PAD Receives New Federal Grant For Law-Related Education

Phi Alpha Delta has been awarded its seventh consecutive grant of federal funds by the Department of Justice in Washington for the continuation of its law-related education program on a nationwide basis. By the signature of Alfred S. Regnery, Administrator of the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, the PAD grant program will continue until August 1985. This action brings the federal funding support to a level exceeding $1 million over the period of the Fraternity's service in this field which began in February 1979.

11 Host States

The 1984 LRE program will concentrate Fraternity program efforts in 11 host states, including the states of California, Colorado, Florida, Hawaii, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Nevada, Oregon, North Carolina, and Tennessee.

Since the Miami Beach convention last August, PAD chapters in the 11 host states have been urged to adopt and operate local LRE programs. Both law school and alumni chapters in these states are being supported by the network of PAD Statewide LRE Coordinators, who now serve in almost 40 states of the union.

An excellent example of such leadership is that of Marvin Moss, of Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, who also served as co-chairman of the summer convention. Recently, a statewide LRE conference was held in Miami on December 13, 1984. PAD organized and paid for community teams to attend this conference from St. Petersburg, Gainesville, Tallahassee, Ft. Lauderdale and Miami, cities where PAD law school chapters are located. Such teams included law students, faculty advisors, alumni lawyers, and local educators. Training workshops to assist them in developing local LRE programs were conducted by Brother David Schimmel, who travelled to the conference from Amherst, Massachusetts. His workshop on community participation was highly successful. Marvin Moss was assisted by Martha McQuade of Washington, D.C., who also serves as the PAD Statewide LRE Coordinator for Maryland.

Chapter Interest Heightened

The October 1984 Reporter carried a lead story on page one, urging law school and alumni chapters to establish LRE programs. This encouragement, coupled with the Convention workshop in August on law-related education, "has led to an unprecedented creation of chapter interest in law related education," according to Robert E. Redding, past International Justice and Project Director of the Juvenile Justice Office in Washington, D.C. Letters, telegrams, telephone calls and conferences have demonstrated a very strong interest of law student and alumni PAD members in the LRE program. Examples include the recent requests for LRE materials from (1) Waite Chapter at the University of Dayton; (2) Murphy Chapter at the University of Detroit (which did mock trial work in 1983-84); (3) Hoynes Chapter at the University of Notre Dame; (4) Lawson Chapter at the University of Missouri; (5) S. Douglas Chapter at Southern Illinois University; (6) Harlan Chapter at the University of Oklahoma; (7) Kenison Chapter at the Franklin Pierce Law Center in New Hampshire; (8) Rockefeller Chapter at Albany Law School; (9) Touro Chapter at Touro Law School in Huntington, New York; and many others.

Symposium Held

On October 13, 1984, a three-state symposium on law-related education was held in Washington, D.C., attended by PAD law school and alumni chapter representatives from Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, and the District of Columbia. This symposium included a special report on the activities of the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention by Terry Donahue, then-Director of the National Training Division which was in charge of the LRE program. At the conclusion of this symposium, coordinated by an effective team of Lisa Lahrman, Martha McQuade, Colin Connelly, and Joe O'Brien, all such chapters committed themselves to conduct an LRE program during the current school year.

Story Chapter at DePaul University in Chicago held a "Juvenile Justice Day" for all kindergarten-to-eighth grade classrooms in a nearby public school on November 8, 1984. In addition to PAD activities in the 11 host states, PAD has participated this fall in special LRE workshops in non-host-site states, such as Rhode Island, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania. Phi Alpha Delta has also succeeded in generating support for law-related education by the government of Puerto Rico through the assistance of District Justice Hector Mendez-Loucil and other alumni of San Juan. In the spring, workshops will be scheduled to train teachers and resource persons who will provide LRE to the ninth grade students of the Commonwealth.

South Bend Model

Of special interest is the development of a "South Bend Model" by Hoynes Chapter at Notre Dame, that will help other chapters carry out such projects as (1) using high school students on law school moot court juries; (2) arranging police ride-alongs for teachers and students; (3) conducting local field trips to visit juvenile justice facilities; (4) providing resource persons services in local classrooms; and (5) assisting in coaching local mock trial teams in the high schools.

The expanding PAD program in law-related education has also received the key support of volunteer alumni who serve as PAD Statewide LRE Coordinators in some 40 states of the union (list enclosed if space is available).

