RECENT INITIATES OF PAD'S FIRST PRE-LAW CHAPTER at Southwest Missouri State University. The chapter was installed in 1981 and now numbers 75 members.

First PAD Pre-Law Chapter — One Year Later

On Friday, April 24, 1981, at 7 p.m., the first Pre-Law Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity, International was installed at Southwest Missouri State University.

One year has now passed since this new class of PAD membership officially began in Springfield, Missouri last April. In that time, PAD has witnessed the expansion of the Pre-Law Program into undergraduate schools in Ohio, Kentucky and California. The momentum continues to build, however, and we anticipate further growth in Florida, New York, North Carolina and Illinois before too long.

More importantly, the development of the Pre-Law Program at the individual schools where such chapters have been established has been most encouraging. In keeping with our purpose of the Pre-Law Project — to utilize PAD law school and alumni members, together with printed materials, to provide our Pre-Law members with a better understanding of law school and the legal profession — our maiden chapter at SMSU has made great strides toward educating its members. The chapter is very well organized and has provided services to the school and its students, both members and non-members, covering a wide range of interests.

December 3, 1982 was designated Law School Day at SMSU. A large number of pre-law students gathered to speak with representatives from law schools at St. Louis University, Washington University, University of Missouri-Columbia, University of Missouri-Kansas City and University of Tulsa. These students were also able to obtain information and admission materials from law schools throughout the country which were unable to send spokespersons.

The chapter also held a PAD Pre-Law Rush Week this year on February 8-14. The schedule of events for that week included an information table in the Campus Union Lobby, an open chapter meeting, a lecture by Springfield attorney and PAD Tom Carlson on First Amendment Rights, and a rush party, with PAD International Secretary Jack Miller and past Vaught Chapter (Oklahoma City University) Justice Charles Curless as guest speakers. Rushes and new members were then introduced to the local PAD chapter and the national organization. A dinner/speaker presentation rounded out the slate of activities for Rush Week.

Perhaps the most successful program in terms of tangible effectiveness and direct student benefit is the LSAT Study Session. Modeled after the commercial courses now available, the sessions have proven to be quite beneficial to those students who have participated to date. Recent test results have revealed scores consistently above 650, with a top score of 760. Though not conclusive on the subject, the LSAT Study Sessions are certainly a salient feature of the SMSU Pre-Law program.

The chapter holds monthly meetings and bi-weekly executive committee meetings to continually plan and discuss upcoming events. This Spring the group is hoping to sponsor a field trip to the Missouri Supreme Court and to the UM-Kansas City Law School.

At the local level, the members at SMSU have conducted a T-shirt Sale and Raffle to raise funds, using the proceeds to award an annual service scholarship to an underclass member. Another yearly feature, a Fall Cookout, was held in November and gave those in attendance an opportunity to speak with fellow students, faculty and alumni in an informal setting.

The PAD Pre-Law Project is the program of the future for the Fraternity. Our goal is to provide the Pre-Law members with sufficient information about law school and the legal profession so that they may properly evaluate the legal profession in light of their individual career objectives and thereby make an informed decision as to whether or not to pursue study in the field of law. The formula has produced favorable results at Southwest Missouri State, and we salute their officers and members for a job well done.

Terrell Chapter Is Reactivated

On April 12, 1982 during reactivation ceremonies for Terrell Chapter at Florida State University, Florida Governor Bob Graham and Florida Supreme Court Justice Raymond Ehrlich were initiated as honorary members. The ceremonies were conducted by District Justice Allan J. Atlas in the courtroom of the Supreme Court of Florida in Tallahassee.

Denver Alumni Reactivate U. of Colorado Chapter

On April 15, 1982, PADs in the Denver Area convened at the Colorado Supreme Court Chamber where Gunter Chapter, inactive at the University of Colorado for a number of years, was reactivated. The reactivation team consisted of International Proctor Norm Owen, District Justice Doug Pooley, former District Justice Doug Tisdale, Denver Alumni Chapter Justice Pat Tisdale, Hughes Chapter Justice Greg Vilders and Past Supreme Justice John L. Griffith. Special thanks were extended to John Jacus who contributed substantially to the successful efforts to reactivate the chapter.

Following the ceremony the entire group adjourned to the Cheeseman Place Penthouse for the Denver Alumni Chapter Judge's Night. The honored guest for the evening was the Honorable Louis D. Rovira, Colorado Supreme Court Justice and also in attendance were several distinguished jurists and alumni from the Denver Metropolitan Area. The new members of Gunter Chapter joined with the members of Hughes Chapter in honoring the Judges and socializing with alumni members. A lavish buffet and cocktails was concluded by the election of new alumni chapter officers.

