JUNE GRADUATES

To each of our brothers who will complete his law course next month, I wish to offer my personal congratulations and sincere wishes for a successful career in the law.

May the principles and ideals of Phi Alpha Delta actuate and encourage you as you enter your profession and continue to sustain and strengthen you.

I advise those of you who will locate in the larger centers, to affiliate with your local Phi Alpha Delta Alumni Chapter as soon as possible. The older men will welcome you and assist you in countless ways and they will be glad to have the benefit of your enthusiasm and active cooperation.

As opportunity affords, visit your active Chapter. Do not forget that it is your Chapter and that you and all of its Alumni are necessary and important factors in its strength.

I would remind those of you who would start practicing in the smaller communities, and the city men as well, that the Quarterly will aid you greatly to keep in touch with your local Chapter and the Fraternity as a whole. Subscribe for it now.

Our next Biennial Convention will be held at the Chase Hotel, St. Louis, Missouri, December 29, 30 and 31 of this year. It will be an inspiration to those of you who can attend, to meet brothers from all over the country. It will bring to you a far greater realization of the national scope and power for good of Phi Alpha Delta.

To All of You, God Speed

The Purpose of the American Law Institute

A Significant Forward Step in the Profession of the Law;

Difficulties to be Overcome

THE American Law Institute was formally organized in Continental Memorial Hall, at Washington, D. C., on February 23, 1923. Little has been said or written relative to its activities. Many practicing lawyers, hard working judges and college professors have given freely of their time and energy during the past two years, without money compensation, in the hope that a real forward step might be taken in the great profession of the law and a service worth while result to our country.

The work is so stupendous and the progress, thus far, while encouraging, is so comparatively little, that I propose in this article not to discuss what has been done, but the necessity for the undertaking.

Lest the reader of what I have to say later in this article may think that I am a pessimist, I desire to state at the outset that I am quite the reverse. The practice of the law is the greatest of all the professions; it is great because of the opportunity which it gives for real service, the opportunity to help individuals in securing their rights through law enforcement, and the opportunity which it furnishes in the way of helping to shape the laws of state and nation in such a way that when they are executed and enforced justice will come to the greatest number. It is a great profession because, in performing this work of knowing, shaping and executing the law, the individual is himself raised to a higher plane and becomes a bigger and a better man.

By BROTHER ARTHUR J. TUTTLE

U. S. District Judge for the Eastern District of Michigan

Now, having assured you of my optimism relative to the profession of the law, I am at the same time forced to admit that of all the professions the law is the only one which has not advanced during the century and a half of the existence of this country. The requirements have been raised so that lawyers must bear a better reputation than in the old days and they must have a better general education and a more technical knowledge of the law than in former years. What I mean when I say that we have not advanced, is that we have not advanced in the cause of securing justice. That is our job as lawyers, judges and professors. If we serve the world in our profession it is because we help to bring to the individual, the corporation, the municipality and the public generally, those rights and privileges which spell real justice. Let us for an instant look at what has been happening during the century and a half in the other professions. It is not necessary even to discuss or argue the matter; I need only to briefly suggest it. Take the medical profession, for example; fifty years ago people were afflicted with appendicitis just as they are now; when so afflicted they went to the family doctor; he did not know what was the matter with them, therefore he could not treat them, and many people died because the doctor did not know what was the matter and did not know how to treat the patient. The medical profession, however, has so rapidly and successfully advanced that every doctor of average ability who gives his attention to the subject of appendicitis is able to diagnose it, the treatment is well known and the results are uniformly successful. There has been the same great degree of progress in connection with very many of the ills which haunt the human family.

Dentistry has made similar advancement. No longer does a patient lie in the dental chair for hours while the gold foil is hammered into the cavity. An impression is taken and while the patient is about his business the dentist prepares the inlay and upon the return visit it is dropped into place and the patient, without delay, goes on doing his work and eating his beefsteak.

The things the freshman knows about chemistry today were unknown a quarter of a century ago. In almost every line of activity we find that quicker, cheaper and better service is being given than in former years.

We return to our own dear profession of the law, and discover that during these same years we have not advanced one single step and in fact, we have been going in the wrong direction. While the young doctor just out of college is able to treat a case of appendicitis better than the veteran surgeon of half a century ago, and while the dentist who opened his office yesterday can put in a better filling than could the experienced dentist at the beginning of this century, the young lawyer can not secure justice for his client as quickly, as cheaply, or as certainly as the lawyer of the previous generations. The reason for this is very apparent; Congress is in session nearly all of the time, passing new laws and amending and repealing old laws. Each one of the 48 states has a law-making body which is busy a good share of the time creating new statutes and tinkering with the old ones. The Federal Statutes have not been revised during the last half century (1874). The laws of the State of Michigan have not been revised within a decade (1915). The other forty-seven states revise their laws only on rare occasions. The lawyer who wishes to find out what the statutory law is, and particularly whether or not there is a federal statute on a certain subject, has a real problem. Congress is too busy investigating itself and the other departments of government, and in passing new laws and tinkering with the old ones, to revise the laws already passed so that we can find out what the statutory law of the country is.

However, the real problem is not with the statutory law but with the common law. When one stops to think of the number of lawyers, judges and college professors who have burned the midnight oil and given to the profession the best that was in them in the way of integrity and legal thought, one would naturally expect that as the years have gone on the cause of justice has been made easier and better; but here, again, we are mistaken. While the thousands of judges in the forty-eight states and in the courts of the United States, with the assistance of the lawyer's brief and the college professor's text-book, have been writing, filing and publishing the very best opinions of which they were capable, they have simply been adding to the confusion of the profession. There are so many opinions and decisions on the numerous and varied questions of the law that the diligent lawyer can almost always find a decision of some court on his particular side of a case. In other words, there are decisions on both sides of almost every conceivable question of the law. One of these questions comes before the judge; if it is a question which has been decided frequently during the last century, then it is the duty of that judge, independent of his own thought on the subject, to decide according to the weight of the authorities. If there is an energetic lawyer on the wrong side of the case and a lazy lawyer on the right side, it may be presented to the judge in such a way that it will appear that the weight of authority is on the opposite side from where it actually rests. If the judge is lazy or overburdened with work he is likely to decide the case wrongly. The danger of doing this is greater today than it was a hundred years ago, and still greater than it was fifty years ago. If present methods continue the danger will be still greater next year. Each state has a large number of judges writing opinions; there are very many federal judges writing opinions; these opinions are finding their way into the leather-bound books. Each year it costs the young lawyer more to get a law library and each year it takes a longer time for a lawyer to go through that library and find out what the law is. Each passing year makes it correspondingly more expensive for the client and each year the danger for mistakes is increased. While the other professions have been making it easier and cheaper to serve the patrons well, it unfortunately has so happened that it has been continually becoming more difficult and more expensive to serve the legal client and the service rendered is of a poorer grade than in former years. I say it is of a poorer grade because more mistakes are being made in this important work of dealing out justice.

Are we to let this go on from year to year and from decade to decade? Must the old lawyer keep getting more law books and the young lawyer work on a salary added years because he can not buy the necessary tools for his profession? Must the diligent lawyer who wishes to exhaust a subject increase from year to year the amount of time given to each question, and charge bigger fees for a more faulty service? What is the remedy for all this? Only one has been suggested and that entails difficulties and obstacles that seem unsurmountable. The importance of the cause involved justifies the undertaking of a stupendous task. The one and only suggestion offered is a proposal to re-state the common law so that the work of all these lawyers, professors and judges who have worked during the years of this country's existence may be available; in other words, to shake out the chaff and get the grain where it can be used for the food of justice. This is the work which the American Law Institute is undertaking. It proposes to classify the common law and then to take up each particular subject and re-write its rules and principles, clearly and plainly stating what the law is on each and every point and question. It is believed that if this can be done by men of ability and integrity, the average lawyer and the average judge, and, in fact, from a practical standpoint, all the lawyers and all the judges will be content in the usual case to go back to this re-statement of the law and accept that as the correct law on a particular question and subject. I might liken this proposed re-statement of the law to the matter of title to real estate. For example, here in this great Fourth City of the Nation, Detroit, the expense would be almost prohibitive if, whenever a piece of property changed hands it were necessary for the lawyer examining the title to trace it from today clear back to the government. In examining an abstract the lawyer goes back to some point up to which he, or lawyers in whom he has confidence, have already examined that particular title in some other piece of property and he accepts what is prior to that as settled and well known. It is proposed that the law as re-written by the American Law Institute shall be accepted as the result of the work of the profession during the period which has preceded this re-statement. Surely, the young lawyer and any other lawyer who has a client who can not afford to pay him for a week's work in searching thousands of law books will be glad to quickly turn to this re-statement and ascertain the law. The only questions that can be raised are along the lines of the difficulties of the problem and the danger of mistakes. Many will say that it can not be done. My answer to this is that it is possible, then it ought to be done and I believe it will be done.

The American Law Institute has already taken up the work on the subjects of Torts, Contracts, and Conflict of Laws. The Law Institute is attempting to combine the practical ability of the lawyers, the theoretical training of the college professors and the judicial mind of the judges, in producing a re-statement of the law which will not only accurately record the meritorious thoughts of the century on the subject, but which will do this in a concise, simple, and intelligible manner which can be readily understood and used.

My real purpose in writing this article is to put the reader in the frame of mind where he will be ready to help and encourage the work of the American Law Institute. I readily concede that the task proposed is very big and very difficult; it will be easy to criticize.

The fact that the task is difficult is the best argument I know of to suggest the necessity for it. If you must argue that it is impossible to re-write the law so as to state what it is, then what is the problem for the young man just starting in the profession when the client sits down on the other side of the table and asks him what the law is? I urge you to encourage the work of the American Law Institute and to have in mind that we have not taken a forward step in our profession since our country came into existence, and that this is the only real step in advance which any one has ever proposed.

The Leadership of the Bar is Threatened

From an Address given before the Chicago Alumni Chapter's

Annual Spring Banquet

THE legal profession, including the bench and the bar, is today a storm center. Criticism is being directed

By BROTHER ALBERT J. HARNO

Dean of the College of Law

University of Illinois

to have said. When the Declaration of Independence was written and later when the Constitution was framed, lawyers were conspicuous in their leadership. at the profession because of the defects in the administration of the criminal law. The law is being criticized because of its technicalities, its bulkiness, its uncertainty and its delays. There is complaint of the lawyer because of his want of humanness, his verbosity and his failure to meet issues on their merits and in the interests of justice.

This is not the first time that popular feeling has turned against the profession. At the very beginning of history one finds it frequently made the subject of sarcasm. Instances of this are recorded in the "Wasps" of Aristophanes; later by Racine in his "Litigants," and by Wycherly in "The Plain Dealer." It is related by Diodorus that in ancient Egypt no lawyer was permitted to exist within the realm for he was regarded as an enemy of the state. The very profession of the law was not allowed to be practiced because it was considered that lawyers darkened the administration of justice. In the various ideal republics that have been written about it has been quite the usual thing to prohibit lawyers from practicing their profession.

There is no occurrence in the history of our profession which does not have a counterpart in America. During the early colonial period the lawyer is conspicuous in his absence. Matters of a legal nature were, during that period, as in the early English history, transacted by the clergy. During the later colonial period one finds a few lawyers appearing upon the scene. But these again were the objects of popular distrust, ridicule and sarcasm. However, when the period of the Revolutionary War was reached several lawyers of great eminence made their appearance and took part in the stirring events of that time. In fact it was principally the lawyer who assumed the leadership of affairs in those days. Just at the beginning of the Revolutionary period there came into prominence James Otis, a young Boston lawyer. His impassioned speeches against the hated writs of assistance provoked intense feeling against English rule. "The child independence was born on this occasion," John Adams, who was then a young law student taking notes at the trial, is quoted to have said. When the Declaration of Independence was written and later when the Constitution was framed, lawyers were conspicuous in their leadership. And so the pendulum has swung back and forth; at times the profession has been regarded as a blessing and at other times a scourge. Today we again find ourselves in the midst of an avalanche of criticism. There is a great surge of popular distrust, until it is freely predicted that some of the pre-eminence of the lawyer in public affairs is passing away. There are, too, various methods being devised to circumvent judicial trials and the necessity of turning to lawyers for advice. We find springing up various sorts of statutes providing arbitration of controversies. There are being appointed various semi-judicial boards and bodies before which a great deal of litigation is being heard. All of this bespeaks the popular discontent and exasperation with the profession.