Deans To Play Role

Phi Alpha Delta has also played a lead role in seeking to stimulate support for LRE by the law school deans of America. In cooperation with the National Institute for Citizenship Education in the Law, PAD has extended an invitation to all law school deans to attend a special breakfast on law-related education on January 4, 1985 at the annual meeting of the Association of American Law Schools at which it is hoped to generate a support resolution for law-related education. Brother David McCarthy, former Dean at the Georgetown University Law Center and pioneer in LRE for the Fraternity, will be a major spokesman. Personal invitations have been extended by Director Redding to the 33 PAD law school deans expected to attend the AALS breakfast session. PAD has also recently participated

PSJ John L. Griffith Dies

John L. Griffith who served as Supreme Justice of the Fraternity from 1958 to 1960, died recently in Denver, Colorado.

Brother Griffith, long a mainstay of PAD in the Denver area and a member of Gunter Chapter at the University of Colorado, was still practicing law at the time of his death and had practiced for some 55 years. He was in partnership with his sister Mary and maintained offices in the Midland Savings Building.

He served a number of years as District Justice for the areas of Colorado and Utah and served as Second Supreme Vice Justice from 1954 to 1956 and as First Supreme Vice Justice from 1956 to 1958.

He was also a past Potentate of the El Jabel Temple Nobels of the Mystic Shrine, past President of the Council of Churches of Colorado and well known for his prominence in Denver civic affairs.

in recent Washington sessions sponsored by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge relating to citizen rights and responsibilities. These VIP conferences were addressed by Brother Warren D. Burger, Chief Justice of the United States; Brother Strom Thurmond, President Pro Tem of the United States Senate, and Edwin Meese, Assistant Counsel to the President. It will be recalled that the Freedoms Foundation conferred a highly prestigious award on PAD in 1983 for its work in law-related education.

Sports And Law

A new and intriguing LRE program has been developed by PAD consultant Linda Riekes of the St. Louis Public Schools and others for use in 7th grade classrooms, called "Sports and Law." Materials about this new curriculum, involving local professional sports teams, have been distributed to all PAD Statewide LRE Coordinators.

The Fraternity is also developing additional resource materials for use early in 1985 by the legal profession and school systems in LRE classrooms. They will include resource guides on law enforcement officer training, judicial training and jury education, PAD Partnership (lawyer-educator) Program, and the best usage of resource persons by educators.

Recognition Received

What is clearly evident from this summary of PAD activity is that the Fraternity has achieved an increasingly higher visibility in the circles of government and the private sector for its contributions to juvenile justice and delinquency prevention. In a new brochure published by the American Bar Association about law-related education, PAD is quoted as asserting its support for LRE because it "encourages all local communities to join the trend toward nationwide law-related education. Local leaders in education and the law should give priority to offering this low-cost program to all school districts."

It is now widely accepted that the long-term success and continuity of law-related education in the local communities of America is dependent on the grassroots leadership and support of local community leaders, a role for which Phi Alpha Delta is particularly suited.

News From The Law School Chapters

U.S. Sen. Simpson Honorarily Initiated

PAD's newest law school chapter, Blume Chapter at the University of Wyoming, initiated United States Senator Alan Simpson as an honorary member of the Fraternity on October 8, 1984. Representing the International Executive Board at the initiation was former District IV Justice Douglas Tisdale who is fast gaining a reputation as one of Colorado's most outstanding trial attorneys. Also participating in the ceremonies was chapter Justice Colin Simpson who took particular pleasure in bringing his father, Senator Simpson, into the brotherhood of PAD.

Other dignitaries who are honorarily initiated on the same occasion were Wyoming Supreme Court Justices Joseph Cardine and Charles Brown.

Whittier College Chapter Reports

A.L. Stephens, Sr. Chapter at Whittier College School of Law has had a Fall semester full of varied activities. Such had included "The Great Debate" which had as its purpose informing law students about current issues relating to church and state (1st and 14th Amendments), a softball round robin tournament involving PAD chapters from Whittier, Southwestern, U.C.L.A., U.S.C., Loyola of Los Angeles and Pepperdine University and a Halloween party complete with elaborate costumes.