Michael Blount, Deborah J. Stephens, Robin E. Wilkinson, Ann Marie M. Karl, Carla Joyce Lunetta, Edward Gary Sullivan, Pamela S. Leslie, Scott Elliott Itkin, Douglas W. Abruzzo, Israel I. Andrews, Cecil E. Howard, Joseph A. Bulone, and Robin S. Hassler.

Also serving as members of the reactivation team were past International Tribune Robert Woolfork, Terrell Chapter Alumni Advisor Joan Stewart, past Justice Jim Rogers and newly elected Justice Robert McDonald.

PAD Supreme Court Justice Parker Lee McDonald administered the oath of office to his son Robert McDonald, who assumed the office of Justice of the newly reactivated chapter.

Florida Supreme Court Justice Joseph A. Boyd, Jr. addressed the new members of the chapter on the behalf of the alumni of the Fraternity. Other prominent PADs attending the initiation were newly elected Chief Justice James E. Alderman and Justice Ben F. Overton of the Florida Supreme Court Justice.

Four New Pre-Law Chapters Are Installed

The PAD Pre-Law Program has witnessed, in the two months since the last issue of the Reporter, a dramatic increase in the growth of the Pre-Law Chapter project. In an eleven day period from April 25th through May 5th, four undergraduate chapters of PAD were installed in three states.

On April 25, 1982, the first Pre-Law Chapter of 1982 was installed at the University of San Diego. Organized primarily through the efforts of the members of McCormick Chapter at USD, this is the first pre-law chapter to be established at a campus having a PAD law school chapter.

The installation ceremony, held in the Joseph P. Grace Courtroom at the USD School of Law, was jointly performed by Pre-Law Program Director Ronald J. Winter, Associate Tribune and past McCormick Justice Shelley Weinstein, and District III Justice John F. Weitkamp. Additional remarks were provided by Faculty Advisors John Chambers and Irving Parker, McCormick Justice Ed Lehman and USD Pre-Law President Terry McGowan.

Newly elected officers for the 1982-83 academic year are President Rod Fiori, Vice President Julien Pearl, Secretary Melissa Miller and Treasurer Danielle LaGace.

April 28, 1982 was the installation date of the Kent State University Chapter in Kent, Ohio. Kent State represents the second pre-law chapter established in Ohio and, as in the case of Walsh College in Canton, Ohio, was organized largely through the efforts of International Historian James M. Bierce.

Judge Bierce presided over the installation ceremonies, attended by the twenty student petitioners, KSU President Brage Golding, and KSU Trustee and Akron attorney Robert Blakemore. Charter officers include Donald W. McClellan, Jr. President, and Katherine M. Wozniak-Treasurer.

One week later, our fifth pre-law chapter was installed at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. Under the direction of past International Justice Frank J. McCown, sixteen petitioners gathered to establish the Ohio University Pre-Law Chapter on May 4, 1982.

Brother McCown was assisted by Dean John Stinson, Professor Arthur J. Marinelli and Pre-Law Advisor Mary Keifer. The new officers of the Ohio University Chapter are President Terry Julian, Vice President John Ring and Treasurer Anne Smith.

The following day, May 5, 1982, the Drury College Pre-Law Chapter was established in Springfield, Missouri. Springfield is also the site of our first pre-law chapter, Southwest Missouri State University.

International Secretary Jack Miller, assisted by SMSU President Eric Hutson, was the installing officer as sixteen undergraduates became PAD Pre-Law members. The group will be led by President James Barry, Vice President Lee Cooper, Secretary Tracy Templeton and Treasurer Mark Hoemann, and will be ably assisted by Advisor Ruth Bamberger.

44th Biennial Convention To Convene August 4th

The 44th Biennial Convention of PAD will convene at the Radisson St. Louis Hotel in St. Louis, Missouri August 4, 1982.

Social events will include the International Justice's Reception on Tuesday evening, August 3rd, a buffet dinner and show at the Goldrod Showboat, a dinner and show in the park and the International Awards Banquet on August 7th.

An innovation at this Convention will be a Continuing Legal Education program which has been designed to interest and educate alumni members who will be in attendance. The program is also being offered to St. Louis PAD attorneys.

Trans World Airlines has been selected as the official airline carrier for this Convention. Persons wishing reservations may contact TWA through its special nationwide toll free telephone number to their Convention Desk. This is my last time to write this column and like those who have gone before me I undertake this effort with strong feelings of nostalgia. However, I am reminded that an old trial judge once admonished me that one's closing should be brief (emphasis his). Therefore, I will attempt to heed that admonition.

In my estimation, PAD stands like a beacon lighting the way for all to follow. It is an organization, a brotherhood committed to a heritage, a pride and integrity.

PAD's heritage is that of always being first, whether it originates in the Colonial Tavern in South Haven law related education programs or hundreds of thousands of young people across this country. A heritage to improve — the student, the law school and the profession. A heritage steeped in pride.