May we inquire for a moment into the cause of the recurrence of such situations as I have just enumerated. It is, I believe, true whenever the lawyer has had the confidence of the people we have found him battling for the general interest. He has during these periods cast aside his professional equipment and has come out as a human being fighting for the interests of his fellow beings. During the periods when he has risen to heights he was dealing with the fundamentals of the law. His voice was eloquent in announcing and establishing the great principles and the spirit of the law. He is speaking a language which was intelligible and which carried conviction. During these periods the people have placed their trust in him and he has assumed the high places of leadership.

But the crisis past the lawyer has failed to follow up his vantage. He had not continued to carry the people with him and educate them in the purposes and the spirit of the law. He has during these periods withdrawn himself from the public and made of his profession a caste speaking an unintelligible and verbose jargon. Legal principles have at these times become merely machinery for the manipulation of the profession. The scientist, too, has made similar mistakes. It is most unbelievable today that any considerable group of people do not believe in the principles of evolution, yet we must accept this as a fact. For not only has one state already passed laws restricting the teaching of its principles, but there is also a widespread effort to include similar inhibitions in the legislation of other states. The difficulty has been that the scientist, as a lawyer, has not carried popular opinion with him and he is startled suddenly to find that this opinion has turned against him. We, in the legal profesison, must not forget that the law is not made for lawyers but that it affects all the people, and that it is made up of certain great principles which should be made intelligible to all people.

One of our brethren has recently left the profession and is now devoting all of his time to literature in which field he is becoming ever a more important figure. No doubt you will recognize immediately in this person our friend Arthur Train. I quote a paragraph from the preface of Mr. Train's recent book, "On the Trail of the Bad Men," "I had a burden, and a grievous one, which was my inability as a lawyer to express my own mind, and the fact that I was rapidly losing whatever individuality I had ever possessed; was in short becoming a mere composite or echo of all the other lawyers who had lived before me, even from the beginning of the world. For how can it be otherwise with us unfortunates, when we are not permitted to decide any point upon its real merits, or as gentlemen and sportsmen, when we cannot advise our clients according to the standards of ethics, morals, or even "justice," but must, irrespective of the common sense of the matter, perforce be bound by the idiosyncratic decision of some irascible bigwig several hundred years gone by, which has kept on growing like a legal stalactite and upon which our misfortune is about to crystallize as the final drop?"

While Mr. Train may be overdrawing the situation somewhat there is yet in his language a germ of truth which we must all admit and admitting, accept. It is almost beyond comprehension that so intelligent a part of our citizenry as the bar could be writing today as it does in such unintelligible English, and feel itself tied to the past to the extent that it does.

Every legal document, every pleading, is made up of a series of antiquated phrases and is overgrown by an "orotund collection of extra words," that seem to conceal something "by a sort of protective coloration." May I illustrate by quoting from an indictment in a recent Illinois case (People v. Corder, 306 Ill., 264). It is there charged that the plaintiff did: "make an assault on one Jane Hardy, then and there a human being then and there in the peace of the People, and a certain pistol which was then and there loaded with gunpowder and divers leaden balls and by him, the said John F. Corder, had and held in his hands, he, the said John F. Corder, did then and there wilfully, unlawfully, feloniously and of his malice aforethought shoot off and discharge at, against and upon the said Jane Hardy, thereby, and by thus then and there striking the said Jane Hardy a certain mortal wound, of which said mortal wound she, the said Jane Hardy, from the eleventh day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, until afterwards, to-wit, the seventeenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, at and in the county of Vermillion, in the State of Illinois, did languish and languishing did live, on which said seventeenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, the said Jane Hardy, in the said county of Vermillion and State of Illinois aforesaid, of said mortal wound then and there died."

It is small wonder that intelligent people are asking if the members have not turned into a group of braying asses. May it be said to the great credit of our Supreme Court that it said of this indictment that it thought it meant that John Corder did unlawfully and with malice aforethought by shooting kill Jane Hardy. I turn again to Arthur Train's preface. He says: "It is really not the lawyer's fault if in these modern days, with a cigar in his mouth and a helpless stenographer on the opposite side of the desk, he sits and discharges a flux of meaningless and useless words that fill page upon page of banker's bond and bring confusion to the brain of the sanest client. For subconsciously that is his purpose. Things should not be made too simple, for what credit would there be in straightening them out? Put in a sufficient number of *said*s, *aforesaid*s, hereinafters and *before*s, sics, et sequ, supras, infras, et als, and whereases—and how the dog crossed the road becomes the very devil of an affair."

Turning our attention to just another feature, I believe it to be true that much of the want of confidence in our profession today is due to the fact that we have gone on in our own way self-sufficient and without an open-mindedness to receive the results of the learning and study of other branches of human knowledge. The law is not and cannot remain in a water-tight compartment by itself. It deals with the affairs of society; it touches life in various places and should consequently be coordinated with various other branches of knowledge. The late Mr. Chief Justice Winslow of Wisconsin has put it in this way: "The law cannot be regarded as a separate and distinct science covering a certain limited and well defined field and no more. It is the science of sciences. Lawyers, even while engaged in mere routine litigation, are daily dealing with practical problems, some commercial and some social in their nature. . . . If the lawyers are to maintain their prestige as leaders in governmental affairs, whether as legislators, lawyers, or judges, they must make themselves acquainted with economics and sociology, for these are the two great sciences which must play leading parts in the legislation which has already come, and is yet to come in greater volume." (Winslow, Wigmore Celebrated Legal Essays, 1919, 119-121).

Mr. Justice Holmes has stated the proposition succinctly as follows: "I cannot but believe that if the training of lawyers led them habitually to consider more definitely and explicitly the social advantage on which the rule they lay down must be justified, they sometimes would hesitate where now they are confident, and see that really they were taking sides upon debatable and often burning questions." (Holmes, Collected Legal Papers, 1919, 184).

Though I know I am in risk of tiring you, may I quote once more from Mr. Root: "He is a poor-spirited fellow who conceives that he has no duty but to his clients and sets before himself no object but personal success. To be a lawyer working for fees is not to be any the less a citizen whose unbought service is due to his community and his country with his best and constant effort. And the lawyer's profession demands of him something more than the ordinary public service of citizenship. In the cause of peace and order and human rights against all injustice and wrong, he is the advocate of all men, present and to come. If he fail in loyalty to this cause; if he have not the earnestness and sincerity which come from a strong desire to maintain the reign of the law; his voice will ring false in the courts and will fail to carry conviction to judicial minds." (From Addresses on Government and Citizenship, Root, p. 416.)

Is it not true that one of the great mistakes of our profession is that its members are forgetting the great principles of the law and that they are failing to carry the spirit of the law to the people? Parrot-like we learn certain rules by rote, frequently not knowing whence they come nor whither they tend. We are trained in legal forms but not in legal truths. Like the Scribes and the Pharisees we deal in the letter of the law but the spirit we know not. If the bar wishes to maintain its leadership in public affairs it is high time that its members become imbued with the principles of the law, that they cast off its spurious growth of verbosity, and having done this that they undertake a great missionary campaign to carry these principles to the people. In this manner, and so only, can the prestige of the profession be maintained.

Installation of David T. Watson Chapter

An Account of the Ceremonies at Pittsburgh when this Lusty Infant of the Fraternity Came into the World

DAVID T. Watson Chapter at the University of Pittsburgh College of Law, Pittsburgh, Pa., was installed on

By GEORGE E. FINK
Supreme Justice

Saturday, May 9, 1925. The initiation and installation ceremonies took place in the courtroom of Judge Carnahan in the City County Building, permission to use same having been procured from Judge Carnahan by Brother Bradley McKinley Burns (Campbell, '11) and Jo Bailey Brown, (Taft, '09) of the Pittsburgh bar.

The installation was conducted under the direction of Supreme Justice George E. Fink, assisted by a team of three men from Taft Chapter, Georgetown University, Washington, D. C. Brothers Arthur L. Limbach, one of the Trustees of the National House Endowment Fund of New Philadelphia, O., George T. Preschern (Blackstone), Trust Officer of the Union Bank, Chicago, and Brothers Burns and Brown previously mentioned, also assisted. The visiting team from Taft Chapter comprised J. Harry La Brun, Justice of the Chapter, John K. Lock, Past Justice of the Chapter, and B. L. Cosio, Jr., Past Treasurer of the Chapter. These three men with Brother John A. Doolan, had acted as the installing team at the installation of Willey Chapter at the University of West Virginia, Morgantown University earlier in the year. Jay Chapter at Washington, D. C., was unable to send a team on May 9 on account of examinations, and examinations at Pittsburgh Law School made any other date than May 9 unavailable.

Brothers Fink and Preschern made the trip from Chicago together, and after registering at the Fort Pitt Hotel, went to the office of Brother Burns, which he had kindly offered as headquarters. There were found assembled there several of the men of the Judson A. Crane Law Club who offered their services to the out-of-town men in any possible way.

The Taft Chapter team shortly appeared and with the other out-of-town men were taken for an auto ride to the Campus of the University of Pittsburgh, returning in time for luncheon at the Americus Club as guests of Brother Burns.

The initiation started about three o'clock in the afternoon. In the evening a banquet was given at the Fort Pitt Hotel, at which one of the new Brothers, John L. Packer, officiated admirably as Toastmaster.

At the banquet the Faculty was represented by Dr. Judson A. Crane, Secretary of the Law School, after whom the Law Club, which had existed for a year or more, had been named; and Dr. George J. Thompson, both of whom made very interesting addresses, in the course of which they welcomed Phi Alpha Delta on behalf of their respective law fraternities—Phi Delta Phi and Delta Theta Phi. Brother Limbach in his address, stressed the importance and value of Chapter Houses, as did likewise Brother Preschern. Brothers Burns and Brown also demonstrated their abilities as after-dinner speakers followed by a serious talk by the Supreme Justice on the history and ideals of the Fraternity and a welcome to the new Chapter. The Justice of the new Chapter, Oscar G. Peterson, in an eloquent address closed the more formal part of the occasion.

Letters and telegrams of congratulation to the new Chapter were read by the Toastmaster between the different discourses and these seemed to make a marked impression on the new men as evidencing the national scope of the Fraternity. These words of cheer and congratulations were from: Joseph A. Carey, Supreme Vice-Justice, Washington, D. C.; Frank M. Ludwick, Supreme Secretary, Los Angeles, Calif.; John Bradfield, Editor-in-Chief, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Allan T. Gilbert, Supreme Historian, Chicago, Ill.; District Justice W. Howard Demarst, Newark, N. Hoffmeister, St. Louis, Western District; Alumni Chapter, Chicago, Ill.; Ross Chapter, Los Angeles, Calif.; Alumni Chapter, Los Angeles, Calif.; and many from active chapters of the Fraternity.

After the Banquet the party broke up into groups, visiting and cementing friendships until early in the morning. The out-of-town men were guests of Brother Burns the next day.

The members of the new Chapter are as follows: Joseph P. Babcock, S. B., Tau Beta Pi; J. Miller Couse, A. B., Delta Sigma Rho; J. Hartford Dilley, A. B.; L. Norman Dilley, A. B.; Harold Hammer, A. Officers of the new Chapter are as follows: Oscar G. Peterson, Justice, Middler Law; Jos. P. Babcock, Vice-Justice, Junior Law; Geo. L. Reade, Clerk, Middler Law; Geo. B. McCreary, Treasurer, Junior Law; Harold Hammer, Marshall, Junior Law.