U./ Colorado Progresses

Gunter Chapter at the University of Colorado has experienced a resurgence of interest in activity. At the 1984 International Convention in Miami Beach it received an award for a 100% increase in membership. Functions recently sponsored by the chapter have included a lunch with members of the Colorado Supreme Court and Colorado Court of Appeals, an evening at local dinner theatre to raise money for the law school library, the showing of bar refresher video cassettes, presentations on sports law, the selling of car window stickers, and faculty/student mixers and wine and cheese receptions.

Golden Gate U.

A wine and cheese reception proved to be a popular rush event last Spring for Dirksen Chapter at Golden Gate University. Prominent members in attendance included District II Justice Lillian Stenfeldt, chapter Alumni Advisor Renee Schaible, and law school registrar Wally Walker.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

With very little fanfare, the delegates to the 45th Biennial Convention in Miami Beach this past August took a giant step to bring Phi Alpha Delta in tune with the mid-1980s. By expanding our fraternal slogan, the Fraternity now boasts about what we have seriously been engaged in for over ten years: serving our communities. PAD is now officially known for its "Service to the Law Student, the Law School, the Profession and the Community!"

Community service by attorneys is of substantial importance. In prior years, before the advent of lawyer advertising, lawyers generally paid lip service to community service by joining a service club like Kiwanis or Sertoma, and by paying dues to the Chamber of Commerce. After all, it broadened your acquaintances and contacts — it was good for business.

That attitude won't cut it in 1985. True and meaningful contributions of ideas, time, energy and leadership in all areas of voluntary community service is now required in order to improve the quality of life in every hometown, right where most lawyers are earning their livings. And law school members and Chapters are setting the pace.

I have already heard of the many Chapters who have completed Thanksgiving Food Basket programs, Christmas Orphan Shopping Tours and Good Neighbor projects. Other Chapters are gearing up for March of Dimes campaigns, Easter Seal activities and the Special Olympics.

Law school studies have the positive effect of developing the brain; PAD Community Service program participation will do nothing but develop your heart, into a very big one!

Fraternally,
STANLEY H. KOHN

Law School Chapter News

The chapter includes among its members Dean Walter Reed and Professors Martha Davis and Richard Barnes.

Activities undertaken so far include sponsorship of class composites, presentations on constitutional law to local junior high schools, preparations for initiating an undergraduate chapter of PAD in the Criminal Justice program and a meeting with U.S. District Court Judge John Jones.

Memphis State Initiates New Programs

McKellar Chapter at Memphis State University has initiated several new programs this Fall. Among such are a police ride-along program, county courthouse tour, establishment of a pre-law chapter at Memphis State University and a Halloween program. The chapter has already held one initiation ceremony and plans another in the near future due to the heightened interest of 1st year students in PAD.

U. of Nebraska Initiates

Reese Chapter at the University of Nebraska College of Law began the semester with only 6 active members and experienced a 500% growth when it initiated 29 persons on September 29, 1984 in the newly opened Welpton Courtroom. Chapter Justice Steve Nesson presided over the ceremony which capped several weeks of intensive recruiting.

The chapter opened its recruiting by hosting a poolside wine and cheese party that also served to distribute information concerning PAD. Over a period of weeks the chapter sponsored a series of freshmen survival skills seminars open to all new students. The seminars were conducted by upperclassmen, professors and guest speakers from the profession.

Another program sponsored by the chapter is an assistance program for freshmen who want an upperclassman to help edit writings. Reese Chapter plans to expand its academic seminars and also assist upperclassmen in securing summer clerkships and in finding permanent positions after graduation.

Plans for the Spring semester include various social activities, a second initiation and the organization of a pre-law chapter.

Watkins Assists the Needy

Raymond Watkins Chapter in North Carolina Central University School of Law recently provided a family of 4 enough food to carry them through the Thanksgiving holiday and after. This is an annual project for the chapter which supports not only a great many professional programs but also social and community programs as well. Watkins

Chapter recently initiated a new group of members at the Durham County Courthouse. In attendance were 55 persons including Alumni Advisor Henry Moss, Faculty Advisor Jack Johnson and Robert Bon-signore, Vice Chairperson of the Student Division of the American Bar Association.

U. of Wash. Initiates

Dunbar Chapter at the University of Washington held its annual Fall initiation on November 18, 1984. The initiation was followed by the chapter's annual Fall Brunch where new initiate Lee Creighton was elected chapter Clerk.