PAD's pride is born from success. Our pride is to dare to be great and not always succeed. Pride to accept the critical realization that what was first ten years ago is now old hat and thus be willing to change. Our pride is to always strive to be the best with integrity.

PAD's integrity arose from adversity. It endures despite continuing issues of adversity cloaked in professional, political or economic terms. Issues which would tear apart the bonds that unite any other group yet PAD continues not because of the efforts of a few but rather those of all our brothers, past, present and indeed future.

The personal joy and growth I have experienced in PAD since I first joined Garland Chapter in 1968 cannot be accurately measured. I do know my life has been enriched. For me PAD has been a beacon signifying that today is the best it has ever been but that tomorrow will even be better. My brothers, I thank you for all you have shared with me and the privilege you gave me to serve as your International Justice. God bless.

Fraternally,

PAD Juvenile Justice Program Awarded New Grant

The Department of Justice (DOJ) has awarded $166,978 to the PAD Juvenile Justice Office to continue its work in educating young people about our system of justice.

The PAD Juvenile Justice Office, located in Washington, D.C., is one of six grantees of the DOJ involved in a program which strives to increase participation of the legal profession in nationwide law-related education (LRE programs for elementary and high school students. This year, concentrated efforts by the six grantees will take place in three states: California, Michigan and North Carolina. An attempt will be made to institutionalize LRE in the public schools in these developmental sites so they can be used as models for other states.

The Juvenile Justice Office has been encouraged by the degree of Chapter involvement in LRE. Projects on the Chapter level take a variety of creative formats:

— Washington and Lee (Staples Chapter) law students teach eighth-graders a crash course in the basics of juvenile law.

— University of Denver (Hughes Chapter) law students organize an annual Mock Trial Competition.

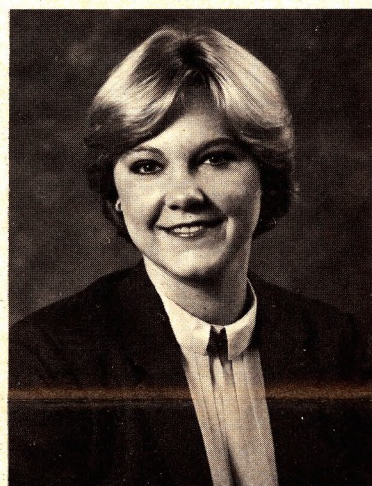

— University of Utah (Sutherland Chapter) law students teach a consumer education program for elementary school students.

— University of Bridgeport (Douglas Chapter) law students conduct a law-exploring post to acquaint high school students with law as a career.

— Cleveland-Marshall College of Law (Meck Chapter) participates in a "Street Law" program teaching basic legal research, general facts about court procedure, legal terminology, and how to look at problems from a legal perspective to high school students.

The Juvenile Justice Office has produced a manual specifically for the use of law students in designing and implementing programs. This manual will be introduced at a special workshop to be conducted by the Juvenile Justice Office at this year's annual convention.

This program is a cost-effective, viable approach to exposing young people to social and civic responsibilities and for preventing delinquency.

BETTY ROBERTS

Haynsworth Is Most Senior Fed. Ct. App. Judge

Brother Clement F. Haynsworth became a Judge of the Fourth United States Circuit Court of Appeals in 1957. In 1964 he became Chief Judge and has served in that capacity since that time.

With 23 years of service and at age 68, he is the most Senior Chief Judge of a Federal Court of Appeals.

His opinions have been marked with clarity and precision and he has earned the respect, admiration and affection of the lawyers that practice before him, as well as his colleagues throughout the Federal Judiciary.

His Fourth Circuit has been among the leaders in adopting innovations in internal and administrative improvements within the courts. He feels strongly that such are one means of improving judicial productivity. For a number of years after he went on the court, the circuit handled a caseload of less than 80 cases for each active circuit judge per year. The circuit is now capable of handling a caseload of over 220 for each active circuit judge. He does not feel that the innovations have in any way affected the disposition of cases without full briefing and argument.

One of his most recent proposals is the creation of a new national court to provide direct review of convictions coming from federal and state proceedings and thereby abandon current reliance on the use of collateral proceedings to review such matters. The purpose of this proposal is to expand the appellate capacity so that under the supervision of the Supreme Court one federal national court in deserving cases could provide direct review of state court convictions without the intervention of lower federal courts.

Judge Haynsworth, when asked if he would have objections to the use of television in the district or appellate courts, indicated that he certainly would. He fears that even though television cameras can now be operated so unobtrusively that their presence during a trial would not be disruptive, nevertheless the participants in the trial would know that the proceedings were being taped and in almost every case some participant would be tempted to play to the television audience. To the extent that one or more participants did that there would be distraction from the trial process.

Haynsworth is a member of Jefferson Chapter.