The University of Pittsburgh School of Law was established in 1843 but was not organized as a department of the University of Pittsburgh until 1895. It is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and according to the 1923 Educational report of the Carnegie Foundation is included among the four law schools of the United States having the highest entrance requirements. The present enrollment is somewhat in excess of 200 students. Other legal fraternities represented there are Phi Delta Phi and Delta Theta Phi. The petitioning group was highly recommended by Dr. Judson A. Crane, Phi Delta Phi; Dr. George J. Thompson, Delta Theta Phi; A. M. Thompson, Dean of the Law School, and John D. Shafer, President-Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, Pittsburgh, Pa. Judge Shafer was the first Dean of the Law School after it was made a part of the University. All of the brothers who were present to initiate and install the new members were much pleased with the high type of men making up the new Chapter and agreed that the caliber of the men would do justice to the Chapters which had been in existence for years. Their earnestness and determination to place the Chapter among the strongest which we have in the Fraternity was very noticeable.

Watson is the only chapter in the State of Pennsylvania and in many quarters the University of Pittsburgh College of Law is regarded as the best Law School in the state. The Fraternity at large is to be congratulated on the addition of this Chapter to our Chapter roll.

Chicago Alumni Chapter's Annual Banquet

PHI ALPHA DELTS of Chicago have a good old custom (I use the word "old" deliberately for it has been going on for some twenty years) of assembling, in the spring of the year, for a special banquet. It is known as the Annual Spring Banquet. The five active Chapters of this vicinity, Chicago Alumni Chapter, and many other brothers not connected with any chapter, participate. It is preceded by a joint initiation of candidates from the five active chapters. It is an occasion when legal dignity is tempered and seasoned with a deal of mirth and good fellowship.

This year it was held on the evening of the 18th of April, in the spacious dining room of the Chicago Bar Association. There were two hundred and six present. The crowd was full of—well, let us say pep or "what have you?" to quote one J. Bradfield, who hails from Ann Arbor and who also was among those present. It sang and yelled. There was entertainment of a high order. The Harmony Sisters sang charmingly, Brother Jonny Powers showed the trap drummer how it should be done, Brother George M. Weichelt, Blackstone 1905, presided most ably as toastmaster.

A pleasing incident of the occasion was the initiation in the afternoon, by Blackstone Chapter, of John P. McGoorty, Jr., son of Brother Judge John P. McGoorty, an alumnus of the same chapter, and the presence of both father and son at the banquet. The Judge has a large place in the hearts of Chicago Phi Alpha Deltas and the son bids fair to become a worthy son of a worthy sire. There were messages of greeting from Brothers Chief-Justice William Howard Taft, John J. Pershing, Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, and a number of the local Chicago judges.

Among the speakers was Judge Harry G. Keats, Blackstone 1899. It was a stirring thing to see the spontaneous and hearty demonstration accorded this "Grand Old Man" of the Fraternity when he arose to speak. Brother George E. Fink, Supreme Justice, gave in his usual pleasing manner a brief review of the present condition of the National Organization. Judges McGoorty, Finnegan and Lyle spoke briefly. The principal address was given by Brother Albert J. Harno, Calhoun 1912, Dean of the College of Law of the University of Illinois. He spoke in an able and scholarly manner of some things wherein our present system of law is behind the times and how those things can be improved. The Fraternity may well be proud to count among its members a man of the caliber and attainments of Dean Harno. The hereintofore quoted John Bradfield made a few modest remarks about his job as Editor-in-chief of the Quarterly.

Notes from Los Angeles

WE plan staging a banquet early in the month of June for Judge Erskine M. Ross, of this city, who is retiring from the Federal Bench on June 1st, at the age of 81 years. Judge Ross has recently received a wonderful letter from President Coolidge accepting his resignation after many years on the Federal Bench. As the old Judge is getting pretty feeble it will probably be the last time that we will have an opportunity to entertain him, and we plan to make this an occasion of a joint banquet of all the Phi Alpha Deltas in Southern California, and one that will long be remembered.

We regret to report the death this last week of one of our honored members, Judge Grant Jackson, former Judge of our Superior Court.

In connection with our plan of meeting at the home of some member once a month for a business meeting and a social time, will say that this has worked out very satisfactorily. We get out from twenty to thirty members of the Alumni Chapter at each of these meetings, which are very enjoyable. Recently the Alumni Chapter entertained the active members of Ross Chapter at a dinner and party given at the Oakmont Country Club. About seventy brothers were present and we spent a very pleasant evening.

St. Louis is Preparing

THE St. Louis Alumni and Active Chapters (Champ Clark) are making elaborate plans for the National Conclave to be held in St. Louis this year. It is their intention to show the visiting brethren the time of their lives and convince them that St. Louis is truly a real convention city.

There follows a list containing the names and addresses of those who have been appointed on the various Committees:

General Chairman of all Committees: John J. Nangle, Chamber of Commerce Bldg.

Finance Committee: Frank P. Aschmeyer, Chairman, 800 Rialto Bldg.

Reception Committee: Thomas F. McDonald, Chairman, 1230 Boatmens Bank Bldg.

Entertainment Committees: Hotel, Kenneth Teasdale, Chairman, Security Bldg., Smoker, Adrian L. Buschmann, Chairman, Pierce Bldg.; Dance, William R. Gentry, Jr., Chairman, Merchants Laclede Bldg., Paul A. Richards, Vice-Chairman; Banquet, Fred J. Hoffmeister, Chairman, 1305 Federal Reserve Bank Bldg., James Milligan, Vice-Chairman, Federal Reserve Bank Bldg.; Business Sessions, Arrangements and Publicity, Ernest R. Smith, Chairman, Old Custom House.

Organization of Chapter

The St. Louis Alumni Chapter is composed of about forty-three members. Monthly luncheon meetings are held on the third Friday of each month at 12:15 P. M. at the American Hotel.

These meetings afford a get-together movement during which the members discuss various legal problems with which they come in contact.

The Alumni Chapter keeps in close contact with the Active Chapter (Champ Clark) at all times, and gives such assistance as may be requested.

The present presiding officials of the Alumni Chapter follow: President, Ernest R. Smith, Old Custom House; Secretary-Treasurer, George T. Williams, Pierce Bldg.

WILLIAM S. CULBERTSON
Calhoun '10

Vice chairman of the tariff commission for the past six years who, in spite of the duties of his high office, has done singular work for Phi Alpha Delta in Washington. The fraternity will welcome the news of his appointment as United States minister to Roumania.

Secretary of State Kellogg, in commenting on Brother Culbertson's qualifications, said that the department felt that a better man could not be found for the post. "During the past months our questions with Roumania have been primarily of an economic nature, funding of relief debts, the mining law, title to property, etc.," said Secretary Kellogg. "Mr. Culbertson is a student of economics as they affect political matters and is admirably equipped to handle such questions."

BROTHERS HERE AND THERE

FRED L. WHAM
Magruder '09

Brother Wham is a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois. He was born in 1884 on a farm in Marion County, Illinois. He graduated from the Law School of the University of Illinois in the class of '09. While in the University he gained scholastic honors in the Law School and athletic distinction as tackle on the 'Varsity football teams 1905-08, being chosen on the All-Western football team in 1908. He is now engaged with his brother Charles Wham in the practice of law at Centralia, Illinois, in the law firm of Wham & Wham. Brother Wham is active in public affairs in the city of Centralia, and is especially interested in educational work, being President of the Board of Education, Superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday School, and actively allied with other work of this nature. He is a member of the Rotary Club, Masons, Elks, Odd Fellows, and the Illinois State Bar Association. He is married and has two children.

LAWRENCE E. CARLSON
Story '24

Brother Lawrence E. Carlson, a member of Story Chapter, Chicago, has the distinction of being the youngest member of the General Assembly of the State of Indiana.

The young legislator is only 23 years, and was nominated by the Republican Party as the Assembly Representative from Huntington County. He has been designated as Chairman of Federal Relations Committee and also holds membership on nine other committees, including the Judiciary, Education, and Corporations.

"Larry," as he is known to his brothers of Story, was born in Chicago, but at an early age moved to Huntington. He attended Indiana University and took his law work at the College of Law, De Paul University, Chicago.

In the Chapter Larry was Chapter Musician and did excellent work on several committees, including the House Committee. In May, 1924, he was admitted to the Indiana Bar, and the following October was sworn to practice in the Supreme Court of that state. He is engaged in the general practice in Huntington, Ind. While at De Paul he was a member of the Triangle Club, and is a Theta Chi, in addition to being a proud member of P. A. D.

E. RAY STEVENS
Ryan, Hon '12

Judge E. Ray Stevens, who was recently elected Associate Justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, was initiated in 1912 as an honorary member of Ryan Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta.

In 1893, Brother Stevens graduated from the University of Wisconsin and two years later from the law school. In 1923 the University conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. On graduation from the University he entered the law office of Burr W. Jones, and later became associated with him in the firm, Jones & Stevens. In 1903 Judge Stevens was appointed judge of the Circuit Court, in which capacity he has served for twenty-two years. During these years a large part of his time has been spent in administering the laws relating to the various state commissions, a very important work.

Three years ago Mr. Burr Jones was appointed to the Supreme Bench and on his retirement in January he will be succeeded by Judge Stevens.

LEON A. ZICK
Fuller '16

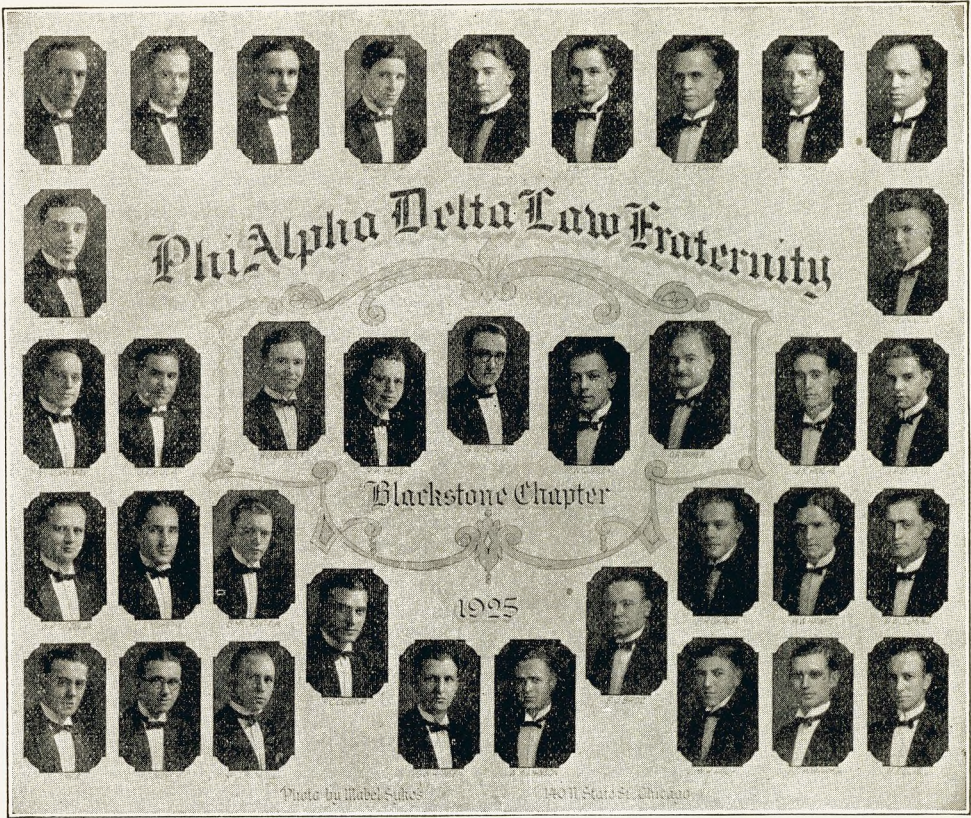

To be elected a County Judge at the age of 30 is the noteworthy honor that has come to Brother Leon A. Zick of Polo, Ogle County, Ill. On February 24th, 1925, he won the nomination of the Republican County Central Committee on the first ballot over two other candidates. The nomination was made unanimous. At a special election held April 7th, 1925, he was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge Frank E.

Reed. He received one of the largest votes ever polled in Ogle County in an off-year election.

Brother Zick is a native of Ogle County, being the son of Attorney Fred Zick of Polo, who is one of the pioneer members of the Ogle County Bar. After graduation from the Polo High School he attended the Northwestern University Law School, completing his course in 1916. He was initiated as a member of Fuller Chapter while he was at the University. In 1920 he was a candidate for State's Attorney of Ogle County, running second in a four-cornered race. Brother Zick has been City Attorney of Polo for the past two terms. He is a Mason, Elk, and Legionaire. And now Ogle County has perhaps the youngest County Judge in the State of Illinois.