Fleming Chapter Having Fantastic Year

Fleming Chapter at Nova Law Center in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida has had a fantastic semester and promise of an even better Spring. During orientation week, chapter officers spoke to groups of incoming students about their law school experience and especially for the Fraternity. Early in the Fall a rush party was held on campus with over 400 persons attending. The initiation ceremony that followed a month later was one of the largest ever at Nova. The chapter now has 130 active members.

A Halloween party in late October again attracted new Fraternity members and boosted the chapter's position as the most popular and largest Fraternity at the law school. Subsequently, the District XX Conference was also held at the law school and in attendance were delegates from the University of Miami and the University of Florida. The chapter

Tucson Alumni Chapter Chartered

Tucson area alumni met on February 22, 1984 to charter the Old Pueblo Tucson Alumni Chapter.

The petition for an alumni chapter was sponsored and supported by Knox Chapter at the University of Arizona as a community service project. Heading up the project was Knox Chapter Justice James Whitehill. Whitehill said that the project was designed as part "of an effort to improve local alumni relations and bring the bar and students together." Prominent among the charter members were United States Senator Dennis DeConcini and Tucson Mayor Lewis Murphy. Other charter members were Charles H. Whitehill, W.C. Scott, William C. Smitherman, Kirk Scott Cookson, Deborah Dybvig, William E. Perry, III, Harvey Jurkowitz, T.L. Schuessler, Lowell E. Rothschild, Richard G. Potts, Cindi Nanetti and William Kimble.

The law school chapter hopes that through the alumni chapter a PAD law clerking program and eventually a scholarship program can be devised.

In addition to the alumni chapter chartering, Knox chapter also honored two prominent University of Arizona law college faculty members by bringing them into honorary membership. They were Dean Paul Marcus and Professor Thomas Mauet.

At the same time, an initiation of new members was conducted which brought Knox Chapter's new initiates to 45 for the year with the chapter strength at over 75 members.

was pleased to have in attendance International Justice Stanley Kohn, District Justice Dave Murray and Deputy International Justice Marvin Moss. Next semester the chapter plans to co-sponsor an alumni picnic with the student government and host a cocktail party for PAD alumni in the South Florida area.

Juvenile Justice Day at DePaul

Last November 8th, Story Chapter at DePaul University held a Juvenile Justice Day. The purpose of the event was to introduce school age children to the field of law by showing them how it effects their everyday lives. Chapter members Lynda Peters, Marina Wright, Monica Foucher, and Cathy Nichols were in charge of the day. Each PAD member headed a one hour presentation on a topic involved in the field of law. The presentation was in a question and answer format and the purpose was to involve the students thoughts and ideas at every stage. The presentation was so successful that the school has invited the chapter to return next year.

Iredell Honors Senator Ervin

Iredell Chapter at Campbell University held its annual banquet October 18, 1984 and honored former U.S. Senator San Ervin.

The chapter has sponsored various events such as a survival kit as a part of orientation, a housing fair, and ice cream social, chapter initiation, chicken-pickin' and the sale of PAD shirts.

N.Y.U. Initiates 43

On October 14th, Rapallo Chapter at N.Y.U. initiated 43 new members. In attendance were International Treasurer Rick Pearson, District XV Justice Cliff Schechter and Rapallo Chapter alumni Don Katz and Philip Greenberg. In addition, Dennis Cotto, head of Legal Outreach, Inc., the group with whom the chapter runs its Juvenile Justice program, was in attendance.

Rapallo Chapter which is now in its 2nd year since reactivation now boasts some 70 members. The chapter has implemented a number of diverse programs including Juvenile Justice, Police Ride-along and a Faculty Moot Court.

U. of So. Dakota Goes from 1 to 36

Doyle Chapter at the University of South Dakota has grown from 1 member to 36 since the beginning of the school year. This remarkable revitalization is due in major part to the efforts of chapter Justice Dan Rogers.

Boston College Publishes Law School Directory

Kenealy Chapter is presently in the midst of a very successful year. Its membership ranks were sorely depleted by last year's graduates but a strong class of new initiates has brought the chapter back into prominence in the law school. The chapter recently published an annual law school student directory and is currently involved in a Day With A Judge and a Lunch With A Professor programs. Kenealy also intends to increase its social activities as it has received first time funding from Boston College Law School's student association.

