put Brother Maloney on this committee too." This was unexpected. I had not expected anything like this, let alone the first night. I would soon learn my first valuable lesson.

We took a break for dinner and had our first committee meeting. As expected our committee of four came up with three proposals, one Brother Hutson's, one Brother McCown's, and one mine.

After the committee on District Conclaves was formed, off we went again on the agenda items. Through the next two days we cranked through the agenda into the late of night. Most of the items were routine and procedural. It would be the substantive ones which would be the hardest.

"Let us turn to the item-Student Loans," said Brother Rae. A fight was brewing. "It seems we received a mandate from the convention," said one. "Do it through our borrowing power," said another. "But why 8%," said a third. Everyone seemed to have their own idea. When all is said and done, compromise is the life-blood of any board meeting. And compromise we did after several hours of heated discussion.

"Now let us turn to the item-Merger," said Brother Rae. This topic reminded me of trying to fit a round peg in a square hole. You know that that can be done if the square hole is big enough. There were strong chapters here, merging chapters there, no chapters everywhere. There were members here, no members there, and confusion reigned most everywhere. Finally it was decided we would try to effectuate the merger on an individual chapter basis. We just did not have the time to handle it in detail. Another committee was formed to solve the problem on an individual basis within a set time after the board meeting. At a board meeting, never bite off more than you can chew. Always be aware of your limitations. Two or three people can get a job done in a few years where it would take a group of people a lifetime.

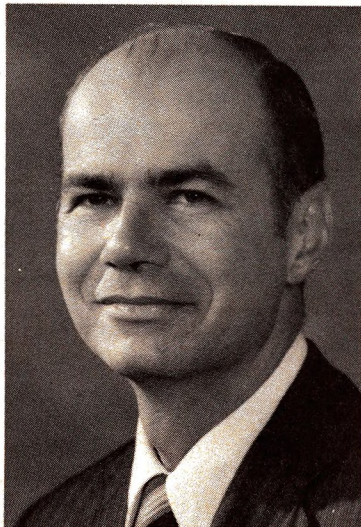

The last major item we discussed was the placement program. I had been waiting two days to get to this one. A committee had been formed prior to the Board Meeting and had prepared a report for our consideration. The committee report stirred a great deal of heated controversy. What impressed me here was that such a heated discussion could be conducted in a fraternal atmosphere. Never let your own personal feeling affect your judgment. Personal involvement without anger, and with rationality throughout, this was amaz-

Vance is Pres. Nat'l. D. A. Ass'n.

Brother Carol S. Vance, a member of Tom C. Clark Chapter at the University of Texas School of Law, is presently serving as President of the National District Attorney's Association. Brother Vance received his B.B.A. Degree from the University of Texas in 1955 and his LL.B. Degree from the same University in 1958.

Governor John Connally appointed him as District Attorney at the age of 32. He has been unopposed for re-election on each occasion since that time.

He is also presently chairman of the Law Enforcement Committee of the Criminal Law Section of the American Bar Association. Previously he served as Treasurer and Vice President of the National District Attorney's Association and was on its Board of Directors.

In 1966 he was selected as the Outstanding Young Man in Houston and received the Distinguished Service Award of the National District Attorney's Association in 1968.

In 1969 he was named the Outstanding Young Lawyer in the State of Texas.

Brother Carol S. Vance is a former Justice of the Houston Alumni Chapter.

ing. The issue was finally resolved with the appointment of Mike Harwin to fill the interim post of Placement Director.

All in all the meeting was a most profitable experience which taught me some lessons I won't soon forget. My congratulations to the board members for their professionalism and dedication. I feel very honored that I was asked, and hope that in the future the practice of having student observers at these meetings will continue.

by paying up to $1,000 a month of your business overhead expenses when you are disabled and unable to work

Payable up to 12 full months . . . benefit payments begin on the 31st day of disability, and continue up to a full year.

You are eligible for this protection . . . whether you're a sole practitioner, a partner, or in association.

Low Group Rates . . . this is true group insurance available to you at much lower rates than you would pay for similar coverage bought on an individual basis.

Please send me full information on the low-cost Phi Alpha Delta Group Overhead Expense Protection Plan. I understand I am under no obligation.