WITH THE CHAPTERS

BENTON

Kansas City Law School The purveyor of this bit of Missouri anecdotes was roused from the prosaic following of the non-success of the Kansas City Blues in Mr. Hickey's League by the stentorian voice of Treasurer Rittman to wit: "Whyinell don't some of you hams write a bit of dope for Quarterly?" Whereupon, all cast lots and the scrivener threw a seven. (It might be remarked that Brother Rittman has recently passed the Missouri bar; hence, the precise Latin quoted).

Quite a bit of interesting information might be told at this time, chief of which is the social activity of Benton's Brummels. On March 7, the anniversary of the occasion that Daniel Webster made the eagle scream with remarks that we do not recall, we had a smoker at the Coates House. Three three-round bouts and a wrestling match were furnished for approval, after which music and special acts were the order of the day. The evening was worthwhile chiefly for the reason that many fraternity members of past years were present. "Red" Hoth was the master of ceremonies as usual.

On the evening of April 24 came the annual election of officers, preceded as usual, by political maneuverings that would cause Mark Hanna or Murphy to turn over several times. Solid tickets were in the field. The new justice is Harold J. Skinner, who is at present a Sophomore. He is admirably equipped for the honor of presiding officer as he is the manager of the U. S. Epperson Underwriting Company, one of the leading Reciprocal Companies. The other successful candidates are as follows: Joe R. Knight, Vice-Justice; Clyde J. Linde, Clerk; D. Belmont Risin, Treasurer; and H. L. (Bill) Berry, Marshal.

The inaugural ceremony took place at the house on May 1, and was followed by a dance. Practically every member was present at the election and at the installation. The usual bevy of Harrison Fisher models was in attendance. Benton Chapter ranks second to none in its "fair guests."

It might be mentioned that the Pandex Ball, the annual affair of the Law School, was given on April 18. The fraternity had as its "stunt" the crowning of the queen of the pledges. An uproar resulted when pledges rode in on wooden steeds, heralds blew tin horns, flower girls scattered weeds along the path, the chancellor bore as a crown a cuspidor, and lastly the "queen," Miller, appeared in a cerise bathrobe, carrying a bouquet of onions and a toy locomotive as a "train."

Quite a number of our members have shut themselves off from the rest of the world for the time being for the purpose of guessing the possible questions to be asked by the bar examiners at Jefferson City in June. As before stated, Brother Rittman is being subjected to the usual test as to what commission he will pay for cases, he being one of the fortunate ones at the February examination. Brother Mitchell of Denver University, at present a resident of the chapter house, was another of the fortunate.

On May 9 four pledges sought the password and grip of our fraternity. The school year will be brought to a close with a dance in honor of the Seniors. This event will occur at one of the country clubs.—James Roy Calhoun.

BLACKSTONE

Chicago Kent College of Law "Time and Tide waits for no man." Truer and more appropriate words than these were never spoken. In a short time, now but a matter of days, a number of the Senior members of Blackstone will be graduated and become eligible for membership in the local Alumni Chapter.

All requirements for incorporation under Illinois laws were completed and the Charter was granted on March 10, 1925.

The Library Fund continues to increase through the slow but always acceptable process of gradual accretion.

The Joint Annual Banquet of the local Alumni and active Chapters held April 18, 1925, in the Chicago Bar Association rooms proved to be a very successful affair. This was the last of the series of events given in connection with our second initiation for the current school year. The following initiates were received into the Chapter at this time: John P. McGoorty, Jr., Frank Foley, David James, James Bishop. John P. McGoorty is the son of Judge McGoorty, now sitting in the Superior Court of Cook County, Ill.

The next and last initiation for the year will be held May 22nd and 23rd. On this occasion our number will be increased to the extent of about six men. Considering these with the others previously taken in, gives the Chapter a total of sixteen initiates for the year.

On May 16th Blackstone Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, Delta Chi, Delta Theta Phi, and Phi Delta Phi are giving an inter-fraternity ball at the Congress Hotel. A commendable representation and a good time is assured.

John P. Burita of the Chicago Bar; not yet, but its no fault of Brother Burita's! He passed the March Bar examination given by the Illinois examiners and is now patiently waiting for his formal admission to practice. He will receive his law degree June 11th. Finals won't bother him at all for one who dared to meet the "barrier that lies between" three months before graduation need have no fear of other incidental matters. Brother Burita expects to sail for Europe the latter part of June, making an extensive tour of European countries among which are included England, France, Bohemia and Switzerland.

Law School cannot disrupt the infallible courage of cupid. Rumors are now being circulated in Re Brother Cushua.

Brother Skala, not fully satisfied that all his natural powers are called forth in the study of the law, has engaged in a useful and attractive occupation of learning to drive a Ford.—L. E. Terry.

ALUMNI

Brother Jerome Leo Kelly passed from among us on February 25, 1925. The loss of his presence is keenly felt by every active member of the chapter and those of the alumni who had become acquainted with him.

Brother Madden in the short verse following expressed a few of the fine, manly characteristics of Brother Kelly, known to all as "Jerry."

Jerry

It was the way he'd grip you hand,
The smile within his eyes,
The way he'd always laugh with you
Or understand your sighs;
True friendship lit his way along
The bright, brave path he trod—
I wish I had a soul as fine
As his, to offer up to God.

—M. J. Madden.

Cyril L. L. Weston has recently been granted United States Citizenship. Brother Weston was formerly a citizen of Great Britain, residing in Canada. He won unusual distinction in the British Army during his five years' service in the World War, rising from Private to Major. The active chapter is giving a banquet at the Illinois Athletic Club in the very near future commemorating this happy event. A number of the prominent members of the local Bench and Bar as well as representatives of the Sixth Corps Area will be present to welcome Brother Weston as a full-fledged citizen of the United States.

CALHOUN

Yale University The annual spring banquet of P. A. D. at Yale was held May ninth at the Taft Hotel in New Haven. These affairs are the means by which the chapter keeps in close personal touch with quite a number of its alumni, and they allow the graduate members to renew their acquaintance with the law school faculty. The formal program of the evening was conducted by Brother Neil P. Cullom, of New York, as toastmaster, and included Brother Arthur W. Chambers of New Haven, who supervises the chapter activities relating to the alumni, Brother Thomas K. Egan, the present Justice, Professor Edwin M. Morgan, and David E. Fitzgerald, Mayor of New Haven. After the banquet the members and alumni returned to the chapter-house where fraternity business was considered during the progress of of a social evening.

The chief item of inter-fraternity activity each spring is the P. D. P.-P. A. D. baseball game. Since we completely vanquished them last year we are resting on our laurels, but momentarily expect their verbose challenge to appear upon some convenient bulletin board. These games are played upon Swan Field, adjoining the law school, and are always the occasion of general interest.

As the year draws to a close the more far-sighted of the boys are planning or even beginning the review for the finals. This last month, as in every other law school, no doubt, we set a standard of conscientious work which no other period of the year can equal.

Most of the seniors know by this time where they are to take their first step in the law business. During the Easter recess several more made plans to locate in New York, so there will be an even larger group of congenial men from Calhoun.—Enos G. Jones.

ALUMNI

The appointment of Brother William S. Cuthbertson, vice chairman of the tariff commission, as minister of Roumania, was announced at the White House the later part of April.

CAMPBELL

In spite of the fact that the final examinations are about at hand and all of the men are putting all of their time and effort on the books, Campbell Chapter is glad to take the time to again greet all of the brothers and tell them how we are and what we are doing.

Since the last letter was written the chapter held its Spring initiation, on the 26th of April, when four men were taken into membership. The new brothers are Richard W. Lenske, of Jackson, Mich.; Kora D. Diehl, of Detroit, Mich.; Raymond S. Powers, of Youngstown, Ohio; and Walter W. Davis, of Oil City, Pa. These men, along with the group of first-year men initiated last December, comprise a freshman class that any fraternity could well take pride in. The initiation ceremony was impressive as always and the banquet following was a huge success. Supreme Justice George Fink attended, and we were all proud and happy to have him with us. He was the main speaker at the banquet and the message he brought us was helpful and profitable. Judge Tuttle of Detroit was another honored guest. Many of the alumni returned, most of them coming from Detroit and Toledo, although Brother H. W. Muller came from Fort Wayne, Indiana, and Brother Strawhecker journeyed from Grand Rapids. Tom Lynch presided as toastmaster and performed his duties in wonderful style, and Brother Powers spoke in behalf of the newly initiated brethren.

A meeting of our Alumni Council was held at the time of the initiation and further plans were made for the big homecoming which Campbell chapter is to have on the occasion of the Ohio State football game next fall. A big program is planned and the arrangements for the details are now under way. We have taken great pains to notify every Campbell alumnus, but if perchance we have missed some one and he should read this he should consider himself herein and hereby notified and begin to make plans to attend. It will be the tenth anniversary of our present home and it is promised that the event will be one long to be remembered. Brothers Rogers, Crawford, Donnelly, Miller, and Servis are arranging the details for the entertainment in Detroit and it is enough to say that the details are in capable hands.

The chapter is developing a fine library and has purchased complete sets of the Harvard and Michigan Law Reviews besides many text books and legal classics. We have refitted the former music room and the atmosphere is very conducive to study. We hope systematically to enlarge the library year by year and our alumni have promised us their aid and co-operation.

Campbell chapter takes great pride in the recent issue of the Quarterly, since one of our Brothers, John Bradfield, made his debut as editor with that number. We know how keenly interested he is in the new work and how capable he is and feel certain that his efforts will meet great success. We believe that "Brad" deserves the congratulations and the commendation of all the brothers upon the last Quarterly. We trust that the future will see a greater emphasis laid on this very important feature of the fraternity's activity and that greater organized support will be given the magazine by the alumni than has been given in the past.

Before we have a chance to greet you all again the exams will be over and the work for the year will be completed. We hope that all the brothers have pleasant, enjoyable vacations and return to school next fall in splendid shape and splendid spirit. For those unfortunates who complete their work this year and are forced to venture into the cold world we can only say "Best Wishes."—Max Fead.

CAPEN

Illinois
Wesleyan
University

Capen chapter is nearing the end of one of the most successful years it has ever known. At the beginning of the school year we were handicapped by a heavy debt which has accumulated from recent years. This year we have not only straightened matters up financially and put the chapter on her feet again, but have also taken great strides in the way of scholastic attainments, and every other activity of the school in general.

Last November we held our Autumn Festival, and believe me or not, but no man ever beheld such a "blowout." It was the talk of the town and community for miles around, for never before had any fraternity expounded themselves so elaborately. Our next important event was the initiation banquet, which was referred to in the last Quarterly letter. We are now laying plans for the Spring formal, which is to be held at one of the local country clubs. We have engaged Heinie's Royal Orchestra from Muskegon, Iowa, for the occasion. Each of the musicians is an artist, and is accompanied with a fun maker and blue singer, so we are looking forward to another triumph in the way of a fraternity party on this campus.

As to our advancement in scholastics, every man who stands at the top in the Freshman, Junior, and Senior classes at the Illinois Wesleyan Law School is a member or pledge of Phi Alpha Delta, so we feel we are due much commendation for this achievement alone.

When the last term of school opened we pledged four of the best men obtainable in the freshman class to our ranks. Two of these men were newly entered in the Law School, while the other two were exceptionally good fellows we had overlooked during the pledging season last fall. The new pledges are Wallace Bell of Watseka, Ill., James T. Wilson, Sullivan, Ill., Kenton Brown, Wenona, Ill., and Keith E. Rothwell, of Mt. Pulaski, Ill. These men are of the highest type, both as to being good fellows and scholastically as well. In all probability we will have a Spring initiation for the men who have been recently pledged.

Because of the great advancements we have made this year we have practically agreed upon a much larger and better place to house the chapter next year, and we are busily engaged in finding a house which will suit our desires. Well, here are our regards to the rest of the chapters and watch us "go" from the very first day of school next year.—Vernon G. Butz.