Cornell Initiates 51

On September 11, Wilson Chapter at Cornell Law School held its Fall initiation which saw 51 law students become members as well as Dean of students, John Lee Smith. In attendance were International Tribune Joseph A. Tringali and former Executive Secretary and District Justice Ronald J. Winter. The initiation concluded the chapter's most successful rush since its reactivation a few years ago. Presiding over the ceremonies was chapter Justice Meredyth Smith.

Bridgeport Chapter is Largest in District

William O. Douglas Chapter at the University of Bridgeport School of Law recently initiated 74 new members and is now the largest chapter of PAD in the district. Among the honored guests were PAD Dean Howard Glickstein, Faculty Advisor Professor James Murphy and District XIV Justice Ron Winter. Presiding over the initiation ceremonies were chapter Justice Kieran Cassidy. Later in the evening a number of awards were presented to PAD's. Ray Martin was honored for Distinguished Service to PAD over the last two years and was given credit for being the "Father of the Book Exchange." Scott Nickerson received the award for the PAD with the highest overall grade point average.

Successful events being operated by the chapter are First Year Survival Seminar, First and Second Year Placement Seminar, Law Explorers, Blood Drive and other events of service to the members and the law school.

Butler Chapter Moves Ahead

Pierce Butler Chapter at William Mitchell College of Law reports that the chapter is moving steadily ahead and having outstanding success.

The chapter recently held an initiation which brought its total membership to 50 persons.

Butler Chapter has sponsored a student orientation program, a question and answer booth, a joint BRI/BRC bar review course seminar and a test taking seminar. Butler members also recently enjoyed a theatre night out at the world famous Guthrie Theatre.

U./Louisville Successful Fund Raising

Vinson Chapter at the University of Louisville has experienced a Fall semester replete with various types of programs. Prominent among these programs has been the chapter's fund raising affairs. At the beginning of the semester the chapter found itself in debt to the tune of some $870.00 to the International organization. The principal fund raising effort of the chapter was a raffle where the chapter raffled off some 30 items obtained from law school professors. Through this effort and others, the chapter raised over $2,000.00.

The chapter's rush activities have also been successful and the Fall initiation will be followed by an initiation next February.

Other activities conducted include the beginning of a course outline library, an outlining seminar for 1st year students and a speakers program. For the Spring semester, Vinson Chapter is planning a Judges Reception, Police Ride-along program, Luau and Spring Banquet.

deBracton Chapter Faculty Advisor Becomes Vice Dean

deBracton Chapter which is located at St. John's University School of Law is pleased to advise that its Faculty Advisor Edward T. Fagan has recently been named to the position of Vice Dean. In addition, deBracton alumnus U.S. Federal Bankruptcy Judge Conrad B. Duberstein will again lecture at St. John's on Bankruptcy Issues and Creditors Rights. Chapter Justice Karen O'Donnell has been named Editor of the New York State Bar Association Environmental Law Journal and has also published several articles in the journal since 1983.

Success and Awards at Alden Chapter

On September 24th, Alden Chapter initiated 41 new members raising the total membership to 108. The initiation was well attended by students, faculty and PAD alumni. In attendance were PAD Dean Thomas E. Headrick, International Tribune Joseph A. Tringali and District Justice Ronald J. Winter.

The tremendous success of the chapter's rush came close on the heels of an award filled convention in Miami where Alden Chapter was named the Outstanding Chapter in District XIV as well as one of the top finalists in the International Outstanding Chapter Competition. In addition, chapter Clerk Randy Donatelli was awarded the Frank E. Gray Award for Outstanding Law School Chapter Clerk for 1983-84.

Alden Chapter recently initiated Professor Michael A. Schaeffler as a faculty member. In his acceptance speech, Professor Schaeffler praised PAD for its outstanding service to the legal profession and for making the quality of the life of the law student "more joyful."

Future plans of the chapter are to implement a Law-Related Education program, Inns of Court program, informal lunches with prominent local PAD's, and the co-sponsoring of a Dinner With a Judge Night with Buffalo alumni.

U./ So. Carolina Honorary Initiates

Pinckney Chapter at the University of South Carolina held an honorary initiation on September 27, 1984. Honorably initiated were 3 members of the South Carolina Court of Appeals, Hon. Jasper Cureton, Randall Bell, and Jolbert Goolsby. That event also served as the occasion for the initiation of a large group of new members into the law school chapter.