CHASE

University of Cincinnati Although Chase Chapter is without a house this year, and the regular meetings are held in a room rented for that purpose at the Hotel Alms, still the brothers find the meetings to be real fraternal gatherings. At the first of these regular meetings in April the following officers were elected: Justice, William W. Johnson; Vice Justice, Hugh Nichols; Clerk, John K. Rose; Treasurer, Howard D. Porter; Marshal, Ferd Bader.

On Saturday the 11th of April, Chase Chapter held its annual Founder's Day Banquet at the Elks Club. Preceding the dinner, initiation ceremonies were held for the following: Herman P. Goebel, Cincinnati; Harry Vollrath, Cincinnati. The banquet was attended by some fifty brothers. Brother Howard L. Bevis, Professor of Law at the Cincinnati Law School, gave an interesting talk on the history of the law school, and the expected conditions when the school moves into its new quarters—the Alphonso Taft Hall, a beautiful structure, now practically finished, on the campus of the University of Cincinnati. Brother Charles Weber, also a professor of law, delivered a biographical sketch of Salmon P. Chase, for whom this chapter was named, tracing the notable career of that eminent attorney and statesman as an example for all aspiring law students. Brothers Bevis and Weber are both founders of this chapter.

Brother Cornelius Petzold officiated "famously" as toastmaster. A good crowd plus good food plus good speeches plus good "toasts" equalled a memorable time for all.

ALUMNI

David Strickland, Justice of Chase Chapter, and graduated in '24, recently acquired connections with Judge Shaddock of Cincinnati and is doing so well that he got married the first of this month. The happy bride was Miss Jane Stien, also of Cincinnati.

—John H. Rose.

CAMP CLARK

Washington University News from Champ Clark Chapter has not been forthcoming for some time, and possibly the delay has given readers of P. A. D. Quarterly the mistaken idea that we are not participating in affairs as is wont of P. A. D.'s to do. Such is not the case, however, as we justly claim our share of all that goes to make up the texture of school activities.

It might be apropos to mention here the new brothers who joined us on March 26 ult., all of whom are A-1 type, and juniors in the law school. On the night mentioned above, we staged initiation at the Marquette Hotel, which seemingly has become the old reliable for such occasions, and we had a goodly number of Alumni members with us to assist in the ceremonies. Seven men, good and true, were the objects of several convincing talks that were made and which conveyed to those boys the meaning of P. A. D. The following are those who took the oath: Wilfred Zinsmeyer, Raymond Caruthers, Russel Hoffman, Maurice Stewart, C. Bert Cheatham, Ervin C. Fisher, and Paul E. Stafford. The prospects for P. A. D. to turn out some leaders in the law school two years hence are very bright with the acquisition of these boys.

We are looking forward with joyous anticipation to the Conclave to be held in our city next December, and a recent interview with Brother Ernest Smith, president of the Alumni Chapter, convinced me that no stone is being left unturned to put it over with a bang. We have vowed to make this the biggest and best convention ever staged by P. A. D., so those who expect to be with us on that occasion can look forward to a regular good time.

Plans are under way for the second annual P. A. D. dance and are practically completed, though we have not definitely determined the date. The writer was able to talk about a wonderful affair last year, and sees no reason why this one won't excel last year's. This will be in conjunction with the alumni the same as before.

The outgoing P. A. D.'s from Champ Clark Chapter extend a cordial farewell to the other chapters, and hope for their continued success.—H. G. Morris.

CLAY

University of Kentucky In response to the urgent requests of some of the members, once more Clay Chapter will seek to be heard through the instrumentality of a letter to the Quarterly.

When Spring came around again this year, the chapter found itself again in competition for the best men in the list of eligibles. From among those who had attained the required standard, the chapter selected five of the finest types. These men were then duly initiated after the prescribed period of pledgeship.

On May 23 we are now contemplating having our annual formal dance at which we are usually able to forget the weightier affairs of life. Last year the dance was pronounced to be above the average, and if this year, it is not the best yet, then we shall not have profited by experience. If any wayward wandering Brothers of the other chapters happen to be in this neck o' the woods about that time, they are assured of a very cordial welcome, and if they will arrange to have such event happen, it will be worth the time and trouble, if good cheer and beautiful women can ever be worth while.

In the line of school activities, all that usually happens has happened as usual, for though we have probably done nothing of which we are proud, yet we can just as truthfully say that we know of none of our actions of which we ought to be ashamed. All law students are looking forward to the time when we shall have a building given over exclusively to the study of law. It is said that our period of watchful waiting will be over next year.

About twelve members of the chapter invaded the Kentucky capitol about two weeks ago to take the bar exam. All pulled through in the last stages of physical exhaustion. For some it is the last, but for others it is merely a preparation for other like occasions. For those who may never be able to remove this bar to the display of their legal talents, there yet remains the alternative of a political career.

While the fancies of most young men are now lightly turning to thoughts of moonlight dates till midnight, the minds of a great many of our prospective lawyers are turning to the easiest and most pleasant way to endure the fabled starvation period that apparently must be faced by every aspirant to legal fame. Whether one can starve more gracefully with or without an education is not at present known, but that will serve as food for thought during the time that we shall have for our philosophical moods, and who knows but that some needy brother may solve the knotty bread and butter problem by writing a thesis on the matter.

To those who in other climes may be facing like unto ourselves problems of great moment, we send our greetings and best wishes. If you need what you want, may you get it; and when you get what you want, may you like it. From those who leave this year we send a farewell forever and from the others a so long until next year.—John Y. Brown.

ALUMNI

Brother Francis H. Templeton resigned as assistant patent examiner on January 1, and has opened offices at 500 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Brother Templeton is a graduate of the University of North Dakota and of the George Washington and National Universities of Washington, D. C., having taken the degrees of LL. B., LL. M., and M. P. L. He also had three years in the engineering department of the University of North Dakota.

Northwestern University Fuller Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta has been enjoying one of the most satisfactory years in its fraternal history.

The new college year found ten old men back. The first-year class supplied the older brothers with an abundance of good material. Out of this ambitious group, thirteen were pledged and initiated. The number is larger than that customarily added to the chapter roll. However, the quality is at least on a parity with the quantity. The new members include: Wendell J. Brown, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Ernest Claus, of Ottawa, Ill.; Gordon Canning, of Winnetka, Ill.; Edward D. Greiner, of Wilmette, Ill.; Arthur J. Larson, of Joliet, Ill.; Loder L. Patterson, of Akron, Ind.; George W. Reid, of Harvard, Ill.; R. Hamlin Petty, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Andrew W. Sexton, of Chicago, Ill.; Charles J. Schofield, of Chicago, Ill.; J. Edwin Smith, Jr., of Gary, Ind.; Len Y. Smith, of Nicholasville, Ky.; Victor D. Vivquain, of Belle Plaine, Ia.

It also gives the chapter satisfaction to announce the addition to its number by transfer, Brother Guy Baker, of Field Chapter. Brother Baker is a typical Californian, which may or not be per se commendatory. Nevertheless, he is a most valuable member.

Northwestern University Law School is particularly fortunate in its most recent addition to its faculty in the person of Professor Edward F. Alberts-worth. He comes to Chicago from Western Reserve University at Cleveland. A most unusual complement was conferred upon him when the student body petitioned to have him added to the faculty after he had favorably impressed the students of the summer session of 1923. Learned in the law, skilled in the art of teaching, and trusted in the capacity of advisor to embryo lawyers, he is a man whom we are indeed proud to have as a "fratre in facultate."

Brothers Robert V. Jones and Bayard Wright upheld the scholastic standards of the fraternity last year; the former being an honor man of the class of 1926, the latter of the class of 1927. These brothers are maintaining their laudable record again this year. Brother Jones is also on the Board of Editors of the Illinois Law Review.

Political activities are not numerous at the Law School. However, we have two representatives on the House Committee, Brothers Wednell Brown and Andrew W. Sexton. Brother Jones is on the 1926 Syllabus board as one of the Law School's two representatives.

Although the Law School is located in Chicago, two of the brothers have won their "N's" in athletics this year. Brother Charles E. Smith was on the 1924 Varsity football squad and received a well merited "N." Brother Gordon Canning is a track star and completes his three years as a well-known hurdler this spring.

Brothers Bertram Rathje, Charles E. Smith, and Perry D. Wells complete their course this June. A useful and prosperous is predicted for each of them.

We have Monday luncheons at the Chicago Bar Association. This custom has proved to be a splendid way of having weekly meetings. Again, it affords us the opportunity of meeting many P. A. D's. who are actively engaged in the practice of law.

Our spring dance was thrown at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. When we say that it was a P. A. D. party and that it took place at the "Beach," it would be mere superfluity to say anything else concerning the affair.

One of the brothers, Bayard Wright, has recently taken unto himself a wife. She was formerly Miss Mildred J. Peters of Lacon, Ill. Bayard says, "It's cheaper to marry." In conclusion, it might be noted that if the next Fuller letter is as long delayed as the present one has been, we may have other items of interest concerning this popular P. A. D.—Len Young Smith.

Though we have no letter from Taft Chapter in this issue of the Quarterly this photograph clearly indicates the high calibre of the men making up this group in the Nation's Capital.

terial is concerned, and bring subject to the instruction of some of the most reputable lawyers in this section of the country, our steady advancement as a group would be the only normal expectation.

We are greatly handicapped at present by a ruling of the Faculty in regard to professional fraternities not being allowed to maintain a house, but next year we are going to have at least two or three rooms where we can get together and discuss our plans. We are expecting hot times around here next year for our gang and watch us grow.

At our last meeting held April 23, the following officers were installed for next year: J. E. Norman, Chief Justice; J. W. Norris, Associate Justice; H. T. Holman, Treasurer; Ned Stewart, Clerk; and John Cartwright, Marshal. Plans were formulated for our annual faculty banquet which was held at the Hermitage Hotel, May 7. This is a much anticipated event every year for the P. A. D's., both active and alumni, of Nashville and vicinity, and it was put over in fine shape this year.

Now for some of the activities that we have brothers in:

Of the ten inter-collegiate debaters selected by Vanderbilt this spring, five are Phi Alpha Delta's, namely Brothers Cochran, Holman, Stevens, Norman, and Norris. All of these who have spoken thus far have been relatively successful and it is a credit to the fraternity that it has so many and capable speakers. Brother Stevens had the pleasure of meeting Brother Ventress of Morgan Chapter in a series of five debates through Tennessee and northern Alabama.

Brother Wilson, our retiring Justice, must be complimented highly for his faithful work in the cause of Phi Alpha Delta and he has done much towards getting Lurton Chapter to the top again. Brother Wilson ranks among the highest in scholastic achievement in the Senior class. He is also on the Honor Committee of the Law School. Brother Martin, also of the Senior class, has a record especially illustrious to leave behind. He is also vice president of the Senior class.

Brother Norman, our newly elected Justice, now in his Junior year, has various forensic honors to his credit, among which the most important is the winning of the southern oratorical contest. Brother Norman is also President of the Dialectic Literary Society, Associate Justice of the John Marshall Law Club, and he is unexcelled by any in his remarkable ability to organize and direct various collegiate organizations. Brother Stevens, of the Senior class, is Chief Justice of the John Marshall Law Club and a member of the Kissam Hall Board. Brother Norris directs the activities of the debating teams. Brothers Jennings and Taylor are star members of the Vandy track team and Brother Jennings is also business manager of the Masquerador, one of the best collegiate publications in the south. Brother Cates is Business Manager of The Commodore, the Vanderbilt Annual. These are just a few examples to show that Phi Alpha Delta's can be found in every phase of college activities here at Vanderbilt, and Lurton Chapter is rightfully proud of the records being made by her members.

Lurton Chapter herein wishes to extend congratulations to the brothers of the other chapters for the splendid progress they are making in advancing the cause of Phi Alpha Delta. Greetings and best wishes.—Ned A. Stewart.

1921. Since then it has been an uphill fight, but now we feel that we are back where we belong; at the top. Last year's senior class seemed just about perfect and we kinda shook in our boots at the thought of getting along without them. It's hard, but we're doing it and feel that we have upheld the standards that they set in our pledging.

The Law School having doubled in size the last two years we have abundant material to choose from and last semester twenty men wore the keystone of Phi Alpha Delta, five of whom were initiated November 6, 1924, and fifteen whom were initiated February 26, 1925. In the November bunch were: Kenneth R. Brown, Delta Chi, and Adonis of the outfit; Frank Godeke, "Grandma," star catcher of the team this year; C. Terry Lindner, Theta Alpha, and head of the University Signal Corps; Alfred Dewey McLarty, Secretary of the Illinois Municipal League for Civic Betterment; and George Bates Weisiger, B. S., LL. B., J. D., graduate of the University of Illinois and Yale University, and at present Professor of Law in our school.

In the February bunch were: Dale "Fuzzy" Allison, Sigma Pi, athlete and fusser; William Bodman, Phi Kappa Tau, and linesman on the football team; Everett Carver, Phi Pi Phi; Wendell Gilbert; Virgil McDevitt, last year's sophomore class president and all round politician; Lisle Menzimer, Pi Kappa Phi, and chief mogul in the University Health Service (about to be married, but otherwise normal); Norman "Duck" Miller, Phi Gamma Delta, from the U. of Kansas; Victor Miller, Scabbard and Blade; Ralph Monk, Manager of the Star Course, Chairman Union Elections Committee, Tri Alpha, Beta Gamma Sigma, and Eta Beta; Francis Rearick, Teke from Beloit, A. B., Delta Sigma Rho, Omicron Delta Gamma; Russell Ronald Reno, Tri Alpha, Phi Eta Sigma, Kappa Phi Sigma; Lawrence Ruby, Tri Alpha; Delbert Sutton, Theta Alpha; Dineen "Governor" Watson, Pi Kappa Alpha, Tri Alpha; and George Wiley, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Tri Alpha.

The crop of spring pledges is particularly good; Sherwood Costigan, Harold Dauber, E. M. Hamilton, Floyd Kenlay, Myron Ratcliffe, Robert Friedlander, Kenneth Merley, Albert Woll, Howard Monk, and Fred McManus.

All told, as capable a bunch of fellows as one could wish to find anywhere, but they're going to have to hump to take the place of those graduating this year. To William Carr, John Clark, James Holderman, John Humphreys, Eugene Hutson, Duane Martin, Hugh Reynolds, Richard Scholz, Emory Schulze, Clarence Smith, this year's graduating class, the chapter extends its sincere wishes for success in our chosen field, the Law, with the thought that if they but give to their work the faith, loyalty, and hard work that they have given to their fraternity, "Theirs is the world, and all that's in it."

Usually when the boys reach the Law School they fell the dignity and serenity of their age and wisdom, and put away from them the frivolities of youth and leave athletic competition to the younger generation. However, there are several of the brothers who still cling tenaciously to their lost youth. Hank Godeke is nailing them regularly at second from behind the home plate, this spring; John Humphreys is piloting the golf team, with George Wiley as one of his proteges, and Bodman has a line position cinched next fall after his work in spring football.

On the scholastic side, Brother John Clark has been initiated into the Order of the Coif, national honorary legal fraternity; Brother Reno has the highest average in the Freshman class, and ten of the brothers have made the honor roll for the first semester.

Phi Alpha Delta is well represented on the Faculty now, with Albert J. Harno, Dean, from Yale; William E. Britton, of this chapter, and George Bates Weis-iger, a newcomer this fall who got his Bachelor's degree here and his J. D. at Yale. In the commercial law department of the College of Commerce, three of the four members are P. A. D's., Charlie Howard, Larry Simpson, and Brother Dillavou.

The house is in good shape financially, with $2,500 worth of furniture about paid off in the last year and a half. The newly initiated brothers have purchased a sectional bookcase for our set of Corpus Juris and several brothers have donated texts to form the nucleus of a real library. The fall house dance was a great success, the spring house dance a still greater success, the degree of success seeming to vary in inverse ratio to the amount of light. Bish Condit, Prince of Darkness that he is, took a huge delight in going around turning out the lights as fast as the Dean turned them on. (Bish insisted I mention his name in this letter; I hope he's satisfied.) All credit is due to Dutch Taylor, chairman of the social committee, for the success of the affairs. If he worked as hard at his studies as he does at his social duties, he'd be at the head of the honor roll instead of Reno.

Much credit for the work done this semester is due to the calm, serene firmness with which our Justice, Emory Schulze, ruled a somewhat turbulent crew. We shall miss him greatly as we will our Marshal, Jim Holderman, and our shrewd Treasurer, John Clark. Like the poor, we will still have with us Frank Godeke, Vice Justice; Dutch Taylor, Historian, and my humble self, Herbert Livesey, Clerk.

Next fall there will be a somewhat greater scramble than usual, with the addition of a chapter of Delta Theta Phi to the three legal fraternities already here, so we've stolen a march on the others, have held our pre-legal smoker already and are pledging the cream of the bunch that enters the Law School in the fall.

It is a secret ambition of the historian of the chapter to write a history of the chapter. If any old timer chance to read this will he send in a story of the time he spent here with anything of interest of the olden days. He will certainly thank you for it.

And so, brothers, having rambled on at length here and presumed upon your patience, I will wish you a lazy, peaceful summer, far from the influence of contracts and torts, so that you may return in the fall feeling like taking the world by the ear and telling it "where to get off at."—Herbert Livesey, Jr.

McKINLEY

At the special meeting held to elect officers for the next school year, the following men were chosen to direct the affairs of McKinley Chapter: John B. Powell, Justice; Victor F. Rowlands, Vice-Justice; William C. Graham, Secretary; Frank V. Benton, Jr., Treasurer; Albert A. Clark, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Our semi-weekly luncheons have proved highly successful, both in the matter of pledging and also in the way of good times. We still have a number of good prospects for pledging out of the Freshman class.

Already, the advance enrollment for the Freshman class next year has made it necessary to limit the number entering the Law School. Two sessions in each course were conducted this year. Arrangements are being made whereby Ohio State will get two more professors on the Law Faculty.

Eleven of our men finish their course at the end of this quarter. This is the largest number ever turned out in one quarter by this chapter. The Senior law students are living up to the tradition of carrying canes during the last quarter of their school year. —Walter R. Snider.

McREYNOLDS

As we look back over our activities for the year, we find that we have made considerable progress. Last fall when Phi Alpha Delta sounded the call to arms only eight old men responded. One of these had to drop out of school shortly afterwards. As a consequence of our small number we have not been able to put on some of the things we could have with a larger group. However, the members have given a good account of themselves in individual performance.

We are well represented on the editorial board of the Tennessee Law Review, having four of its six members. Brother Key is Editor-in-Chief of that publication. Mr. McTeer (pledge) and Brothers Pierce and Buhl are also members of the board.

Also, Brother Key repeated his scholarship performance and won the First Faculty Prize for excellence in Scholarship. His good work was also recognized by a bid from Phi Kappa Phi. He accepted and thereby joined the ranks of the distinguished few intellectual sharks that roam upon our campus. Finding the exams at the law school too easy for him he set out upon an expedition looking for larger fields to conquer. He encountered the usually dreaded State Bar Examination and came out victorious.

We are not forced to depend on Brother Key altogether to be our honor man, however, for Brother Burke brings in his share. He prides himself in the fact that he also passed the State Bar after only two years in the law school. He chose the publications division of student activities in which to distinguish himself at the University. He has been a faithful helper during his sojourn here and his services have been rewarded this year with the position of business manager of "The Volunteer," the annual student publication.

We have initiated only four men this year, namely, Brothers Bewley, Gilbreth, McAfee and Seymour. We have five pledges that we are planning to initiate soon: Messrs. Bryan, Cox, Crawford, McTeer, and Swanner. Mr. Crawford is a past member of the State Legislature; Mr. McTeer is an outstanding member of the county court of an adjoining county and at the same time attends to his school activities in a very creditable fashion.

The active chapter and the alumni gave a banquet at the Farragut Hotel for its initiates a few weeks ago. Brother L. D. Smith acted as toastmaster. All of the more fluent orators made a short talk. The character of the talks ranged from the broken remarks of freshmen, through the wit and humor of the junior, the sad good-bye of seniors, to the solemn counsel of alumni who have carried the spirit of Phi Alpha Delta into the practice of law and passed through some of the experiences in store for those who have chosen the profession of law for a career. One of the most impressive of these talks was made by Brother McDermott, the Dean of the Law School. His theme was that a law school is composed of three things, namely, the students, the books, and the faculty, with special emphasis on the duties and possibilities of the students in making a good law school. At the close of the banquet a committee was appointed to formulate plans for developing a closer relationship between the active chapter and the alumni in this section.

McReynolds Chapter wishes all the other chapters a howling success and a bigger year next year than ever before.—Gomer D. Haskins.

RYAN

The time has come when we must pick up the threads of Chapter correspondence, which have been so signally dropped in the last few number of the Quarterly.

The chapter has experienced a most successful year in every way. On Dec. 7, 1924, the following nine men were initiated into the fraternity: Glen Bell, Madison; Clarence Fugina, Arcadia; Eugene Kilmer, Fargo; Fred Krez, Cheboygan; Ralph Larson, Madison; Albert Quilling, Menominee; Lowell Thronson, Edgerton; Victor Wangenstein, Duluth, Minn.; Earl Cannon, Delavan.

On April 18, 1925, the following nine men were added to the roster of our chapter: William Thurber, Richland Center; Myron Newman, Juda; Russell Hanson, Scandinavia, Wis.; George Dietrich, Madison; Clarence Nyhus, Chippewa Falls; Obie Gibson, Madison; Frank Holscher, McFarland; Fred Silberschmidt, Prairie du Chain; Robert Damon, Madison.

These initiations have resulted in having an active chapter roll of forty-two men, twenty-two of whom live at the chapter house. We feel that we have done remarkably well in our selections this year and these new men will assure the continued predominance of Phi Alpha Delta on the campus in the next two years to come.

The men of Ryan Chapter have always been among the leaders in Campus activities. Brother John Murphy is manager of the University Glee Club, which won first place from twelve other schools at the late Chicago contest. Brother George Rendiger, steward of the chapter house and ex-captain of the Varsity baseball team, is President of the Law School Association, a well functioning and powerful organization which includes all members of the law school. Brother Adolph Bieberstein was a bulwark on the football team of last fall and is a member of the Varsity wrestling squad. Brother Bob "Bearcat" Holmes, last year's conference wrestling champion at 135 pounds, was elected captain of the wrestling team this year. Brother Ray Moore, than whom there is no neater, shiftier leather pusher, is a member of the athletic faculty, and a coach in boxing. Brother Art Inman is manager of the University Concert Band and is likewise a member of Haresfoot, the organization which has become nationally known in that "all our girls are men, yet everyone's a lady."

Now it behooves us to relate an event which swept the campus by storm, namely the lawyer's ambush of the engineers' parade on the 28th day of March, 1925. To enlighten the brothers who are not familiar with the intense rivalry which has always existed between the lawyers and the engineers at Wisconsin, it becomes necessary to give a sketchy historical background. The respective schools sit on opposite sides of the campus. From such time "that the memory of man runneth not the contrary" it has been customary to hurl uncomplimentary remarks back and forth across the campus. The engineers have always had a St. Pat's parade, whose chief purpose has been to humiliate and ridicule the lawyers. Being outnumbered some six to one, we have had to stand this insolence in a discreet but uncomfortable silence. But the year of 1925 A. D. marked a new era. As the engineer floats, with their flaunting sarcasms and taunts swung by, the air was suddenly filled with thousands and thousands of eggs in all stages of incubation, directed by several dozen sharp-shooting lawyers posted on adjoining buildings which overlooked the parade. The effect was paralyzing—for the poor bedraggled engineers could but shout out sundry embellishments of futile profanity. The mighty barrage of super-annuated eggs and malodorous garden truck had effectively ruined their esprit de corps, to say nothing of their gilded trap-pings and libellous floats.

But the real point of this narrative is that Phi Alpha Delta, being only one of three legal fraternities here, seemed to symbolize the spirit of the law school, because all condemnation and all praise (depending on the point of view) was lodged at our portals.—J. W. Desmond.

ALUMNI

Brother E. Ray Stevens, the most highly capable and respected judge on the Circuit Bench for more than twenty years, was overwhelmingly elected to the State Supreme Court in the April elections. His son, Myron Stevens, is an active member of Ryan Chapter.