Black - Arizona State

Black Chapter at Arizona State University College of Law reports a Fall semester replete with activities. On September 11th, it held a symposium on the Professional Job Interview. Its purpose was to inform law students concerning the professional interviewing process . . . what private law firms expect from on-campus interviews . . . what it takes to get invited to a firm interview . . . and what to expect at the firm interview. This program was conducted immediately preceding the hiring season at the college of law.

The chapter reports 44 new initiates this semester and the honorary initiation of law school Dean Paul Bender. Dean Bender has previously served as Assistant to the Solicitor General of the United States and has appeared before numerous congressional committees, the latest being a hearing before the Judiciary Committee concerning the school prayer amendment in the Senate.

The chapter is also presenting a series of lectures on topics of interest in the criminal law area featuring guest speakers from the legal profession.

U./ Idaho Reports

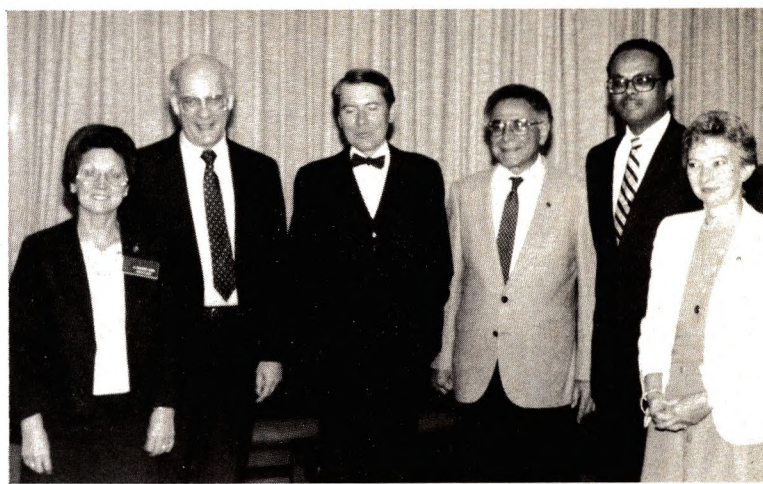

William Borah Chapter at the University of Idaho reports that its Marshal Eileen McDevitt is the first University of Idaho student to be elected as a Governor of the American Bar Association/Law Student Division. Two of its members, Heidi Vetter and Joe Williams, were members of the law school's ABA Moot Court Team. The chapter has recently sponsored a back to law school party and functions designed to introduce the 1st year students to the various study aids available as well as introduce them to PAD.

Butler Chapter has ABA Representative

Butler Chapter at William Mitchell College of Law reports that Ann E. Houle was recently appointed National American Bar Association Law Student Division liaison to the ABA Standing Committee on Lawyers' Title Guaranty Funds.

St. Louis U. Activities

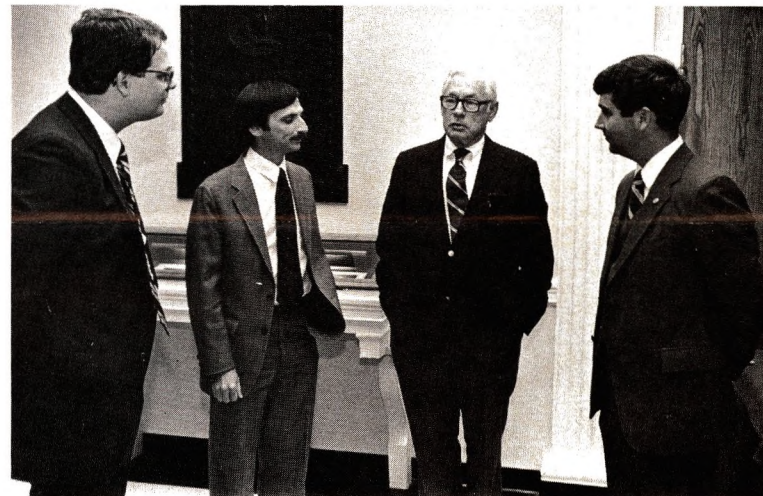

John L. Sullivan Chapter at St. Louis University reports a full schedule of activities for the past year. Included have been a happy hour, hot dog roast, bake sale, blood drive, and a baseball game and tailgate party.