Brother Harold Pickering, 1912, has recently accepted a most lucrative position with a large New York firm. This offer was made to him as a result of the splendid work done by him in obtaining the United State Supreme Court's decision which held that the Pittsburgh Plus system was invalid.

Brother Maxwell Herriot, '24, an Oxford graduate, was the instructor in Torts at the Law School during the first semester of the current year. He is now private secretary to Hon. Burr Jones of the State Supreme Court.

Brother Ralph Immel, 1922, has been a highly successful state adjutant general for the last three years.

Brother Frank Keuhl, '1921, is private secretary to Governor John Blaine of Wisconsin.

A large and enthusiastic banquet was held on April 25, 1925, at the Madison Club in honor of Brother E. Ray Stevens' election to the State Supreme Bench. A large delegation from the Milwaukee alumni chapter was in attendance.

Brother Waldemar C. Wehe has formed a partnership with Mr. Leo J. Landry for the general practice of law under the firm name of Wehe & Landry, offices in the Plankinton Bldg., Grand Avenue and West Water Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

REESE

This has been a stellar year for Reese University of Chapter and one not soon to be forgotten by those who took part in it.

It can safely be said that its achievements have far exceeded the anticipations of even its most ardent and enthusiastic members.

Coming back in September somewhat disorganized and lacking in numbers, they faithfully set to work at a task which was anything but encouraging. A smoker for the entire freshman law class was the first step in order. There was a fine representation, eager to get acquainted and learn the more humorous side of our faculty members, who furnished the chief entertainment and are to be commended on their efforts.

A fall initiation was held on October 5 when five men were initiated, Brothers Little, Klinck, Mincer, Lyons, and Johnson. Eleven members of the freshman class were pledged during the first semester and our brothers did well in their selection as was shown when the grades were given out. They showed a high uniformity which was unique. A short and snappy probation took place, followed by initiation on February 16, when Brothers Fisher, Sampson, Craig, Kroese, Gross, Conley, Frogge, Luebs, Foss, Sheldahl, and Asche were admitted to the inner precincts of Phi Alpha Delta.

Coincidental with the report of the grades a second pledging program was launched which proved highly successful, ten men being pledged. Initiation followed on April 10, adding to our membership Brothers O'Hanlon, Walters, Ratcliffe, Tottenhoff, Mansfield, Trumbull, Comstock, Elster, and Dahlman.

Two honorary members have been added during the year. Brother Lauriz Vold, the new member to our faculty, was initiated December 16. He has already proven himself a worthy councillor through his intimate knowledge of the problems of young law students in connection with their study of law and outside interests. On April 10 we also initiated Brother Adam McMullin, governor of our Cornhusker State and a former law student in the University of Nebraska. We feel the fraternity has been highly benefited through the admission of Brother McMullin, and this belief has been borne out by the comments made by him following the initiation. We feel that we have in Brother McMullin a wise and able advisor and an example worthy to look up to.

Our social activities have not been neglected. A banquet long to be remembered was held April 10 following the initiation of our pledges and Governor McMullin in honor of one of the most distinguished members of Phi Alpha Delta, General John J. Pershing. It was given at the University Club and attended by about seventy-five members and alumni. Brother Norton acted as toastmaster, with responses by Brothers Judge P. J. Cosgrave, Judge Frederick Shepard, Robert F. Craig, Harold H. Schaf, Governor Adam McMullin, and General John J. Pershing.

One of the outstanding features of this banquet was the fine response of alumni, and the necessity of their organized support was emphasized. Steps were immediately taken for the organization of alumni clubs in Lincoln and Omaha.

Several very successful parties were staged during the past year. Of these, the fall party at the Lincoln Hotel was the outstanding event. In addition to these a Christmas stag party was staged by the freshmen, which proved very entertaining.

P. A. D. has also made its mark in campus activities. In athletics our outstanding star is Brother Scherich, a photograph of whom is shown here, who specializes in the 440. He has won his letter, in addition to his marked success in matrimony and law. Our prospects for first place in the inter-fraternity baseball tournament are very good under the fatherly guardianship of Brother Medlin. We hold first and second place for the past two years.

In student publications we are well represented. Brother Sampson is managing editor of the Cornhusker, and Brother O'Hanlon is managing editor of the Daily Nebraskan. Brother Norton was elected Ivy Day Orator, which is part of a traditional ceremony held each year as part of the commencement exercises.

In the election of officers for the following year Edwin Brown was elected Chief Justice, Donald Sampson, Vice-Justice, Alfred Luebs, Clerk, Verden Drummond, Treasurer, Robert Craig, Marshall, and Oswald Sheldahl, Librarian. The office of Librarian was newly created to provide for a necessary but neglected phase, the keeping of all books and examination questions on file and in an orderly condition. It is also hoped that through a librarian definite steps will be taken to develop our rather meager library, which should be the pride of every legal fraternity.

In accordance with our phenomenal progress we have felt the need of a new and better house. As a result we secured a fine new home at 1548 R Street, where we will be at home to all P. A. D.'s after September 1st.

We now have representatives in ten of the leading social fraternities, which is a real asset to our fraternity, and an encouraging sign of Reese Chapter's rise is the increasing "migration" of social fraternity members into the house. This was one of the influences in securing for us a better home.

Plans for the future have not been neglected in our enthusiasm over the present. A spring rushing period will be held when every man will endeavor to bring several pre-laws to the house to give an opportunity to become acquainted and aid in a systematic rush week next fall.

Feeling that a powerful, well-organized alumni backing is one of a fraternity's greatest assets, more progressive steps will be taken to interest those who are forgetting, and swing them all in line.

To one who has lived the part during the past year of Reese Chapter's progress, the future is one of optimism and encouragement. A continuation of the spirit now prevailing will mean P. A. D. supremacy in the Nebraska College of Law now and for all time. And Reese Chapter extends to all chapters its best wishes for equally successful years.—Al Tuchs

At the close of the Annual Banquet of Reese Chapter at the University Club Part Rooms the alumni of the Chapter remained for the purpose of re-organizing the alumni group. A meeting under a temporary chairman was held and the following officers were elected: President, Winfield M. Elmen; Vice-President, Allen Boggs; Secretary-Treasurer, John Williams.

It was also decided that the three officers above-named should choose three other members of the Alumni Chapter and appoint them to serve on the executive committee to be composed of the three officers and these three members at large. The chief activities of the Alumni Chapter will be directed through the executive committee, and it is expected that the organization will be able to function at a high point of efficiency under this direction.

The Alumni were fortunate in having a number of graduates present on this occasion, and felt particularly gratified in the presence of Brother John J. Pershing at the festivities.

ROSS

Ross Chapter started the last school year off with an active Chapter roll of fifteen members, a lot of fraternal pep and ginger, and a rather depleted Chapter treasury. The Chapter, after much argument and debate, decided to confine their rushing activities to a series of get-together banquets and smokers, asking the Alumni Chapter to take as active a part as it could in bringing out available new material. We have a great Alumni Chapter here, and they have turned out and supported the active Chapter on all occasions and in every way.

We had our first banquet one week after the official opening of the school year, and the rushees had the opportunity of hearing the opinions of Judge Houser of the District Court of Appeals, and Judge Hardy, and Judge McLucas of the Superior Court, on the subject of "Legal Fraternities," their purposes and effects. These judges are some of our most active brothers and always glad to be with us on such occasions. Our esteemed National Secretary gave the rushees a general insight into the scope of Phi Alpha Delta, and the progress that was being made throughout the United States. I might continue at great length, commenting upon the speakers, but it is sufficient to say that before the meeting was over there was so much enthusiasm in the banquet room that the whole University Club made a point to inquire about the live bunch in there.

We are indeed very proud of our Alumni for they are all regular lawyers and a live bunch. They gave a stag for the active Chapter last month at the Oakmont Country Club. We had the whole club to ourselves and stayed till the watchman and his colored help informed us that they wanted to go home, for they didn't get paid to work all night. The Alumni Chapter boasts a roll of one hundred and six members.

The active Chapter gave a dance on the roof garden of the Ramparts Apartments in March and we had about seventy couples out.

We now find ourselves in the midst of what promises to be a hotly contested student body election. We have placed Brother Hunt in the field for the Presidency of the student body. He is opposed by two other candidates, but we feel with the old P. A. D. spirit we can put him over.

Brother Barber is president of the freshman class and Brother Heap is the senior class president. Not so bad, I'd say? Brother Heap distinguished himself and honored the Chapter by winning the scholarship prize for the three years of college work.

Brother Barber and Brother Brennan have achieved the notable distinction of being the two best debaters not only in law school but in the entire University. They have lost but four contests in the past four years, a record the Chapter is proud of.

Our Chapter has led the school in scholarship by a wide margin this last year and there promises to be no change next year.

We have twenty-three active members and seven pledges. There are eight seniors graduating in June and their exit from the active Chapter roll will be keenly felt, for it has been through their efforts that this Chapter has been built up to a standard that any chapter in the country can well be proud of. By starting out next year with twenty-two actives, we feel that one of P. A. D.'s strongest chapters now exists in Los Angeles.

Our law school has an enrollment of four hundred students and being situated in the heart of the city, most of the Brothers avail themselves of the opportunity of working in law offices. Due to this condition we have a busy bunch of fellows who will be heard from when they take up their active work in the profession.

Judge Erskine M. Ross, the notable federal jurist now eight-two years old, after whom our Chapter was named, has sent in his resignation to Washington. He will retire after thirty years on the Federal Bench. The Alumni Chapter are giving a banquet in his honor the latter part of this month.

Our General Secretary, who is located here in the city, finds time to attend some of our meetings despite his large family. We might say that Frank will be tough on assessments from now on for out here the children can play outside the year around and that sure wears out clothes, and soles.

The active Chapter are giving a banquet at the University Club Friday night and already have reservations made for a crowd of seventy. On May 16th our annual dance occupied the limelight, followed one week later by the last initiation of the school year.

Fuller Chapter will be interested to hear that their old Brothers Blayney Mathews and Kemp are now located in Los Angeles. Blayney just couldn't see Los Angeles at first but now he wouldn't live in Chicago if they threw in Lake Michigan for a private pool for his summer swims. Blayney and Kemp thought the girls more attractive in Chi, but now they have become acquainted and are very prejudiced to the girls of Hollywood and the Orange Belt.

Brother Nicols from Ruffian Chapter has resigned from the Attorney General's Office and is now associated with the law firm of Mott and Vallee, one of the best firms in the city. He has made money in real estate deals on the side and that has won his heart to California, and then he says Catalina and Tia Juana are not too far away to be very enjoyable.

Brother Joe Marchetti was appointed justice of the peace here in the city and is also interested in the Marchette Rotisserie on Western Avenue in Hollywood. That is to Los Angeles as Sally's Waffle Shop is to Chicago. At present Joe is enjoying a vacation in the waters of Honolulu.

Brothers Heap Stamm, French, Jones, Hollar, Brennan, Daly, and Butler are leaving us in June and this Chapter wishes them all the luck in the world in the bar examination which takes place in June. They can depart with the satisfaction of knowing that there isn't another fraternity in the school that has the drop on them. By their efforts we have forged ahead and we are anxiously awaiting the next school year to see the good work carried on by the younger brothers.

Next year we will move to our new law school located on the campus and we are now working on a Fraternity House. With the support of the Alumni we intend to start a real Chapter House and we would welcome a call from every P. A. D. that is out our western way.

It's now time to ring down the curtain on our most successful college year. Good luck, Brothers in the North, South, and East. We wish you all three long months of damn good times and a helluva lot more. That will be all. See you in the fall.—
Erskine M. Ross.

JOSEPH STORY

DePaul
University

Our good friend "Hank" Phoenix has brought commendation from many P. A. D's. to the chapter and to himself, as Historian, by his inimitable contributions to the Quarterly. His many scholastic and social duties at DePaul are taking all of his time, so the writer subs for Story's "Babe Ruth." Hank always "cleans the bases" but perhaps a "sacrifice hit" will do this time.

Activity! Plenty of it this year, almost too numerous to chronicle. The main event, however, was the initiation in February. The officers are justly proud of the fashion in which the rites were performed. To see the "physical" was the privilege of Chicago's Loop. The neophytes performed admirably and as their songs and other vaudeville stunts were appreciated, the Chapter became convinced of the pledges' talents. The solemn was carried on in a very auspicious way, receiving the praise of many of the alumni who gathered at the house. The dinner was quite unusually an extra banner affair, among the numerous brothers being Supreme Officers Fink, Gilbert, and the new Editor, Brother Bradfield. Phi Alpha Delta spirit filled the air, the new members individually introduced giving snappy speeches, convincing both the Supreme Officers and alumni that we did have the pick of DePaul. The new group consists of Woulfe, McCarthy, Dougal, Weber, Lind, Jones, Brennan, Wagner, D. R. Waters, W. Walters, McLaughlin, Calderini, and Feeney.

Yes sir! Vic went right over without knocking down a hurdle. Congratulations to Brother Emblad, one of the few successful in the March Bar Exam.

Two of the new brothers, Feeney and Woulfe, announce the arrival of future P. A. D's. Jimmy Feeney now has two pledges for the 1950 roster. "Hank" says he'll catch up with him.

When Story men get married, they manage to keep it a secret—for some reason or other we found out though that Brother Ed Cremerius and Miss Bernadine Louise Stadler planned to do the deed on May 20, 1925, at St. Clements Church. The Chapter was well represented to see one of our faithful and well-liked brothers join the ranks of the Benedicts. Congratulations Ed and best wishes to the lucky lady.

Here's something new in committees—a Chapter Conditions Committee formed for the purpose of aiding the House Corporation particularly and all other weighty problems not specifically in the jurisdiction of other committees.

Election of officers for the year 1925-1926 was held at the House on May 5. Our worthy Clerk, Thomas J. Haggerty, was elected Justice. James Burden, Vice Justice, Gordon Lind, Clerk, J. Maciejewski, Treasurer, and Henry Woulfe, Marshal.

Dances were held on Valentine's Day, Washington's birthday, and St. Patrick's Night at the House. Almost every month the Entertainment Committee offered diversion for our studious crew. The House was fittingly decorated in a manner pertinent to each occasion and the "Rubber Band" did their stuff in a fashion par excellence. Everybody had a "knock-out" evening—not from the punch—we merely use the vernacular to express ourselves, good old English being unable to do justice to the appreciative feelings of the members and guests.

Graduation is in the immediate offing. The Seniors await anxiously the happy day. Yet not without a tinge of real regret—for then their active days in the Chapter are at an end. The Chapter too, is sorry, as annually the Commencement scythe cuts down her ranks. Yet bravely the remainder, warmly grasp the hand of each departing Brother and wish them, sincerely, success in the honored field. Thus we lose our Justice, Brother William Maloney. Just a few words about "Bill." He assumed charge of a disheartened group (for Justice-elect Frank J. Conroy was called suddenly to New York) and then Bill's everlasting untroubled smile vanished. He realized his duty. Immediately our Justice began to program events to revive the low-ebbed spirits—a task indeed. With endless devotion to Chapter interests and such sincerity of purpose, necessitating extreme sacrifice of self, Bill soon amazed even his staunchest comrades. The greatest honor of office was rightly his. Bill deserved it. Today we find his regime coming to a glorious ending. Throughout the year the men gathered frequently at smokers and dances fostered by our leader. His committees were evidence of keen judgment; they flourished actively and results were fruitful. The membership committee functioned in exemplary fashion. And in each Brother Maloney assisted personally and details were never left undone. His zealous activity was righteously and naturally crowned with success. Truly this has been a wonderful year. The members share in the reflected credit due their Justice; they will miss their noble chief for Bill Maloney has been a good and faithful servant.

Two other officers—Marshal George Hughes and Treasurer Eddie Moroney are among the Seniors, together with Brothers Andreas, Bordon, Ed Cremerius, Domke, Downey, Dunnicliffe, Emblad, Graeber, J. H. McCarthy, Sullivan, and Weber.

Do You Knok That

Brother Phoenix is Chairman of the Senior Ball Committee, and Advertising Manager of the 1925 Year Book—Pepaulia. Brothers Andreas and Sullivan are members of the committee.

Story Chapter is the leading fraternity in school activities.

Brother Harry Walters' twin, Willard, was recently initiated into Story Chapter.

The writer recently cheated the Devil and Undertaker, and while recuperating from illness was given this job. "Better luck next time," says the Undertaker, and so may the reader.—Edmond J. Moroney.

ALUMNI

Announcement has been received of the resignation of Joseph E. Carey as special assistant to the Secretary of the Navy. Brother Carey has resumed the practice of law in Washington, D. C., and maintains offices in the Wilkins Bldg.

TEMPLE

On Saturday, February 21st. last, Hastings Jackson Temple, for the first time in the history of its existence, held the annual initiation within the chambers of the Supreme Court of the State of California, and initiated into Phi Alpha Delta eight very promising Neophytes, namely, Donald C. Young, Walter M. Davis, William DeMartini, Lionel B. Browne, Royce E. Wilson, James M. Thusen, Edmund J. Hodel, and Paul T. Jones.

Our Pacific Coast Justice, I. M. Peckham, and Past Supreme Justice, George Stewart, gave the boys considerable food for thought. While our Brother Harry S. Whithorne very nearly succeeded in breaking up the meeting in describing his experiences during the past two years as an "up and coming" young attorney. Nevertheless, the truth of our Brother Whithorne's statements are without question.

After an eventful afternoon in the Supreme Court Chambers, the Chapter felt that it could do no less than expose the new members to a little pleasant relaxation and with this in mind, the newly initiated brethren were taken to the Fairmount Hotel and allowed to dine and trip (?) the light fantastic.

With the coming graduation exercises Jackson Chapter will lose eight of its oldest members and the Alumni Chapter will gain thereby, while the profession will undoubtedly feel their presence.

I take this opportunity to tell you that at any time when any of the Brethren throughout the United States may happen to be in San Francisco on Thursday, that the Alumni Chapter holds a luncheon at 12:15 in the States Restaurant, and any and all Phi Alpha Delta members are cordially invited to join and get acquainted.

This will probably be the last edition of the Quarterly before the summer vacation, therefore the members of the Jackson Temple Chapter wish all of the Brothers who will graduate this summer all the success in the world and to those who return to school again next year a most enjoyable vacation.

Any one happening to be in San Francisco might drop in at the State Life Building and notice on one of the doors there the following names: Cunningham, Cunningham, Cunningham & Cunningham, Attorneys and Counsellors at Law. Whatever you do, Brother, should you see that name, please remember that the firm is made up of a very substantial P. A. D. who signs his name and all their names as follows: Leo Cunningham, Leo A. Cunningham, L. Aloysius Cunningham, and L. A. Cunningham. The entire firm graduated in the year 1924 and the unusual thing about the firm is that the members thereof received one diploma and the right to practice law in the State of California was given to the firm on a single piece of sheepskin.—Walter Davis.

WEBSTER

Chicago Law School "If we work upon marble, it will perish; if we work upon brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal souls, if we imbue them with principles, with the fear of God and love of fellow men, we engrave on those tablets something which brightens all eternity." So saith our worthy namesake, Daniel Webster. Maybe these lines were not written for the especial benefit and guidance of Webster Chapter, nevertheless they are always uppermost in the minds of our selection committee, with the result that our membership is composed of the best bunch of fellows in the school. On Friday evening, April 10, Justice Nevaril conducted the initial ceremonies of Section 1, on eight pledges, all of whom successfully weathered the storm. Commencing at 6:30 P. M. the pledges were manacled and blindfolded, and without any intermission were kept in a state of darkness and put through one ordeal after another, until each and every one had been thoroughly subdued. They were greatly relieved to be brought back to light and have their comforts restored to them about 8:30 P. M. One stunt in which all took part caused a great deal of excitement, when a series of explosions were perpetrated by manipulation of some photographic flashlight cartridges. The apparent consternation and confusion which arose among the brothers putting on the work gave the realistic effect and almost scared the life out of most of the candidates. However, as we have said, they all weathered the storm, and we might add that no bones were broken. The evening ended with a banquet, at which another stunt was pulled.

After the candidates had recovered their normal composure, a raid was made on the Jack La Salle restaurant, where short work was made of an excellent spread previously arranged for by Justice Nevaril. Gosh! How some of those guys can eat. After Brother Sunde of the Alumni Chapter had cleaned up every available dill pickle, he very materially assisted in a mock presentation of one of the candidates into the office of "Keeper of the parchment roll" and with great solemnity handed over a roll of toilet paper for safekeeping.

The initiation proper was staged in the quarters of the Chicago Bar Association on Saturday afternoon, April 18, with Brothers, Nevaril as Justice, Hedley as Master of the Court, and Frickstad as Marshal. The initiates were Brothers Bidinger, Boyer, Gereke, Hortsman, Klarkowski, L. C. Rees, P. P. Rees, and Thompson. The initiation was followed by a very active participation in the Annual Spring Banquet of the Chicago Alumna Chapter. Brother Klarkowski had the signal honor of being called upon to reply to the toast of "The newly made members," which he did in well chosen and appropriate remarks.

Webster Chapter has had a very successful year under Justice Nevaril. Semi-monthly meetings have been held throughout the school year, and an excellent average attendance maintained. Our membership will be reduced by eight when Brothers E. J. Nevaril, J. H. Bidinger, J. H. Hedley, H. G. Maddock, V. W. Purcey, J. Prezorski, A. E. Klarkowski, and Theodore Richter wend their way in June through the portals of graduation to make their marks in the great business world, taking with them the very best wishes of the remaining brethren.—J. H. Hedley.

WILEY

News is pretty scarce at this time from University of Willey Chapter as most of the brothers West Virginia are preparing for exams and getting some experience from our moot court.

At the beginning of this year our chapter reviewed its efforts to obtain a P. A. D. Chapter and now that we have it everyone is doing his best for Phi Alpha Delta.

All the brothers commented upon the splendid way in which the ritual was performed and at this time we wish to express our deep appreciation to Brother Fink and the fine initiation team from Taft Chapter.

Immediately after the installation a banquet was held at the Ortolan and a good time was had by all—even Brother Whitten said he enjoyed it!

Our Chapter has been progressing fine but we are under a serious handicap since we have no chapter house. We hope that in the future we can find a house worthy to be called the P. A. D. House.

Due to the numerous social fraternities on the campus, the social life of P. A. D. is almost nil. In order to promote brotherly feelings the Chapter has adopted a custom of gathering each Sunday evening for dinner at one of the cafeterias and we think that this custom is doing lots for our Chapter along social lines.

The annual spring election has arrived and Brothers Harmer and Posten are quite busy. Willey Chapter at the present time is proud to say that we have the present President of the Student Body and we hope that soon we may say that Brother Posten succeeded in his campaign. We are sure that he will make a worthy successor to Brother Harmer.

The Fraternity is well represented in the general activities of the University. Brother Harmer is President of the Student Body; Brother Hinerinan is President of the Senior Law Class; Brother "Red" Mahan is the captain of the football team; and Brother Posten is a candidate, and we hope a successful one, for our future President of the Student Body.

Willey Chapter anticipates its loss by graduation this year, since a majority of our Chapter are "would-be barristers."

Plans are about perfected for a Father's Day at Willey Chapter. Most of the brothers are graduating and we are sure that Father's Day will be a success.

We are glad to be able at this time to greet our older brother chapters and we hope some time in the near future we may have the pleasure of entertaining some visiting brothers.

We hope that next time we may be able to say more concerning our Chapter, but since we have only been in action for a short time news is as hard to find as a flea on an elephant. In closing we wish again to thank Brother Fink and Taft Chapter for the splendid way in which our Chapter was installed. We also wish to express our deep appreciation for the telegrams of congratulation received by the Chapter.—B. L. Damron.

Merit— and merit alone!

LITTLE has been said in print about the Woodstock—but much has been said by thousands of enthusiastic operators.

It's mainly this background of goodwill—earned by good performance—that is responsible for its success.

Users will tell you the Woodstock is a most exceptional typewriter—a composite of all improvements conducive to effortless writing—plus a rare beauty of type and sturdiness of construction that stamps this machine as a thing apart.
